{1} THE EIGHTEENTH day of the month Elul, in the year an hundredth seventy two, the third year under Simon the grand-Priest in Asaramel, {28} in a great assembly of the Priests, and of the people & the Princes of the nation, and the ancients of the country, these things were notified: that there have often been battles made in our country. {29} But Simon the son of Mathathias of the children of Jarib, & his brethren put themselves in danger, and resisted the adversaries of their nation, that their holies and law might stand: and with great glory have they glorified their nation. {30} And Jonathas gathered together his nation, & was made their grand Priest, & he was laid to his people. {31} And their enemies would conciliate, and destroy their country, and extend their hands against the holies. {32} Then Simon, resisted and fought for his nation, and bestowed much money, and armed the valiant men of his nation, and gave them wages: {33} and he fortified the cities of Jurie, and Bethsura, that was in the borders of Jurie, where the armour of the enemies was before: and he placed there Jews for a garrison. {34} And he fortified Joppe, which was by the sea: and Gazara, which is in the borders of Azotus, wherein the enemies dwelt before, and he placed Jews there: and whatsoever was fit for their correction, he put in them. {35} And the people saw the fact of Simon, and the glory that he meant to do to his nation, and they made him their duke, and grand Priest, for that he had done all these things, and for the justice, and faith, which he kept to his nation, and for that he sought by all means to advance his people. {36} And in his days it prospered in his hands, so that the heathen were taken away out of their country, and they that were in the city of David in Jerusalem in the castle, out of which they came forth, and contaminated all things that were round about the holies, and they brought great plague upon chastity: {37} and he placed in it men of Jurie to the defence of the country, and of the city, and he raised the walls of Jerusalem. {38} And king Demetrius appointed him the high priesthood. {39} According to these things he made him his friend, and glorified him with great glory. {40} For he heard that the Jews were called of the Romans, friends, & fellows, & brethren, & that they received Simon's legates gloriously: {41} and that the Jews, and their Priests consented that he should be their duke, & high-Priest for ever, till there rise the faithful Prophet: {42} and that he be duke over them, and that he should have the care of the holies, and that he should appoint rulers over their works, and over the country, and over the armour, and over the holds. {43} And that he have care of the holies: and that he be heard of all, and that all writings in the country be written in his name: and that he be clothed with purple and gold: {44} and that it be not lawful for any of the people, and of the Priests to disannul any of these, and to gainsay those things, that are said of him, or to call together an assembly in the country without him: & to be clothed with purple, & to wear a chain of gold. {45} But he that shall do beside these things, or shall make frustrate any of these, he shall be guilty. {46} And it pleased all the people to appoint Simon, and to do according to these words. {47} And Simon took it upon him, and it pleased him to execute high Priest-hood, and to be duke & prince of the nation of the Jews, and of the Priests, and to be chief over all. {48} And this writing they bade them put in tables of brass, and to set them in the circuit of the holies, in a famous place: {49} and to put a copy thereof in the treasury, that Simon may have it, and his children.

Chapter 15

Antiochus by his letters granteth great privileges to Simon: 10. pursueth Tryphon, and environeth him. 15. The Romans commend the Jews to other nations. 25. Antiochus refusing aid sent by Simon, breaketh league, 30. and exacteth certain cities, and tribute. 37. Tryphon escapeth, and other of the King's forces invade and spoil Judea.

{1} AND king Antiochus the son of Demetrius sent epistles from the isles of the sea to Simon the priest, and prince of the nation of the Jews, and to all the nation: {2} and they contained this tenure: KING Antiochus to Simon the grand-Priest, and to the nation of the Jews greeting. {3} Because certain pestilent men have obtained the kingdom of our fathers, and I mean to challenge the kingdom, and to restore it as it was before: and I have chosen a great army, and have made ships of war. {4} And I will march through the country, that I may take revenge of them, that have destroyed our country, and that have made many cities desolate in my realm {5} Now therefore I establish unto thee all the oblations, which all the kings before me remitted unto thee, & what other gifts soever they remitted thee: {6} and I permit thee to make a coin of thy own money in thy country: {7} and Jerusalem to be holy and free, and all the armour that is made, and the fortresses which thou hast built, and which thou dost hold, let them remain to thee. {8} And all that is due to the king, and the things that are to be the king's hereafter, from this present and for all time, they are remitted to thee. {9} And when we shall have obtained our kingdom, we will glorify thee, and thy nation, & the temple with great glory, so that your glory shall be made manifest in all the earth. {10} In the year an hundredth seventy four went forth Antiochus into the land of his fathers, and all the hosts assembled unto him, so that there were few left with Tryphon. {11} And Antiochus the king pursued him, and he came to Dora flying by the sea coast. {12} For he knew that evils were heaped upon him, and the army forsook him. {13} And Antiochus camped upon Dora with an hundred twenty thousand men of war, & eight thousand horsemen: {14} and he compassed the city, and the ships approached to the sea: & they vexed the city by land & by sea, and suffered none to come in, or to go out. {15} And Numenius came, and they that had been with him, from the city of Rome, having epistles written to kings, and countries, wherein were contained these words: {16} LUCIUS the Consul of the Romans, to Ptolemei the king greeting. {17} The Ambassadors of the Jews our friends came to us, renewing the old amity, and society, being sent from Simon the prince of the priests, and the people of the Jews. {18} And they brought also a buckler of gold of a thousand pounds. {19} It hath pleased us therefore to write to the kings, & countries, that they do them no harm, nor impugn them, & their cities, and their countries: and that they give no aid to them that fight against them. {20} And it hath seemed good unto us to take the buckler of them. {21} If therefore any pestilent men are fled out of their country to you, deliver them to Simon the Prince of the Priests, that he may punish them according to their law. {22} These self same things were written to Demetrius the king, and to Attalus, and to Ariarathes, and to Arsaces, {23} and into all countries: and to Lampsaces, & to the Spartiates, and to Delus, and to Myndus, and to Sicyon, & to Caria, and to Samus, & Pamphilia, and Lycia, and Alicarnassus, and Coo, & Siden, & Aradon, and Rhodes, and Phaselis, & Gortyna, and Gnidus, and Cypress, & Cyrene. {24} And a copy thereof they wrote to Simon the prince of the priests and people of the Jews. {25} But king Antiochus moved his camp unto Dora the second time, setting hands always upon it, and making engines: & he shut up Tryphon, that he could not go forth. {26} And Simon sent unto him two thousand chosen men for aid, and silver, & gold, and abundance of furniture. {27} And he would not take them, but brake all things that he covenanted with him before, and alienated himself from him. {28} And he sent to him Athenobius one of his friends, to treat with him, saying: You hold Joppe, and Gazara, and the castle, that is in Jerusalem, cities of my kingdom: {29} their borders you have made desolate, and you have made a great plague in the land, and have ruled in many places in my kingdom. {30} Now therefore deliver the cities, that you have taken, and the tributes of the places, wherein you have ruled without the borders of Jurie. {31} But if not, give you for them five hundred talents of silver, and for the destruction, that you have made, & the tributes of cities other five hundred talents: but if not, we will come and expunge you. {32} And Athenobius the king's friend came into Jerusalem, and saw the glory of Simon, and his magnificence in gold, and silver, and furniture abundant, and he was astonished, & told him the king's words. {33} And Simon answered him, and said to him: Neither have we taken other men's land, neither do we hold that is other men's: but the inheritance of our fathers, which was a certain season unjustly possessed of our enemies. {34} But we having opportunity challenge the inheritance of our fathers. {35} For concerning Joppe, and Gazara, that thou complainest they made a great plague among the people, and in our country: for these we given an hundred talents. And Athenobius answered him not a word. {36} But with anger returning to the king, he reported unto him these words, and the glory of Simon, and all things that he saw, and the king was wrath with great anger. {37} And Tryphon fled by ship to Orthosias {38} And the king appointed Cendebaeus captain by the sea coast, and gave him an army of foot men and horsemen. {39} And he commanded him to move the camp against the face of Jurie: and he commanded him to build Cedron, and to fortify the gates of the city, and to conquer the people. But the king pursued Tryphon. {40} And Cendebaeus came to Jamnia, and began to provoke the people, and to conciliate Jurie, & to take the people captive, and to kill, and to build Cedron. {41} And he placed there horsemen, and an host: that going forth they might walk by the way of Jurie, as the king appointed him.

Chapter 16

Simon sendeth two of his sons to fight against Cendebaeus, 8. whom they overthrow. 11. Ptolomee Simon's son in law, inviting him to a feast treacherously killeth him, and his sons Judas and Matthias: 19. sendeth also men to kill John, but he being warned of the treason, killeth them: 23. and succeedeth to his father in the government.

{1} AND John went up from Gazara, and told Simon his father what Cendebaeus did among their people. {2} And Simon called his two elder sons, Judas and John, and he said to them: I and my brethren, and the house of my father, have expugned the enemies of Israel from our youth even to this day: and it hath prospered in our hands to deliver Israel oftentimes. {3} And now I am old, but be you in place of me, and my brethren, and going forth fight for our nation: and the help from heaven be with you. {4} And he chose out of the country twenty thousand fighting men and horsemen, and they went forth to Cendebaeus: and they slept in Modin. {5} And they arose in the morning, and went into the plain field: and lo a mighty great army coming to meet them of foot men, and horsemen, & there was a running river between them. {6} And he camped against the face of them, himself and his people, and he saw the people fearful to pass through the torrent, and he passed through first: and the men saw him, and they passed over after him. {7} And he divided the people, and the horsemen in the midst of the footmen: and the horsemen of the adversaries were exceeding many. {8} And they sounded with the holy trumpets: and Cendebaeus was put to flight, and his camp: and there fell many of them wounded, & the rest fled into the hold. {9} Then was Judas, John's brother wounded: But John pursued them, till he came to Cedron, which he built: {10} and they fled even to the towers, that were in the fields of Azotus, and he burnt them with fire. And there fell of them two thousand men, and he returned into Jurie in peace. {11} And Ptolomee the son of Abobus was appointed captain in the plain of Jericho, and he had much silver, & gold. {12} For he was the son in law of the high-Priest. {13} And his heart was exalted, and he would gain the country, and he purposed treachery against Simon and his sons to dispatch them. {14} And Simon walking through the cities, that were in the country of Jurie, and being careful of them, went down into Jericho, he and Mathathias his son, and Judas, the year an hundredre seventy seven, the eleventh month: this is the month Sabath. {15} And the son of Abobus received them with guile into a little fortress, that is called Doch, which he built, and he made them a great feast, and hid men there. {16} And when Simon was inebriated & his sons, Ptolomee arose with his company, and they took their weapons, and entered into the feast, and slew him, and his two sons, and certain of his servants. {17} And he did great deceit in Israel, and rendered evil for good. {18} And Ptolomee wrote these things, and sent to the king that he should send him an army for aid, and he would deliver him the country, and their cities, and tributes. {19} And he sent others into Gazara to dispatch John: and to the tribunes he sent epistles, that they should come to him, and he would give them silver, and gold, and gifts. {20} And he sent others to take Jerusalem, and the mount of the temple. {21} And one running before told John in Gazara, that his father was perished, and his brethren, and that he hath sent that thou also mayst be slain. {22} But as he heard it, he was exceedingly afraid: and he apprehended the men, that came to destroy him, and he slew them: for he knew that they sought to destroy him. {23} And the rest concerning the words of John, and his battles, and the valiant acts, which he did manfully, and the building of the walls, which he built, and the things that he did: {24} lo these are written in the book of the days of his priesthood, from the time that he was made prince of the priests after his father.

THE SECOND BOOK OF THE MACHABEES

Chapter 1

The Jews in Jerusalem write to the Jews in Aegypt, 7. signifying that they had writ before of many afflictions past: 9. and now write again, rendering thanks to God for their delivery from Antiochus: 18. exhorting their brethren to keep the feast of Scenopegia: reciting the miracle of water returning into fire: 24. when Nehemias prayed: 33. and that the king built a temple in memory thereof.

{1} TO the brethren, the Jews that are throughout Aegypt, the brethren, the Jews that are in Jerusalem, and that are in the country of Jurie, send health, & good peace. {2} God do good to you, and remember his testament, that he spake to Abraham, and Isaac, and Jacob, his faithful servants: {3} and give he unto you all an heart to worship him, and to do his will with a great heart, and a willing mind. {4} Open he your heart in his law, and in his precepts, and make peace. {5} Hear he your prayers, and be he reconciled unto you, neither forsake he you in the evil time. {6} And now here we are praying for you. {7} When Demetrius reigned, in the year one hundredth sixty nine, we Jews wrote unto you in the tribulation, and violence, that came upon us in these years, since Jason revolted from the holy land, and from the kingdom. {8} They burnt the gate and shed innocent blood: and we prayed to our Lord, & were heard, & we offered sacrifice, and fine flour, and lighted the lamps, and set forth there breads. {9} And now celebrate ye the days of Scenopegia of the month Casleu. {10} In the year one hundredth eighty eight, the people that is at Jerusalem, and in Jurie, and the senate, and Judas, to Aristobolus the master of Ptolomee the king, who is of the stock of the anointed Priests, and to those Jews that are in Aegypt, health and welfare. {11} Being delivered by God out of great dangers, we give him thanks magnifically, as who have fought against such a king. {12} For he made them swarm out of Persis, that have fought against us, & the holy city. {13} For when he was captain in Persis, & with him a very great army, he fell in the temple of Nania, being deceived by the counsel of Naneae's priests. {14} For Antiochus, and his friends came to the place as to dwell with her, & that he might receive much money under the title of a dowry. {15} And when Naneae's priests had laid it forth, and he with a few was entered within the compass of the temple, they shut the temple, {16} when Antiochus was entered in: & a secret entrance of the temple being opened, casting stones they struck the duke, and them that were with him, and divided them in pieces, and cutting off their heads they threw them forth. {17} Blessed be the God in all things, who hath delivered up the impious. {18} We therefore meaning to keep the purification of the temple the five and twentieth day of the month Casleu, thought it necessary to signify unto you: that you also may keep the day of Scenopegia, and the day of the fire that was given, when Nehemias, after the temple was built & the altar, offered sacrifice. {19} For when our fathers were carried into Persis, the Priests that then were the worshippers of God, taking the fire from the altar, hid it secretly in a valley where there was a pit deep, & dry, & therein they saved it, so that the place was unknown to all men. {20} But when many years had passed, and it pleased God that Nehemias should be sent of the king of Persis: {1016} he sent the nephews of those Priests, that had hid it, to seek out the fire: and as they told us, they found not fire, but thick water. {21} And he bade them draw, and bring unto him: and the sacrifices, that were laid on, the Priest Nehemias commanded to be sprinkled with the same water, and the wood, and the things that were laid thereupon. {22} And as this was done, and the time was come that the sun shone forth, which before was in a cloud, there was kindled a great fire, so that all marveled. {23} And all the Priests made prayer, whilst the sacrifice was consuming, Jonathas beginning, and the rest answering. {24} And the prayer of Nehemias was in this manner: O LORD God creator of all, dreadful, & strong, just, & merciful, which only art the good King, {25} only giver, only just, and omnipotent, and eternal: which deliverest Israel from all evil, which madest the fathers elect, and didst sanctify them. {26} Receive the sacrifice for all thy people Israel, & keep thy part, and sanctify it. {27} Gather together our dispersion, deliver them, that serve the Gentiles, and regard the contemned & abhorred: that the Gentiles may know that thou art our God. {28} Afflict them that oppress us, and that do contumely in pride. {29} Place thy people in thy holy place, as Moyses said. {30} And the Priests sang hymns, till the sacrifice was consumed. {31} And when the sacrifice was consumed, of the rest of the water Nehemias commanded the greater stones to be thoroughly washed. {32} Which thing as it was done, out of them was kindled a flame: but by light also, that shined from the altar, it was consumed. {33} And as the thing was made manifest, it was told the king of the Persians, that in the place, wherein those Priests that were transported, had hid fire, there appeared water, with the which Nehemias, and they that were with him, purified the sacrifices. {34} And the king considering, and diligently examining the matter, made a temple for it, that he might approve that which was done. {35} And when he had approved it, he gave to the Priests many good things, and diverse gifts, and taking them with his own hand, he gave to them. {36} And Nehemias called this place Nephthar, which is interpreted purification. But it is called with many Nephi.

Chapter 2

Holy fire, and the Book of the law were conserved by Jeremy the Prophet, in the transmigration into Babylon. 4. Likewise the Tabernacle of Moyses, the Ark, and Altar of incense in a secret place. 8. As Moyses had dedicated the Tabernacle, and Salomon the Temple: 14. so Judas Machabeus cleansing the Temple, and making a new Altar, instituted a feast of the Dedication thereof. 20. The Preface of the Author abridging the history of the Machabees written by Jason in five Books.

{1} AND it is found in the descriptions of Jeremie the Prophet, that he commanded them that went in transmigration, to take the fire, as it was signified, and as he commanded them that were carried away in transmigration. {2} And he gave them a law that they should not forget the precepts of our Lord, and that they should not err in their minds, seeing the idols of gold, & silver, & the ornaments of them. {3} And saying other like things, he exhorted them that they would not remove the law from their heart. {4} And it was in the same writing, how the Prophet commanded by the divine answer made to him, that the tabernacle, and the ark should follow in company with him, till he came forth into the mount in which Moyses ascended, and saw the inheritance of God. {5} And Jeremie coming thither found a place of a cave: and he brought the tabernacle, and the ark, & the altar of incense in thither and stopped the door. {6} And there came certain withal, that followed, to mark the place for themselves: and they could not find it. {7} And as Jeremy understood it, blaming them he said: that the place shall be unknown, till God gather together the congregation of the people, and become propitious: {8} and then our Lord will shew these things, and the majesty of our Lord shall appear, and there shall be a cloud as it was also made manifest to Moyses, and as when Salomon prayed that the place might be sanctified to the great God, he did manifest these things. {9} For he handled wisdom magnifically: as having wisdom, did he offer the sacrifice of the dedication, and of the consummation of the temple. {10} As Moyses also prayed to our Lord, and as Salomon prayed, and fire came down from heaven, and consumed the holocaust. {11} And Moyses said: Because that which was for sin, was not eaten, it was consumed. {12} In like manner Salomon also eight days celebrated the dedication. {13} And these self same things were put in the descriptions and commentaries of Nehemias: & after what sort he making a library gathered together Books of the Prophets, and of David, and the epistles of the kings, and concerning the donaries. {14} And in like manner Judas also such things as were fallen away by the war that happened to us, gathered them all together, and they are with us. {15} If therefore you desire these things, send some that may fetch them unto you. {16} We therefore meaning to keep the purification have written unto you: You shall do well then, if you keep these days. {17} And God that hath delivered his people, and rendered the inheritance to all, the kingdom, and the priesthood, and the sanctification, {18} as he promised in the law, we hope that he will quickly have mercy upon us, and will gather us together from under heaven into the holy place. {19} For he hath delivered us out of great perils, and hath purged the place. {20} Concerning Judas Machabeus, and his brethren, and of the purification of the great temple, and of the dedication of the altar, {21} Yea and of the battles that pertain to Antiochus the Noble, and his son Eupator: {22} and of the apparitions, that were made from heaven to them, that did manfully for the Jews, so that being few they revenged the whole country, and put to flight the barbarous multitude: {23} and repaired the most famous temple in all the world, and delivered the city, and the laws that were abolished, were restored, our Lord with all clemency being made propitious unto them. {24} Also the things which by Jason the Cyrenean are comprised in five Books, we have attempted to abridge in one volume. {25} For considering the multitude of Books, & the difficulty to them, that will attempt the narrations of histories, because of the multitude of matters: {26} We have been careful for them that are willing to read, that there might be delectation of the mind: and for the studious, that they may more easily commit it to memory: and that profit might ensue to all that read it. {27} And to our own selves indeed, which have taken upon us this work, to make an abridgment, we have taken in hand no easy labour, yea rather a business full of watching and sweat. {28} As they that prepare a feast, & seek to condescend to other men's will: for many men's sakes we do willingly sustain the labour. {29} The verity certes concerning every particular, leaving to the authors, & our selves according to the form that is given, studying to be brief. {30} For as the builder of a new house must have care of the whole building: but he that hath the care to paint must seek out the things that are apt for garnishing: so must it be esteemed also in us. {31} For to gather together the understanding, to order the speech, and curiously to discuss every particular part, agreeeth to the author of an history: {32} but to pursue the brevity of speech, and to avoid the exact declarations of things, is to be granted to him that abridgeth. {33} From hence then will we begin the narration: of the preface let it be sufficient to have said thus much: for it is a foolish thing before the history to flow over, and in the history to be short.

Chapter 3

When Jerusalem was in peace, and good order, by the care of Onias high Priest, and King Seleucus favoured pious works. 4. Simon a wicked churchwarden, betrayeth the treasure of the Sanctuary. 7. Whereupon Heliodorus sent by the King, and after courteous entertainment, declaring that he must carry all the money to the King, is resisted by Onias with others, devoutly commanding the cause to God. 23. He nevertheless attempting the sacrilege, is terrified by a vision, sore beaten, and in desperate misery. 31. By Onias' sacrifice and prayers is restored to health: 31. and returning home confesseth the power of God.

{1} THEREFORE when the holy city was inhabited in all peace, the laws also as yet were very well kept, because of Onias the high Priest his piety, and mind that hated evils, {2} it came to pass that kings also themselves, and princes esteemed the place worthy of high honour, & glorified the temple with very great gifts: {3} so that Seleucus the king of Asia of his revenues allowed all the charges pertaining to the ministry of the sacrifices. {4} But Simon of the tribe of Benjamin, being appointed overseer of the temple, contended, the Prince of the Priests resisting him, to work some wicked thing in the city. {5} And when he could not overcome Onias, he came to Apollonius the son of Tharsaeas, who at that time was governor of Caelesyria, and Phaenicia: {6} and told him, that the treasury at Jerusalem was full of innumerable deal of money, and the common store to be infinite, which pertain not to the account of the sacrifices: and that it is possible, all might fall into the king's power. {7} And when Apollonius had made relation to the king, concerning the money that he was told of, he calling for Heliodorus, who was over his affairs, sent him with commission to transport the foresaid money. {8} And forthwith Heliodorus began to take his journey, in shew indeed as if he would go visit the cities throughout Caelesyria and Phaenicia, but in very deed to accomplish the king's purpose. {9} But when he was come to Jerusalem, and was courteously received in the city by the high Priest, he told of the advertisement given of the money: and opened for what cause he was come: and asked if these things were so in very deed. {10} Then the high-Priest shewed that these were deposita, and the livelihoods of widows & pupils: {11} but certain of them to belong unto Hircanus of Tobie very noble man, among these things, which impious Simon had promoted, and the whole to be of silver four hundred talents, and of gold two hundred. {12} And that they should be deceived which had committed it to the place, and the temple, that is honoured throughout the whole world, to be a thing, for the reverence and holiness thereof altogether unpossible. {13} But he by reason of those things, which he had in commission of the king, said in any wise that they must be carried to the king. {14} And on a day appointed, Heliodorus entered in to take order concerning these things. But there was no small trembling throughout the whole city. {15} And the Priests cast themselves before the altar with their Priests' stoles, and invoked him from heaven, which made the law of deposita, that he would keep the things safe, from them that had deposed them. {16} But now he that saw the countenance of the high-Priest, was wounded in mind: for his face and colour being changed declared the inner sorrow of the mind. {17} For there was a certain pensiveness poured about the man, and horror of the body, whereby the sorrow of his heart was made manifest to them that beheld him. {18} Others also came flocking together out of their houses: praying with public supplication, for that the place was to come into contempt. {19} And the women having their breast girded with hair-cloths came together through the streets. Yea and the virgins that were shut up, came forth to Onias, and some to the walls, but some looked through the windows: {20} and all stretching forth their hands unto heaven, prayed. {21} For the expectation of the confuse multitude, and of the grand Priest being in an agony, was miserable. {22} And these certes invocated almighty God, that the things committed to them, might be performed with all integrity for them that had committed the same of trust. {23} But Heliodorus exercised that which he had decreed in the same place himself present with his guard about the treasury. {24} But the spirit of almighty God made great evidence of his appearing, so that all which had presumed to obey him, falling by the virtue of God, {1019} were turned into dissolution and fear. {25} For there appeared to them a certain horse having a terrible rider, adorned with very rich harness: and he with fierceness struck Heliodorus with his forefoot, and he that sat upon him, seemed to have armour of gold. {26} There appeared also two other young men comely for strength, excellent of glory, and beautiful in attire: which stood about him, and on both sides whipped him, beating him with many stripes without intermission. {27} And Heliodorus suddenly fell on the ground, and they took him being covered round about with much darkness, and being set in a seat portative, they thrust him forth. {28} And he that with many couriers, and men of his guard entered into the foresaid treasury, was carried no man giving him succourse, the manifest power of God being known. {29} And he indeed by the power of God lay dumb, and deprived of all hope, and health. {30} But they blessed our Lord, because he magnified his place: and the temple, that a little before was full of fear and tumult, almighty God appearing, was filled with joy and gladness. {31} And then certain of the friends of Heliodorus forthwith desired Onias, that he would invoke the highest to give him life, who was at the very last gasp. {32} And the high-Priest considering lest perhaps the king might suspect some malice on the Jews' part done about Heliodorus, offered for the health of the man an healthful host. {33} And when the high-Priest by prayer obtained, the self same young men, clothed with the same garments, standing by Heliodorus, said: Give thanks to Onias the Priest: for him hath our Lord given thee life. {34} But thou being scourged of God, declare unto all men the great works and the power of God. And these things being said, they appeared no more. {35} And Heliodorus having offered an host to God, and having promised great vows to him, that granted him to live, and giving thanks to Onias, taking his army again returned to the king. {36} And he testified to all men those works of the great God, which he had seen before his own eyes. {37} And when the king had asked Heliodorus; who was meet to be sent yet once more to Jerusalem, he said: {38} If thou have any enemy, or traitor to thy kingdom, send him thither, and thou shalt receive him again scoured, if yet he escape: because there is undoubtedly in the place a certain power of God. {39} For he that hath his dwelling in the heavens, is the visiter, and helper of that place, and them that come to do evil, he striketh, and destroyeth. {40} Therefore concerning Heliodorus, and the keeping of the treasury so the matter standeth.

Chapter 4

Onias defamed and molested by Simon, repaireth to the King to procure peace. 7. Seleucus dying, and Antiochus reigning, Jason by promising money to the King, getteth the office of high-Priest from his brother Onias: 10. and perverteth religion: 12. setteth up a wicked school, whereby many are corrupted: 8. sendeth money for sacrifice to be offered to Hercules, which is employed in making gallies. 21. Antiochus is received with great pomp into Jerusalem. 23. Menelaus by promise of more money getteth the high priesthood from Jason. 29. He also is deposed, and his brother Lysimachus putteth in his place. 32. Andronicus treacherously murdereth Onias. 36. and for the same is slain by the King's commandment: 39. and Lysimachus by the people. 43. Menelaus justly accused escapeth by bribing, and the innocent are slain.

{1} BUT Simon the foresaid betrayer of the money, and of his country, spake ill of Onias, as though he had stirred up Heliodorus to these things, and had been the mover of the evils: {2} and the provider for the city, and defender of his nation, and the emulator of the law of God, he presumed to call a secret betrayer of the kingdom: {3} But when the enmities proceeded so far, that murders also were committed by certain of Simon's familiars: {4} Onias considering the peril of the contention, and that Apollonius being governor of Caelesyria, & Phoenicia, was outrageous, which increased the malice of Simon, went to the king. {5} not as an accuser of the citizens, but considering with himself the common profit of the whole multitude. {6} For he saw that without the king's providence it was unpossible that peace should be made in those matters, and that Simon would not cease from his folly. {7} But after Seleucus' departure out of life, when Antiochus that was called the Noble, had taken the kingdom upon him, Jason the brother of Onias ambitiously sought the high-priesthood: {8} going to the king, promising him three hundred three score talents of silver, & of other revenues four score talents, {9} above this he promised also an hundred fifty more, if leave might be granted him to make a school, and a place for youth, and to entitle them, that were at Jerusalem, Antiochians. {10} Which when the king had granted, and he had obtained the princedom, forthwith he began to transport his country men to the heathen rite. {11} And these things being taken away, which of favour had been decreed by kings unto the Jews, and through John the father of the Eupolemus, who was ambassador with the Romans concerning amity and society, he disannulling the lawful rites of the citizens, made wicked ordinances. {12} For he presumed under the very castle to set up a school, and to put all the goodliest youths in brothel houses. {13} And this was not the beginning, but a certain increase, and going forward of the heathen and strange conversation, through the abominable never heard before, of Jason the impious and not a priest. {14} So that the Priests were not now occupied about the offices of the altar, but the temple being contemned, & the sacrifices neglected, they hastened to be partakers of the game of wrestling, & of the unjust maintenance thereof, & in the exercise of the coyte. {15} And setting nought by the honours of their fathers, they esteemed the Greek glories for the best: {16} by reason whereof they had dangerous contention, & they had emulation toward their ordinances, and in all things they coveted to be like to them, whom they had enemies & murderers. {17} For to do impiously against the laws of God escapeth not unpunished, but this the time following will declare. {18} And when the game used every fifth year was kept at Tyre, & the king was present, {19} the wicked Jason sent from Jerusalem sinful men, carrying three hundred didrachmaes of silver for the sacrifice of Hercules, which they that carried it, requested that it might not be bestowed on the sacrifices, because it ought not, but that it might be depputed for other charges. {20} And these were offered indeed by him that sent them, unto the sacrifice of Hercules: but because of them that were present they were given to the making of gallies. {21} And

Apollonius the son of Mnestheus being sent into Aegypt because of the nobles of Ptolomee Philometor the king, when Antiochus understood that himself was made an alien from the affairs of the kingdom, providing for his own commodities, departing thence he came to Joppe, and from thence to Jerusalem. {22} And being magnificently received of Jason, and the city, entered in with torch lights, and with praises: and from thence he turned his army into Phoenicia. {23} And after the time of three years, Jason sent Menelaus brother of the foresaid Simon, carrying money to the king, and to bring answers of necessary affairs. {24} But he being commended to the king, when he had magnified the presence of his power, wrested the high-Priesthood upon himself, over bidding Jason three hundred talents of silver. {25} And having received commission from the king, he came, having in deed nothing worthy of the priesthood: but bearing the mind of a cruel tyrant, and the wrath of a wild beast. {26} And Jason indeed, who had circumvented his own brother, being himself deceived was driven out a fugitive into the country of the Ammanites. {27} And Menelaus obtained the princedom: but concerning the money promised to the king he did nothing, whereas Sostratus that was governor of the castle exacted it. {28} For to him pertained the exacting of the tributes: for which cause they were both called out to the king. {29} And Menelaus was removed from the Priest-hood, Lysimachus his brother succeeding: {30} and Sostratus was made governor of the Cyprians. {30} And when these things were a doing, it chanced the Tharsians, and the Mallotians to move sedition, because they were given for a gift to king Antiochus' concubine. {31} The king therefore came in haste to pacify them, one of his companions Andronicus being left substitute. {32} But Menelaus supposing that he had taken a convenient time, stealing certain vessels of gold out of the temple, gave them to Andronicus, and others he had sold at Tyre, and in their near cities: {33} Which thing when Onias understood most certainly, he rebuked him, keeping himself in a safe place at Antioch beside Daphne. {34} Whereupon Menelaus coming to Andronicus, desired him to kill Onias. Who when he was come to Onias, and right hands being given with an oath (although he was suspected of him) had persuaded him to come out of the sanctuary, immediately he slew him, not reverencing justice. {35} For which cause not only the Jews, but also other nations likewise were offended, & took it grievously for the unjust murder of so great a man. {36} But when the king was returned out of the places of Cilicia, the Jews went unto him at Antioch, and also the Greeks: complaining of the unjust murder of Onias. {37} Antiochus therefore was sorry in his mind for Onias, & being inclined to pity, he shed tears, remembering the sobriety and modesty of the deceased. {38} And his heart being incensed, he commanded Andronicus being spoiled of the purple, to be led about all the city: and that in the same place, wherein he had committed the impiety upon Onias, the sacrilegious person should be deprived of his life, our Lord repaying him worthy punishment. {39} And many sacrileges being committed of Lysimachus in the temple by the counsel of Menelaus, and the rumour being bruted abroad, the multitude gathered together against Lysimachus, much gold being now carried out. {40} But the multitudes making insurrection, & their minds replenished with anger, Lysimachus arming almost three thousand began to use unjust hands, a certain tyrant being captain far grown in age, and also in madness. {41} But as they understood the endeavour of Lysimachus, some took stones, some strong clubs, & certain threw ashes. {42} And many indeed were wounded, and certain also thrown to the ground, but all were put to flight: the sacrilegious person also himself they slew beside the treasury. {43} Concerning these things therefore judgement began to be commenced against Menelaus. {44} And when the king was come to Tyre, three men sent from the ancients, put up the matter unto him. {45} And when Menelaus was overcome, he promised Ptolomee to give much money to persuade the king. {46} Ptolomee therefore went to the king being in a certain court, as it were to cool himself, and brought him from his purpose: {47} and Menelaus certes being guilty of all the evil was quitted of the crimes: and the poor wretches, who if they had pleaded the cause even before Scythians should be judged innocent, them he commanded to death. {48} Quickly then did they unjustly suffer, which prosecuted the cause for the city, and the people, and the sacred vessels. {49} For the which thing the Tyrians also being offended, were very liberal towards the burial of them. {50} But Menelaus because of their avarice that were in power, continued in authority, increasing in malice to the betraying of the citizens.

Chapter 5

Visions of armies fighting in the air appear in Jerusalem forty days. 5. Jason with a thousand men surpriseth the city, killeth many citizens, but is expulsed and dieth miserably. 11. Antiochus persecuteth the Jews, 15. spoileth the temple, and profaneth holy things. 27. Judas with others fly into the desert.

{1} AT the same time Antiochus prepared a second journey into Aegypt. to pass: that throughout the whole city of {2} And it came Jerusalem were seen for forty days in the air horsemen running hither and thither, having golden stoles, and spears, as it were companies armed, {1022} {3} and coursing of horses set in orders by ranks, & that there were encounterings together near hand, and shakings of shields, and a multitude of men in helmets with swords drawn, & throwing of darts, & the glittering of golden armour, and of all kind of harness. {4} Wherefore all prayed that the wonders might be turned to good. {5} But when there was a false rumour gone forth, as though Antiochus had been parted this life, Jason taking unto him no less than a thousand men, suddenly set upon the city: and the citizens flying together to the wall, at the last the city being taken, Menelaus fled into the castle. {6} But Jason spared not his citizens in murder, nor considered, that prosperity against kinsmen is a very great evil, supposing that he should take the victorious spoils of the enemies, and not of his citizens. {7} And the princedom verily he obtained not, but received confusion, the end of his treachery, and went again a fugitive into the country of the Ammanites. {8} At last to his own destruction being inclosed of Aretas the tyrant of the Arabians, flying from city to city, odious to all men, as an apostata from the laws, and execrable, as an enemy of his country and citizens, he was thrust out into Aegypt: {9} and he that had expelled many out of their country, perished in a strange place, going to the Lacedemonians, as being like for kindred sake to have refuge there: {10} but he that cast away many unburied, himself both unlamented, and unburied is cast forth, neither enjoying foreign burial, nor partaker of the sepulchre of his fathers. {11} These things therefore being done, the king suspected that the Jews would forsake the society: & for this departing out of Aegypt with a furious mind, he took the city by arms. {12} And he bade the soldiers kill, and not spare them that came in their way, to murder them that went up into the houses. {13} Slaughters therefore were made of young men & old, and destructions of women and children, & murders of virgins and little ones. {14} And there were in the whole three days four score thousand slain, forty thousand prisoners, and no less sold. {15} But neither do these things suffice, he presumed also to enter into the temple, in all the earth the most holy, Menelaus being his leader, who was betrayer of the laws, and his country. {16} And with wicked hands taking the holy vessels, which by other kings & cities were set for the ornament and the glory of the place, he unworthily handled and contaminated them. {17} So Antiochus being alienated in mind, considered not, that for the sins of them that inhabit the city, God had been angry a little: for the which also happened the contempt about the place: {18} otherwise unless it had chanced them to have been wrapped in many sins, as Heliodorus, who was sent of Seleucus the king to spoil the treasury, this man also immediately as he came had been scourged, and repelled verily from his boldness. {19} But not the nation for the place, but the place for the nation hath God chosen. {20} And therefore the place also it self is made partaker of the people's evils: but afterward it shall be partaker of the good things, and it that was forsaken in the wrath of almighty God, shall be exalted again with great glory in the reconciliation of the great Lord. {21} Therefore Antiochus having taken away out of the temple a thousand & eight hundred talents, speedily went back to Antioch, thinking through pride, that he might bring the land to sail upon, & the sea to go upon, through haughtiness of mind. {22} And he left also rulers to afflict the nation: at Jerusalem, Philip a Phrygian born, more cruel of manners than he himself by whom he was appointed: {23} and in Garizim Andronicus & Menelaus, who lay more grievously upon the citizens than the rest. {24} And whereas he was set against the Jews, he sent the odious prince Apollonius with an army of two and twenty thousand, commanding him to kill all of perfect age, to sell the women and the young ones. {25} Who when he was come to Jerusalem, feigning peace, rested until the holy day of the Sabbath: and then the Jews keeping holy day, he commanded his men to take weapons. {26} And he murdered all that were gone forth to behold the games: and running through the city with armed men, he slew a very great multitude. {27} But Judas Machabeus, who was the tenth, was retired into a desert place, and there amongst wild beasts he led his life in the mountains with his company: and they abode eating meat of grass, that they might not be partakers of the contamination.

Chapter 6

The law of God is abolished, the temple profaned, and named of Jupiter Olympius. 7. The feast of Bacchus is kept, 10. women with their circumcised children are slain, 11. others for celebrating the sabbath, (12. an admonition to the reader) 18. old Eleazar constantly observing the law suffereth glorious death.

{1} BUT not long after the king sent a certain ancient man of Antioch, that should compel the Jews to remove themselves from the laws of their fathers and of God: {2} to contaminate also the temple that was in Jerusalem, & to call it by the name of Jupiter Olympius: and in Garizim, according as they were that inhabited the place, of Jupiter Hospitalis. {3} And the invasion of the evils was sore & grievous to all: {4} for the temple was full of the lechery & gluttony of the Gentiles: & of them that played the harlots with whores. And women thrusting themselves of their own accord into the sacred houses, bringing in those things which were not lawful. {5} The altar also was full of unlawful things which were forbidden by the laws. {6} And neither were the Sabbaths kept, nor the solemn days of the fathers observed, neither plainly did any man confess himself to be a Jew. {7} But they were led with bitter necessity in the king's birth day to sacrifices: & when the feast of Bacchus was kept, they were compelled to go about crowned with Ivy unto Bacchus. {8} And there went forth a decree into the next cities of the Gentiles, the Ptolomeans giving the advise, that they also in like manner should do against the Jews, that they might sacrifice: {9} and them that would not pass to the ordinances of the heathens, they should kill. A man then might see the misery. {10} For two women were accused to have circumcised their children: whom, the infants hanging at their breasts, when they had openly led them about through the city, they threw down headlong by the walls. {11} And others coming together to the next caves, and secretly keeping the day of the Sabbath, when they were discovered to Philip, were burnt with fire, because they feared for religion and observance, to help themselves with their hand. {12} But I beseech them that shall read this Book, that they abhor not for the adversities, but that they account those things, which have happened, not to be for the destruction, but for the chastening of our stock. {13} For not to suffer sinners a long time to do as they will, but forthwith to punish, is a token of a great benefit. {14} For, not as in other nations our Lord patiently expecteth, that when the day of judgement shall come, he may punish them in the fullness of sins: {15} so also doth he determine in us, that our sins being come to the end, so at length he may punish us. {16} For which cause he never certes removeth away his mercy from us: but chastening his people by adversity, he forsaketh them not. {17} But let these things be said of us in few words for an admonition of the readers. And now we must come to the story. {18} Therefore, Eleazarus one of the chief of the Scribes, a man striken in age, and comely of countenance, with open mouth gaping was compelled to eat swine's flesh. {19} But he embracing rather a most glorious death than an hateful life, went before voluntarily to the punishment. {20} And considering how he ought to come patiently sustaining, he determined not to commit unlawful things for love of life. {21} But they that stood by, moved with unlawful pity, for the old friendship of the man, taking him in secret, desired that flesh might be brought, which it was lawful for him to eat, that he might feign to have eaten, as the king had commanded, of the flesh of the sacrifice: {22} that by this fact he might be delivered from death: and for the old friendship of the man, they did him this courtesy. {23} But he began to think upon the worthy preeminence of his age and ancientness, and the hoar hairs of natural nobility, and his doings from a child of very good conversation, and according to the ordinances, and the holy law made of God, he answered quickly, saying: that he would rather be sent unto hell. {24} For it is not meet, quoth he, for our age to feign: that many young men thinking, that Eleazarus of four score year and ten is passed to the life of Aliens: {25} they also through my dissimulation, and for a little time of corruptible life, may be deceived, and hereby I may purchase a stain, and a curse to mine old age. {26} For although at this present time I be delivered from the punishments of men, yet neither alive nor dead shall I escape the hand of the Almighty. {27} Wherefore in departing manfully out of this life, I shall appear worthy of mine old age: {28} & to young men I shall leave a constant example, if with ready mind and stoutly I suffer an honest death, for the most grave and most holy laws. These things being spoken, forthwith he was drawn to execution. {29} And they that led him, and had been a little before more mild, were turned into wrath for the words spoken of him, which they thought were uttered through arrogancy. {30} But when he was now in killing with the strokes, he groaned, and said: O Lord, which hast the holy knowledge, thou knowest manifestly that whereas I might be delivered from death, I do sustain sore pains of the body: but according to the soul, for thy fear I do willingly suffer these things. {31} And this man certes in this manner departed this life, leaving not only to young men, but also to the whole nation the memory of his death for an example of virtue and fortitude.

Chapter 7

the noble Martyrdom of seven brethren, refusing to eat swine's flesh: and boldly admonishing King Antiochus of his damnable state. 41. Lastly the mother (having encouraged her sons) likewise dieth gloriously.

{1} AND it came to pass, that seven brethren together with their mother being apprehended, to be compelled by the king to eat against the law, swine's flesh, were tormented with whips and scourges. {2} But one of them which was the first, said thus: What seekest thou, and what wilt thou learn of us? We are ready to die rather than to transgress the laws of God, coming from our fathers. {3} The king therefore being wrath commanded frying pans, and brazen pots to be heated: {4} the which forthwith being heated, he commanded his tongue, that had spoken first, to be cut out: and the skin of his head being drawn off, the ends also of his hands and feet to be chopped off, the rest of his brethren, and his mother looking on. {5} And when he was now made in all parts unprofitable, he commanded fire to be put unto him, and that breathing as yet he should be fried in the frying pan: wherein when he was long tormented, the rest together with the mother exhorted one an other to die manfully, {6} saying: Our Lord God will behold the truth, and will take pleasure in us, as Moyses declared in the profession of the Canticle: And in his servants he will take pleasure. {7} The first therefore being dead in this manner, they brought the next to make him a mocking stock: & the skin of his head with the hairs being drawn off, they asked if he would eat, before that he were punished throughout the whole body in every member. {8} But he answering in his country speech, said: I will not do it. Wherefore this also in the next place, received the torments of the first: {9} and being at the very last gasp, thus he said: Thou indeed, o most wicked man, in this present life destroyest us: but the King of the world will raise us up which die for his laws, in the resurrection of eternal life. {10} After him the third is had in derision, and being demanded his tongue, he quickly put it forth, and constantly stretched out his hands: {11} & with confidence he said: From heaven do I possess these, but for the laws of God now do I contemn these self same, because I hope that I shall receive them again of him. {12} So that the king, and they that were with him marveled at the young man's courage, because he esteemed the torments as nothing. {13} And this being thus dead, the fourth they vexed in like manner tormenting him. {14} And when he was now even to die, thus he said: It is better for them that are put to death by men to expect hope of God, that they shall be raised up again by him. For to thee there shall not be resurrection unto life. {15} And when they had brought the fifth, they tormented him. But he looking upon him, {16} said: Thou having power among men, whereas thou art corruptible doest what thou wilt: but think not that our stock is forsaken of God. {17} And do thou patiently abide, and thou shalt see his great power, in what sort he will torment thee, and thy seed. {18} After him they brought the sixth, and he beginning to die, said thus: Be not deceived vainly: for we suffer this for our own sakes, sinning against our God, and things worthy of admiration are done in us: {19} but do not think that thou shalt escape unpunished, for that thou hast attempted to fight against God. {20} But the mother above measure marvelous, & worthy of good men's memory, which beholding her seven sons perishing in one day's space, bare it with a good heart, for the hope that she had in God: {21} exhorted every one of them in their country language manfully, being replenished with wisdom: and joining a man's heart to a woman's cogitation, {22} she said to them: I know not how you appeared in my womb: for neither did I give you spirit and soul and life, and the members of every one I my self framed not. {23} But indeed the Creator of the world, that hath formed the nativity of man, and that invented the origin of all, and he will restore again with mercy unto you spirit and life, as now you despise your selves for his laws. {24} But Antiochus thinking himself contemned, and withal despising the voice of the upbraider, when the younger was yet alive, he did not only exhort with words, but also with oath he affirmed that he would make him rich and happy, & being turned from the laws of his fathers, he would account him a friend, & give him things necessary. {25} But when the young man was not inclined to these things, the king called the mother, and counselled her to deal with the young man to save his life. {26} And when he had exhorted her in many words, she promised that she would counsel her son. {27} Therefore bending towards him, mocking the cruel tyrant, she said in her country language: My son have pity on me which have borne thee in my womb nine months, and gave thee milk for three years, and nourished thee, and brought thee unto this age. {28} I beseech thee my son, that thou look to heaven and earth, and to all things that are in them: and understand that God of nothing made them & mankind: {29} so shall it come to pass, that thou wilt not fear this tormenter, but being made a worthy partaker with thy brethren, take thou death, that in that mercy I may receive thee again with thy brethren. {30} When she as yet was saying these things the young man said: For whom stay you? I obey not the commandment of the king, but the commandment of the law, which was given us by Moyses. {31}

But thou that art become the inventor of all malice against the Hebrews, shall not escape the hand of God. {32} For we for our sins do suffer these things. {33} And if the Lord our God hath been angry with us a little for rebuke & correction: yet he will be reconciled again to his servants. {34} But thou o wicked, and of all men most flagitious, be not in vain extolled with vain hopes, inflamed against his servants. {35} For thou hast not yet escaped the judgement of the almighty God, and him that beholdest all things. {36} For my brethren having now sustained short pain, are become under the testament of eternal life: but thou by the judgement of God shalt receive just punishment for thy pride. {37} And I as also my brethren do yield my life and my body for the laws of our fathers: invoking God to be propitious to our nation quickly, and that thou with torments and stripes mayst confess that he only is God. {38} But in me and in my brethren shall the wrath of the Almighty cease, which hath justly been brought upon all our stock. {39} Then the king incensed with anger, raged against him more cruelly above all the rest, taking it grievously that he was mocked. {40} And this same therefore died unspotted, wholly trusting in our Lord. {41} And last of all after the sons the mother also was consumed. {42} Therefore of the sacrifices, and of the exceeding cruelties there is enough said.

Judas Machabeus with six thousand men, commanding their cause to God, 6. prospereth in battle. 8. Philippe soliciting for more help, Nicanor and Gorgias are sent with twenty thousand men against Judas. 12. Whose men beginning to fear, and some flying, he encourageth the rest, 19. reciting many examples of God's assistance. 22. disposeth his army, and prevaleth, 30. killing many of Timothee's and Bacchides' men. 34. The principal hardly escaping by flight, acknowledge that God protecteth the Jews.

{1} BUT Judas Machabeus and they that were with him, went in secretly into the towns: and calling together their kinsmen and taking unto them those that continued in Judaism, they brought out to them six thousand men. {2} And they invoked our Lord, that he would have respect unto his people that was trodden of all, and would have mercy on the temple, that was contaminated of the impious: {3} he would have pity also upon the destruction of the city, which was forthwith to be made flat with the ground, and would hear the voice of the blood crying to him: {4} he would remember also the most unjust deaths of innocent children, & the blasphemies done to his name, and would take indignation for them. {5} But Machabeus having gathered a multitude, became intolerable to the heathen: for the wrath of our Lord was turned into mercy. {6} And coming upon the castles and cities unlooked for, he burnt them: and taking commodious places, he made not few slaughters of the enemies: {7} and especially in the nights he was carried to such excursions, and the same of his manliness was spread abroad every where. {8} But Philip seeing the man to come forward by little & little, & that things for the more part succeeded with him prosperously, wrote to Ptolomee the governor of Coeserya & Phoenicia, to give aid to the king's affairs. {9} And he with speed sent Nicanor the son of Patroclus, of the principals of his friends, giving him of the nations mingled together, no less than twenty thousand armed men, to destroy utterly all the stock of the Jews, adjoining also unto him Gorgias a man of war, and in martial affairs of very great experience. {10} And Nicanor appointed, that he would supply unto the king the tribute that was to be given to the Romans, two thousand talents out of the captivity of the Jews: {11} and forthwith he sent to the cities by the sea side, calling men together to the buying of the Jewish slaves, promising that he would sell ninety slaves for a talent, not looking to the vengeance, which was to follow him from the Almighty. {12} But Judas when he understood it, shewed to those Jews that were with him, the coming of Nicanor. {13} Of whom certain fearing, and not crediting the justice of God, fled away: {14} and others if they had any thing left sold it, & withal besought our Lord, that he would deliver them from the impious Nicanor who had sold them before he came near them: {15} and if not for them, yet for the testament that was with their fathers, & for the invocation of his holy & magnificil name upon them. {16} But Machabeus calling together seven thousand, that were with him, desired that they would not be reconciled to the enemies, nor fear the multitude of the enemies coming against them unjustly, but would fight manfully: {17} having before their eyes the contumely, that was unjustly done by them to the holy place, & moreover the injury also of the city being made a laughing stock, besides also the ordinances of the ancestors broken. {18} For they indeed trust to their weapons, said he, and to their boldness also: but we trust in the Almighty Lord, who can utterly destroy both them coming against us, and the whole world with one beck. {19} And he admonished them also of the aids of God, that were given to their fathers: & that under Sennacherib an hundred four score five thousand perished. {20} And of the battle, that they had against the Galatians in Babylonia, how all they, when it came to the point, the Macedonians their fellows staggering, being only six thousand slew an hundred twenty thousand, by reason of the aid given them from heaven, and for these things obtained very many benefits. {21} With these words they were made constant, & ready to die for the laws, and their country. {22} He appointed therefore his brethren captains over both orders, Simon, and Joseph, and Jonathas, under every one putting a thousand and five hundredeth. {23} Beside this also the holy Book being read unto them by Esdras, {24} and a sign of God's help being given, in the forward the duke himself joined battle with Nicanor. And the Almighty being made their helper, they slew above nine thousand men: and the greater part of Nicanor's army being made weak with wounds, they forced to fly. {25} And taking away their money that came to buy them, they pursued them on every hand, {26} but they returned being taken short with the time: for it was the day before the Sabbath: for the which cause they continued not pursuing them {27} But gathering together the armour and spoils of them, they kept the Sabbath: blessing our Lord that delivered them this day, distilling the beginning of mercy upon them. {28} But after the Sabbath they divided the spoils to the feeble and to orphans, & to widows: and the rest, themselves had with their fellows. {29} These things therefore being done, and obsecration being made in common of all, they desired our merciful Lord, that he would be reconciled to his servants unto the end. {30} And of them that were with Timothee and Bacchides fighting against them, they slew above twenty thousand, and won the high holds: and they divided many preys, making equal portion to the feeble, pupils, and widows, yea and to the elder men. {31} And when they had diligently gathered together their armour, they laid all together in convenient places, and the residue of the spoils they carried to Jerusalem: {32} and Philarches that was with Timothee, they slew, a wicked man, which in many things had afflicted the Jews. {33} And when they kept the feast of victory in Jerusalem, him that had burnt the holy gates, that is, Callisthenes, when he was fled into a certain house, they burnt, a worthy reward being repaid him for his impieties: {34} But the most impious Nicanor, who had brought a thousand merchants to the sale of the Jews, {35} being humbled through the help of our Lord by them, whom he esteemed no body, laying aside his garment of glory, flying by the midland, came alone to Antioch, having gotten great infelicity by the destruction of his army. {36} And he that had promised that he would render tribute to the Romans of the captivity of Jerusalem, now professed that the Jews had God their protector, and that for him they could not be wounded, because they followed the laws appointed by him.

Antiochus repulsed from Persepolis, 3. and hearing that his army is overthrown in Jury: 9. worms issuing from his body intolerably stinking: 11. acknowledgeth his wicked deserts: 14. promiseth amendment, 18. wrieth to the Jews, praying them to obey him, and his son, 28. and dieth miserably.

{1} AT that time Antiochus returned out of Persis dishonourably. entered into the city which is called {2} For he had Persepolis, and he attempted to spoil the temple, and to oppress the city: but the multitude running together to arms, they were put to flight: and so it chanced that Antiochus after his flight returned with dishonour. {3} And when he was come about Ecbatana, he understood the things that were done to Nicander and Timothee. {4} And swelling in anger, he thought that he might wreak the injury of them, that had put him to flight, upon the Jews. And therefore he commanded his chariot to be driven,{1028} journeying without intermission, the heavenly judgement urging him forward, because he spoke so proudly, that he would come to Jerusalem, & make it an heap of the sepulchre of the Jews. {5} But he that seeth all things our Lord the God of Israel, struck him with an uncurable and invisible plague. For as he ended this very speech, a cruel plague of the bowels took him, and bitter torments of the inner parts: {6} and indeed very justly, as who had tormented the bowels of others with many & new torments, albeit he by no means ceased from his malice. {7} And beside this replenished with pride, breathing fire in his mind against the Jews, & commanding the matter to be hastened, it chanced him going with violence to fall from the chariot, & his limbs to be vexed with a grievous bruising of the body. {8} And he that seemed to himself to rule even over the waves of the sea, replenished with pride above the measure of man, & to weigh the heights of mountains in a balance, now being humbled to the ground was carried in a portative seat, testifying the manifest power of God in himself: {9} so that out of the body of the impious man, worms crawled abundantly, and his live flesh fell off for pains, with his smell also & stink the army was annoyed. {10} And he that a little before thought to touch the stars of heaven, him no man could carry for the intolerable stink. {11} Hereby therefore he began, being brought from his great pride, to come to the knowledge of himself, admonished by the plague of God, his pains increasing every moment. {12} And when neither himself now could abide his own stink, thus he said: It is reason to be subject to God, and a mortal man not to think of himself equally with God. {13} And this wicked man prayed to our Lord, of whom he was not to obtain mercy. {14} And the city to the which he came in haste to have brought it to the ground, and to have made it a sepulchre of bodies heaped together, now wisheth to make it free: {15} And the Jews whom he said he would not vouchsafe worthy, no not of burial, but would give them to birds and wild beasts to be spoiled, and destroy them with the little ones, now he promiseth to make them equal with the Athenians. {16} The holy temple also, which before he had spoiled, he would adorn with goodly donaries, & would multiply the holy vessels, and of his revenues would allow the charges pertaining to the sacrifices. {17} Besides these things, that he would be a Jew also, and would walk through every place of the earth, & would declare the power of God. {18} But the pains ceasing not (for the just judgement of God was come upon him) despairing he wrote to the Jews by the manner of a supplication an epistle containing these words: {19} TO HIS VERY GOOD SUBJECTS the Jews the king and prince Antiochus, much health, and welfare, and to be happy. {20} If you and your children farewell, and if things be with you to your mind, we give very great thanks. {21} And I being in infirmity, & mindful of you benignly, being returned out of the places of Persis, & taken with a grievous infirmity, have thought it necessary to have a care for the common profit: {22} not despairing of myself, but having great hope to escape the sickness. {23} But considering that my father also, at what times he led his army in the higher places, he shewed who should take the princedom after him: {24} that if any mishap should chance, or hard tidings be told, they that were in the countries, knowing to whom the whole government was committed, might not be troubled. {25} Besides this, considering that all the potestates, and bordering neighbours wait for times, and expect the event, I have appointed my son Antiochus king, whom, I having recourse oftentimes to the higher kingdoms did command to many of you: and I have written to him that which is set down here beneath. {26} I pray you therefore, and desire you mindful of the benefits both public and private, that every one keep his fidelity to me, and to my son. {27} For I trust that he will deal modestly and gently, and following my purpose, and that he will be common unto you. {28} Therefore the murderer and blasphemer being very sore stricken,{1029} & as himself had handled others, in a strange country among the mountains, with a miserable death departed this life. {29} But Philip his foster brother removed his body: who fearing the son of Antiochus, went to Ptolomee Philometor into Aegypt.

Chapter 10

Judas Machabeus cleanseth the temple, and instituteth the feast of dedication. 10. Young Antiochus Eupator reigning. Ptolemeus of Gorgias, taketh certain holds from the Idumeans, punisheth traitors, and killeth many enemies. 24. In his battle against Timothee is miraculously assisted from heaven: 37. and finally killeth him.

{1} BUT Machabeus, & they that were with him, our Lord protecting them, recovered the temple and the city again: {2} but the altars, which the aliens had set up through the streets, and also the temples he threw down. {3} And having purged the temple, they made an other altar: and out of fired stones taking fire they offered sacrifices after two years, and set incense, and lamps, & the breads of proposition. {4} Which things being done, they besought our Lord prostrate on the ground, that they might no more fall into such evils: but and if they had sometime sinned, that they might be chastened of him more mildly, & not be delivered to barbarous, & blasphemous men. {5} And what day the temple had been polluted of the aliens, it happened that on the same day was made the purification, the five & twentieth of the month, which was Casleu. {6} And with joy eight days they kept in manner of tabernacles, remembering that a little before they had kept the solemn day of Tabernacles in the mountains, & in dens after the manner of beasts. {7} For the which cause they bare before them stalks of herbs, & green boughs, and palms to him, that gave success to clean his place. {8} And they decreed by common precept & decree to all the nation of the Jews every year to keep these days. {9} And Antiochus that was called the Noble, his departure out of life was after this sort. {10} But now of Eupator the son of Antiochus the impious, we will tell the things that have been done, abridging the evils that were done in the wars. {11} For he having taken upon him the kingdom, appointed over the affairs of the king one Lysias general of the host of Phoenicia and Syria. {12} For Ptolomee who was called Macer, determined to be a keeper of justice towards the Jews, & especially for the iniquity, that was done against them, and to deal peacefully with them. {13} But being accused for this of his friends to Eupator, when he was called oftentimes traitor, because he had left Cypres committed unto him by Philometor, and removing to Antiochus the Noble, had revolted also from him, he made an end of his life with poison. {14} But Gorgias being captain of the places, taking unto him strangers often warred against the Jews. {15} And the Idumeans that kept the commodious holds, received them that were chased from Jerusalem, and attempted to make battle. {16} And they that were with Machabeus, beseeching our Lord by prayers that he would be their helper, made an assault upon the holds of the Idumeans: {17} and sticking to it with great force, they won the places, killed them that came in the way, & slew together no less than twenty thousand. {18} And whereas certain were fled into two towers very strong, having all provision to make resistance, {19} Machabeus for the expugning of them, leaving Simon and Joseph, & also Zachaeus, and such as were with them very many, himself turned to those battles which forced more. {20} But they that were with Simon, being led with covetousness, were persuaded with money by certain that were in the towers: and taking seventy thousand didrachmaes, they let certain escape. {21} But when it was told Machabeus what was done, assembling the princes of the people he accused them, that they had sold their brethren for money, their adversaries being let go. {22} These therefore being become traitors he slew, {1030} and forthwith he took the two towers. {23} And with weapons and hands doing all things prosperously, in the two holds he slew more than twenty thousand. {24} And Timothee, who before had been overcome of the Jews, having called together an army of foreign multitude, and gathering horsemen of Asia, came as to take Jury by arms. {25} But Machabeus and they that were with him, when he approached, besought our Lord, sprinkling their head with earth, and being girded about the loins with haircloths, {26} lying flat at the brim of the altar, that he would be propitious to them, and an enemy to their enemies, and an adversary to their adversaries, as the law saith. {27} And so after prayer taking weapons, going forth somewhat far out of the city, & being come very near the enemies they pitched. {28} And at the very first rising of the sun both joined battle: these indeed having our Lord the surety of victory, & prosperity with virtue: but they had courage for the captain of the battle. {29} But when there was a sore fight, there appeared to the adversaries from heaven five men upon horses, comely with golden bridles, conducting the Jews: {30} of whom two having Machabeus between them, compassing him round about with their armour, kept him safe: and against the adversaries they threw darts, and fire balls, whereby both confounded with blindness, and filled with perturbation they fell. {31} And there were slain twenty thousand five hundred, and horsemen six hundred. {32} But Timothee fled into Gazara a strong hold, whereof Chaereas was the captain. {33} And Machabeus, and they that were with him joyfully besieged the hold four days. {34} But they that were within, trusting to the place, blasphemed above measure, & cast forth abominable words. {35} But when the fifth day appeared, twenty young men of them that were with Machabeus, incensed in their minds because of the blasphemy, went manfully to the wall, and with fierce courage going on, they scaled to the top: {36} Yea and the others also mounting up, attempted to set the towers and the gates on fire, and to burn the blasphemers themselves alive. {37} And the hold being sacked for two days together, they slew Timothee that was found hiding himself in a certain place: and his brother Chaereas, and Apollophanes they killed. {38} Which things being done, they blessed our Lord in hymns and confessions, who did great things in Israel, and gave them the victory.

Lysias supposing with his army of fourscore thousand footmen, and a great band of horsemen to subdue Jerusalem: 6. Judas with his few praying God, and going to fight, an Angel, in form of an horseman, goeth before them: 10. so they setting upon the enemies kill many, & the rest fly. 13. Lysias perceiving God's power, offereth to procure peace. 22. Whereto the King agreeeth, writing to him, 27. and to the Jews. 34. The Romans also write to the Jews.

{1} BUT a little after procurator, and cousin, and chief over the affairs, being greatly offended with these, Lysias the king's things, that had happened, {2} having gathered four score thousand, & all the horsemen, came against the Jews, thinking that taking the city, he should make it an habitation for the Gentiles: {3} and he should have the temple to make gain of money, as the rest of the temples of the Gentiles, & every year the priesthood to be sold: {4} never recounting the power of God, but furious in mind, he trusted in the multitude of foot men, and thousands of horsemen, & in four score elephants. {5} And he entered into Jury, and approaching to Bethsura, which was in a narrow place from Jerusalem the space of five furlongs, he expugned that hold. {6} But as Machabeus, and they that were with him, understood that the holds were expugned, they besought our Lord with weeping and tears, and all the multitude together, that he would send a good Angel to the saving of Israel. {7} And Machabeus himself first taking weapons, exhorted the rest together with him, to adventure, and to give aid to their brethren. {8} And when they went forth together with prompt courage, at Jerusalem there appeared going before them an horseman in white clothing, with armour of gold, shaking a spear. {9} Then all they together blessed our merciful Lord, and took great courage: being ready to penetrate not only men, but also most fierce beasts, and walls of iron. {10} They went therefore promptly having an helper from heaven, and our Lord having pity upon them. {11} And like lions running violently upon the enemies, they overthrew of them eleven thousand footmen, and of horsemen a thousand six hundred: {12} and they put to flight all, & very many of them being wounded scaped away naked. Yea and Lysias himself shamefully flying escaped. {13} And because he was not senseless recounting with himself, the diminution made on his side, & understanding the Hebrews to be invincible, because they rested upon the help of the almighty God, he sent unto them: {14} & promised that he would consent to all things, that are just, and that he would force the king to be their friend. {15} And Machabeus granted to Lysias' requests, in all things having respect to the commonwealth and whatsoever Machabeus wrote to Lysias, concerning the Jews, the king granted it. {16} For there were epistles written to the Jews from Lysias, containing this tenure: LYSIAS to the people of the Jews, health. {17} John and Absalom that were sent from you, delivering the writings, requested that I would accomplish those things which by them were signified. {18} Therefore whatsoever might be brought to the king I declared unto him: & that which the matters permitted I granted. {19} If therefore you keep fidelity in the affairs & henceforward, also will endeavour to be a cause of doing you good. {20} And concerning the rest, word for word I have given commandment both to these, and to them that are sent of me, to commune with you. {21} Fare ye well. In the year an hundred forty eight, of the month Dioscorus the four and twentieth day. {22} But the king's epistle contained these things: King Antiochus to Lysias his brother, health. {23} Our father being translated amongst the gods, we being willing that they that are in our kingdom should live without trouble, and employ diligence to their own matters, {24} we have heard that the Jews consented not to my father to turn to the rite of the Greeks, but that they would keep their own institution, and therefore that they request us their rites to be granted them. {25} Being therefore desirous that this nation also be quiet, ordaining we have decreed, that the temple be restored unto them, that they might do according to the custom of their ancestors. {26} Thou shalt do well therefore if thou send to them, & give the right hand, that our pleasure being known they may be of good cheer, & look to their own commodities. {27} But to the Jews the king's epistle was in this manner: KING Antiochus to the senate of the Jews, and to the rest of the Jews, health. {28} If you fare well, you are so as we would: yea our selves also fare well. {29} Menelaus came to us, saying that you would come down to your country men, that are with us. {30} To them therefore that come & go, until the thirtieth day of the month Xanthicus, we give the right hands of security, {31} that the Jews may use their own meats, & their own laws, as also before: & that none of them by any means suffer molestation for these things, which have been done by ignorance. {32} And we have sent also Menelaus to speak to you. {33} Fare ye well. In the year an hundred forty eight, of the month Xanthicus the fifteenth day. {34} And the Romans also sent an epistle, which is thus: Quintus Memmius, and Titus Manilius legates of the Romans, to the people of the Jews, health. {35} Concerning these things which Lysias the king's cousin hath granted you, we also have granted. {36} But touching the things which he thought good to be referred to the king, send ye forthwith some body, conferring diligently among your selves, that we may decree as is convenient for you: for we go to Antioch. {37} And therefore make haste to write again, that we also may know of what mind you are. {38} Fare ye well. In the year an hundred forty eight the fifteenth day of the month Xanthicus.

Chapter 12

Whilst the Jews have peace with the King, others still persecute them: 5. which Judas revengeth: 13. and in Caspin maketh great slaughter, and reposeth in Characa. Ten thousand of Timothee's men are slain. 20. whom Judas pursuing killeth many in Carnion: 34. taketh him, but releaseth him again: 27. the like in Ephron. 32. Some Jews are slain in battle against Gorgias. 38. Judas and his men are purified, and gathering the dead bodies, find that some had taken unlawful spoils. 42. For whose souls he prayeth, and causeth sacrifice to be offered.

{1} THESE covenants being made, Lysias went forward to the king, and the Jews gave themselves to husbandry. {2} But they that stayed there, Timothee and Apollonius the son of Gennadius, & also Jerom, & Demophon, besides these also Nicanor the governor of Cyprus, did not suffer them to live in rest and quietness. {3} And the Joppites committed a certain flagitious fact, which was this: They desired the Jews with whom they dwelt, to go into the boats, which they had prepared, with their wives & children, as though no secret enmities were between them. {4} Therefore according to the common decree of the city, & they agreeing thereto, & because of the peace suspecting nothing: when they were gone forward into the depth, they drowned no less than two hundred. {5} Which cruelty Judas as he understood to be done upon the men of his nation, commanded the men that were with him: and invoking God the just judge, {6} he came against the murderers of his brethren, & the haven he set on fire in the night, the boats he burnt, & them that fled from the fire he slew with the sword. {7} And when he had thus done these things, he departed as to return again, & to root out all the Joppites. {8} But when he understood that they also, which were at Jamnia, would do in like manner to the Jews dwelling with them, {9} he came upon the Jamnites also by night, & set the haven on fire with the ships, so that the light of the fire appeared at Jerusalem two hundred forty furlongs off. {10} When they were now departed thence nine furlongs, and made their journey towards Timothee, the Arabians five thousand men, & five hundred horsemen joined battle with them. {11} And when there was a mighty battle, and by the help of God it had succeeded prosperously, the rest of the Arabians that were overcome, besought Judas that the right hand might be given them, promising that they would give pastures, and profit them in other things. {12} And Judas thinking in very deed that they might be profitable in many things, promised peace: and right hands being taken, they departed to their tabernacles. {13} And he set also upon a certain city strong with bridges, & environed with walls, which was inhabited with multitudes of heathen of all sorts, the name whereof is Caspin. {14} But they that were within, trusting in the firmness of the walls, and the provision of victuals, dealt the more slackly, with reviling words provoking Judas, & blaspheming, & speaking such things as is not lawful to speak. {15} But Machabeus invoking the great Prince of the world, who without rams & engines in Jesus' time threw down Jerico, fiercely assaulted the walls. {16} And the city being taken by the will of our Lord he made innumerable slaughters, so that the pool adjoining of two furlongs in breadth, seemed to run died with blood. {17} From thence they departed seven hundred fifty furlongs, & they came to Characa to those Jews, that are called Tubianeians: {18} and in those places they took not Timothee, & nothing being done he went back, having left in a certain place a very strong garrison. {19} But Dositheus and Sosipater, who were captains with Machabeus, slew them that were left of Timothee in the hold, ten thousand men. {20} And Machabeus ordaining about him six thousand, & placing them by bands, went forth against Timothee, who had with him an hundred twenty thousand footmen, and of horsemen two thousand five hundred. {21} And the coming of Judas being known, Timothee sent the women and children, and the other baggage before into the fortress, that is called Carnion: for it was invincible, and hard to come by, by reason of the straits of the places. {22} And when the first band of Judas had appeared, fear was strucken into the enemies, by the presence of God, who seeth all things, and they were put to flight one of an other, so that they were rather overthrown of their own company, and were weakened with the strokes of their own swords. {23} But Judas was exceeding earnest punishing the profane men, and he overthrew of them thirty thousand men. {24} And Timothee himself fell into the hands of Dositheus & Sosipater's parts, & with many prayers he besought that he might be let go alive, because he had parents & brethren of many of the Jews, whom it might happen by his death to be deceived. {25} And when he had given his faith that he would restore them according to the appointment, they let him go without harm, for the safety of their brethren. {26} And Judas came back from Carnion, having slain twenty five thousand. {27} After the flight & slaughter of these, he moved his army to Ephron a strong city, wherein a multitude dwelt of diverse nations: and strong young men standing before the walls resisted manfully, & in this were many engines, and provision of darts. {28} But when they had invoked the Almighty, who with his power breaketh the forces of the enemies, they took the city: and of them that were within they overthrew twenty five thousand. {29} From thence they departed to a city of the Scythians, which was distant from Jerusalem six hundred furlongs. {30} But those Jews that were with the Scythopolitans testifying that they were used courteously of them, even in the times of misery that they dealt modestly with them: {31} giving them thanks, and exhorting them also thence forward to be favourable toward their stock, they came to Jerusalem the solemn day of the weeks approaching. {32} And after Pentecost they went against Gorgias the governor of Idumea. {33} And he went forth with footmen three thousand, and horsemen four hundred. {34} Who buckling together, it chanced few of the Jews to be slain. {35} But Dositheus one of the Bacenors an horseman, a valiant man, held Gorgias: and whereas he would have taken him alive, a certain horseman of the Thracians came upon him, and cut off his shoulder: and so Gorgias escaped into Maresa. {36} But they that were with Esdrin, fighting long, and being wearied, Judas invoked our Lord to be their helper and captain of the battle: {37} beginning in his country language and with hymns raising a cry, drove Gorgias' soldiers into flight. {38} And Judas having gathered an army came into the city Odollam: and when the seventh day came on, being purified according to the custom, they kept the Sabbath in the same place. {39} And the day following Judas came with his company, to take away the bodies of them that were overthrown, and with their kinsmen to lay them in the sepulchres of their fathers. {40} And they found under the coats of the slain some of the donaries of the idols, that were in Jamnia, from which the law forbiddeth the Jews: therefore it was made plain to all, that for that cause they were slain. {41} All therefore blessed the just judgement of our Lord, who had made manifest the hidden things. {42} And so turning to prayers, they besought him, that the same offence, which was committed, might be forgotten. But the most valiant Judas exhorted the people to keep themselves without sin, seeing before their eyes what was done, because of the sins of them that were overthrown. {43} And making a gathering, he sent twelve thousand drachmes of silver to Jerusalem for sacrifice to be offered for sin, well and religiously thinking of the resurrection. {44} (For unless he hoped that they that were slain should rise again, it should seem superfluous and vain to pray for the dead.) {45} And because he considered that they, which had taken their sleep with godliness, had very good grace laid up for them. {46} It is therefore a holy, and healthful cogitation to pray for the dead, that they may be loosed from sins.

Menelaus a fugitive Jew is put to death. 9. Antiochus with his great army is defeated twice, with loss of many men. 23. Philippe rebelling, peace is renewed. 24. And Judas is made Lord of Ptolemais.

{1} IN the year an hundred forty nine Judas understood, that Antiochus Eupator came with a multitude against Jurie. {2} and with him Lysias the procurator, and chief over the affairs having with him of footmen an hundred ten thousand, and of horsemen five thousand, and elephants twenty two, chariots with hooks three hundred. {3} And Menelaus also joined himself with them: & with much deceit besought Antiochus, not for the weal of his country, but hoping that he should be appointed to the principality. {4} But the King of kings stirred up Antiochus' mind against the sinner, and Lysias suggesting that he was the cause of all the evils, he commanded (as the custom is with them) that being apprehended he should be killed in the same place. {5} And there was in the same place a tower of fifty cubits, having an heap of ashes on every side: this had a prospect steep down. {6} From thence he commanded the sacrilegious person to be thrown down into the ashes, all thrusting him forward to death. {7} And by such law it chanced the transgressor of the law to die: and Menelaus not to be put into the earth. {8} And in deed very justly, because he committed many offences toward the altar of God, the fire and ashes whereof was holy: himself was condemned into the death of ashes. {9} But the king furious in mind, came to shew himself worse to the Jews than his father. {10} Which things when Judas understood, he commanded the people that day and night they should invoke our Lord, that as always now also he would help them: {11} as who were afraid to be deprived of the law, and their country, and the holy temple: and that he would not suffer the people that had of late taken breath a little while, to be again subdued to the blasphemous nations. {12} All therefore doing it together, and craving mercy of our Lord with weeping and fastings, being prostrate for three days continually, Judas exhorted them to prepare themselves. {13} But he with the ancients consulted, before the king should bring his army to Jury, and win the city, to go out, and to commit the event of the thing to the judgement of our Lord. {14} Committing therefore the power and charge of all to God, the creator of the world, and having exhorted his company to fight manfully, and to stand even to death for the laws, the temple, the city, their country, and citizens: he placed his army about Modin. {15} And having given a sign to his company of the victory of God, with most valiant young men picked out, by night setting upon the king's court, in the camp he slew four thousand men, and the greatest of the elephants, with them that had been placed thereupon, {16} & he filled the camp of the enemies with exceeding fear & perturbation, & the things being prosperously achieved, they departed. {17} And this was done when the day appeared, the protection of our Lord helping him. {18} But the king having taken a taste of the hardness of the Jews, attempted the difficulty of the places by policy: {19} & he moved his camp to Bethsura, which was a strong hold of the Jews: but he was put to flight, he fell, he was diminished. {20} And to them that were within Judas sent necessities. {21} But one Rhodocus of the Jew's army uttered the secrets to the enemies, who being sought for was apprehended, and shut up. {22} Again the king had talk with them that were in Bethsura: he gave the right hand: he took it: he went away. {23} He joined battle with Judas, he was overcome. And as he understood that Phillippe rebelled at Antioch, who was left over the affairs, dismayed in mind entreating the Jews, and yielding unto them, he sweareth concerning all things that seemed reason, and being reconciled he offered sacrifice, honoured the temple, and gave hosts. {24} He embraced Machabeus, and made him governor and prince from Ptolemais even to the Gerrenians. {25} But after, as he came to Ptolemais the Ptolemaians took grievously the covenant of amity, being offended lest perhaps they would break their league. {26} Then Lysias went up to the judgement seat, and declared the reason, and appeased the people, and returned to Antioch: and in this manner the king's journey and return proceeded.

Chapter 14

Demetrius having taken certain holds from Antiochus, 3. Alcimus lately deposed from the office of high Priest, 6. accuseth good men of disloyalty, 11. others also incense Demetrius. 12. Whereupon Nicanor being sent into Jury, maketh Alcimus again high-priest: 18. hath peace with Judas, conversing with him most familiarly. 26. But by Alcimus suggestion, seeketh to deliver him into the king's hands: 30. otherwise threateneth to profane the temple, 34. The Priests pray God to protect them. 37. Razias being accused, and pursued, 41. in extreme distress killeth himself with marvelous courage of spirit.

{1} BUT after the space of three years Judas understood, and they that were with him, that Demetrius the son of Seleucus with a strong multitude, & with ships was come up by the port of Tripolis to commodious places, {2} and held the countries against Antiochus, and his governor Lysias. {3} And one Alcimus that had been highpriest, but voluntarily was contaminated in the time of the confusion, considering that there was safety for him by no means, nor access to the altar, {4} came to king Demetrius in the year an hundred fifty, offering him a crown of gold, & a palm, & besides these, Talloes, which seemed to be of the temple. And that same day in deed he held his peace. {5} But having gotten a commodious time for his madness, being called of Demetrius to counsel, and asked on what thing and counsels the Jews rested, he answered: {6} They of the Jews that are called Assidians, of whom Judas Machabeus is captain, nourish battles, and move seditions, neither do they suffer the realm to be quiet. {7} For I also being defrauded of my ancestor's glory (I mean of the high priesthood) am come hither: {8} principally in deed keeping fidelity to the king's commodities, but secondly also providing for my citizens, for by their naughtiness all our stock is not a little vexed. {9} But all these things being known, o king, provide I pray thee, both for the country, and for our stock according to thy humanity published to all men. {10} For as long as Judas is alive, it is impossible that there be peace to the affairs. {11} And such things being said of him, the other friends also behaving themselves as enemies against Judas, incensed Demetrius. {12} Who forthwith sent Nicanor, chief over the elephants captain into Jurie: {13} giving him commission, that he should take Judas himself: but them that were with him, he should disperse, & make Alcimus the high priest of the greatest temple. {14} Then the nations, which had fled from Judas out of Jurie, joined themselves by troops with Nicanor, esteeming the miseries and calamities of the Jews the prosperities of their own affairs. {15} The Jews therefore having heard of Nicanor's coming, and the assembly of the nations, being sprinkled with earth besought him, that ordained his people to keep them for ever, & that protecteth his portion by evident signs. {16} And the captain commanding forthwith they removed from thence, and they came together to the castle of Dessau. {17} And Simon the brother of Judas had joined battle with Nicanor: but he was made afraid with the sudden coming of the adversaries. {18} Nevertheless Nicanor hearing the manliness of Judas' companions, & greatness of courage, that they had for the conflicts of their country, was afraid to make trial by blood. {19} Wherefore he sent Posidonius, and Theodotius, and Matthias before to give and take the right hands. {20} And when there was long consultation of these things, and the captain himself had moved it to the multitude, there was one sentence of them all to accord unto amity. {21} Therefore they appointed a day, wherein they might secretly deal among themselves, and seats were brought forth & set for every one. {22} But Judas commanded armed men to be in places convenient, lest perhaps some mischief might suddenly arise from the enemies: and they made agreeable communication. {23} Nicanor abode at Jerusalem, and did nothing unjustly, and the flocks of the multitudes, that had been gathered together he diminished. {24} And he esteemed Judas always dear from the heart, and he was inclined to the man. {25} And he desired him to marry a wife, and to beget children. He made a marriage, he lived quietly, and they lived in common. {26} But Alcimus seeing their charity one towards an other, and the covenants, came to Demetrius, and said that Nicanor assented to foreign matters, and that he meant to make Judas being a traitor to the kingdom, his successor. {27} Therefore the king being exasperated with this man's most wicked criminations, wrote to Nicanor, saying, that he indeed was greatly displeased for the covenant of their amity: nevertheless that he commanded him to send Machabeus quickly prisoner to Antioch. {28} Which things being known Nicanor was amazed, and took it grievously, if he should undo those things which they had covenanted, being nothing hurt of the man. {29} But because he could not resist the king, he observed opportunity whereby to accomplish the commandment. {30} But Machabeus seeing that Nicanor dealt with him more austere, and that he exhibited his accustomed meeting more sternly, understanding this austerity not to be of good, a few of his company gathered together, he hid himself from Nicanor. {31} Which when he understood that he was stoutly prevented of the man, he came to the most great and most holy temple: and the Priests offering the accustomed hosts, he commanded the man to be delivered unto him. {32} Who saying with an oath, that they knew not where he was, that was demanded, stretching out his hand to the temple, {33} he sware, saying: Unless you will deliver Judas prisoner unto me, I will beat down this temple of God to the flat ground, and will dig down the altar, and this temple I will consecrate to Liber pater. {34} And when he had said these things, he departed. But the Priests stretching forth their hands unto heaven, invoked him that was always the defender of their nation, saying thus: {35} Thou o Lord of all, which lackest nothing, wouldest a temple of thy habitation to be made among us. {36} And now o Lord holy of all holies, preserve for ever this house impolluted, which of late hath been cleansed. {37} And Razias one of the ancients of Jerusalem, was accused to Nicanor, a man that was a lover of the city, and well reported of, who for his affection was called father of the Jews. {38} This man long time kept the purpose of continity in Judaism, and content to give his body and life for perseverance. {39} But Nicanor willing to manifest the hatred that he had against the Jews, sent five hundred soldiers to take him. {40} For he thought if he had intrapped him, that he should do the Jews very great hurt. {41} But the multitudes coveting to rush into his house, and to break open the gate, and to set fire thereto, when he was in taking, he struck himself with a sword: {42} choosing to die nobly rather than to be made subject to sinners, and against his noble birth to suffer unworthy injuries. {43} But whereas for haste he had not made the wound with a sure struck, and the multitudes brake in within the doors, running back boldly to the wall, he threw down himself manfully headlong unto the multitudes: {44} who quickly giving place to his fall he fell upon his neck. {45} And when he had breathed, incensed in mind he arose: and when his blood ran with a great stream, and he was wounded with most grievous wounds, running he passed through the multitude: {46} and standing upon a certain steep rock, and now being become without blood, griping his bowels, with both hands he cast them upon multitudes, invoking the dominatour of life and spirit, that he would restore these to him again: and so he departed this life.

Chapter 15

Nicanor intending to assault Judas on the sabbath day 5. blasphemeth most proudly. 7. Judas with all confidence in God encourageth his men, 11. confirming them with the relation of a vision in sleep. 21. So he with fervent prayer, the enemy trusting his own strength, jometh battle, 27. and killeth thirty five thousand, and Nicanor amongst the rest. Whose head, and hand cut off with the shoulder are hanged up in Jerusalem: 33. his tongue given to the birds, and a festival day observed. 38. And herewith the Author (of second Book) concludeth the whole history.

{1} BUT Nicanor as he understood that Judas was in the places of Samaria, he purposed with all violence to join battle the day of the Sabbath. {2} But the Jews that of necessity followed him, saying do not so fiercely and barbarously, but give honour to the day of the sanctification, and honour him that beholdeth all things: {3} that unhappy man asked, if there were a power in heaven, that commanded the Sabbath day to be kept. {4} And they answering: There is the living Lord himself in heaven, the potent, that commanded the seventh day to be kept. {5} But he said. And I am potent upon the earth, that commanded arms to be taken, and the king's affairs to be accomplished. Nevertheless he obtained not to accomplish his counsel. {6} And Nicanor in deed puffed up with exceeding pride, had thought to have set up a common victorious memory of Judas. {7} But Machabeus always trusted with all hope that there would come aid from God to them. {8} And exhorted his company, that they should not fear at the coming of the nations, but should have in mind the aids given unto them from heaven, and now should hope that they should have the victory from the Almighty. {9} And speaking unto them out of the law, and the Prophets, admonishing them also of the conflicts, that they had made before, he made them the more prompt: {10} and so their hearts being encouraged, withal he shewed the fraud of the Gentiles, and their breaking of oaths. {11} And he armed every one of them not with fence of buckler and spear, but with very good words, and exhortations, declaring a dream worthy to be credited, whereby he rejoiced them all. {12} And the vision was in this manner: Onias who had been the high-Priest, a good and benign man, reverent to behold, modest of manners, and comely of speech, and who from a child was exercised in virtues, that he stretching forth the hands prayed for all the people of the Jews. {13} After this that there appeared also an other man marvelous for age, and glory, and for the port of great dignity about him. {14} And that Onias answering said: This is a lover of his brethren, and of the people of Israel: this is he that prayeth much for the people, and for the whole city, Jeremy the Prophet of God. {15} And that Jeremy put forth his right hand, and gave unto Judas a sword of gold, saying: {16} Take the holy sword a gift from God, wherewith thou shalt overthrow the adversaries of my people Israel. {17} Being exhorted therefore with the words of Judas exceeding good, by which the courages might be stirred up, & the hearts of the young men strengthened, they resolved to fight, and to encounter manfully: that manhood might decide the matter, because the holy city, and the temple were in danger. {18} For there was less care for their wives, and children, and also for their brethren, and kinsmen: but the greatest and principal fear was for the holiness of the temple. {19} And they also that were in the city, took no little care for them that were to join battle. {20} And when they did all hope that judgement would be given, and the enemies were present, and the army was set in array, the beasts & horsemen disposed in convenient place, {21} Machabeus considering the coming of the multitude, and the variety of the provision of armour, and the fierceness of the beasts, stretching forth his hands unto heaven, he invoked our Lord, that worketh wonders, who not according to the might of arms, but according as it pleaseth him, giveth victory to the worthy. {22} And he said invoking in this manner: Thou Lord which didst send thy Angel in the time of Ezechias king of Juda, and didst kill an hundred eighty five thousand of the camp of Sennacharib: {23} and now o Dominatour of the heavens send thy good Angel before us, in fear and trembling of the greatness of thine arm, {24} that they may be afraid, which with blasphemy come against thine holy people. And he indeed ended his prayer thus. {25} But Nicanor, and they that were with him, with trumpets & songs came near. {26} But Judas, & they that were with him, invoking God by prayers joined battle: {27} with the hand indeed fighting, but in their hearts praying to our Lord, they overthrew no less than five and thirty thousand, being greatly delighted with the presence of God. {28} And when they had ceased, and returned with joy, they understood that Nicanor was slain, for all his armour. {29} A shout therefore being made, and a great cry, they blessed the Almighty Lord in their country language. {30} And Judas, who by all means was in body and mind ready to die for his citizens, commanded that Nicanor's head, & hand with the shoulder being cut off, should be carried to Jerusalem. {31} Whither when he was come, having called his countrymen, and the Priests to the altar, he sent also for them that were in the castle. {32} And shewing them the head of Nicanor, and the wicked hand, which he stretching forth against the holy house of Almighty God, had mightily bragged. {33} The tongue also of impious Nicanor being cut out, he commanded to be given piecemeal to the birds: and the hand of the furious man to be hanged up against the temple. {34} All therefore blessed the Lord of heaven, saying: Blessed be he, that hath kept his place undefiled. {35} And he hung up Nicanor's head in the top of the castle, that it might be an evident, and manifest sign of the help of God. {36} Therefore all by common counsel decreed, by no means to let pass this day without solemnity: {37} but to keep the solemnity the thirteenth day of the month Adar, which is called in the Syrian language, the day before Mardocheus' day. {38} These things therefore being done concerning Nicanor, and from that time the city being possessed of the Hebrews, I also in these will make an end of speaking. {39} And if well, and as is competent for a story, that, myself also would: but if not so worthily, it resteth to be pardoned me. {40} For as to drink always wine, or always water is hurtful, but to use now one now an other is delectable: so to the readers, if the speech be always exact, it will not be grateful. Here therefore it shall be ended.

New Testament

THE HOLY GOSPEL ACCORDING TO S. MATTHEW

Chapter 1

The pedigree of Jesus, to shew that he is Christ, promised to Abraham and David. 18. That he was conceived and born of a Virgin, as Esay prophesied of him.

{1} THE book of the generation of JESUS Christ, the son of David, the son of Abraham. {2} Abraham begat Isaac, And Isaac begat Jacob. And Jacob begat Judas and his brethren: {3} And Judas begat Phares and Zaram of Thamar. And Phares begat Esron. And Esron begat Aram. {4} And Aram begat Aminadab. And Aminadab begat Naasson. And Naasson begat Salmon. {5} And Salmon begat Booz of Rahab. And Booz begat Obed of Ruth. And Obed begat Jesse. {6} And Jesse begat David the king. And David the king begat Salomon of her that was the wife of Urias. {7} And Salmon begat Roboam. And Roboam begat Abia. And Abia begat Asa. {8} And Asa begat Josaphat. And Josaphat begat Joram. And Joram begat Ozias. {9} And Ozias begat Joatham. And Joatham begat Achaz. And Achaz begat Ezechias. {10} And Ezechias begat Manasses. And Manasses begat Amon. And Amon begat Josias. {11} And Josias begat Jechonias and his brethren in the Transmigration of Babylon. {12} And after the Transmigration of Babylon, Jechonias begat Salathiel. And Salathiel begat Zorobabel. {13} And Zorobabel begat Abiud. And Abiud begat Eliacim. And Eliacim begat Azor. {14} And Azor begat Sadoc. And Sadoc begat Achim. And Achim begat Eliud. {15} And Eliud begat Eleazar. And Eleazar begat Mathan. And from David to the Transmigration of Babylon, fourteen generations. And from the Transmigration of Babylon unto CHRIST, fourteen generations. {18} And the generation of CHRIST was in this wise. When his mother MARY was spoused to Joseph, before they came together, she was found to be with child, by the Holy Ghost. {19} Whereupon Joseph her husband for that he was a just man, & would not put her to open shame: was minded secretly to dismiss her. {20} But as he was thus thinking, behold the Angel of our Lord appeared to him in sleep saying: Joseph son of David, fear not to take MARY thy wife, for that which is born in her, is of the Holy Ghost. {21} And she shall bring forth a Son: and thou shalt call his name JESUS. For he shall save his people from their sins. {22} And all this was done that it might be fulfilled which our Lord spake by the Prophet saying. {23} Behold a Virgin shall be with child, & bring forth a Son, and they shall call his name Emmanuel, which being interpreted is, God with us. {24} And Joseph rising up from sleep, did as the Angel of our Lord commanded him, & took his wife. {25} And he knew her not till she brought forth her first born Son: & called his name JESUS.

Chapter 2

The Gentiles come unto Christ with their offerings, and that so openly, that the Jews can not pretend ignorance. {3} The Jews with Herod conspire against him. {13} He thereupon fleeth from them into Aegypt. {16} They afterward, seeing their subtlety prevailed not, {1042} imagined to oppress him by open persecution. {19} But they at length died, and he returneth to the land of Israel: all according to the Scriptures.

{1} WHEN JESUS therefore was born in Bethlehem of Juda in the days of Herod the king, behold there came Sages from the East to Jerusalem, {2} Saying, where is he that is born King of the Jews? For we have seen his star in the East, and are come to adore him. {3} And Herod the king Hearing this, was troubled, & all Jerusalem with him. {4} And assembling together all the high Priests and the Scribes of the people, he inquired of them where Christ should be born. {5} But they said to him: In Bethlehem of Juda. For so it is written by the Prophet: {6} And thou Bethlehem the land of Juda, art not the least among the Princes of Juda: for out of thee shall come forth the Captain that shall rule my people Israel. {7} Then Herod secretly calling the Sages, learned diligently of them the time of the star which appeared to them; {8} and sending them into Bethlehem, said: Go, & inquire diligently of the child; and when you shall find him, make report to me, that I also may come and adore him. {9} Who having heard the king, went their way; and behold the star which they had seen in the East, went before them, until it came and stood over, where the child was. {10} And seeing the star they rejoiced with exceeding great joy. {11} And entering into the house, they found the child with MARY his mother, & falling down adored him; and opening their treasures, they offered to him gifts: gold, frankincense, and myrrh. {12} And having received an answer in sleep that they should not return to Herod, they went back an other way into their country. {13} And after they were departed, Behold an Angel of our Lord appeared in sleep to Joseph, saying: Arise, & take the child and his mother, and fly into Aegypt; and be there until I shall tell thee. For it will come to pass that Herod will seek the child to destroy him. {14} Who arose, & took the child and his mother by night, and retired into Aegypt: and he was there until the death of Herod: {15} that it might be fulfilled which was spoken of our Lord by the Prophet, saying: Out of Aegypt have I called my Son. {16} Then Herod perceiving that he was deluded by the Sages, was exceeding angry; and sending, murdered all the men children that were in Bethlehem, & in all the borders thereof, from two year old and under, according to the time which he had diligently sought out of the Sages. {17} Then was fulfilled that which was spoken by Jeremy the Prophet saying: {18} A voice in Rama was heard, crying out & much wailing: Rachel bewailing her children, & would not be comforted, because they are not. {19} But when Herod was dead, behold an Angel of our Lord appeared in sleep to Joseph in Aegypt. {20} saying: Arise, and take the child & his mother, and go into the land of Israel. For they are dead that sought the life of the child. {21} Who arose, & took the child and his mother, and came into the land of Israel. {22} But hearing that Archelaus reigned in Jewry for Herod his father, he feared to go thither: and being warned in sleep retired into the quarters of Galilee. {23} And coming he dwelt in a city called Nazareth: that it might be fulfilled which was said by the Prophets: That he shall be called a Nazarite.

Chapter 3

John Baptist by his Eremite's life, by his preaching and baptism, calleth all unto penance, to prepare them to Christ. {10} He preacheth to the Pharisees and Sadducees, threatening to them (unless they truly do penance) reprobation here and damnation hereafter: and for salvation sendeth them to Christ and his baptism. Which being far more excellent than John's, yet Christ him self among those penitents vouchsafeth to come unto John's baptism. Where he hath testimony from heaven also.

{1} AND in those days cometh John the Baptist preaching in the desert of Jewry, saying: Do penance: for the Kingdom of {2} & Heaven is at hand. {3} For this is he that was spoken of by Esay the Prophet, saying: A voice of one crying in the desert, prepare ye the way of our Lord, make straight his paths. {4} And the said John had his garment of camels' hair, and a girdle of a skin about his loins: and his meat was locusts & wild honey. {5} Then went forth to him Jerusalem and all Jewry, and all the country about Jordan: {6} & were baptized of him in Jordan, confessing their sins. {7} And seeing many of the Pharisees and Sadducees coming to his Baptism, he said to them. Ye viper's brood, who hath shewed you to flee from the wrath to come? {8} Yield therefore fruit worthy of penance. {9} And delight not to say within your selves, we have Abraham to our father. For I tell you that God is able of these stones to raise up children to Abraham. {10} For now the axe is put to the root of the trees. Every tree therefore that doth not yield good fruit, shall be cut down, & cast into the fire. {11} I indeed baptize you in water unto penance, but he that shall come after me, is stronger than I, whose shoes I am not worthy to bear, he shall baptize you in the Holy Ghost & fire. {12} Whose fan is in his hand, and he shall clean purge his floor: and he will gather his wheat into the barn, but the chaff he will burn with unquenchable fire. {13} Then cometh JESUS from Galilee to Jordan, unto John, to be baptized of him. {14} But John stayed him, saying: I ought to be baptized of thee, and comest thou to me? {15} And JESUS answering, said to him: Suffer me for this time. For so it becometh us to fulfill all justice. Then he suffered him. {16} And JESUS being baptized, forthwith came out of the water: and lo the Heavens were opened to him: & he saw the Spirit of God descending as a dove, & coming upon him. {17} And behold a voice from Heaven saying: This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased.

Chapter 4

Christ going into the desert to prepare him self before his Manifestation, overcometh the Devil's temptations. {12} Beginning in Galilee, as the Prophet said he should: {18} he calleth four Disciples: and with his preaching and miracles draweth unto him innumerable followers.

{1} THEN JESUS was led of the Spirit into the desert, to be tempted of the devil. {2} And when he had fasted forty days and forty nights, afterward he was hungry. {3} And the tempter approached and said to him: If thou be the Son of God, command that these stones be made bread. {4} Who answered and said: It is written, Not in bread alone doth man live, but in every word that proceedeth from the mouth of God. {5} Then the devil took him up into the holy city, and set him upon the pinnacle of the Temple, {6} and said to him: If thou be the Son of God, cast thyself down, for it is written: That he will give his Angels charge of thee, & in their hands shall they hold thee up, lest perhaps thou knock thy foot against a stone. {7} JESUS said to him again: It is written, Thou shalt not tempt the Lord thy God. {8} Again the devil took him up into a very high mountain: and he shewed him all the kingdoms of the world, and the glory of them, {9} and said to him: All these will I give thee, if falling down thou wilt adore me. {10} Then JESUS saith to him: Avaunt Satan; for it is written, The Lord thy God shalt thou adore, and him only shalt thou serve. {11} Then the devil left him; and behold Angels came, and ministered to him.

{12} And when JESUS had heard that John was delivered up, he retired into Galilee: {13} and leaving the city Nazareth, came and dwelt in Capharnaum a sea town, in the borders of Zabulon & Nephthali; {14} that it might be fulfilled which was said by Esay the Prophet. {15} Land of Zabulon & land of Nephthali, the way of the sea beyond Jordan of Galilee, of the Gentiles: {16} the people that sat in darkness, hath seen great light: & to them that sat in a country of the shadow of death, light is risen to them. {17} From that time JESUS began to preach, and to say: Do penance, for the Kingdom of Heaven is at hand. {18} And JESUS walking by the sea of Galilee, saw two brethren, Simon who is called Peter, and Andrew his brother, casting a net into the sea (for they were fishers) {19} and he saith to them: Come ye after me, and I will make you to be fishers of men. {20} But they incontinent leaving the nets, followed him. {21} And going forward from thence, he saw other two brethren, James of Zebedee, and John his brother, in a ship with Zebedee their father, repairing their nets: and he called them. {22} And they forthwith left their nets and father and followed him. {23} And JESUS went round about all Galilee, teaching in their Synagogues, & preaching the Gospel of the Kingdom: and healing every malady, and every infirmity, in the people. {24} And the bruit of him went into all Syria, and they presented to him all that were ill at ease, diversely taken with diseases and torments, and such as were possest, and lunatics, and sick of the palsy, and he cured them: {25} And much people followed him from Galilee, and Decapolis, and Jerusalem, and from Jury and from Jordan.

Chapter 5

First, {3} he promiseth rewards, {13} and he layeth before the Apostles their office. {17} Secondly, he protesteth unto us that we must keep the commandments, and that more exactly than the Scribes and Pharisees, whose justice was counted most perfid: but yet that it was unsufficient, he sheweth in the precepts of {21} Murder, {27} Adultery, {31} Divorce, {33} Swearing, {38} Revenge, {42} Usury, {43} Enemies.

{1} AND much people followed him from Galilee, and Decapolis, and Jerusalem, and from Jury and from beyond Jordan. {2} and opening his mouth he taught them, saying, {3} Blessed are the poor in spirit: for theirs is the Kingdom of Heaven. {4} Blessed are the meek: for they shall possess the land. {5} Blessed are they that mourn: for they shall be comforted. {6} Blessed are they that hunger and thirst after justice: for they shall have their fill. {7} Blessed are the merciful: for they shall obtain mercy. {8} Blessed are the clean of heart: for they shall see God. {9} Blessed are the peace-makers: for they shall be called the children of God. {10} Blessed are they that suffer persecution for justice: for theirs is the Kingdom of Heaven. {11} Blessed are ye when they shall revile you, and persecute you, & speak all that naught is, against you, untruly, for my sake: {12} be glad & rejoice, for your reward is very great in Heaven. For so they persecuted the Prophets, that were before you. {13} You are the salt of the earth. {14} But if the salt leese his virtue, wherewith shall it be salted? It is good for nothing any more but to be cast forth, and to be trodden of men. {15} You are the light of the world. A city cannot be hid, situated on a mountain. {16} Neither do men light a candle and put it under a bushel, but upon a candlestick, that it may shine to all that are in the house. {17} So let your light shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in Heaven. {18} Do not think that I am come to break the Law, or the Prophets. I am not come to break, but to fulfill. {19} For assuredly I say unto you, till Heaven and earth pass, one jot, or one tittle shall not pass of the Law, till all be fulfilled. {20} He therefore that shall break one of these least commandments, and shall so teach men, shall be called the least in the Kingdom of Heaven. But he that shall do and teach, he shall be called great in the Kingdom of Heaven. {21} For I tell you, that unless your justice abound more than that of the Scribes and Pharisees, you shall not enter into the Kingdom of Heaven. {22} You have heard that it was said to them of old: Thou shalt not kill. And whoso killeth, shall be in danger of judgement. {23} But I say to you, that whosoever is angry with his brother, shall be in danger of judgment. And whosoever shall say to his brother, Raca, shall be in danger of a council. And whosoever shall say, Thou fool, shall be guilty of the Hell of fire. {24} If therefore thou offer thy gift at the Altar, and there thou remember that thy brother hath ought against thee; {25} leave there thy offering before the Altar, and go first to be reconciled to thy brother: and then coming thou shalt offer thy gift. {26} Be at agreement with thy adversary betimes, {1045} whiles thou art in the way with him; lest perhaps the adversary deliver thee to the judge, and the judge deliver thee to the officer, and thou be cast into prison. {27} Amen I say to thee, thou shalt not go out from thence till thou repay the last farthing. {28} You have heard that it was said to them of old: Thou shalt not commit adultery. {29} But I say to you, that whosoever shall see a woman to lust after her, hath already committed adultery with her in his heart. {30} And if thy right eye scandalize thee, pluck it out, & cast it from thee. For it is expedient for thee that one of thy limbs perish, rather than thy whole body be cast into hell. {31} And if thy right hand scandalize thee, cut it off, and cast it from thee: for it is expedient for thee that one of thy limbs perish rather than that thy whole body go into Hell. {32} It was said also, whosoever shall dismiss his wife, let him give her a bill of divorce. {33} But I say to you, whosoever shall dismiss his wife, excepting the cause of fornication, maketh her to commit adultery: And he that shall marry her that is dismissed; committeth adultery. {34} Again you have heard that it was said to them of old, Thou shalt not commit perjury: but thou shall perform thy oaths to our Lord. {35} But I say to you not to swear at all: neither by heaven, because it is the throne of God: neither by the earth, because it is the foot-stool of his feet: neither by Jerusalem, because it is the city of the great King. {36} Neither shalt thou swear by thy head, because thou canst not make one hair white or black. {37} Let your talk be yea, yea: no, no: and that which is over & above these, is of evil. {38} You have heard that it was said, An eye for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth. {39} But I say to you not to resist evil: but if one strike thee on thy right cheek, turn to him also the other: {40} and to him that will contend with thee in judgement, and take away thy coat, let go thy cloak also unto him. {41} and whosoever will force thee one mile, go with him other twain. {42} He that asketh of thee, give to him: and to him that would borrow of thee, turn not away. {43} You have heard that it was said, Thou shalt love thy neighbour, & hate thine enemy. {44} But I say to you, love your enemies, do good to them that hate you: and pray for them that persecute and abuse you: {45} that you may be the children of your father which is in heaven, who maketh his sun to rise upon good & bad, and raineth upon just and unjust. {46} For if you love them that love you, what reward shall you have? Do not also the Publicans this? {47} And if you salute your brethren only, what do you more, do not also the Heathen this? {48} Be you perfect therefore, as also your heavenly Father is perfect.

Chapter 6

In this second

Chapter of his Sermon, he Controlleth the Pharisee's justice (that is, their alms, prayer, and fasting) for the scope and intention thereof, which was vain glory. {19} Their end also was to be rich, but ours must not be so much as in necessaries.

{1} TAKE good heed that you do not your justice before men, to be seen of them: otherwise reward, you shall not have with your father which is in heaven. {2} Therefore when thou doest an alms-deed, sound not a trumpet before thee, as the Hypocrites do in the Synagogues and in the streets, that they may be honoured of men: Amen I say to you, they have received their reward. {3} But when thou doest an alms-deed, let not thy left hand know what thy right hand doeth: {4} that thy alms-deed may be in secret, and thy father which seeth in secret, will repay thee. {5} And when ye pray, you shall not be as the hypocrites, that love to stand and pray in the Synagogues & corners of the streets, that they may be seen of men: Amen I say to you, they have received their reward. {6} But thou, when thou shalt pray, enter into thy chamber, and having shut the door, pray to thy father in secret: and thy father which seeth in secret, will repay thee. {7} And when you are praying, speak not much, as the Heathen. For they think that in their much-speaking they may be heard. {8} Be not you therefore like to them, for your father knoweth what is needful for you, before you ask him. {9} Thus therefore shall you pray.

{1} OUR FATHER which art in heaven, sanctified be thy name. {10} Let thy Kingdom come. Thy will be done, as in heaven, in earth also. {11} Give us today our supersubstantial bread. {12} And forgive us our debts, as we also forgive our debtors, {13} And lead us not into temptation. But deliver us from evil. Amen. {14} For if you will forgive men their offences, your heavenly father will forgive you also your offences. {15} But if you will not forgive men, neither will your father forgive you your offences. {16} And when you fast, be not as the hypocrites, sad. For they disfigure their faces, that they may appear unto men to fast. Amen I say to you, that they have received their reward. {17} But thou when thou dost fast, anoint thy head, and wash thy face: {18} that thou appear not to men to fast, but to thy father which is in secret: and thy father which seeth in secret, will repay thee. {19} Heap not up to your selves treasures on the earth: where the rust and moth do corrupt, & where thieves dig through and steal. {20} But heap up to your selves treasures in heaven: where neither the rust nor moth doth corrupt, and where thieves do not dig through nor steal. {21} For where thy treasure is, there is thy heart also. {22} The candle of thy body is thine eye. If thine eye be simple, thy whole body shall be lightsome. {23} But if thine eye be naught: thy whole body shall be darksome. If then the light that is in thee, be darkness: the darkness it self how great shall it be? {24} No man can serve two masters. For either he will hate the one, and love the other: or he will sustain the one, and contemn the other. You cannot serve God and Mammon. {25} Therefore I say to you, be not careful for your life, what you shall eat, neither for your body what raiment you shall put on. Is not the life more than the meat: and the body more than the raiment? {26} Behold the fowls of the air, that they sow not, neither reap, nor gather into barns: and your heavenly father feedeth them. {27} And which of you by caring, can add to his stature one cubit? {28} And for raiment why are you careful? Consider the lilies of the field how they grow: they labour not, neither do they spin. {29} But I say to you, that neither Salomon in all his glory was arrayed as one of these. {30} And if the grass of the field, which to day is, and to morrow is cast into the oven, God doth so clothe: how much more you, O ye of very small faith? {31} Be not careful therefore, saying, what shall we eat, or what shall we drink, or wherewith shall we be covered? {32} for all these things the Heathen do seek after. For your father knoweth that you need all these things. {33} Seek therefore first the Kingdom of God, and the justice of him, and all these things shall be given you besides. {34} Be not careful therefore for the morrow; for the morrow day will be careful for it self. Sufficient for the day is the evil thereof.

Chapter 7

In this third and last

Chapter of his Sermon, because we know not men's ends, he biddeth us beware of judging: {6} and nevertheless to take open dogs (so he calleth them) as they be. {7} If these works of justice seem too hard, we must pray instantly to him that giveth them. {12} In the conclusion, he giveth one short rule of all justice. {13} and then he exhorteth with all vehemency to the strait way both of the Catholic faith, {21} and also of good life: because only faith will not suffice.

{1} JUDGE not, that you be not judged. {2} shall be judged: and in what measure you For in what judgement you judge, you mete, it shall be measured to you again. {3} And why seest thou the mote that is in thy brother's eye: and the beam that is in thine own eye thou seest not? {4} Or how sayest thou to thy brother: Let me cast out the mote of thine eye; and behold a beam is in thine own eye? {5} Hypocrite, cast out first the beam out of thine own eye; and then shalt thou see to cast out the mote out of thy brother's eye. {6} Give not that which is holy to dogs: neither cast ye your pearls before swine, lest perhaps they tread them with their feet, & turning, all to tear you. {7} Ask, and it shall be given you: seek, and you shall find, knock, & it shall be opened to you. {8} For every one that asketh, receiveth: and that seeketh, findeth: and to him that knocketh, it shall be opened. {9} Or what man is there of you, whom if his child shall ask bread, will he reach him a stone? {10} Or if he shall ask him fish, will he reach him a serpent? {11} If you then being naught, know how to give good gifts to your children: how much more will your Father which is in Heaven, give good things to them that ask him? {12} All things therefore whatsoever you will that men do to you, do you also to them. For this is the Law and the Prophets. {13} Enter ye by the narrow gate: because broad is the gate, and large is the way that leadeth to perdition, and many there be that enter by it. {14} How narrow is the gate, and strait is the way that leadeth to life: & few there are that find it! {15} Take ye great heed of false Prophets, which come to you in the clothing of sheep, but inwardly are ravening wolves. {16} By their fruits you shall know them. Do men gather grapes of thorns, or figs of thistles? {17} Even so every good tree yieldeth good fruits, and the evil tree yieldeth evil fruits. {18} A good tree can not yield evil fruits, neither an evil tree yield good fruits. {19} Every tree that yieldeth not good fruit, shall be cut down, and shall be cast into fire. {20} Therefore by their fruits you shall know them. {21} Not every one that sayeth to me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the Kingdom of Heaven: but he that doth the will of my Father which is in Heaven, he shall enter into the Kingdom of Heaven. {22} Many shall say to me in that day: Lord, Lord, have not we prophesied in thy name, and in thy name cast out devils, and in thy name wrought many miracles? {23} And then I will confess unto them, That I never knew you: depart from me you that work iniquity. {24} Every one therefore that heareth these words, and doeth them, shall be likened to a wise man that built his house upon a rock, {25} and the rain fell, and the floods came, and the winds blew, and they beat against that house, and it fell not, for it was founded upon a rock. {26} And every one that heareth these my words, and doeth them not, shall be like a foolish man that built his house upon the sand. {27} and the rain fell, and the floods came, and the winds blew, and they beat against that house, and it fell, & the fall thereof was great. {28} And it came to pass, when JESUS had fully ended these words, the multitude were in admiration upon his doctrine. {29} For he was teaching them as having power, and not as their Scribes and Pharisees.

Chapter 8

Immediately after his Sermon (to confirm his doctrine with a miracle) he cureth a Leper. 5. But above him and all other Jews, he commendeth the faith of the Centurion, who was a Gentile: and foretelleth by that occasion, the vocation of the Gentiles, and reprobation of the Jews. [14] In Peter's house he sheweth great grace. [18] In the way to the sea he speaketh with two, of following him: [23] and upon the sea commandeth the tempest: [28] and beyond the sea he manifesteth the devil's malice against man, in an herd of swine.

{1} AND when he was come down from the mountain, great multitudes followed him: {2} And behold a Leper came and adored him saying: Lord, if thou wilt, thou canst make me clean. {3} And JESUS stretching forth his hand, touched him, saying: I will. Be thou made clean. And forthwith, his leprosy was made clean. {4} And JESUS saith to him: See thou tell no body: but go, shew thy self to the Priest, and offer the gift which Moyses commanded for a testimony to them. {5} And when he was entered into Capharnaum, there came to him a Centurion, beseeching him, {6} and saying: Lord my boy lieth at home sick of the palsy, and is sore tormented. {7} And JESUS saith to him: I will come, and cure him. {8} And the Centurion making answer, said: Lord, I am not worthy that thou shouldest enter under my roof: but only say the word, & my boy shall be healed. {9} For I also am a man subject to authority, having under me soldiers; {10} And JESUS hearing this, marveled: and said to them that followed him: Amen I say to you, I have not found so great faith in Israel. {11} And I say to you that many shall come from the East and West, and shall sit down with Abraham, and Isaac, & Jacob in the Kingdom of Heaven: {12} but the children of the Kingdom shall be cast out into the exterior darkness: there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth. {13} And JESUS said to the Centurion: Go, and as thou hast believed, be it done to thee. And the boy was healed in the same hour. {14} And when JESUS was come into Peter's house, he saw his wife's mother laid, and in a fit of a fever: {15} and he touched her hand, and the fever left her, and she arose, and ministered to him. {16} And when evening was come, they brought to him many that had devils: and he cast out the spirits with a word: and all that were ill at ease, he cured: {17} that it might be fulfilled, which was spoken, by Esay the Prophet, saying: He took our infirmities, and bare our diseases. {18} And JESUS seeing great multitudes about him, commanded to go beyond the water. {19} And a certain Scribe came, and said to him: Master, I will follow thee whithersoever thou shalt go. {20} And JESUS saith to him: The foxes have holes, and the fowls of the air nests: but the Son of man hath not where to lay his head. {21} And an other of his Disciples said to him: Lord, permit me first to go and bury my father. {22} But JESUS said to him: Follow me, and let the dead bury the dead. {23} And when he entered into the boat, his Disciples followed him: {24} and lo a great tempest arose in the sea, so that the boat was covered with waves, but he slept. {25} And they came to him, and raised him, saying: Lord, save us, we perish. {26} And he saith to them: Why are you fearful, O ye of little faith? Then rising up he commanded the winds, and the sea, and there ensued a great calm. {27} Moreover the men marveled, saying: What an one is this, for the winds and the sea obey him. {28} And when he was come beyond the water, into the country of the Gerasens, there met him two that had devils, coming forth out of the sepulchres, exceeding fierce, so that none could pass by that way. {29} And behold they cried saying: What is between us & thee JESUS the Son of God? art thou come hither to torment us before the time. {30} And there was not far from them an herd of many swine feeding. {31} And the devils besought him saying: If thou cast us out, send us into the herd of swine. {32} And he said to them: Go. But they going forth went into the swine, and behold the whole herd went with a violence, headlong into the sea: and they died in the waters. {33} And the swineherds fled: and coming into the city, told all, and of them that had been possessed of devils. {34} And behold the whole city went out to meet JESUS, and when they saw him, they besought him that he would pass from their quarters.

Chapter 9

The Masters of the Jews he confuteth both with reasons and miracles: {2} defending his remitting of sins, {9} his eating with sinners, {14} and his condescending to his weak Disciples until he have made them stronger. {18} shewing also in two miracles, the order of his providence about the Jews and Gentiles, leaving the one when he called the other. {27} he cureth two blind men, and one possessed. {35} And having with so many miracles together confuted his enemies, and yet they worse and worse, upon pity toward the people, he thinketh of sending true pastors unto them.

{1} AND entering into a boat, he passed over the water, and came into his own city. {2} And behold they brought to him one sick of the palsy lying in bed. And JESUS seeing their faith, said to the sick of the palsy: Have a good heart son, thy sins are forgiven thee. {3} And behold certain of the Scribes said within them selves: He blasphemeth. {4} And JESUS seeing their thoughts, said:

Wherefore think you evil in your hearts? {5} Whether is easier, to say, thy sins are forgiven thee: or to say, arise and walk. {6} But that you may know that the Son of man hath power in earth to forgive sins, (then said he to the sick of the palsy,) Arise, take up thy bed, and go into thy house. {7} And he arose, and went into his house. {8} And the multitudes seeing it, were afraid, and glorified God that gave such power to men. {9} And when JESUS passed forth from thence, he saw a man sitting in the custom-house, named Matthew; And he saith to him: Follow me. And he arose up, and followed him. {10} And it came to pass as he was sitting at meat in the house, behold many Publicans and sinners came, and sat down with JESUS and his Disciples. {11} And the Pharisees seeing it, said to his disciples: why doth your master eat with Publicans and sinners? {12} But JESUS hearing it, said: They that are in health, need not a physician, but they that are ill at ease. {13} But go your ways & learn what it is, I will mercy, & not sacrifice. For I am not come to call the just, but sinners. {14} Then came to him the Disciples of John, saying: Why do we and the Pharisees fast often, but thy Disciples do not fast? {15} And JESUS said to them: Can the children of the Bridegroom mourn, as long as the Bridegroom is with them? But the days will come when the Bridegroom shall be taken away from them, and then they shall fast. {16} And no body putteth a piece of raw cloth to an old garment. For he taketh away the piecing thereof from the garment, and there is made a greater rent. {17} Neither do they put new wine into old bottles. Otherwise the bottles break, and the wine runneth out, and the bottles perish. But new wine they put into new bottles: and both are preserved together. {18} As he was speaking this unto them, behold a certain Governor approached, and adored him, saying: Lord, my daughter is even now dead; but come, lay thy hand upon her, and she shall live. {19} And JESUS rising up followed him, and his Disciples. {20} And behold a woman which was troubled with an issue of blood twelve years, came behind him, and touched the hem of his garment. {21} For she said within herself: If I shall touch only his garment, I shall be safe. {22} But JESUS turning and seeing her, said: Have a good heart daughter, thy faith hath made thee safe. And the woman became whole from that hour. {23} And when JESUS was come into the house of the Governor, & saw minstrels and the multitude keeping a stir, {24} he said: Depart, for the wench is not dead, but sleepeth. And they laughed him to scorn. {25} And when the multitude was put forth, he entered in, and held her hand. And the maid arose. {26} And this bruit went forth into all that country. {27} And as JESUS passed forth from thence, there followed him two blind men crying and saying: Have mercy on us, O Son of David. {28} And when he was come to the house, the blind came to him. And JESUS saith to them: Do you believe, that I can do this unto you? They say to him: Yea Lord. {29} Then he touched their eyes, saying: According to your faith, be it done to you. {30} And their eyes were opened, and JESUS threatened them, saying: See that no man know it. {31} But they went forth, and bruited him in all that country. {32} And when they were gone forth, behold they brought him a dumb man, possessed with a devil. {33} And after the devil was cast out, the dumb man spake, and the multitudes marveled saying: Never was the like seen in Israel. {34} But the Pharisees said: In the prince of devils he casteth out devils. {35} And JESUS went about all the cities, and towns, teaching in their Synagogues, and preaching the Gospel of the Kingdom, and curing every disease, and every infirmity. {36} And seeing the multitudes, he pitied them; because they were vexed, and lay like sheep that have not a shepherd. {37} Then he saith to his Disciples: The harvest surely is great, but the workmen are few. {38} Pray therefore the Lord of the harvest, that he send forth workmen into his harvest.

Chapter 10

*He giveth to the Twelve the power of Miracles, and so sendeth them to the lost sheep of the Jews.
{5} with instructions accordingly: {10} and by occasion of the sending foretelleth of the* persecutions after his Ascension, arming them and all other against the same, {40} and also exhorting the people to harbour his servants in such times of persecution.

{1} AND having called his twelve disciples together, he gave them power over unclean spirits, that they should cast them out, & should cure all manner of disease, & all manner of infirmity. {2} And the names of the twelve Apostles be these: The first, Simon who is called Peter, and Andrew his brother, {3} James of Zebedee, and John his brother, Philip and Bartholemew, Thomas and Matthew the publican, and James of Alphaeus, and Thaddaeus, {4} Simon Cananaeus, & Judas Iscariote, who also betrayed him. {5} These twelve did JESUS send; commanding them, saying: Into the way of the Gentiles go ye not, and into the cities of the Samaritans enter ye not: {6} but go rather to the sheep that are perished of the house of Israel. {7} And going, preach, saying: That the Kingdom of Heaven is at hand. {8} Cure the sick, raise the dead, cleanse the lepers, cast out devils: gratis you have received, gratis give ye. {9} Do not possess gold, nor silver, nor money in your purses: {10} not a scrip for the way, neither two coats, neither shoes, neither rod. For the workman is worthy of his meat. {11} And into whatsoever city or town you shall enter, inquire who in it is worthy: and there tarry till you go forth. {12} And when ye enter into the house, salute it, saying: Peace be to this house. {13} And if so be that house be worthy, your peace shall come upon it. But if it be not worthy, your peace shall return to you. {14} And whosoever shall not receive you, nor hear your words; going forth out of the house or the city shake off the dust from your feet. {15} Amen I say to you, it shall be more tolerable for the land of the Sodomites and Gomorreans in the day of judgement, than for that city. {16} Behold I send you as sheep in the midst of wolves. Be ye therefore wise as serpents, and simple as doves. {17} And take heed of men. For they will deliver you up in Councils, and in their Synagogues they will scourge you. {18} And to presidents and to kings shall you be led for my sake, in testimony to them and the Gentiles. {19} But when they shall deliver you up, take no thought how or what to speak: for it shall be given you in that hour what to speak. {20} For it is not you that speak, but the Spirit of your Father that speaketh in you. {21} The brother also shall deliver up the brother to death, and the father the Son: and the children shall rise up against the parents, and shall work their death, {22} and you shall be odious to all men for my name: but he that shall persevere unto the end, he shall be saved. {23} And when they shall persecute you in this city, flee into an other. Amen I say to you, you shall not finish all the cities of Israel, till the Son of man come. {24} The disciple is not above the master, nor the servant above his lord. {25} It sufficeth the disciple that he be as his master, and the servant as his lord. If they have called the goodman of the house Beelzebub, how much more them of his household? {26} Therefore fear ye not them. For nothing is hid, that shall not be revealed: and secret, that shall not be known. {27} That which I speak to you in the dark, speak ye in the light: and that which you hear in the ear, preach ye upon the house tops. {28} And fear ye not them that kill the body, and are not able to kill the soul: but rather fear him that can destroy both soul and body into Hell. {29} Are not two sparrows sold for a farthing: and not one of them shall fall upon the ground without your father? {30} But your very hairs of the head are all numbered. {31} Fear not therefore: better are you than many sparrows. {32} Every one therefore that shall confess me before men, I also will confess him before my Father which is in Heaven. {33} But he that shall deny me before men, I also will deny him before my Father which is in Heaven. {34} Do not ye think that I came to send peace into the earth: I came not to send peace, but the sword. {35} For I came to separate man against his father, and the daughter against her mother, and the daughter in law against her mother in law. {36} And a man's enemies, they of his own household. {37} He that loveth father or mother more than me, is not worthy of me: and he that loveth son or daughter above me, is not worthy of me. {38} And he that taketh not his cross, and followeth me, is not worthy of me. {39} He that hath found his life, shall lose it: and he that hath lost his life for me, shall find it. {40} He that receiveth you, receiveth me: and he that receiveth me, receiveth him that sent me. {41} He that receiveth a Prophet in the name of a Prophet, shall receive the reward of a Prophet, and he that receiveth a just man in the name of a just man, shall receive the reward of a just man. {42} And whosoever shall give drink to one of these little ones a cup of cold water, only in the name of a disciple, amen I say to you, he shall not lose his reward.

Chapter 11

John the Baptist in prison also doing his diligence, sendeth some of his disciples to Christ: that as they heard, so they might also see his miracles with their eyes. [7] Afterward Christ declareth how worthy of credit John's testimony was: [16] and inveigheth against the Jews, who with neither of their manners of life could be won: [20] no nor with Christ's infinite miracles: [25] praying God's wisdom in this behalf, [27] and calling to him self all such as feel their own burdens.

{1} AND it came to pass: when JESUS had done commanding his twelve Disciples, he passed from thence, to teach & preach in their cities. {2} And when John had heard in prison the works of Christ; sending two of his Disciples, he said to him: {3} Art thou he that art to come, or look we for an other? {4} And JESUS making answer said to them: Go and report to John what you have heard and seen. {5} The blind see, the lame walk, the lepers are made clean, the deaf hear, the dead rise again, to the poor the Gospel is preached. {6} and blessed is he that shall not be scandalized in me. {7} And when they went their way, JESUS began to say to the multitudes, of John: What went you out into the desert to see? a reed shaken with the wind? {8} But what went you out to see? A man clothed in soft garments? Behold they that are clothed in soft garments, are in king's houses. {9} But what went you out to see? A Prophet? Yea I tell you and more than a Prophet. {10} For this is he of whom it is written: Behold I send mine Angel before thy face, which shall prepare thy way before thee. {11} Amen I say to you, there hath not risen among the born of women a greater than John the Baptist: yet he that is the lesser in the Kingdom of Heaven, is greater than he. {12} And from the days of John the Baptist until now, the Kingdom of Heaven suffereth violence, and the violent bear it away. {13} For all the Prophets and the Law prophesied unto John: {14} and if you will receive it, he is Elias that is for to come. {15} He that hath ears to hear, let him hear. {16} And whereunto shall I esteem this Generation to be like? It is like to children sitting in the market place, {17} which crying to their companions, say: we have piped to you, and you have not danced: we have lamented, and you have not mourned. {18} For John came neither eating nor drinking; and they say: He hath a devil. {19} The Son of man came eating and drinking, and they say: Behold a man that is a glutton and a wine-drinker, a friend of Publicans and sinners. And wisdom is justified of her children. {20} Then began he to upbraid the cities, wherein were done the most of his miracles, for that they had not done penance. {21} Woe be to thee Corozain, woe be to thee Beth-saida: for if in Tyre & Sidon had been wrought the miracles that have been wrought in you, they had done penance in hair-cloth & ashes long ago. {22} But nevertheless, I say to you, it shall be more tolerable for Tyre and Sidon in the day of judgement, than for you. {23} And thou Capharnaum, shalt thou be exalted up to Heaven? thou shalt come down even unto Hell. For if in Sodom had been wrought the miracles that have been wrought in thee, perhaps it had remained unto this day. {24} But notwithstanding I say to you, that it shall be more tolerable for the land of Sodom in the day of judgement, than for thee. {25} At that time JESUS answered and said: I confess to thee O Father Lord of Heaven and earth, because thou hast hid these things from the wise and prudent, and hast revealed them to little ones. {26} Yea Father; for so hath it well pleased thee. {27} All things are delivered me of my Father. And no man knoweth the Son but the Father: neither doth any know the Father, but the Son, and to whom it shall please the Son to reveal. {28} Come ye to me all that labour, and are burdened, and I will refresh you. {29} Take up my yoke upon you, and learn of me, because I am meek, and humble of heart: and you shall find rest to your souls. {30} For my yoke is sweet, and my burden light.

The blindness of the Pharisees about the Sabbath he reproveth by Scriptures, by reason, and by a miracle. [14] and his death being therefore sought by them, he meekly goeth out of the way, according as Esay had prophesied of him. [22] His casting out of devils also he defendeth against them, [31] and setteth forth the danger they stand in for their horrible blasphemy. [38] And because they ask yet for a sign, he sheweth how worthily they shall be damned, as foretelling how the devil shall possess their Nation. [46] and testifying that although he be of their blood, yet not they for this, but such as keep his commandments are dear unto him.

{1} AT that time JESUS went through the corn on the Sabbath: and his Disciples being hungry, began to pluck the ears, and to eat. {2} And the Pharisees seeing them, said to him: Lo, thy Disciples do that which is not lawful for them to do on the Sabbath-days. {3} But he said to them: Have you not read what David did when he was an hungered, and they that were with him: {4} how he entered into the house of God, and did eat the loaves of proposition, which it was not lawful for him to eat, nor for them that were with him, but for Priests only? {5} Or have ye not read in the Law, that on Sabbath-days the Priests in the temple do break the Sabbath, & are without blame? {6} But I tell you that there is here a greater than the temple. {7} And if you did know what it is, I will mercy, and not Sacrifice: you would never have condemned the innocents. {8} For the Son of man is Lord of the Sabbath also. {9} And when he had passed from thence, he came into their Synagogue. {10} And behold there was a man which had a withered hand, and they asked him saying: Whether is it lawful to cure on the Sabbath? that they might accuse him. {11} But he said to them: What man shall there be of you, that shall have one sheep: and if the same fall into a ditch on the Sabbath, will he not take hold and lift it up? {12} How much better is a man more than a sheep? Therefore it is lawful on the Sabbath to do a good deed. {13} Then he saith to the man: Stretch forth thy hand, and he stretched it forth, and it was restored to health even as the other. {14} And the Pharisees going forth made a consultation against him, how they might destroy him. {15} But JESUS knowing it, retired from thence: and many followed him, and he cured them all. {16} and he charged them that they should not disclose him. {17} That it might be fulfilled which was spoken by Esay the Prophet, saying: {18} Behold my servant whom I have chosen, my beloved in whom my soul hath well liked. I will put my spirit upon him, and judgement to the Gentiles shall he shew. {19} He shall not contend, nor cry out, neither shall any man hear in the streets his voice. {20} The reed bruised he shall not break, & smoking flax he shall not extinguish: till he cast forth judgement unto victory. {21} And in his name the Gentiles shall hope. {22} Then was offered to him one possessed with a devil, blind and dumb: and he cured him, so that he spake and saw. {23} And all the multitudes were amazed, and said: Whether this be the Son of David? {24} But the Pharisees hearing it, said: This fellow casteth not out devils but in Beelzebub the prince of the devils. {25} And JESUS knowing their cogitations, said to them: Every kingdom divided against itself shall be made desolate: and every city or house divided against itself, shall not stand. {26} And if Satan cast out Satan, he is divided against himself: how then shall his kingdom stand? {27} And if I in Beelzebub cast out devils, your children in whom do they cast out? Therefore they shall be your judges. {28} But if I in the Spirit of God do cast out devils, then is the Kingdom of God come upon you. {29} Or how can a man enter into the house of the strong, and rifle his vessel, unless he first bind the strong? and then he will rifle his house. {30} He that is not with me, is against me: and he that gathereth not with me, scattereth. {31} Therefore I say to you: Every sin and blasphemy shall be forgiven men, but the blasphemy of the Spirit shall not be forgiven. {32} And whosoever shall speak a word against the Son of man, it shall be forgiven him: but he that shall speak against the Holy-Ghost, it shall not be forgiven him neither in this world, nor in the world to come. {33} Either make the tree good, and his fruit good: or make the tree evil, and his fruit evil. For of the fruit the tree is known. {34} You vipers' broods, how can you speak good things, whereas you are evil? For of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaketh. {35} A good man out of a good treasure bringeth forth good things: and an evil man out of an evil treasure bringeth forth evil things. {36} But I say unto you, that every idle word that men shall speak, they shall render an account for it in the day of judgement. {37} For of thy words thou shalt be justified, and of thy words thou shalt be condemned. {38} Then answered him certain of the Scribes and Pharisees, saying: Master, we would see a sign from thee. {39} Who answered, and said to them: The wicked and adulterous Generation seeketh a sign: and a sign shall not be given it, but the sign of Jonas the Prophet. {40} For as Jonas was in the whale's belly three days and three nights; so shall the Son of man be in the heart of the earth three days and three nights. {41} The men of Nineve shall rise in the judgement with this Generation, and shall condemn it: because they did penance at the preaching of Jonas. And behold more than Jonas here. {42} The queen of the South shall rise in the judgement with this Generation, and shall condemn it: because she came from the ends of the earth to hear the wisdom of Salomon, and behold more than Salomon here. {43} And when an unclean spirit shall go out of a man, he walketh through dry places, seeking rest, and findeth not. {44} Then he saith: I will return into my house whence I came out. And coming he findeth it vacant, swept with besoms, and trimmed. {45} Then goeth he, and taketh with him seven other spirits more wicked than himself, and they enter in and dwell there: and the last of that man be made worse than the first. So shall it be also to this wicked Generation. {46} As he was yet speaking to the multitudes, behold his mother and his brethren stood without, seeking to speak to him. {47} And one said unto him: Behold thy mother and thy brethren stand without, seeking thee. {48} But he answering him that told him, said: Who is my mother, and who are my brethren? {49} And stretching forth his hand upon his Disciples, he said: Behold my mother and my brethren. {50} For whosoever shall do the will of my Father, that is in Heaven: he is my brother, and sister, and mother.

Chapter 13

Speaking in parables (as the Scripture foretold of him, and as meet was for the reprobate Jews: he sheweth by the parable of the Sower, that in the labours of his Church, three parts of four do perish through the fault of the hearers. {24} and yet, by the parable of good seed and cockle (as also of the Net) that his servants must not for all that, never while the world lasteth, make any schism or separation. {31} And by parables of the little mustard seed and leaven, that notwithstanding the three parts perishing, and oversowing of cockles, yet that fourth part of the good seed shall spread over all the world. {44} And withal, what a treasure, and pearl it is. {53} After all which, yet his own country will not honour him.

{1} THE same day JESUS going out of the house, sat by the sea side. multitudes were gathered together unto {2} And great him, in so much that he went up into a boat & sat: and all the multitude stood in the shore; {3} and he spake to them many things in parables, saying: Behold the Sower went forth to sow. {4} And whiles he soweth, some fell by the way side, and the fowls of the air did come and eat it. {5} Other some also fell upon rocky places, where they had not much earth: and they shot up incontinent, because they had not deepness of earth, {6} and after the sun was up, they parched: and because they had not root, they withered. {7} And other fell among thorns: and the thorns grew and choked them. {8} And other some fell upon good ground: and they yielded fruit, the one an hundredfold, the other threescore, and an other thirty. {9} He that hath ears to hear, let him hear. {10} And his Disciples came and said to him: Why speakest thou to them in parables? {11} Who answered and said unto them: Because to you it is given to know the mysteries of the Kingdom of Heaven: but to them it is not given. {12} For he that hath, to him shall be given, and he shall abound: but he that hath not, from him shall be taken away that also which he hath. {13} Therefore in parables I speak to them: because seeing they see not, and hearing they hear not, neither do they understand: {14} and the Prophecy of Esay is fulfilled in them, which saith: With hearing shall you hear; and you shall not understand: and seeing shall you see, and you shall not see. {15} For the heart of this people is waxed gross, and with their ears they have heavily heard, and their eyes they have shut: lest at any time they may see with their eyes, and hear with their ears, and understand with their heart and be converted, and I may heal them. {16} But blessed are your eyes because they do see, and your ears because they do hear. {17} For amen I say to you, that many Prophets and just men have desired to see the things that you see, and have not seen them: and to hear the things that you hear, and have not heard them. {18} Hear you therefore the parable of the sower. {19} Every one that heareth the word of the Kingdom and understandeth not, there cometh the wicked one, and catcheth away that which was sown in his heart: this is he that was sown by the way side. {20} And he that was sown upon rocky places: this is he that heareth the word, and incontinent receiveth it with joy, {21} yet hath he not root in him self, but is for a time: and when there falleth tribulation and persecution for the word, he is by and by scandalized. {22} And he that was sown among thorns, this is he that heareth the word, and the carefulness of this world and the deceitfulness of riches choket up the word, and he becometh fruitless. {23} But he that was sown upon good ground: this is he that heareth the word, and understandeth, and bringeth fruit, and yieldeth some an hundred-fold, and an other threescore, and an other thirty. {24} An other parable he proposed to them, saying: The Kingdom of Heaven is resembled to a man that sowed good seed in his field. {25} But when men were a sleep, his enemy came and oversowed cockle among the wheat, and went his way. {26} And when the blade was shot up, and had brought forth fruit, then appeared also the cockle. {27} And the servants of the goodman of the house coming said to him: Sir, didst thou not sow good seed in thy field? Whence then hath it cockle? {28} And he said to them: The enemy-man hath done this. And the servants said to him: Wilt thou we go and gather it up? {29} And he said: No lest perhaps gathering up the cockle, you may root up the wheat also together with it. {30} Suffer both to grow until the harvest, and in the time of harvest I will say to the reapers: Gather up first the cockle, and bind it into bundles to burn, but the wheat gather ye into my barn. {31} An other parable he proposed unto them, saying: The Kingdom of Heaven is like to a mustard-seed, which a man took and sowed in his field. {32} Which is the least surely of all seeds: but when it is grown, it is greater than all herbs, and is made a tree, so that the fowls of the air come, and dwell in the branches thereof. {33} An other parable he spake to them: The Kingdom of Heaven is like to leaven, which a woman took and hid in three measures of meal,{1055} until the whole was leavened. {34} All these things JESUS spake in parables to the multitudes, and without parables he did not speak to them: {35} that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the Prophet saying: I will open my mouth in parables, I will utter things hidden from the foundation of the world. {36} Then having dismissed the multitudes, he came into the house, and his Disciples came unto him, saying: Exound us the parable of the cockle of the field. {37} Who made answer & said to them: He that soweth the good seed, is the Son of man. {38} And the field, is the world. And the good seed: these are the children of the kingdom. And the cockle: are the children of the wicked one. {39} And the enemy that sowed them, is the devil. But the harvest, is the end of the world. And the reapers, are the Angels. {40} Even as cockle therefore is gathered up, and burnt with fire: so shall it be in the end of the world. {41} The Son of man shall send his Angels, and they shall gather out of his Kingdom all scandals, and them that work iniquity: {42} and shall cast them into the furnace of fire:

There shall be weeping & gnashing of teeth. {43} Then shall the just shine as the sun, in the Kingdom of their Father. He that hath ears to hear, let him hear. {44} The Kingdom of Heaven is like a treasure hidden in a field. Which a man having found, did hide it, and for joy thereof goeth, and selleth all that he hath, and buyeth that field. {45} Again the Kingdom of Heaven is like to a merchant man, seeking good pearls. {46} And having found one precious pearl, he went his way, and sold all that he had, and bought it. {47} Again the Kingdom of Heaven is like to a net cast into the sea, and gathering together of all kind of fishes. {48} Which, when it was filled, drawing it forth, and sitting by the shore, they chose out the good, into vessels, but the bad they did cast out. {49} So shall it be in the consummation of the world. The Angels shall go forth, and shall separate the evil from among the just. {50} And shall cast them into the furnace of fire; there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth. {51} Have ye understood all these things? They say to him, Yea. {52} He said unto them: Therefore every Scribe instructed in the Kingdom of Heaven, is like to a man that is an householder, which bringeth forth out of his treasure new things and old. {53} And it came to pass: when JESUS had ended these parables, he passed from thence. {54} And coming into his own country, he taught them in their Synagogues, so that they marveled, and said: How came this fellow by this wisdom and virtues? {55} Is not this the carpenter's son? Is not his mother called MARY, and his brethren James, and Joseph, and Simon, and Jude: {56} and his sisters, are they not all with us? Whence therefore hath he all these things? {57} And they were scandalized in him. But JESUS said to them: There is not a Prophet without honour but in his own country, and in his own house. {58} And he wrought not many miracles there because of their incredulity.

Chapter 14

Hearing the unworthy decollation of John Baptist by Herod, {13} he betaketh him to his usual solitariness in the desert, and there feedeth {5000} with five loaves. {23} And then after the night spent in the mountain in prayer, he walketh upon the sea (signifying the wide world) {28} yea and Peter also: whereupon they adore him as the son of God. {35} And with the very touch of his garment's hem he healeth innumerable.

{1} AT that time Herod the Tetrarch heard the fame of JESUS: This is John the Baptist: he is risen from {2} and said to his servants: the dead, & therefore virtues work in him. {3} For Herod apprehended John and bound him, & put him into prison because of Herodias, his brother's wife. {4} For John said unto him: It is not lawful for thee to have her. {5} And willing to put him to death, he feared the People: because they esteemed him as a Prophet. {6} But on Herod's birth-day, the daughter of Herodias danced before them: and pleased Herod. {7} Whereupon he promised with an oath, to give her whatsoever she would ask of him. {8} But she being instructed before of her mother saith: Give me here in a dish the head of John the Baptist. {9} And the king was stroken sad: yet because of his oath, and for them that sat with him at table, he commanded it to be given. {10} And he sent, and beheaded John in the prison. {11} And his head was brought in a dish: and it was given to the damsel, and she brought it to her mother. {12} And his Disciples came and took the body, and buried it and came and told JESUS. {13} Which when JESUS had heard, he retired from thence by boat, into a desert place apart, and the multitudes having heard of it, followed him on foot out of the cities. {14} And he coming forth saw a great multitude, and pitied them, and cured their diseased. {15} And when it was evening, his Disciples came unto him, saying: It is a desert place, and the hour is now past: dismiss the multitudes, that going into the towns, they may buy them selves victuals. {16} But JESUS said to them: They have no need to go: give ye them to eat. {17} They answered him: We have not here, but five loaves, and two fishes. {18} Who said to them: Bring them hither to me. {19} And when he had commanded the multitude to sit down upon the grass, he took the five loaves and the two fishes, and looking up unto Heaven he blessed, and brake, and gave the loaves to his Disciples, and the Disciples to the multitudes. {20} And they did all eat, and had their fill. And they took the leavings, twelve full baskets of the fragments. {21} And the number of them that did eat was, five thousand men, beside women and children. {22} And forthwith JESUS commanded his Disciples to go up into the boat, and to go before him over the water, till he dismissed the multitudes. {23} And having dismissed the multitude, he ascended into a mountain alone to pray. And when it was evening, he was there alone. {24} But the boat in the midst of the sea was tossed with waves: for the wind was contrary. {25} And in the fourth watch of the night, he came unto them walking upon the sea. {26} And seeing him upon the sea walking, they were troubled saying: That it is a ghost: & for fear they cried out. {27} And immediately JESUS spake unto them, saying: Have confidence: it is I, fear ye not. {28} And Peter making answer said: Lord if it be thou, bid me come to thee upon the waters. {29} And he said, Come. And Peter descending out of the boat, walked upon the water to come to JESUS. {30} But seeing the wind rough, he was afraid: and when he began to be drowned, he cried out saying: Lord, save me. {31} And incontinent JESUS stretching forth his hand took hold of him, and said unto him: O thou of little faith, why didst thou doubt? {32} And when they were gone up into the boat, the wind ceased. {33} And they that were in the boat, came and adored him, saying: In deed thou art the Son of God. {34} And having passed the water, they came into the country of Genesar. {35} And when the men of that place understood of him, they sent into all that country, and brought unto him all that were ill at ease: {36} and they besought him that they might touch but the hem of his garment, and whosoever did touch, were made whole.

Chapter 15

The Pharisees of Hierusalem coming so far to carp him, he chargeth with a tradition contrary to God's commandment. {10} And to the people he yieldeth the reason of that which they reprove: {15} and again to his Disciples, shewing the ground of the Pharisaical washing (to wit, that meats otherwise defile the soul) to be false. {21} then he goeth aside to hide him self among the Gentiles: where, in a woman finideth such faith, that he is faine lest the Gentiles should before the time extort the whole bread, as she had a crumb, to return to the Jews. {34} where (all contrary to those Pharisees) the common people seek wonderfully unto him, and he after he hath cured their diseased, feedeth {4000} of them with seven loaves.

{1} THEN came to him from Jerusalem Scribes and Pharisees, saying: Disciples transgress the tradition of the {2} Why do thy Ancients? For they wash not their hands when they eat bread. {3} But he answering said to them: Why do you also transgress the commandment of God for your tradition? For God said: {4} Honour father and mother. And: He that shall curse father or mother, dying let him die. {5} But you say: whosoever shall say to father or mother, the gift whatsoever proceedeth from me, shall profit thee: {6} And shall not honour his father or his mother: & you have made frustrate the commandment of God for your own tradition. {7} Hypocrites, well hath Esay Prophesied of you, saying: {8} This People honourth me with their lips: but their heart is far from me. {9} And in vain do they worship me, teaching doctrines and commandments of men. {10} And having called together the multitudes unto him, he said to them: Hear ye and understand. {11} Not that which entereth into the mouth, defileth a man: but that which proceedeth out of the mouth, that defileth a man. {12} Then came his Disciples, and said to him: Dost thou know that the Pharisees, when they heard this word, were scandalized? {13} But he answering said: All planting which my Heavenly Father hath not planted, shall be rooted up. {14} Let them alone: blind they are, guides of the blind. And if the blind be guide to the blind, both fall into the ditch. {15} And Peter answering said to him: Exound us this parable. {16} But he said: Are you also as yet without understanding? {17} Do you not understand, that all that entereth into the mouth, goeth into the belly, and is cast forth into the privy? {18} But the things that proceed out of the mouth, come forth from the heart, and those things defile a man. {19} For from the heart come forth evil cogitations, murders, adulteries, fornications, thefts, false testimonies, blasphemies. {20} These are the things that defile a man. But to eat with unwashed hands, doth not defile a man. {21} And JESUS went forth from thence and retired into the quarters of Tyre and Sidon. {22} And behold a woman of Chanaan came forth out of those coasts, & crying out, said to him: Have mercy upon me, O Lord the Son of David: my daughter is sore vexed of a devil. {23} Who answered her not a word. And his Disciples came and besought him saying: Dismiss her, because she crieth out after us. {24} And he answering said: I was not sent but to the sheep that are lost of the house of Israel. {25} But she came and adored him, saying: Lord, help me. {26} Who answering, said: It is not good to take the bread of the Children, and to cast it to the dogs. {27} But she said: Yea Lord; for the whelps also eat of the crumbs that fall from the table of their masters. {28} Then JESUS answering said to her: O woman, great is thy faith: be it done to thee as thou wilst: And her daughter was made whole from that hour. {29} And when JESUS was passed from thence, he came beside the sea of Galilee: & ascending into the mountain, sat there. {30} And there came to him great multitudes, having with them dumb persons, blind, lame, feeble, and many others: and they cast them down at his feet, and he cured them: {31} So that the multitudes marveled seeing the dumb speak, the lame walk, the blind see: and they magnified the God of Israel. {32} And JESUS called together his Disciples, and said: I pity the multitude because three days now they continue with me, & have not what to eat: and dismiss them fasting I will not, lest they faint in the way. {33} And the Disciples say unto him: whence then may we get so many loaves in the desert as to fill so great a multitude? {34} And JESUS said to them: How many loaves have you? But they said: Seven, & a few little fishes. {35} And he commanded the multitude to sit down upon the ground. {36} And taking the Seven loaves & the fishes, and giving thanks, he brake, & gave it to his Disciples, and the Disciples gave to the people. {37} And they did all eat, and had their fill. And that which was left of the fragments they took up, seven baskets full. {38} And there were that did eat, four thousand men, beside children & women. {39} And having dismissed the multitude, he went up into a boat, and came into the coasts of Magedan.

Chapter 16

The obstinate Pharisees and Sadducees, as though his foresaid miracles were not sufficient to prove him to be Christ, require to see some one from heaven. {5} Whereupon forsaking them, he warneth his disciples to beware of the leaven of their doctrine: {13} and Peter (the time now approaching for him to go into Jewry to his Passion) for confessing him to be Christ, he maketh the Rock of his Church, giving fullness of Ecclesiastical power accordingly. {21} And after, he so rebuketh him for dissuading his Cross and Passion. That he also affirmeth the like suffering in every one to be necessary to salvation.

{1} AND there came to him the Pharisees and Sadducees tempting: and they demanded him to shew them a sign from Heaven. {2} But he answered & said to them: When it is evening, you say: It will be fair-weather, for the element is red. {3} And in the morning: This day there will be a tempest, for the element doth glow and lower. The face therefore of the element you have skill to discern: & the signs of times can you not? {4} The naughty and adulterous Generation seeketh for a sign: and there shall not a sign be given it, but the sign of Jonas the Prophet. And he left them and went away. {5} And when his Disciples were come over the water, they forgot to take bread. {6} Who said to them: Look well and beware of the leaven of the Pharisees & Sadducees. {7} But they thought within them selves saying: Because we took not bread. {8} And JESUS knowing it, said: Why do you think within your selves, O ye of little faith, for that you have not bread? {9} Do you not yet understand, neither do you remember the five loaves among five thousand men, and how many baskets you took up? {10} neither the seven loaves, among four thousand men, and how many mounds you took up? {11} Why do you not understand that I said not of bread to you: Beware of the leaven of the Pharisees, & Sadducees? {12} Then they understood that he said not they should beware of the leaven of bread, but of the doctrine of the Pharisees and Sadducees. {13} And JESUS came into the quarters of Caesarea Philippi: and he asked his Disciples, saying: whom say men that the Son of man is? {14} But they said: Some John the Baptist, & othersome Elias, and others Jeremie, or one of the Prophets. {15} JESUS saith to them: But whom do you say that I am? {16} Simon Peter answered & said: Thou art Christ the Son of the living God. {17} And JESUS answering, said to him: Blessed art thou Simon Bar-Jona: because flesh & blood hath not revealed it to thee, but my Father which is in Heaven. {18} And I say to thee: That thou art Peter; and upon this Rock will I build my Church, and the gates of Hell shall not prevail against it. {19} And I will give to thee the keys of the Kingdom of Heaven. And whatsoever thou shalt bind upon earth, it shall be bound also in the Heavens: and whatsoever thou shalt loose in earth, it shall be loosed also in the Heavens. {20} Then he commanded his Disciples, that they should tell no body that he was JESUS CHRIST. {21} From that time JESUS began to shew his Disciples, that he must go to Jerusalem, & suffer many things of the Ancients & Scribes and Chief-Priests, and be killed, and the third day rise again. {22} And Peter taking him unto him, began to rebuke him, saying: Lord, be it far from thee, this shall not be unto thee. {23} Who turning said to Peter: Go after me Satan, thou art a scandal unto me: because thou savourest not the things that are of God, but the things that are of men. {24} Then JESUS said to his Disciples: If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow me. {25} For he that will save his life, shall lose it, and he that shall lose his life for me, shall find it. {26} For what doth it profit a man, if he gain the whole world, and sustain the damage of his soul? Or what permutation shall a man give for his soul? {27} For the Son of man shall come in the glory of his Father with his Angels: and then will he render to every man according to his works. {28} Amen I say to you, there be some of them that stand here, that shall not taste death, till they see the Son of man coming in his Kingdom.

Chapter 17

As he promised, he giveth them a sight of the glory, unto which suffering doth bring: {9} and then again doth inculcate his Passion. {14} A devil also he casteth out which his Disciples could not for their incredulity and lack of praying and fasting. {22} being yet in Galilee, he revealeth more about his Passion. {24} and the tribute that the Collectors exacted for all, he payeth for him self and Peter: declaring yet withhold his freedom both by word and miracle.

{1} AND after six days Peter, and James, & John his brother, & bringeth them into a high mountain apart: , JESUS taketh unto him {2} And he was transfigured before them. And his face did shine as the sun: & his garments became white as snow. {3} And behold there appeared to them Moyses and Elias talking with him. {4} And Peter answering, said to JESUS: Lord, it is good for us to be here: if thou wilt, let us make here three tabernacles, one for thee, and one for Moyses, and one for Elias. {5} And as he was yet speaking, behold a bright cloud overshadowed them. And lo a voice out of the cloud, saying: This is my wellbeloved Son, in whom I am well pleased: hear ye him. {6} And the Disciples hearing it, fell upon their face, and were sore afraid. {7} And JESUS came and touched them: and he said to them: Arise, and fear not. {8} And they lifting up their eyes, saw no body, but only JESUS. {9} And as they descended from the mount, JESUS commanded them, saying: Tell the vision to no body, till the Son of man be risen from the dead. {10} And his Disciples asked him, saying: what say the Scribes then, that Elias must come first? {11} But he answering, said to them: Elias in deed shall come, and restore all things. {12} And I say to you, that Elias is already come, and they did not know him, but wrought on him whatsoever they would. So also the Son of man shall suffer of them. {13} Then the Disciples understood, that of John the Baptist he had spoken to them. {14} And when he was come unto the multitude, there came to him a man falling down upon his knees before him, saying: Lord have mercy upon my Son, for he is lunatic, and sore vexed: for he falleth often into the fire, and often into the water. {15} And I offered him to thy Disciples, and they could not cure him. {16} JESUS answered and said: O faithless and perverse generation, how long shall I be with you? How long shall I suffer you? Bring him hither to me. {17} And JESUS rebuked him, and the devil went out of him, and the lad was cured from that hour. {18} Then came the Disciples to JESUS secretly, and said: Why could we not cast him out? {19} JESUS said to them, because of your incredulity: For, Amen I say to you, if you have faith as a mustard seed, you shall say to this mountain, Remove from thence thither, and it shall remove; and nothing shall be impossible to you. {20} But this kind is not cast out but by prayer and fasting. {21} And when they conversed in Galilee, JESUS said to them: The Son of man is to be betrayed into the hands of men: {22} and they shall kill him, and the third day he shall rise again. And they were stroken sad exceedingly. {23} And when they were come to Capharnaum, there came they that received the didrachmes, unto Peter, and said to him: Your master doth he not pay the didrachmes? {24} He saith, Yes. And when he was entered into the house, JESUS prevented him, saying: What is thy opinion Simon? The kings of the earth, of whom receive they tribute or cense? Of their children, or of strangers? {25} And he said: Of strangers.

{1} JESUS said to him: Then the children are free. {26} But that we may not scandalize them, go thy ways to the sea, and cast a hook: and that fish which shall first come up, take: and when thou hast opened his mouth, thou shalt find a stater: take that, and give it them for me and thee.

To his Disciples he preacheth against ambition the mother of Schism: {7} foretelling both the author whosoever he be, and also his followers, of their woe to come. {10} and shewing on the contrary side, how precious Christian souls are to their Angels, to the son of man, and to his Father. {15} charging us therefore to forgive our brethren, when also we have just cause against them, be it never so often, and to labour their salvation by all means possible.

{1} AT that hour the Disciples came to JESUS, saying: Who, thinkest thou, is the greater in the Kingdom of Heaven? {2} And JESUS calling unto him a little child, set him in the midst of them, {3} and said: Amen I say to you, unless you be converted, and become as little children, you shall not enter into the Kingdom of Heaven. {4} Whosoever therefore shall humble himself as this little child, he is the greater in the Kingdom of Heaven. {5} And he that shall receive one such little child in my name, receiveth me. {6} And he that shall scandalize one of these little ones that believe in me, it is expedient for him that a millstone be hanged about his neck, and that he be drowned in the depth of the sea. {7} Woe be to the world for scandals. For it is necessary that scandals do come: but nevertheless woe to that man by whom the scandal cometh. {8} And if thy hand, or thy foot scandalize thee, cut it off, and cast it from thee. It is good for thee to go into life maimed or lame, rather than having two hands or two feet, to be cast into everlasting fire. {9} And if thine eye scandalize thee, pluck him out, and cast him from thee: It is good for thee having one eye to enter into life, rather than having two eyes to be cast into the Hell of fire. {10} See that you despise not one of these little ones: for I say to you, that their Angels in Heaven always do see the face of my Father which is in Heaven. {11} For the Son of man is come to save that which was perished. {12} How think you? If a man have an hundred sheep, and one of them shall go astray; doth he not leave ninety nine in the mountains, and goeth to seek that which is strayed? {13} And if it chance that he find it: Amen I say to you, that he rejoiceth more for that, than for the ninety nine that went not astray. {14} Even so it is not the will of your Father, which is in Heaven, that one perish of these little ones. {15} But if thy brother shall offend against thee, go, and rebuke him between thee and him alone. If he shall hear thee, thou shalt gain thy brother.

{16} And if he will not hear thee, join with thee besides, one or two: that in the mouth of two or three witnesses every word may stand. {17} And if he will not hear them, tell the Church. And if he will not hear the Church, let him be to thee as the Heathen and the Publican. {18} Amen I say to you, whatsoever you shall bind upon earth, shall be bound also in Heaven: and whatsoever you shall loose upon earth, shall be loosed also in Heaven. {19} Again I say to you, that if two of you shall consent upon earth, concerning every thing whatsoever they shall ask, it shall be done to them of my Father which is in Heaven. {20} For where there be two or three gathered in my name, there am I in the midst of them. {21} Then came Peter unto him and said: Lord, how often shall my brother offend against me, & I forgive him? Until seven times? {22} JESUS said to him: I say not to thee until seven times but until seventy times seven times. {23} Therefore is the Kingdom of Heaven likened to a man being a king, that would make an account with his servants. {24} And when he began to make the account, there was one presented unto him that owed him ten thousand talents. {25} And having not whence to repay it, his Lord commanded that he should be sold, and his wife and children, and all that he had, and it to be repaid. {26} But that servant falling down, besought him, saying: Have patience toward me, and I will repay thee all, {27} And the Lord of that servant moved with pity, dismissed him, and the debt he forgave him. {28} And when that servant was gone forth, he found one of his fellow-servants that did owe him an hundred pence: and laying hands upon him throttled him, saying: Repay that thou owest. {29} And his fellow-servant falling down, besought him, saying: Have patience toward me, and I will repay thee all. {30} And he would not: but went his way, and cast him into prison, till he repaid the debt. {31} And his fellow-servants seeing what was done, were very sorry, and they came, and told their Lord all that was done. {32} Then his Lord called him; and he said unto him: Thou ungracious servant, I forgave thee all the debt, because thou besoughtest me: {33} oughtest not thou therefore also to have mercy upon thy fellow-servant, even as I had mercy upon thee? {34} And his Lord being angry, delivered him to the tormenters, until he repaid all the debt. {35} So also shall my Heavenly Father do to you, if you forgive not every one his brother from your hearts.

He answereth the tempting Pharisees, that the ease of a man with his wife shall be in the first institution it was) utterly indissoluble, though for one cause he may be divorced. {10} And thereupon to his Disciples he highly commendeth Single life for heaven. {13} He will have children come unto him. {16} He sheweth what is to be done to enter into life everlasting: {20} What also, for a rich man to be perfect: {27} As also what passing reward they shall have which follow that his counsel of perfection: {29} yea though it be but in some one piece.

{1} AND it came to pass, when JESUS had ended these words, he departed from Galilee, and came into the coasts of Jury beyond Jordan, {2} and great multitudes followed him; and he cured them there. {3} And there came to him the Pharisees tempting him, and saying: Is it lawful for a man to dismiss his wife for every cause? {4} Who answering, said to them: Have ye not read, that he which did make from the beginning, made them male & female? And he said: {5} For this cause, man shall leave father & mother, & shall cleave to his wife, and they two shall be in one flesh. {6} Therefore now they are not two, but one flesh. That therefore which God hath joined together, let not man separate. {7} They say to him: Why then did Moyses command to give a bill of divorce, and to dismiss her? {8} He saith to them: Because Moyses for the hardness of your heart permitted you to dismiss your wives: but from the beginning it was not so. {9} And I say to you, that whosoever shall dismiss his wife, but for fornication, and shall marry an other, doth commit adultery: and he that shall marry her that is dismissed, committeth adultery. {10} His Disciples say unto him: If the case of a man with his wife be so, it is not expedient to marry. {11} Who said to them: Not all take this word, but they to whom it is given. {12} For there are Eunuchs which were born so from their mother's womb: and there are Eunuchs, which were made by men: and there are Eunuchs, which have gelded themselves for the Kingdom of Heaven. He that can take, let him take. {13} Then were little children presented to him, that he should impose hands upon them & pray. And the Disciples rebuked them. {14} But JESUS said to them: Suffer the little children, and stay them not from coming unto me: for the Kingdom of Heaven is for such. {15} And when he had imposed hands upon them, he departed from thence. {16} And behold one came and said to him: Good Master, what good shall I do that I may have life everlasting? {17} Who said to him: What asketh thou me of good? One is good, God. But if thou wilt enter into life, keep the commandments. {18} He saith to him, which? And JESUS said: Thou shalt not murder, Thou shalt not commit adultery, Thou shalt not steal, Thou shalt not bear false witness. {19} Honour thy father & thy mother, Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself. {20} The young man saith to him: All these have I kept from my youth; what is yet wanting unto me? {21} JESUS said to him: If thou wilt be perfect, go, sell the things that thou hast, & give to the poor, and thou shalt have treasure in Heaven: and come, follow me. {22} And when the young man had heard this word, he went away sad: for he had many possessions. {23} And JESUS said to his Disciples: Amen I say to you, that a rich man shall hardly enter into the Kingdom of Heaven. {24} And again I say to you, it is easier for a camel to pass through the eye of a needle, than for a rich man to enter into the Kingdom of Heaven. {25} And when they had heard this, the Disciples marveled very much, saying: Who then can be saved? {26} And JESUS beholding, said to them: With men this is impossible: but with God all things are possible. {27} Then Peter answering, said to him: Behold we have left all things, & have followed thee: what therefore shall we have? {28} And JESUS said to them: Amen I say to you, that you which have followed me, in the regeneration, when the Son of man shall sit in the seat of his majesty, you also shall sit upon twelve seats, judging the twelve Tribes of Israel. {29} And every one that hath left house, or brethren, or sisters, or father, or mother, or wife, or children, or lands for my name's sake: shall receive an hundred-fold, & shall possess life everlasting. {30} And many shall be first, that are last; and last, that are first.

Chapter 20

To shew how through God's grace the Jews shall be overrun of the Gentiles, although they begin after, he bringeth a parable of men working sooner and later in the vineyard, but the later rewarded in the end even as the first. {17} He reveleth more to his Disciples touching his passion: {20} Bidding the ambitious two suitors to think rather of suffering with him: {24} And teaching us in the rest of his Disciples not to be grieved at our Ecclesiastical Superiors, considering they are (as he was him self) to toil for our Salvation. {29} Then going out of Jericho, he giveth sight unto two blind.

{1} THE Kingdom of Heaven is like to a man that is an householder which went forth early in the morning to hire workmen into his vineyard. {2} And having made covenant with the workmen for a penny a day, he sent them into his vineyard. {3} And going forth about the third hour, he saw other standing in the market place idle, {4} and he said to them: Go you also into the vineyard, and that which shall be just, I will give you. {5} And they went their way. And again he went forth about the sixth & the ninth hour: and did likewise. {6} But about the eleventh hour he went forth and found other standing, & he saith to them: What stand you here all the day idle? {7} They say to him: Because no man hath hired us. He saith to them: Go you also into the vineyard. {8} And when evening was come, the Lord of the vineyard saith to his bailiff, Call the workmen, and pay them their hire, beginning from the last even to the first. {9} Therefore when they were come that came about the eleventh hour, they received every one a penny. {10} But when the first also came, they thought that they should receive more: and they also received every one a penny. {11} And receiving it they murmured against the good-man of the house. {12}

Saying: These last have continued one hour, and thou hast made them equal to us that have borne the burden of the day & the heats. {13} But he answering said to one of them, Friend, I do thee no wrong: didst thou not covenant with me for a penny? {14} Take that is thine, and go: I will also give to this last even as to thee also. {15} Or, is it not lawful for me to do that I will? Is thine eye naught, because I am good? {16} So shall the last be first, and the first, last. For many be called, but few elect. {17} And JESUS going up to Jerusalem, took the twelve Disciples secretly, and said to them: {18} Behold we go up to Jerusalem, and the Son of man shall be delivered to the chief Priests and to the Scribes, and they shall condemn him to death, {19} and shall deliver him to the Gentiles to be mocked, and scourged, and crucified, and the third day he shall rise again. {20} Then came to him the mother of the sons of Zebedee with her sons, adoring and desiring some thing of him. {21} Who said to her: What wilt thou? She saith to him: Say that these my two sons may sit, one at thy right hand, & one at thy left hand in thy Kingdom. {22} And JESUS answering, said: You know not what you desire. Can you drink of the cup that I shall drink of? They say to him: We can. {23} He saith to them: My cup indeed you shall drink of: but to sit at my right hand and left, is not mine to give to you: but to whom it is prepared of my Father. {24} And the ten hearing it, were displeased at the two brethren. {25} And JESUS calleth them unto him,{1063} and said: You know that the princes of the Gentiles overrule them: and they that are the greater, exercise power against them. {26} It shall not be so among you, but whosoever will be the greater among you, let him be your minister: {27} And he that will be first among you, shall be your servant. {28} Even as the Son of man is not come to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give his life a redemption for many. {29} And when they went out from Jericho, a great multitude followed him. {30} And behold two blind men sitting by the way side, heard that JESUS passed by, and they cried out saying: Lord, have mercy upon us, Son of David. {31} And the multitude rebuked them that they should hold their peace. But they cried out the more, saying: Lord, have mercy upon us, Son of David. {32} And JESUS stood, and called them, and said: What will ye that I do to you? {33} They say to him: Lord, that our eyes may be opened. {34} And JESUS having compassion on them, touched their eyes. And immediately they saw, and followed him.

Chapter 21

Being now come to the place of his Passion, he entereth with humility and triumph together: {12} Sheweth his zeal for the house of God joined with great marvels. {15} And to the Rulers he boldly defendeth the acclamations of the children. {18} He curseth also that fruitless leafy tree: {23} avoucheth his power by the witness of John: {28} and foretelleth his in two parables their reprobation (with the Gentile vocation) for their wicked deserts. {42} and consequently their irreparable damnation that shall ensue thereof.

{1} AND when they drew nigh to Jerusalem, and were come to Beth-phagee unto Mount-olivet, then JESUS sent two Disciples, {2} saying to them: Go ye into the town that is against you, and immediately you shall find an ass tied and a colt with her: loose them & bring them to me: {3} And if any man shall say ought unto you, say ye, that our Lord hath need of them: and forthwith he will let them go. {4} And this was done that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the Prophet, saying: {5} Say ye to the daughter of Sion: Behold thy King cometh to thee, meek, & sitting upon an ass and a colt the foal of her that is used to the yoke. {6} And the Disciples going, did as JESUS commanded them. {7} And they brought the ass and the colt: and laid their garments upon them, and made him to sit thereon. {8} And a very great multitude spread their garments in the way: and others did cut boughs from the trees, and strawed them in the way: {9} and the multitudes that went before and that followed, cried, saying: Hosanna to the Son of David: Blessed is he that cometh in the name of our Lord. Hosanna in the highest. {10} And when he was entered Jerusalem, the whole city was moved, saying: Who is this? {11} And the People said: This is JESUS the Prophet, of Nazareth in Galilee. {12} And JESUS entered into the temple of God, and cast out all that sold and bought in the temple, and the tables of the bankers, & the chairs of them that sold pigeons he overthrew: {13} and he saith to them: It is written, My house shall be called the house of prayer: but you have made it a den of thieves. {14} And there came to him the blind, and the lame in the temple; and he healed them. {15} And the chief Priests & Scribes seeing the marvelous things that he did, and the children crying in the temple, & saying, Hosanna to the Son of David; they had indignation, {16} and said to him: Hearest thou what these say? And JESUS said to them: Very well. Have you never read: That out of the mouth of infants and sucklings thou hast perfited praise? {17} And leaving them, he went forth out of the city into Bethania, and remained there. {18} And in the morning returning into the city, he was an hungered. {19} And seeing a certain figtree by the way side, he came to it, and found nothing on it but leaves only, and he saith to it: Never grow there fruit of thee for ever. And incontinent the figtree was withered. {20} And the Disciples seeing it, marveled saying: How is it withered incontinent? {21} And JESUS answering said to them: Amen I say to you, if you shall have faith, and stagger not, not only that of the figtree shall you do, but and if you shall say to this mountain, Take up and throw thyself into the sea, it shall be done. {22} And all things whatsoever you shall ask in prayer believing, you shall receive. {23} And when he was come into the temple, there came to him as he was teaching, the chief Priests and ancients of the people, saying: In what power doest thou these things? and who hath given thee this power? {24} JESUS answering said to them: I also will ask you one word, which if you shall tell me, I also will tell you in what power I do these things. {25} The Baptism of John whence was it? from Heaven, or from men? But they thought within themselves, saying: {26} If we shall say from Heaven, he will say to us, why then did you not believe him? But if we shall say from men, we fear the multitude, for all hold John as a Prophet. {27} And answering to JESUS they said: We know not. He also said to them: Neither do I tell you in what power I do these things. {28} But what is your opinion? A certain man had two sons, and coming to the first, he said: Son, go work to day in my vineyard. {29} And he answering, said: I will not. But afterward moved with repentance he went. {30} And coming to the other, he said likewise. And he answering, said: I go Lord, and he went not: {31} Which of the two did the father's will? They say to him: The first.

{1} JESUS saith to them: Amen I say to you, that the Publicans and whores go before you into the Kingdom of God. {32} For John came to you in the way of justice, and you did not believe him. But the Publicans and whores did believe him: but you seeing it, neither have ye had repentance afterward, to believe him. {33} An other parable hear ye: A man there was, an householder who planted a vineyard, and made a hedge round about it, and digged in it a press, and builded a tower, and let it out to husbandmen: and went forth into a strange country. {34} And when the time of fruits drew nigh, he sent his servants to the husbandmen, to receive the fruits thereof. {35} And the husbandmen apprehending his servants, one they beat, an other they killed, and an other they stoned. {36} Again he sent other servants more than the former: and they did to them likewise. {37} And last of all he sent to them his son, saying: They will reverence my son. {38} But the husbandmen seeing the son, said within themselves This is the heir, come, let us kill him, and we shall have his inheritance. {39} And apprehending him they cast him forth out of the vineyard, & killed him. {40} When therefore the Lord of the vineyard shall come, what will he do to those husbandmen? {41} They say to him: The naughty men he will bring to naught: and his vineyard he will let out to other husbandmen, that shall render him the fruit in their seasons. {42} JESUS saith to them: Have you never read in the Scriptures: The stone which the builders rejected, the same is made into the head of the corner? By our Lord was this done, and it is marvelous in our eyes. {43} Therefore I say to you, that the Kingdom of God shall be taken away from you, and shall be given to a Nation yielding the fruits thereof. {44} And he that falleth upon this stone, shall be broken: and on whom it falleth, it shall all to bruise him. {45} And when the chief Priests and Pharisees had heard his parables, they knew that he spake of them. {46} And seeking to lay hands upon him, they feared the multitudes: because they held him as a Prophet.

Chapter 22

Yet by one other parable he foresheweth the most deserved reprobation of the earthly and persecuting Jews, and the gracious vocation of the Gentiles in their place. {15} Then he defeateth the snare of the Pharisees and Herodians about paying tribute to Caesar. {23} He answereth also the invention of the Sadducees against the Resurrection: {34} and a question that the Pharisees ask to pose him: turning and posing them again, because they imagined that Christ should be no more than a man: {46} and so he putteth all the busy Sects to silence.

{1} AND JESUS answering, spake again in parables to them, saying: {2} The Kingdom of Heaven is likened to a man being a king, which made a marriage to his son. {3} And he sent his servants to call them that were invited to the marriage: and they would not come. {4} Again he sent other servants, saying: Tell them that were invited, Behold I have prepared my dinner; my beeves & fatlings are killed, and all things are ready: come ye to the marriage. {5} But they neglected and went their ways, one to his farm, and an other to his merchandise: {6} and the rest laid hands upon his servants, and spitefully entreating them, murdered them. {7} But when the king had heard of it, he was wroth, and sending his hosts, destroyed those murderers, and burnt their city. {8} Then he saith to his servants: The marriage indeed is ready: but they that were invited, were not worthy. {9} Go ye therefore into the high ways; and whosoever you shall find, call to the marriage. {10} And his servants going forth into the ways, gathered together all that they found, bad and good: and the marriage was filled with guests. {11} And the king went in to see the guests: and he saw there, a man not attired in a wedding garment. {12} And he saith to him: Friend, how camest thou in hither not having a wedding garment? But he was dumb. {13} Then the king said to the waiters: Bind his hands and feet, and cast him into the utter darkness: there shall be weeping & gnashing of teeth. {14} For many be called, but few elect. {15} Then the Pharisees departing, consulted among them selves for to entrap him in his talk. {16} And they send to him their disciples with the Herodians, saying: Master, we know that thou art a true speaker, and teachest the way of God in truth, neither carest thou for any man. For thou dost not respect the person of men: {17} Tell us therefore what is thy opinion, is it lawful to give tribute to Caesar, or not? {18} But JESUS knowing their naughtiness, said: What do you tempt me Hypocrites? {19} Shew me the tribute coin. And they offered him a penny. {20} And JESUS saith to them: Whose is this image and superscription? {21} They say to him, Caesar's. Then he saith to them: Render therefore the things that are Caesar's, to Caesar: and the things that are God's, to God. {22} And hearing it they marveled, and leaving him went their ways. {23} That day there came to him the Sadducees, that say there is no resurrection, and asked him, {24} saying: Master, Moyses said, If a man die, not having a child, that his brother marry his wife, and raise up seed to his brother. {25} And there were with us seven brethren: and the first having married a wife, died; and not having issue, left his wife to his brother. {26} In like manner the second and the third even to the seventh. {27} And last of all, the woman died also. {28} In the Resurrection therefore whose wife of the seven shall she be? For they all had her. {29} And JESUS answering, said to them: You do err, not knowing the Scriptures, nor the power of God. {30} For in the resurrection neither shall they marry nor be married: but are as the Angels of God in Heaven. {31} And concerning the resurrection of the dead, have you not read that which was spoken of God saying to you. {32} I am the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob? He is not God of the dead, but of the living. {33} And the multitudes hearing it, marveled at his doctrine. {34} But the Pharisees hearing that he had put the Sadducees to silence, came together: {35} and one of them a doctor of law asked of him, tempting him: {36} Master, which is the great commandment in the law? {37} JESUS said to him: Thou shalt love the Lord thy God from thy whole heart, and with thy whole soul, and with thy whole mind. {38} This is the greatest & the first commandment. {39} And the second is like to this: Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thy self. {40} On these two commandments dependeth the whole Law and the Prophets. {41} And the Pharisees being assembled, JESUS asked them {42} saying: What is your opinion of Christ? whose son is he? They say to him, David's. {43} He saith to them: How then doth David in spirit call him Lord, saying: {44} The Lord said to my Lord, sit on my right hand, until I put thine enemies the foot-stool of thy feet? {45} If David therefore call him Lord, how is he his son? {46} And no man could answer him a word: neither durst any man from that day ask him any more.

The Scribes and Pharisees after all this, continuing still incorrigible, although he will have the doctrine of their Chair obeyed, yet against their works (and namely their ambition) he openly inveigleth, crying to them eight woes for their eightfold hypocrisy and blindness: {34} and so concluding with the most worthy reprobation of that persecuting generation and their mother-city Jerusalem with her Temple.

{1} THEN JESUS spake to the multitudes and to his Disciples, Moyses have sitten the Scribes and the {2} saying: Upon the chair of Pharisees. {3} All things therefore whatsoever they shall say to you, observe ye and do ye: but according to their works do ye not, for they say and do not. {4} For they bind heavy burdens & importable: & put them upon men's shoulders: but with a finger of their own they will not move them. {5} But they do all their works for to be seen of men. For they make broad their phylacteries, and enlarge their fringes. {6} And they love the first places at suppers, and the first chairs in the Synagogues, {7} and salutations in the market-place, and to be called of men, Rabbi. {8} But be not you called Rabbi. For one is your Master, and all you are brethren. {9} And call none Father to yourself upon earth: for one is your Father, he that is in Heaven. {10} Neither be ye called Masters: for one is your Master, Christ. {11} He that is the greater of you, shall be your servitor. {12} And he that exalteth himself, shall be humbled: and he that humbleth himself, shall be exalted. {13} But woe to you Scribes & Pharisees, hypocrites: because you shut the Kingdom of Heaven before men. For your selves do not enter in: & those that are going in, you suffer not to enter. {14} Woe to you Scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites: because you devour widows' houses, praying long prayers. For this you shall receive the greater judgement. {15} Woe to you Scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites: because you go round about the sea and the land, to make one proselyte: and when he is made, you make him the child of hell double more than yourselves. {16} Woe to you blind guides, that say, whosoever shall swear by the temple, it is nothing: but he that shall swear by the gold of the temple, is bound. {17} Ye foolish and blind; for whether is greater, the gold, or the temple that sanctifieth the gold? {18} And whosoever shall swear by the Altar, it is nothing: but whosoever shall swear by the gift that is upon it, is bound. {19} Ye blind; for whether is greater, the gift, or the Altar that sanctifieth the gift? {20} He therefore that sweareth by the Altar, sweareth by it, and by all things that are upon it: {21} And whosoever shall swear by the temple, sweareth by it and by him that dwelleth in it: {22} And he that sweareth by Heaven, sweareth by the throne of God, and by him that sitteth thereon. {23} Woe to you Scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites: because you tithe mint, and anise, and cummin, and have left the weightier things of the law, judgement, and mercy, and faith. These things you ought to have done, & not to have omitted those. {24} Blind guides, that strain a gnat, and swallow a camel. {25} Woe to you Scribes and Pharisees, Hypocrites: because you make clean that, on the outside of the cup and dish, but within you are full of rapine and uncleanness. {26} Thou blind Pharisee, first make clean the inside of the cup and the dish that the outside may become clean. {27} Woe to you Scribes and Pharisees, Hypocrites: because you are like to whitened sepulchres, which outwardly appear unto men beautiful, but within are full of dead men's bones, and all filthiness. {28} So you also outwardly indeed appear to men just; but inwardly you are full of hypocrisy and iniquity. {29} Woe to you Scribes and Pharisees, Hypocrites: because you build the Prophets' sepulchres, and garnish the monuments of just men, {30} and say: If we had been in our fathers' days, we had not been their fellows in the blood of the Prophets. {31} Therefore you are a testimony to your own selves, that you are the sons of them that killed the Prophets. {32} And fill you up the measure of your fathers. {33} You serpents, viper's broods, how will you flee from the judgement of Hell? {34} Therefore behold I send unto you Prophets, and wise men, and Scribes, and of them you shall kill & crucify, and of them you shall scourge in your Synagogues, and persecute from city into city: {35} that upon you may come all the just blood that was shed upon the earth, from the blood of Abel the just, even unto the blood of Zacharias the son of Barachias, whom you murdered between the temple & the altar. {36} Amen I say to you, all these things shall come upon this generation. {37} Jerusalem, Jerusalem, which killest the Prophets, and stonest them that were sent to thee, how often would I gather together thy children as the hen doth gather together her chickens under her wings, and thou wouldest not? {38} Behold, your house shall be left desert to you. {39} For I say to you, you shall not see me from hence forth till you say: Blessed is he that cometh in the name of our Lord.

To his Disciples (by occasion of Hierusalem and the Temple's destruction) he foretelleth {4} what things shall before the consummation of the world, as specially, {14} the Churches full preaching unto all nations: {15} then, what shall be in the very consummation, to wit, Antichrist with his passing great persecution and seduction, but for a short time: {29} then incontinent, the Day of judgement to our great comfort in those miseries under Antichrist. {35} As for the moment, to us it pertaineth not to know it, {37} but rather every man to watch, that we be not unprovided when he cometh to each one particularly by death.

{1} AND JESUS being gone out of the temple, went. And his Disciples came to shew him the buildings of the temple. {2} And he answering said to them: Do you see all these things? Amen I say to you, there shall not be left here a stone upon a stone that shall not be destroyed. {3} And when he was sitting upon Mount-olivet, the Disciples came to him secretly, saying: Tell us, when shall these things be? and what shall be the sign of thy coming, and of the consummation of the world? {4} And JESUS answering, said to them: Beware that no man seduce you: {5} for many shall come in my name saying, I am Christ; and they shall seduce many. {6} For you shall hear of wars, & bruits of wars. See that ye be not troubled. For these things must be done, but the end is not yet. {7} For Nation shall rise against Nation, and Kingdom against Kingdom; and there shall be pestilences, and famines, and earthquakes in places; {8} and all these things are the beginnings of sorrows. {9} Then shall they deliver you into tribulation, and shall kill you: and you shall be odious to all Nations for my name's sake. {10} And then many shall be scandalized: and they shall deliver up one an other: and they shall hate one an other. {11} And many false-prophets shall rise, and shall seduce many. {12} And because iniquity shall abound, the charity of many shall wax cold. {13} But he that shall persevere to the end, he shall be saved. {14} And this Gospel of the Kingdom shall be preached in the whole world, for a testimony to all nations, and then shall come the consummation. {15} Therefore when you shall see the abomination of desolation, which was spoken of by Daniel the Prophet, standing in the holy place (he that readeth, let him understand) {16} then they that are in Jewry, let them flee to the mountains: {17} and he that is on the house-top let him not come down to take any thing out of his house: {18} and he that is in the field, let him not go back to take his coat. {19} And woe to them that are with child, and that give suck in those days. {20} But pray that your flight be not in the winter, or on the Sabbath, {21} For there shall be then great tribulation, such as hath not been from the beginning of the world until now, neither shall be. {22} And unless those days had been shortened, no flesh should be saved: but for the Elect the days shall be shortened. {23} Then if any man shall say unto you: Lo here is Christ, or there; do not believe him. {24} For there shall rise false Christs and false-Prophets, and shall shew great signs and wonders, so that the Elect also (if it be possible) may be induced into error. {25} Lo I have foretold you. {26} If therefore they shall say unto you: Behold he is in the desert; go ye not out: Behold in the closets, believe it not. {27} For as lightning cometh out of the east, and appeareth even into the west, so shall also the advent of the Son of man be. {28} Wheresoever the body is, thither shall the Eagles also be gathered together. {29} And immediately after the tribulation of those days the sun shall be darkened, and the moon shall not give her light, and the stars shall fall from Heaven, and the powers of Heaven shall be moved: {30} and then shall appear the sign of the Son of man in Heaven: and then shall all tribes of the earth bewail: and they shall see the Son of man coming in the clouds of Heaven with much power and majesty. {31} And he shall send his Angels with a trumpet, and a great voice: and they shall gather together his Elect from the four winds, from the furthest parts of Heaven even to the ends thereof. {32} And of the figtree learn a parable: When now the bough thereof is tender, and the leaves come forth, you know that summer is nigh. {33} So you also, when you shall see these things, know ye that it is nigh even at the doors. {34} Amen I say to you, that this generation shall not pass, till all these things be done. {35} Heaven and earth shall pass, but my words shall not pass. {36} But of that day and hour no body knoweth, neither the Angels of Heaven, but the Father alone. {37} And as in the days of Noe, so shall also the coming of the Son of man be. {38} For as they were in the days before the flood, eating and drinking, marrying and giving to marriage, even unto that day in which Noe entered into the ark, {39} and knew not till the flood came, & took them all: so also shall the coming of the Son of man be. {40} Then two shall be in the field: one shall be taken, & one shall be left. {41} Two women grinding in the mill: one shall be taken, & one shall be left. {42} Watch therefore because you know not what hour your Lord will come. {43} But this know ye, that if the good-man of the house did know what hour the thief would come, he would surely watch, and would not suffer his house to be broken up. {44} Therefore be you also ready, because at what hour you know not, the Son of man will come. {45} Who, thinkest thou, is a faithful and wise servant, whom his Lord hath appointed over his family, to give them meat in season? {46} Blessed is that servant, whom when his Lord cometh, he shall find so doing. {47} Amen I say to you, that over all his goods shall he appoint him. {48} But if that naughty servant shall say in his heart: My Lord is long a coming: {49} and shall begin to strike his fellow-servants, and eateth, & drinketh with drunkards: {50} the Lord of that servant shall come in a day that he hopeth not, & an hour that he knoweth not, {51} and shall divide him, & appoint his portion with the hypocrites: there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth.

Chapter 25

Continuing his Sermon, he bringeth two parables, of ten Virgins, and of Talents, to shew how it shall be in Domesday with the Faithful that prepare, and that prepare not them selves. {31} Then also without parables he sheweth that such Faithful as do works of mercy, shall have for them life everlasting: and such as do not, everlasting damnation.

{1} THEN shall the Kingdom of Heaven be like to ten virgins, which taking their lamps went forth to meet the bridegroom and the bride. {2} And five of them were foolish, and five wise. {3} But the five foolish, having taken their lamps, did not take oil with them: {4} but the wise did take oil in their vessels with the lamps. {5} And the bridegroom tarrying long, they slumbered all and slept. {6} And at midnight there was a clamour made: Behold the bridegroom cometh, go ye forth to meet him. {7} Then arose all those virgins, and they trimmed their lamps. {8} And the foolish said to the wise: Give us of your oil, because our lamps are going out. {9} The wise answered, saying: Lest peradventure there suffice not for us and you, go rather to them that sell, and buy for your selves. {10} And whiles they went to buy, the bridegroom was come: and they that were ready, entered with him to the marriage, and the gate was shut. {11} But last of all came also the other virgins saying: Lord, Lord, open to us. {12} But he answering said: Amen I say to you, I know you not. {13} Watch ye therefore, because you know not the day nor the hour. {14} For even as a man going into a strange country, called his servants, and delivered them his goods. {15} And to one he gave five talents, and to an other two, and to an other one, to every one According to his proper faculty: and immediately he took his journey. {16} And he that had received the five talents, went his way, and occupied with the same, and gained other five. {17} Likewise also he that had received the two, gained other two. {18} But he that had received the one, going his way digged into the earth, and hid his lord's money. {19} But after much time the lord of those servants cometh, & made account with them. {20} And there came he that had received the five talents, & offered other five talents, saying: Lord, five talents thou didst deliver me, behold I have gained other five besides. {21} His lord said unto him: Well-fare thee good and faithful servant, because thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will place thee over many things: enter into the joy of thy lord. {22} And there came also he that had received the two talents, & said: Lord, two talents thou didst deliver me: behold I have gained other two. {23} His lord said to him: Well-fare thee good & faithful servant: because thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will place thee over many things, enter into the joy of thy lord. {24} And he also that had received the one talent, came forth, and said: Lord, I know that thou art a hard man; thou reapest where thou didst not sow, and gatherest where thou strawed not: {25} and being afraid I went, and hid thy talent in the earth: behold lo here thou hast that which thine is. {26} And his lord answering, said to him: Naughty and slothful servant, thou didst know that I reap where I sow not, & gather where I strawed not: {27} thou oughtest therefore to have committed my money to the bankers, and coming I might have received mine own with usury. {28} Take ye away therefore the talent from him, and give it him that hath ten talents. {29} For to every one that hath shall be given, and he shall abound: but from him that hath not, that also which he seemeth to have, shall be taken away from him. {30} And the unprofitable servant, cast ye out into the utter darkness. There shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth. {31} And when the Son of man shall come in his majesty, and all the Angels with him, then shall he sit upon the seat of his majesty: {32} and all nations shall be gathered together before him, and he shall separate them one from an other, as the pastor separateth the sheep from the goats: {33} and shall set the sheep at his right hand, but the goats at his left. {34} Then shall the King say to them that shall be at his right hand: Come ye blessed of my Father, possess you the Kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world. {35} For I was an hungered, and you gave me to eat: I was a thirst, and you gave me to drink. {36} I was a stranger, and you took me in: naked, and you covered me: sick, and you visited me. I was in prison, and you came to me. {37} Then shall the just answer him, saying: Lord, when did we see thee an hungered, and fed thee, a thirst, and gave thee drink? {38} and when did we see thee a stranger, and took thee in? Or naked, and covered thee? {39} Or when did we see thee sick or in prison, and came to thee? {40} And the King answering, shall say to them: Amen I say to you, as long as you did it to one of these my least brethren, you did it to me. {41} Then he shall say to them also that shall be at his left hand: Get ye away from me you cursed into fire everlasting, which was prepared for the devil and his angels. {42} For I was an hungered, & you gave me not to eat, I was a thirst, {1070} & you gave me not to drink. {43} I was a stranger, and you took me not in: naked, and you covered me not: sick, & in prison, and you did not visit me. {44} Then they also shall answer him, saying: Lord, when did we see thee an hungered, or a thirst, or a stranger, or naked, or sick, or in prison, & did not minister to thee? {45} Then he shall answer them, saying, Amen I say to you, as long as you did it not to one of these lesser, neither did you it to me. {46} And these shall go into punishment everlasting: but the just, into life everlasting.

To the Council of the Jews, Judas by occasion of Mary Magdalene's ointment, doth sell him for little. {17} After the Paschal lamb, {26} he giveth them that bread of life (promised Io. {6}.), in a mystical Sacrifice or Separation of his Body and Blood. {31} And that night he is after his prayer {47} taken of the Jew's men, Judas being their captain: and forsaken of the other eleven for fear: {57} is falsely accused, and impiously condemned of the Jew's Council, {67} and shamefully abused of them: {69} and thrice denied of Peter: All, even as the Scriptures and him self had often foretold.

{1} AND it came to pass, when JESUS had ended all these words, he said to his Disciples: {2} You know that after two days shall be Pasche, and the Son of man shall be delivered to be crucified. {3} Then were gathered together the chief Priests and Ancients of the people into the court of the high Priest, who was called Caiphas: {4} and they consulted how they might by some wile apprehend JESUS, and kill him. {5} But they said: Not on the festival day, lest perhaps there might be a tumult among the people. {6} And when JESUS was in Bethania in the house of Simon the Leper {7} there came to him a woman having an alabaster-box of precious ointment, and poured it out upon his head as he sat at the table. {8} And the Disciples seeing it, had indignation saying: Whereto is this waste? {9} For this might have been sold for much, and given to the poor. {10} And JESUS knowing it, said to them: Why do you molest this woman? For she hath wrought a good work upon me. {11} For the poor you have always with you: but me you have not always. {12} For she in pouring this ointment upon my body hath done it to bury me. {13} Amen I say to you, wheresoever this Gospel shall be preached in the whole world, that also which she hath done, shall be reported for a memory of her. {14} Then went one of the Twelve, which was called Judas Iscarioth, to the chief Priests, {15} & said to them: What will you give me, and I will deliver him unto you? But they appointed unto him thirty pieces of silver. {16} And from thenceforth he sought opportunity to betray him. {17} And the first day of the Azymes the Disciples came to JESUS saying: Where wilt thou that we prepare for thee to eat the Pasche? {18} But JESUS said: Go ye into the city to a certain man, and say to him: The Master saith, my time is at hand, with thee do I make the Pasche with my Disciples. {19} And the Disciples did as JESUS appointed them, and they prepared the Pasche. {20} But when it was even, he sat down with his twelve Disciples. {21} And while they were eating, he said: Amen I say to you, that one of you shall betray me. {22} And they being very sad, began every one to say: Is it I Lord? {23} But he answering said: He that dippeth his hand with me in the dish, he shall betray me. {24} The Son of man indeed goeth as it is written of him: but woe be to that man, by whom the Son of man shall be betrayed. It were good for him, if that man had not been born. {25} And Judas that betrayed him, answering said: Is it I Rabbi? He saith to him: Thou hast said. {26} And whiles they were at supper, JESUS took bread, and blessed, and brake: and he gave to his Disciples, and said: Take ye, and eat: THIS IS MY BODY. {27} And taking the chalice, he gave thanks: and gave to them, saying: Drink ye all of this. {28} FOR THIS IS MY BLOOD OF THE NEW TESTAMENT, WHICH SHALL BE

SHED FOR MANY UNTO REMISSION OF SINS. {29} And I say to you, I will not drink from henceforth of this fruit of the vine, until that day when I shall drink it with you new in the Kingdom of my Father. {30} And an hymn being said, they went forth unto Mount-olivet. {31} Then JESUS saith to them: All you shall be scandalized in me in this night. For it is written: I will strike the Pastor, and the sheep of the flock shall be dispersed. {32} But after I shall be risen again, I will go before you into Galilee. {33} And Peter answering, said to him: Although all shall be scandalized in thee, I will never be scandalized. {34} JESUS said to him: Amen I say to thee, that in this night before the cock crow, thou shalt deny me thrice. {35} Peter saith to him: Yea though I should die with thee, I will not deny thee. Likewise also said all the Disciples. {36} Then JESUS cometh with them into a village called Gethsemani: and he said to his Disciples: Sit you here till I go yonder, and pray. {37} And taking to him Peter and the two sons of Zebedee, he began to wax sorrowful and to be sad. {38} Then he saith to them: My soul is sorrowful even unto death: stay here, and watch with me. {39} And being gone forward a little, he fell upon his face, praying, and saying: My Father, if it be possible, let this chalice pass from me. Nevertheless not as I will, but as thou. {40} And he cometh to his Disciples, and findeth them sleeping, and he saith to Peter: Even so? Could you not watch one hour with me? {41} Watch ye, & pray that ye enter not into temptation. The Spirit in deed is prompt, but the flesh weak. {42} Again the second time he went, and prayed, saying: My Father, if this chalice may not pass, but I must drink it, thy will be done. {43} And he cometh again, and findeth them sleeping, for their eyes were become heavy. {44} And leaving them, he went again: and he prayed the third time, saying the selfsame word. {45} Then he cometh to his Disciples, and saith to them: Sleep ye now and take rest. Behold the hour approacheth, and the Son of man shall be betrayed into the hands of sinners. {46} Rise, let us go: behold he approacheth that shall betray me. {47} As he yet spake, behold Judas one of the Twelve came, and with him a great multitude with swords and clubs, sent from the chief Priests and the ancients of the people. {48} And he that betrayed him, gave them a sign, saying: Whomsoever I shall kiss, that is he, hold him. {49} And forthwith coming to JESUS, he said: Hail Rabbi. And he kissed him. {50} And JESUS said to him: Friend, whereto art thou come? Then they drew near, and laid hands on JESUS, and held him. {51} And behold one of them that were with JESUS, stretching forth his hand, drew out his sword; and striking the servant of the high Priest, cut off his ear. {52} Then JESUS saith to him: Return thy sword into his place: for all that take the sword shall perish with the sword. {53} Thinkest thou that I cannot ask my Father, and he will give me presently more than twelve legions of Angels? {54} How then shall the scriptures be fulfilled, that so it must be done? {55} In that hour JESUS said to the multitudes: You are come out as it were to a thief, with swords and clubs to apprehend me. I sat daily with you teaching in the temple, and you laid no hands on me. {56} And all this was done, that the scriptures of the Prophets might be fulfilled. Then the Disciples all leaving him, fled. {57} But they taking hold of JESUS, led him to Caiphas the high Priest, where the Scribes and ancients were assembled. {58} And Peter followed him a far off, even to the court of the high Priest. And going in he sat with the servants, that he might see the end. {59} And the chief Priests and the whole Council sought false witness against JESUS, that they might put him to death: {60} and they found not, whereas many false witnesses had come in. And last of all there came two false witnesses; {61} and they said: This man said, I am able to destroy the temple of God, and after three days to re-edify it. {62} And the high Priest rising up, said to him: Answerest thou nothing to the things which these do testify against thee? {63} But JESUS held his peace. And the high Priest said to him: I adjure thee by the living God, that thou tell us if thou be Christ the Son of God. {64} JESUS saith to him: Thou hast said. Nevertheless I say to you, hereafter you shall see the Son of man sitting on the right hand of the power of God, and coming in the clouds of Heaven. {65} Then the high Priest rent his garments, saying: He hath blasphemed, what need we witnesses any further? Behold, now you have heard the blasphemy; {66} how think you? But they answering said: He is guilty of death. {67} Then did they spit on his face, and buffeted him, & other smote his face with the palms of their hands. {68} saying: Prophesy unto us O Christ; who is he that strook thee? {69} But Peter sat without in the court; and there came to him one wench, saying: Thou also wast with JESUS the Galilean. {70} But he denied before them all, saying: I wot not what thou sayest. {71} And as he went out of the gate, an other wench saw him, and she saith to them that were there: And this fellow also was with JESUS the Nazarite. {72} And again he denied with an oath: That I know not the man. {73} And after a little they came that stood by, and said to Peter: Surely thou also art of them: for even thy speech doth bewray thee. {74} Then he began to curse and to swear that he knew not the man. And incontinent the cock crew. {75} And Peter remembered the word of JESUS which he had said: Before the cock crow, thou shalt deny me thrice. And going forth, he wept bitterly.

Chapter 27

The chief of the Jews accuse him to Pilate the Gentile (his betrayer, and the Judge, and the Judge's wife, testifying in the mean time manifoldly his innocency:) {20} and persuade the common people also not only to prefer the murderer Barabbas, but also to cry, CRUCIFIGE: (All, to the reprobation of their whole nation, and nothing but fulfilling the Scriptures.) {27} After many illusions, {31} he is crucified by the Gentiles. {38} which the Jews seeing, do triumph as if they had now the victory. {45} But even then by many wonderful works he declareth his might, to their confusion {57} Finally being buried, they to make all sure, set soldiers to keep his sepulcher.

{1} AND when morning was come; all the chief Priests and ancients of the people consulted together against JESUS, that they might put him to death. {2} And they brought him bound and delivered him to Ponce Pilate the President. {3} Then Judas that betrayed him, seeing that he was condemned, repenting him, returned the thirty silver pieces to the chief Priests and ancients, {4} saying: I have sinned, betraying just blood. But they said: What is that to us? look thou to it. {5} And casting down the silver pieces in the temple, he departed: and went and hanged himself with an halter. {6} And the chief Priests having taken the silver pieces, said: It is not lawful to cast them into the Corbana, because it is the price of blood. {7} And after they had consulted together, they bought with them the potter's field, to be a burying place for strangers. {8} For this cause that field was called Haceldama, that is, the field of blood, even to this present day. {9} Then was fulfilled that which was spoken by Jeremie the Prophet, saying: And they took the thirty pieces of silver, the price of the priced, whom they did price of the children of Israel. {10} And they gave them into the potter's field, as our Lord did appoint to me. {11} And JESUS stood before the President, and the President asked him, saying: Art thou the King of the Jews? JESUS saith to him: Thou sayest. {12} And when he was accused of the chief Priests and Ancients, he answered nothing. {13} Then Pilate saith to him: Doest thou not hear how many testimonies they allege against thee? {14} And he answered him not to any word: so that the President did marvel exceedingly. {15} And upon the solemn day the President had accustomed to release unto the People one prisoner, whom they would. {16} And he had then a notorious prisoner, that was called Barabbas. {17} They therefore being gathered together, Pilate said: Whom will you that I release to you, Barabbas, or JESUS that is called Christ? {18} For he knew that for envy they had delivered him. {19} And as he was sitting in place of judgement, his wife sent unto him, saying: Have thou nothing to do with that just man. For I have suffered many things this day in my sleep for him. {20} But the chief Priests and ancients persuaded the people, that they should ask Barabbas, and make JESUS away. {21} And the President answering, said to them: Whether will you of the two to be released unto you? But they said, Barabbas. {22} Pilate saith to them: What shall I do then with JESUS that is called Christ? They say all: Let him be crucified. {23} The President said to them: Why, what evil hath he done? But they cried the more, saying: Let him be crucified. {24} And Pilate seeing that he nothing prevailed, but rather tumult was toward; taking water he washed his hands before the People, saying: I am innocent of the blood of this just man: look you to it. {25} And the whole people answering, said: His blood be upon us, and upon our children. {26} Then he released to them Barabbas, and having scourged JESUS, delivered him unto them for to be crucified. {27} Then the President's soldiers taking JESUS into the Palace, gathered together unto him the whole band: {28} and stripping him, put a scarlet cloak about him. {29} and plattting a crown of thorns, put it upon his head, and a reed in his right hand. And bowing the knee before him, they mocked him, saying: Hail King of the Jews. {30} And spitting upon him, they took the reed, and smote his head. {31} And after they had mocked him, they took off the cloak from him, and put on him his own garments, and led him away to crucify him. {32} And in going they found a man of Cyrene, named Simon: him they forced to take up his Cross. {33} And they came into the place that is called Golgotha, which is, the place of Calvary. {34} And they gave him wine to drink mingled with gall. And when he had tasted, he would not drink. {35} And after they had crucified him; they divided his garments, casting lots; that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the Prophet, saying: They divided my garments among them; and upon my vesture they did cast lots. {36} And they sat and watched him. {37} And they put over his head his cause written: THIS IS JESUS THE KING OF THE JEWS. {38} Then were crucified with him two thieves; one on the right hand, and one on the left. {39} And they that passed by, blasphemed him, wagging their heads, {40} and saying: Vah, thou that destroyest the Temple of God and in three days doest re-edify it; save thine own self: if thou be the Son of God, come down from the Cross. {41} In like manner also the chief Priests with the Scribes and ancients mocking, said: {42} He saved other; himself he can not save: if he be the King of Israel, let him now come down from the Cross, and we will believe him. {43} He trusted in God; let him now deliver him if he will: for he said, that I am the Son of God. {44} And the self same thing the thieves also that were crucified with him, reproached him withal. {45} And from the sixth hour, there was darkness made upon the whole earth, until the ninth hour. {46} And about the ninth hour JESUS cried with a mighty voice, saying: Eli, Eli, lamma-sabacthani? That is, My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me? {47} And certain that stood there and heard, said: He calleth Elias. {48} And incontinent, one of them running, took a sponge, & filled it with vinegar; and put it on a reed, and gave him to drink. {49} And other said: Let be, let us see whether Elias come to deliver him. {50} And JESUS again crying with a mighty voice, yielded up the ghost. {51} And behold the veil of the Temple was rent in two pieces, from the top even to the bottom, and the earth did quake, and the rocks were rent. {52} And the graves were opened: and many bodies of the saints that had slept, rose. {53} And they going forth out of the graves after his resurrection, came into the holy city; and appeared to many. {54} And the Centurion and they that were with him watching JESUS, having seen the earth-quake and the things that were done, were sore afraid, saying: In deed this was the Son of God. {55} And there were there many women a far of, which had followed JESUS from Galilee, ministering unto him: {56} among whom was Mary Magdalene, and Mary the mother of James and Joseph, and the mother of the Sons of Zebedee. {57} And when it was evening, there came a certain rich man of Arimathaea, named Joseph, who also himself was disciple to JESUS. {58} He went to Pilate, and asked the body of JESUS. Then Pilate commanded that the body should be delivered. {59} And Joseph taking the body, wrapt it in clean sindon, {60} & laid it in his own new monument, which he had hewed out in a rock. And he rolled a great stone to the door of the monument, & went his way. {61} And there was there Mary Magdalene, & the other Mary, sitting over against the sepulchre. {62} And the next day, which is after the Parasceve, the chief Priests and the Pharisees came together to Pilate, {63} saying: Sir, we have remembered, that that seducer said yet living, After three days I will rise again. {64} Command therefore the sepulchre to be kept until the third day; lest perhaps his Disciples come, and steal him, & say to the people, he is risen from the dead: and the last error shall be worse than the first. {65} Pilate said to them: You have a gard: go, gard it as you know. {66} And they departing, made the sepulchre sure; sealing up the stone, with watchmen.

He riseth again the third day, and (the blind most obstinate Jews by bribery working to their own reprobation) he appeareth to his Disciples in Galilee (as both before his Passion he foretold them Mat. {26}, and now after his Resurrection, first the Angel, then also him self appointed by the women) {18} and sendeth them to all Nations, to build his Church among the Gentiles.

{1} AND in the evening of the Sabbath which dawneth on the first of the Sabbath, came Mary Magdalene, and the other Mary to see the sepulchre. {2} And behold there was made a great earth-quake. For an Angel of our Lord descended from Heaven: and coming, rolled back the stone, and sat upon it: {3} and his countenance was as lightning, and his garment as snow. {4} And for fear of him, the watchmen were frightened, and became as dead. {5} And the Angel answering said to the women: Fear not you. For I know that you seek JESUS that was crucified. {6} He is not here, for he is risen, as he said. Come, and see the place where our Lord was laid. {7} And going quickly, tell ye his Disciples that he is risen: and behold he goeth before you into Galilee: there you shall see him. Lo I have foretold you. {8} And they went forth quickly out of the monument with fear and great joy, running to tell his Disciples. {9} And behold JESUS met them, saying: All hail. But they came near and took hold of his feet, and adored him. {10} Then JESUS said to them: Fear not. Go, tell my brethren that they go into Galilee, there they shall see me. {11} Who when they were departed, behold certain of the watchmen came into the city, and told the chief Priests all things that had been done. {12} And being assembled together with the Ancients, taking counsel, they gave a great sum of money to the soldiers, {13} saying: Say you, that his Disciples came by night, and stole him away when we were asleep. {14} And if the President shall hear of this, we will persuade him, and make you secure. {15} But they taking the money, did as they were taught. And this word was bruited abroad among the Jews, even unto this day. {16} And the eleven Disciples went into Galilee, unto the mount where JESUS had appointed them. {17} And seeing him they adored, but some doubted. {18} And JESUS coming near spake unto them, saying: All power is given to me in Heaven and in earth. {19} going therefore teach ye all Nations: BAPTIZING THEM IN THE NAME OF THE FATHER, AND OF THE SON, AND OF THE HOLY GHOST, {20} teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you: and behold I am with you all days, even to the consummation of the world.

THE HOLY GOSPEL ACCORDING TO S. MARK

Chapter 1

John (the Eremit of whom the Prophets) preaching penance, and living himself accordingly, baptizeth the people to prepare them to Christ, 7. telling them, that it is not his, but Christ's Baptism, in which they shall receive the Holy ghost. 9.

{1} JESUS there is manifested from heaven: 12. and by and by he also goeth into the wilderness. 14. Beginning in Galilee, 16. after that he hath called four Disciples, 21. he preacheth first in Capharnaum, confirming his doctrine with beneficial Miracles, to the great admiration of all: 35. then also (but first retiring into the wilderness) in all the rest of Galilee, with like miracles.

{1} THE beginning of the Gospel of JESUS CHRIST the Son of God. in Esay the Prophet: (Behold I send mine {2} As it is written Angel before thy face, who shall prepare thy way before thee.) {3} A voice of one crying in the desert. Prepare ye the way of our Lord, make straight his paths. {4} John was in the desert baptizing, and preaching the Baptism of penance unto remission of sins. {5} And there went forth to him all the country of Jewry, and all they of Jerusalem, and were baptized of him in the river of Jordan, confessing their sins. {6} And John was clothed with camel's hair, and a girdle of a skin about his loins: and he did eat locusts and wild honey. {7} And he preached, saying: There cometh a stronger than I after me, whose latchet of his shoes I am not worthy stooping down to loose. {8} I have baptized you with water; but he shall baptize you with the Holy Ghost. {9} And it came to pass, in those days came JESUS from Nazareth of Galilee; and was baptized of John in Jordan. {10} And forthwith coming up out of the water, he saw the Heavens opened, and the Spirit as a dove descending, and remaining on him. {11} And a voice was made from Heaven: Thou art my beloved Son, in thee I am well pleased. {12} And forthwith the Spirit drove him out into the desert. {13} And he was in the desert forty days, and forty nights: and was tempted of Satan, and he was with beasts, and the Angels ministered to him. {14} And after that John was delivered up, JESUS came into Galilee, preaching the Gospel of the Kingdom of God, {15} and saying: That the time is fulfilled, and the Kingdom of God is at hand: be penitent, and believe the Gospel. {16} And passing by the sea of Galilee, he saw Simon and Andrew his brother, casting nets into the sea (for they were fishers) {17} and JESUS said to them: Come after me, and I will make you to become fishers of men. {18} And immediately leaving their nets, they followed him. {19} And being gone thence a little further, he saw James of Zebedee, and John his brother, and them repairing their nets in the ship: {20} and forthwith he called them. And leaving their father Zebedee in the ship with his hired men, they followed him. {21} And they enter into Capharnaum, and he forthwith upon the Sabbaths going into the Synagogue, taught them. {22} And they were astonished at his doctrine. For he was teaching them as having power, and not as the Scribes. {23} And there was in their Synagogue a man in an unclean Spirit; and he cried out, {24} saying: What to us and to thee JESUS of Nazareth? art thou come to destroy us? I know who thou art, the Saint of God. {25} And JESUS threatened him, saying: Hold thy peace, and go out of the man. {26} And the unclean Spirit tearing him, and crying out with a great voice, {1076} went out of him. {27} And they marveled all, in so much that they questioned among them selves, saying: What thing is this? What is this new doctrine? For with power he commandeth the unclean spirits also, and they obey him. {28} And the bruit of him went forth incontinent into all the country of Galilee. {29} And immediately going forth out of the Synagogue, they came into the house of Simon and Andrew, with James and John. {30} And Simon's wife's mother lay in a fit of a fever: and forthwith they tell him of her. {31} And coming near he lifted her up taking her by the hand: and incontinent the ague left her, and she ministered unto them. {32} And when it was evening after sun set, they brought to him all that were ill at ease and that had devils. {33} And all the city was gathered together at the door. {34} And he cured many that were vexed with diverse diseases; and he cast out many devils, and he suffered not them to speak that they knew him. {35} And rising very early, and going forth he went into a desert place: and there he prayed. {36} And Simon sought after him, and they that were with him. {37} And when they had found him, they said to him, That all seek for thee. {38} And he saith to them: Let us go into the next towns and cities, that I may preach there also; for to this purpose am I come. {39} And he was preaching in their Synagogues, and in all Galilee, and casting out devils. {40} And a leper cometh to him beseeching him; and kneeling down saith to him: If thou wilt, thou canst make me clean. {41} And JESUS having compassion on him, stretched forth his hand; and touching him, he saith unto him: I will. Be thou made clean. {42} And when he had spoken, immediately the leprosy departed from him, and he was made clean. {43} And he threatened him, and forthwith cast him forth. {44} And he saith to him: See thou tell no body, but go, shew thyself to the high Priest, and offer for thy cleansing the things that Moyses commanded, for a testimony to them. {45} But he being gone forth, began to publish, and to blasphem abroad the word: so that now he could not openly go into the city, but was abroad in desert places, and they came together unto him from all sides.

Against the Scribes and Pharisees he defendeth first his power to remit sins in earth. 23, and his eating with sinners (as being the Physician of souls, signified in those his miraculous cures upon bodies): 18, then also he defendeth his Disciples, not having as yet any fasts by him prescribed unto them, and plucking ears of corn upon the Sabbath: signifying withhold that he will change their ceremonies.

{1} AND again he entered into Capharnaum after some days, and it was heard that he was in the house. {2} and many came together, so that there was no place; no not at the door; & he spake to them the Word. {3} And they came to him bringing one sick of the palsy, who was carried of four. {4} And when they could not offer him unto him for the multitude, they uncovered the roof where he was: and opening it they did let down the couch wherein the sick of the palsy lay. {5} And when JESUS had seen their faith, he saith to the sick of the palsy: Son, thy sins are forgiven thee. {6} And there were certain of the Scribes sitting there and thinking in their hearts: {7} Why doth he speak so? He blasphemeth. Who can forgive sins but only God? {8} Which by and by JESUS knowing in his Spirit, that they so thought within them selves, saith to them: Why think you these things in your hearts? {9} Whether is easier, to say to the sick of the palsy: Thy sins are forgiven thee; or to say: Arise, take up thy couch, and walk? {10} But that you may know that the Son of man hath power in earth to forgive sins (he saith to the sick of the palsy) {11} I say to thee, arise, take up thy couch, and go into thy house. {12} And forthwith he arose; and taking up his couch, went his way in the sight of all, so that all marveled, and glorified God, saying: That we never saw the like. {13} And he went forth again to the sea; and all the multitude came to him, and he taught them. {14} And when he passed by, he saw Levi of Alphaeus sitting at the custom place; and he saith to him: Follow me. And rising up he followed him. {15} And it came to pass, as he sat at meat in his house, many Publicans and sinners did sit down together with JESUS and his Disciples. For they were many, who also followed him. {16} And the Scribes & the Pharisees seeing that he did eat with Publicans and sinners, said to his Disciples: Why doth your Master eat & drink with Publicans and sinners? {17} JESUS hearing this, saith to them: The whole have not need of a Physician, but they that are ill at ease. For I came not to call the just, but sinners. {18} And the Disciples of John and the Pharisees did use to fast: and they come, and say to him: Why do the Disciples of John and of the Pharisees fast; but thy Disciples do not fast? {19} And JESUS said to them: Why, can the children of the marriage fast, as long as the bridegroom is with them? So long time as they have the bridegroom with them, they can not fast. {20} But the days will come when the bridegroom shall be taken away from them; and then they shall fast in those days. {21} No body soweth a piece of raw cloth to an old garment: otherwise he taketh away the new piecing from the old, and there is made a greater rent. {22} And no body putteth new wine into old bottles: otherwise the wine bursteth the bottles, and the wine will be shed, and the bottles will be lost. But new wine must be put into new bottles. {23} And it came to pass again when he walked through the corn on the Sabbath, and his Disciples began to go forward and to pluck the ears. {24} And the Pharisees said to him: Behold, why do they, on the Sabbath that which is not lawful? {25} And he said to them:

Did you never read what David did, when he was in necessity, and himself was an hungered and they that were with him? {26} how he entered into the house of God under Abiathar the high Priest, and did eat the loaves of Proposition, which it was not lawful to eat but for the Priests, and did give unto them which were with him? {27} And he said to them: The Sabbath was made for man, and not man for the Sabbath. {28} Therefore the Son of man is Lord of the Sabbath also.

Chapter 3

The blind Pharisees seeking his death for doing good upon the Sabbath, he weekly goeth out of the way: where the people that flock unto him, and his Miracles, are innumerable. 13. Yea to his Twelve also (having need of more workmen) he giveth power to work Miracles. 20. He so occupieth him self for souls, that his kin think him mad. 22. The Scribes of Hierusalem come so far, and yet have nothing but absurdly to blasphem his casting out of Devils, to their own damnation. 31. That the Jews should not (after their manner) think it enough, that he is of their blood, he telleth that such rather are dear to him, as keep God's commandments.

{1} AND he entered again into the Synagogue, and there was a man there that had a withered hand. {2} And they watched him whether he would cure on the Sabbath; that they might accuse him. {3} And he saith to the man that had the withered hand: rise up into the midst. {4} And he saith to them: Is it lawful on the Sabbath to do well or ill? to save a soul, or to destroy? but they held their peace. {5} And looking round about upon them with anger, being sorrowful for the blindness of their heart, he saith to the man: Stretch forth thy hand. And he stretched it forth; and his hand was restored unto him. {6} And the Pharisees going forth, immediately made a consultation with the Herodians against him, how they might destroy him. {7} But JESUS with his Disciples retired to the sea: and a great multitude from Galilee & Jewry followed him, {8} and from Jerusalem, & from Idumaea, and beyond Jordan. And they about Tyre and Sidon, a great multitude, hearing the things which he did, came to him. {9} And he spake to his Disciples that a boat might attend on him because of the multitude, lest they should strangle him. {10} For he healed many, so that there pressed in upon him for to touch him, as many had hurts. {11} And the unclean spirits, when they saw him, fell down unto him: and they cried saying: {12} Thou art the Son of God. And he vehemently charged them that they should not disclose him. {13} And ascending into a mountain, he called unto him whom he would him self, and they came to him. {14} And he made that twelve should be with him, and that he might send them to preach. {15} And he gave them power to cure infirmities, and to cast out devils. {16} And he gave to Simon the name Peter. {17} And James of Zebedee, and John the brother of James; and he called their names, Boanerges, which is, the sons of thunder. {18} And Andrew and Philippe, and Bartholemew and Matthew, and Thomas and James of Alphaeus, and Thaddaeus and Simon Cananaeus, {19} and Judas Iscariote, who also betrayed him. {20} And they come to a house; and the multitude resorteth together again, so that they could not so much as eat bread. {21} And when his, had heard of it, they went forth to lay hands on him. For they said that he was become mad. {22} And the Scribes which were come down from Jerusalem, said: That he hath Beelzebub; and that in the prince of devils he casteth out devils. {23} And after he had called them together, he said to them in parables: How can Satan cast out Satan? {24} And if a Kingdom be divided against it self, that Kingdom can not stand. {25} And if a house be divided against it self, that house can not stand. {26} And if Satan be risen against himself, he is divided, and can not stand, but hath an end. {27} No body can rifle the vessel of the strong, being entered into his house, unless he first bind the strong, & then shall he rifle his house. {28} Amen I say to you, that all sins shall be forgiven the sons of men, & the blasphemies wherewith they shall blaspheme: {29} But he that shall blaspheme against the Holy Ghost, he hath not forgiveness for ever, but shall be guilty of an eternal sin. Because they said: He hath an unclean spirit. {30} And there come his mother and brethren; and standing without they sent unto him calling him, {31}

And the multitude sat about him; and they say to him: {32} Behold thy mother and thy brethren without seek thee. {33} And answering them, he said: Who is my mother and my brethren? {34} And looking upon them which sat round about him, he saith: Behold my mother and my brethren. {35} For whosoever shall do the will of God, he is my brother and my sister and mother.

Chapter 4

The parables (in which he speaketh to the Jews, because they were reprobate) he expoundeth to his Disciples, shewing that in his sowing, three parts of four shall perish, through the fault of the hearers. 21. and that his servants must confess their faith, 24. and use their gifts (contrary to those stony and thorny hearers.) 26. and that his Church (notwithstanding the loosing of those three parts of the seed) shall be brought by his providence to the harvest, that is, to the end of the world: 30. growing over all in time, though in the beginning it be as the little mustard seed, 35. and though such tempests of persecution in the sea of this world do rise against it.

{1} AND again he began to teach at the sea side; and a great multitude was gathered together unto him so that he went up into a boat, and sat in the sea, and all the multitude about the sea was upon the land. {2} And he taught them in parables many things, and said to them in his doctrine: {3} Hear ye; Behold, the sower went forth to sow. {4} And whiles he soweth, some fell by the way side, and the fowls of the air came, and did eat it. {5} And othersome fell upon rocky places where it had not much earth: and it shot up immediately, because it had not deepness of earth: {6} and when the sun was risen, it parched, and because it had not root, it withered. {7} And some fell among thorns: and the thorns grew up, and choked it, and it yielded not fruit. {8} And some fell upon good ground; and it yielded fruit that grew up & increased, and it brought forth, one thirty, one sixty, and one an hundred. {9} And he said: He that hath ears to hear, let him hear. {10} And when he was alone, the Twelve that were with him, asked him the parable. {11} And he said to them: To you it is given to know the mystery of the Kingdom of God; but to them that are without, all things are done in parables: {12} that seeing they may see, and not see; and hearing they may hear, and not understand: lest at any time they should be converted and their sins be forgiven them. {13} And he saith to them: Do you not know this parable? And how shall you know all parables? {14} He that soweth, soweth the word. {15} And they by the way side, are these: where the word is sown, and when they shall have heard, immediately cometh Satan, and taketh away the word that was sown in their hearts. {16} And they likewise that are sown upon the rocky places, are these: who when they hear the word, immediately with joy receive it; {17} And they have not root in them selves, but are temporal: afterward when tribulation is risen and persecution for the word, forthwith they are scandalized. {18} And other there be that are sown among thorns: these are they that hear the word, {19} and the cares of the world and the deceitfulness of riches, and concupiscences about other things entering in, choke the word, and it is made fruitless. {20} And these are they that were sown upon the good ground, which hear the word, and receive it, and yield fruit one thirty, one sixty, and one an hundred. {21} And he said to them: Cometh a candle to be put under a bushel, or under a bed? And not to be put upon the candlestick? {22} For there is nothing hid, which shall not be made manifest: neither was any thing made secret, but that it shall come to light. {23} If any man have ears to hear, let him hear. {24} And he said to them: See what you hear. In what measure you mete, it shall be measured to you again, and more shall be given to you. {25} For he that hath, to him shall be given: and he that hath not, that also which he hath, shall be taken away from him. {26} And he said: So is the Kingdom of God, as if a man cast seed into the earth, {27} and sleep, and rise up night and day, and the seed spring, and grow up whiles he knoweth not. {28} For the earth of it self bringeth forth fruit, first the blade, then the ear, afterward the full corn in the ear. {29} And when the fruit hath brought out it self, immediately he putteth in the sickle, because harvest is come. {30} And he said: To what shall we liken the Kingdom of God? or to what parable shall we compare it? {31} As a mustard seed; which when it is sown in the earth, is less than all the seeds that are in the earth: {32} And when it is sown, it riseth up, and becometh greater than all herbs, and maketh great boughs, so that the birds of the air may dwell under the shadow thereof. {33} And with many such parables he spake to them the word, according as they were able to hear: {34} and without parable he did not speak unto them; but apart, he explicated all things to his Disciples. {35} And he saith to them in that day, when evening was come: Let us pass over to the other side. {36} And dismissing the multitude, they take him so as he was in the boat: and there were other boats with him. {37} And there arose a great storm of wind, and the waves beat into the boat, so that the boat was filled. {38} And he was in the hinder part of the boat, sleeping upon a pillow; and they raise him, and say to him: Master, doth it not pertain to thee that we perish? {39} And rising up he threatened the wind, and said to the sea: Peace, be still. And the wind ceased; and there was made a great calm. {40} And he said to them: Why are you fearful? Neither yet have you faith? And they feared with great fear: and they said one to an other, who is this (thinkest thou) that both wind and sea obey him?

Chapter 5

To the Gerasens (and in them to all men) Christ manifesteth how the Devil of his malice would use them, if he would permit: 17. and yet they like not their Saviour's presence. 21. A woman Gentile, that began her sickness when the Jew's daughter began her life (signifying Abraham's time) he cureth by the way as he was coming to heal the Jews: And even then the Jews do die, but yet them also he will revive, as here the Jew's daughter.

{1} AND they came beyond the strait of the sea into the country of the Gerasens. {2} And as he went out of the boat, immediately there met him out of the sepulchres a man in an unclean spirit, {3} that had his dwelling in the sepulchres, and neither with chains could any man now bind him: {4} For being often bound with fetters and chains, he had burst the chains, and broken the fetters, and no body could tame him. {5} And he was always day and night in the sepulchres and in the mountains, crying and cutting him self with stones. {6} And seeing JESUS a far off, he ran and adored him: {7} And crying with a great voice, said: What to me and thee JESUS, the Son of God most high: I adjure thee by God that thou torment me not. {8} For he said unto him: Go out of the man thou unclean spirit. {9} And he asked him, what is thy name? And he saith to him: My name is Legion; because we are many. {10} And he besought him much, that he would not expel him out of the country. {11} And there was there about the mountain a great herd of swine, feeding. {12} And the spirits besought him, saying: Send us into the swine, that we may enter into them. {13} And JESUS immediately granted unto them. And the unclean spirits going out entered into the swine: and the herd with great violence was carried headlong into the sea, about two thousand, and were stifled in the sea. {14} And they that fed them, fled and carried news into the city and into the fields. And they went forth to see what was done: {15} And they come to JESUS, and they see him that was vexed of the devil, sitting, clothed, and well in his wits: & they were afraid. {16} And they that had seen it, told them, in what manner he had been dealt withal that had the devil; & of the swine. {17} And they began to desire him, that he would depart from their coasts. {18} And when he went up into the boat, he that had been vexed of the devil, began to beseech him that he might be with him: {19} And he admitted him not, but saith to him: Go into thy house to thine, and tell them how great things the Lord hath done for thee, and hath had mercy upon thee. {20} And he went his way, and began to publish in Decapolis how great things JESUS had done to him: and all marveled. {21} And when JESUS had passed in boat again over the strait, a great multitude assembled together unto him, and he was about the sea. {22} And there cometh one of the Arch-synagogues, named Jairus: and seeing him, he falleth down at his feet. {23} And besought him much, saying: That my daughter is at the point of death, come, impose thy hands upon her, that she may be safe and live. {24}

And he went with him, and a great multitude followed him, and they thronged him. {25} And a woman which was in an issue of blood twelve years, {26} and had suffered many things of many Physicians, and had bestowed all that she had, neither was any thing the better, but was rather worse: {27} when she had heard of JESUS, she came in the press behind him, and touched his garment. {28} For she said: That if I shall touch but his garment, I shall be safe. {29} And forthwith the fountain of her blood was dried; and she felt in her body that she was healed of the malady. {30} And immediately JESUS knowing in him self the virtue that had proceeded from him, turning to the multitude, said: Who hath touched my garments? {31} And his Disciples said to him: Thou seest the multitude thronging thee, & sayest thou, who hath touched me? {32} And he looked about to see her that had done this. {33} But the woman fearing and trembling, knowing what was done in her, came and fell down before him, and told him all the truth. {34} And he said to her: Daughter, thy faith hath made thee safe, go in peace, and be whole of thy malady. {35} As he was yet speaking, they come to the Archsynagogue, saying: That thy daughter is dead: why doest thou trouble the Master any further? {36} But JESUS having heard the word that was spoken, saith to the Archsynagogue: Fear not, only believe. {37} And he admitted not any man to follow him, but Peter & James and John the brother of James. {38} And they come to the Archsynagogue's house, and he seeth a tumult, and folk weeping and wailing much. {39} And going in, he saith to them: Why make you this ado and weep? the wench is not dead, but sleepeth. {40} And they derided him. But he having put forth all, taketh the father and the mother of the wench, and them that were with him, and they go in where the wench was lying. {41} And holding the wench's hand, he saith to her: Talitha cumi, which is being interpreted, wench (I say to thee) arise. {42} And forthwith the wench rose up, and walked, and she was twelve years old: and they were astonished with great astonishment. {43} And he commanded them earnestly that no body should know it: and he bade that some thing should be given her to eat.

Chapter 6

In his own country (signifying the reprobate Jews) he is contemned, and therefore worketh little in respect. 6. His Apostles preach every where and work miracles, so that King Herod (who shamefully killed John Baptist) and others are striken with great admiration. 30. After John's death he goeth into the Desert, where great concourse being unto him, he feedeth [5000] with five loaves. 46. And after he hath prayed long in the mountain, he walketh upon the sea. 53. And with the very touch of his garment's hem he healeth innumerable.

{1} AND going out from thence, he went into his country; and his Disciples followed him. {2} And when the Sabbath was come, he began to teach in the Synagogue: and many hearing him were in admiration at his doctrine, saying: How came this fellow by all these things? & what wisdom is this that is given to him, and such virtues as are wrought by his hands? {3} Is not this the Carpenter, the son of MARY, the brother of James, and Joseph, and Jude, and Simon? Why, are not also his sisters here with us? And they were scandalized in him. {4} And JESUS said to them: That there is not a Prophet without honour, but in his own country, and in his own house, and in his own kindred. {5} And he could not do any miracle there, but only cured a few that were sick, imposing his hands. {6} And he marveled because of their incredulity, and he went about the towns in circuit teaching. {7} And he called the Twelve; and began to send them two and two, and gave them power over unclean spirits. {8} And he commanded them that they should take nothing for the way, but a rod only: not scrip, nor bread, nor money in their purse, {9} but shod with sandals, and that they should not put on two coats. {10} And he said to them: Withersoever you shall enter into an house, there tarry till you depart thence. {11} And whosoever shall not receive you, nor hear you; going forth from thence shake off the dust from your feet for a testimony to them. {12} And going forth they preached that they should do penance: {13} And they cast out many devils, and anointed with oil many sick, and healed them. {14} And king Herod heard (for his name was made manifest) and he said: That John the Baptist is risen again from the dead, and therefore virtues work in him. {15} And others said: That it is Elias. But others said: That it is a Prophet, as one of the Prophets. {16} Which Herod hearing, said: John whom I beheaded, he is risen again from the dead. {17} For the said Herod sent and apprehended John, and bound him in prison for Herodias the wife of Philippe his brother, because he had married her. {18} For John said to Herod: It is not lawful for thee to have thy brother's wife, {19} And Herodias lay in waite for him: and was desirous to kill him, and could not. {20} For Herod feared John, knowing him to be a just and holy man: and he kept him, and by hearing him did many things: and he heard him gladly. {21} And when a convenient day was fallen, Herod made the supper of his birth-day to the Princes, and the Tribunes, and the chief of Galilee. {22} And when the daughter of the same Herodias came in, and had danced, and pleased Herod, and them that sat with him at the table, the king said to the damsel: Ask of me what thou wilt, and I will give it thee. {23} And he sware to her: That whatsoever thou shalt ask I will give thee, though the half of my kingdom. {24} Who when she was gone forth, said to her mother, what shall I ask? But she said: The head of John the Baptist. {25} And when she was gone in by and by with haste to the king, she asketh saying: I will that forthwith thou give me in a platter the head of John the Baptist. {26} And the king was stroken sad. Because of his oath and for them that sat together at table he would not displease her: {27} but sending the hangman, commanded that his head should be brought in a platter. {28} And he beheaded him in the prison, and brought his head in a platter: and gave it to the damsel, and the damsel gave it to her mother. {29} Which his Disciples hearing, came, and took his body; and they put it in a monument. {30} And the Apostles gathering together unto JESUS, made relation to him of all things that they had done and taught. {31} And he said to them: Come apart into the desert place, and rest a little. For there were that came and went, many: and they had not so much as space to eat. {32} And going up into the boat, they went into a desert place apart. {33} And they saw them going away, and many knew: and they ran flocking thither on foot from all cities, and prevented them. {34} And going forth, JESUS saw a great multitude; and he had compassion on them, because they were as sheep not having a shepherd, and he began to teach them many things. {35} And when the day was now far spent, his Disciples came to him, saying: This is a desert place, and the hour is now past: {36} dismiss them, that going out into the next villages and towns, they may buy them selves meats to eat. {37} And he answering said: Give ye them to eat. And they said to him: Let us go and buy bread for two hundred pence, and we will give them to eat. {38} And he saith to them: How many loaves have you? Go and see. And when they knew, they say: Five, and two fishes. {39} And he commanded them that they should make all sit down, by companies upon the green grass. {40} And they sat down in ranks by hundreds and fifties. {41} And when he had taken the five loaves, and the two fishes: looking up unto Heaven, he blessed, and brake the loaves, and gave to his Disciples to set before them: and the two fishes he divided to all. {42} And all did eat, and had their fill. {43} And they took up the leavings, twelve full baskets of fragments, and of the fishes. {44} And they that did eat, were five thousand men. {45} And immediately he compelled his Disciples to go up into the boat, that they might go before him beyond the strait to Bethsaida: whiles himself did dismiss the people. {46} And when he had dismissed them, he went into the mountain to pray. {47} And when it was late, the boat was in the midst of the sea, and himself alone on the land. {48} And seeing them labouring in rowing (for the wind was against them) and about the fourth watch of the night he cometh to them walking upon the sea, and he would have passed by them. {49} But they seeing him walking upon the sea, thought it was a ghost, and cried out. {50} For all saw him, and were troubled. And immediately he talked with them, and said to them: Have confidence, it is I, fear ye not. {51} And he went up to them into the ship, and the wind ceased: and they were far more astonished within them selves: {52} for they understood not concerning the loaves; for their heart was blinded. {53} And when they had passed over, they came into the land of Genezareth, and set to the shore. {54} And when they were gone out of the boat, incontinent they knew him: {55} and running through that whole country they began to carry about in couches those that were ill at ease, where they heard he was. {56} And whithersoever he entered into towns or into villages or cities, they laid the sick in the streets, and besought him that they might touch but the hem of his garment: and as many as touched him, were made whole.

Chapter 7

The masters of Hierusalem coming so far to carp him 6. he chargeth with traditions, partly frivolous, 9. partly also contrary to God's commandments. 14. And to the people he yieldeth the reason of that which they carp'd. 17. and again to his disciples, shewing the ground of the Jewish washing (to wit, that meats otherwise defile the soul) to be false. 24. But by and by among the Gentiles, in a woman he findeth wonderful faith, upon her wherefore he bestoweth the crumb that she asked. 31. returning (because the time of the Gentiles was not yet come) to the Jews with the loaf. 32. Where he sheweth his compassion towards mankind so deaf and dumb. 36. and of the people is highly magnified.

{1} AND there assemble together unto him the Pharisees and certain of the Scribes, coming from Jerusalem. {2} And when they had seen certain of his Disciples eat bread with common hands, that is, not washed, they blamed them. {3} For the Pharisees, and all the Jews, unless they often wash their hands, eat not, holding the tradition of the Ancients: {4} And from the market, unless they be washed, they eat not: and many other things there be that were delivered unto them to observe, the washings of cups and cruises, and of brazen vessels & beds. {5} And the Pharisees and Scribes asked him: Why do not thy Disciples walk according to the tradition of the Ancients, but they eat bread with common hands? {6} But he answering, said to them: Well did Esay Prophesy of you Hypocrites, as it is written: This people honoureth me with their lips, but their heart is far from me. {7} And in vain do they worship me, teaching doctrines precepts of men. {8} For leaving the commandment of God, you hold the traditions of men, the washings of cruises and cups: & many other things you do like to these. {9} And he said to them, well do you frustrate the precept of God, that you may observe your own tradition. {10} For Moyses said: Honour thy father and thy mother; and, He that shall curse father or mother, dying let him die. {11} But you say: If a man say to father or mother, Corban (which is a gift) whatsoever proceedeth from me, shall profit thee: {12} And further you suffer him not to do ought for his father or mother, {13} defeating the word of God for your own tradition which you have given forth. And many other things of this sort you do. {14} And calling again the multitude unto him, he said to them: Hear me all you, and understand. {15} Nothing is without a man, entering into him, that can defile him. But the things that proceed from a man, those are they that make a man common. {16} If any man have ears to hear, let him hear. {17} And when he was entered into the house from the multitude, his Disciples asked him the parable. {18} And he saith to them: So are you also unskilful? Understand you not that every thing from without, entering into a man, can not make him common: {19} because it entereth not into his heart, but goeth into the belly, and is cast out into the privy, purging all the meats? {20} But he said that the things which come forth from a man, they make a man common. {21} For from within out of the heart of men proceed evil cogitations, adulteries, fornications, murders, {22} thefts, avarices, wickedness, guile, impudicities, and evil eye, blasphemy, pride, foolishness. {23} All these evils proceed from within, and make a man common. {24} And rising from thence he went into the coasts of Tyre and Sidon: and entering into a house, he would that no man should know, and he could not be hid. {25} For a woman immediately as she heard of him, whose daughter had an unclean spirit, entered in, and fell down at his feet. {26} For the woman was a Gentile, a Syrophaenician born. And she besought him that he would cast forth the devil out of her daughter. {27} Who said to her: Suffer first the children to be filled. For it is not good to take the children's bread, and cast it to the dogs. {28} But she answered, and said to him: Yea Lord; for the whelps also eat under the table, of the crumbs of the children. {29} And he said to her: For this saying go thy way, the devil is gone out of thy daughter. {30} And when she was departed into her house, she found the maid lying upon the bed, and the devil gone out. {31} And again going out of the coasts of Tyre, he came by Sidon to the sea of Galilee through the midst of the coasts of Decapolis. {32} And they bring to him one deaf and dumb; and they besought him that he would impose his hand upon him. {33} And taking him from the multitude apart, he put his fingers into his ears, and spitting, touched his tongue; {34} And looking up unto Heaven, he groaned, and said to him: Ephphatha, which is, be thou opened. {35} And immediately his ears were opened, and the string of his tongue was loosed, and he spake right. {36} And he commanded them not to tell any body. But how much he commanded them, so much the more a great deal did they publish it. {37} And so much the more did they wonder, saying: He hath done all things well; he hath made both the deaf to hear, and the dumb to speak.

Of compassion he feedeth the people, [4000] with seven loaves. 10. After all which miracles as though they were yet insufficient to prove him to be Christ, the obstinate Pharisees do require some miracle from heaven. 13. Whereupon forsaking them, he warneth his Disciples to beware of the leaven of their doctrine, neither to fear want of necessaries. 22. He healeth a blind man by degrees and with ceremonies. 27. Peter confesseth him (though men all this while had not learned so far) to be Christ. 31. and by and by he revealeth to them his passion. 32. rebuking also Peter for dissuading it. 34. and shewing that it is a thing wherein all that will be saved (namely in time of persecution) must follow him.

{1} IN those days again when there was a great multitude, and had not what to eat: calling his Disciples together, he saith to them: {2} I have compassion upon the multitude, because lo three days they now endure with me, neither have what to eat. {3} And if I dismiss them fasting into their home, they will faint in the way; for some of them came far off. {4} And his Disciples answered him: Whence may a man fill them here with bread in the wilderness? {5} And he asked them: How many loaves have ye? Who said: Seven. {6} And he commanded the multitude to sit down upon the ground. And taking the seven loaves, giving thanks he brake, and gave to his Disciples for to set before them, and they did set them before the multitude. {7} And they had a few little fishes; and he blessed them, and commanded them to be set before them. {8} And they did eat and were filled, and they took up that which was left of the fragments, seven maunds. {9} And they that had eaten were about four thousand: and he dismissed them. {10} And immediately going up into the boat with his Disciples, he came into the quarters of Dalmanutha. {11} And the Pharisees went forth, and began to question with him, asking of him a sign from Heaven, tempting him. {12} And groaning in spirit, he saith: Why doth this Generation ask a sign? Amen I say to you, If a sign shall be given to this generation. {13} And leaving them, he went up again into the boat, and passed beyond the strait. {14} And they forgot to take bread: and they had but one loaf with them in the boat. {15} And he commanded them, saying: Look well and beware of the leaven of the Pharisees, and the leaven of Herod. {16} And they reasoned among them selves saying: Because we have not bread. {17} Which JESUS knowing, saith to them: Why do you reason, because you have not bread? do you not yet know nor understand? Yet have ye your heart blinded? {18} having eyes see you not? and having ears hear you not? Neither do you remember? {19} When I brake five loaves among five thousand; and how many baskets full of fragments took you up? They say to him, Twelve. {20} When also seven loaves among four thousand, how many mounds of fragments took you up? And they say to him, Seven. {21} And he said to them: How do you not yet understand? {22} And they come to Bethsaida; and they bring to him one blind, and desired him that he would touch him. {23} And taking the hand of the blind, he led him forth out of the town; and spitting into his eyes, imposing his hands, he asked him if he saw any thing. {24} And looking up, he said: I see men as it were trees, walking. {25} After that again he imposed his hands upon his eyes, and he began to see, and was restored, so that he saw all things clearly. {26} And he sent him into his house, saying: Go into thy house; and if thou enter into the town, tell no body. {27} And JESUS went forth and his Disciples into the towns of Caesarea-Philippi; and in the way he asked his Disciples, saying to them: Whom do men say that I am? {28} Who answered him, saying: John the Baptist, some Elias, & other some as it were one of the Prophets. {29} Then he saith to them: But whom do you say that I am? Peter answering said to him: Thou art Christ. {30} And he threatened them that they should not tell any man of him. {31} And he began to teach them, that the Son of man must suffer many things, and be rejected of the Ancients and of the high Priests & the Scribes, and be killed: and after three days rise again. {32} And he spake the word openly. And Peter taking him, began to rebuke him. {33} Who turning, and seeing his Disciples, threatened Peter, saying: Go behind me Satan, because thou savourest not the things that are of God, but that are of men. {34} And calling the multitude together with his Disciples, he said to them: If any man will follow me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow me. {35} For he that will save his life, shall lose it; and he that shall lose his life for me and the Gospel, shall save it. {36} For what shall it profit a man, if he gain the whole world, & suffer damage of his soul? {37} Or what permutation shall a man give for his soul? {38} For he that shall be ashamed of me, and of my words in this adulterous and sinful generation, the Son of man also will be ashamed of him, when he shall come in the glory of his Father with the holy Angels. {39} AND he said to them: Amen I say to you, that there be some of them that stand here, which shall not taste of death, until they see the Kingdom of God coming in power.

Chapter 9

The more to confirm them, he giveth them in his Transfiguration a sight of his glory, whereunto suffering doth bring, 9. and then again doth inculcate his Passion. 14. A Devil also he casteth out, which his Disciples (upon whom therefore the perverse Scribes triumphed in his absence) could not, for lack of fasting and praying. 30. Being yet in Galilee, he reveleth more about his Passion. 33. And (because in the way to Capharnaum they contended for the Primacy (he teacheth them that humility is the way to Primacy before God: 38. bidding them also, not to prohibit such as be not against them: nor to give scandal to any one of the faithful, and on the other side, the faithful to avoid them by whom they may be scandalized and fall, be they never so near unto them.

{1} AND after six days JESUS taketh Peter and James and John, and bringeth them alone into a high mountain apart, and was transfigured before them. {2} And his garments were made glistering and white exceedingly as snow, the like whereof a fuller cannot make white upon the earth. {3} And there appeared to them Elias with Moyses; and they were talking with JESUS. {4} And Peter answering, said to JESUS: Rabbi, it is good for us to be here; and let us make three tabernacles, one for thee, and one for Moyses, and one for Elias. {5} For he knew not what he said; for they were frightened with fear: {6} And there was a cloud overshadowing them, and a voice came out of the cloud, saying: This is my Son most dear: hear ye him. {7} And immediately looking about, they saw no man any more but JESUS only with them. {8} And as they descended from the mountain, he commanded them that they should not tell any man what things they had seen, but when the Son of man shall be risen again from the dead. {9} And they kept in the word with them selves; questioning together what that should be, when he shall be risen from the dead. {10} And they asked him, saying: What say the Pharisees then and the Scribes, that Elias must come first? {11} Who answering said to them:

Elias when he cometh first, shall restore all things: and how it is written of the Son of man, that he shall suffer many things and be contemned. {12} But I say to you that Elias also is come (and they have done to him whatsoever they would) as it is written of him. {13} And coming to his Disciples, he saw a great multitude about them, and the Scribes questioning with them. {14} And forthwith all the people seeing JESUS, was astonished, and much afraid: and running to him, saluted him. {15} And he asked them, what do you question of among you? {16} And one of the multitude answering, said: Master, I have brought my son to thee, having a dumb spirit, {17} Who, wheresoever he taketh him, dasmeth him, and he foameth, and gnasheth with the teeth, and withereth: and I speake to thy Disciples to cast him out, and they could not. {18} Who answering them, said: O incredulous generation, how long shall I be with you? how long shall I suffer you? Bring him unto me. {19} And they brought him. And when he had seen him, immediately the spirit troubled him; and being thrown upon the ground, he tumbled foaming. {20} And he asked his father: How long time is it since this hath chanced unto him? But he said: From his infancy: {21} And oftentimes hath he cast him into fire and into waters, to destroy him. But if thou canst any thing, help us, having compassion on us. {22} And Jesus said to him: If thou canst believe, all things are possible to him that believeth. {23} And incontinent the father of the boy crying out, with tears said: I do believe Lord; help my incredulity. {24} And when JESUS saw the people running together, he threatened the unclean spirit, saying to him: Deaf and dumb Spirit, I command thee, go out of him, and enter not any more into him. {25} And crying out; and greatly tearing him, he went out of him, and he became as dead, so that many said, that he is dead. {26} But JESUS holding his hand, lifted him up; and he rose. {27} And when he was entered into the house, his Disciples secretly asked him, why could not we cast him out? {28} And he said to them: This kind can go out by nothing but by prayer and fasting. {29} And departing thence they passed by Galilee, neither would he that any man should know. {30} And he taught his Disciples, and said to them: That the Son of man shall be betrayed into the hands of men, and they shall kill him, and being killed the third day he shall rise again. {31} But they knew not the word: and they were afraid to ask him. {32} And they came to Capharnaum. Who, when he was in the house, asked them, what did you treat of in the way? {33} But they held their peace, for in the way they had disputed among them selves, which of them should be the greater. {34} And sitting down, he called the Twelve, and saith to them: If any man will be first, he shall be last of all, and the minister of all. {35} And taking a child, he set him in the midst of them. Whom when he had embraced, he said to them: {36} Whosoever shall receive one of such children in my name, receiveth me. And Whosoever shall receive me, receiveth not me, but him that sent me. {37} John answered him, saying: Master we saw one casting out devils in thy name, who followeth not us, and we prohibited him. {38} But JESUS said: Do not prohibit him. For there is no man that doth a miracle in my name, and can soon speak ill of me. {39} For he that is not against you, is for you. {40} For Whosoever shall give you to drink a cup of water in my name, because you are Christ's; amen I say to you, he shall not lose his reward. {41} And whosoever shall scandalize one of these little ones believing in me; it is good for him rather if a millstone were put about his neck, and he were cast into the sea. {42} And if thy hand scandalize thee, cut it off. It is good for thee to enter into life, maimed, than having two hands, to go into hell, into the fire unquenchable, {43} where their worm dieth not, and the fire quencheth not. {44} And if thy foot scandalize thee, chop it off. It is good for thee to enter into life everlasting, lame, rather than having two feet, to be cast into the hell of unquenchable fire, {45} where their worm dieth not, and the fire quencheth not. {46} And if thine eye scandalize thee, cast it out. It is good for thee with one eye to enter into the Kingdom of God, rather than having two eyes, to be cast into the hell of fire, {47} where their worm dieth not, and the fire quencheth not. {48} For every one shall be salted with fire: and every victim shall be salted with salt. {49} Salt is good. But if the salt shall be unseasoned; wherewith will you season it? Have salt in you, and have peace among you.

Chapter 10

He answereth the tempting Pharisees (and again his disciples afterward) that the case of a man with his wife shall be (as in the first institution) utterly indissoluble. 13. He blesseth children. 17. He sheweth what is to be done to get life everlasting. 21. What also for a rich man, to be perfect: 28. as also what passing reward they shall have that do so in time of persecution. 32. He reveleth more to his Disciples touching his Passion: 35. bidding the two ambitious suitors to think rather of suffering with him: 41. and teaching us in the rest of his Disciples, not to be grieved at our Ecclesiastical Superiors, considering they are (as he was himself) to toil for our salvation. 46. Then going out of Jericho, he giveth sight to a blind man.

{1} AND rising up thence, he cometh into the coasts of Jewry beyond Jordan: and the multitudes assemble again unto him. And as he was accustomed, again he taught them. {2} And the Pharisees coming near, asked him: Is it lawful for a man to dismiss his wife? Tempting him. {3} But he answering, said to them: What did Moyses command you? {4} Who said: Moyses permitted to write a bill of divorce, and to dismiss her. {5} To whom JESUS answering, said: For the hardness of your heart he wrote you this precept. {6} But from the beginning of the creation, God made them male & female. {7} For this cause, man shall leave his father & mother; and shall cleave to his wife. {8} And they two shall be in one flesh. Therefore now they are not two, but one flesh. {9} That therefore which God hath joined together, let no man separate. {10} And in the house again his Disciples asked him of the same thing. {11} And he saith to them: Whosoever dismisseth his wife and marrieth another, committeth adultery upon her. {12} And if the wife dismiss her husband, and marry another, she committeth adultery. {13} And they offered to him young children, that he might touch them. And the Disciples threatened those that offered them. {14} Whom when JESUS saw, he took it ill, and said to them: Suffer the little children to come unto me, and prohibit them not. For the Kingdom of God is for such. {15} Amen I say to you, whosoever receiveth not the Kingdom of God as a little child, shall not enter into it. {16} And embracing them, and imposing hands upon them, he blessed them. {17} And when he was gone forth in the way, a certain man running forth & kneeling before him asked him, Good Master, what shall I do that I may receive life everlasting? {18} And JESUS said to him, why callest thou me good? None is good but one, God. {19} Thou knowest the commandments, Commit not adultery, Kill not, Steal not, Bear not false witness, do no fraud, Honour thy father and mother. {20} But he answering, said to him: Master all these things I have observed from my youth. {21} And JESUS beholding him, loved him, and said to him: One thing is wanting unto thee: go, sell whatsoever thou hast, and give to the poor, and thou shalt have treasure in Heaven; and come, follow me. {22} Who being stroken sad at the word, went away sorrowful. For he had many possessions. {23} And JESUS looking about, saith to his Disciples: How hardly shall they that have money, enter into the Kingdom of God! {24} And the Disciples were astonished at his words. But JESUS again answering, saith to them: Children, how hard is it for them that trust in money, to enter into the Kingdom of God! {25} It is easier for a camel to pass through a needle's eye, than for a rich man to enter into the Kingdom of God. {26} Who marveled more, saying to themselves: And who can be saved? {27} And JESUS beholding them saith: With men it is impossible; but not with God. For all things are possible with God. {28} And Peter began to say unto him: Behold, we have left all things, and have followed thee. {29} JESUS answering, said: Amen I say to you, there is no man which hath left house, or brethren, or sisters, or father, or mother, or children, or lands for me and for the Gospel, {30} that shall not receive an hundred times so much now in this time; houses, and brethren, and sisters, and mothers, and children, and lands, with persecutions: and in the world to come life everlasting. {31} But many that are first, shall be last; and the last, first. {32} And they were in the way going up to Jerusalem: and JESUS went before them, and they were astonished; and following were afraid. And taking again the Twelve, he began to tell them the things that should befall him. {33} That, behold we go up to Jerusalem, and the Son of man shall be betrayed to the chief Priests, and to the Scribes and Ancients, and they shall condemn him to death, and shall deliver him to the Gentiles. {34} and they shall mock him, and spit on him, and scourge him, and kill him, and the third day he shall rise again. {35} And there came to him James and John the sons of Zebedee, saying: Master, we will that what thing soever we shall ask, thou do it to us. {36} But he said to them: What will you that I do to you? {37} And they said: Grant to us, that we may sit, one on thy right hand & the other on thy left hand, in thy glory. {38} And JESUS said to them: You wot not what you ask. Can you drink the cup that I drink; or be baptized with the baptism wherewith I am baptized? {39} But they said to him, we can. And JESUS said to them: The cup indeed which I drink, you shall drink; and with the Baptism wherewith I am baptized, shall you be baptized: {40} but to sit on my right hand or on my left, is not mine to give unto you, but to whom it is prepared. {41} And the ten hearing, began to be displeased at James and John. {42} And JESUS calling them, saith to them: You know that they which seem to rule over the Gentiles, overrule them: and their Princes have power over them. {43} But it is not so in you. But whosoever will be greater, shall be your minister; {44} and whosoever will be first among you, shall be the servant of all. {45} For the Son of man also is not come to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give his life a redemption for many. {46} And they come to Jericho: and when he departed from Jericho, and his Disciples, and a very great multitude, the son of Timaeus, Bar-timaeus the blind man, sat by the way side begging. {47} Who when he had heard, that it is JESUS of Nazareth, he began to cry, and to say: JESUS, son of David, have mercy upon me. {48} And many threatened him, to hold his peace. But he cried much more, Son of David, have mercy upon me. {49} And JESUS standing still commanded him to be called. And they call the blind man, saying to him: Be of better comfort, arise, he calleth thee. {50} Who casting off his garment leapt up, and came to him. {51} And JESUS answering, said to him: What wilt thou that I do unto thee? And the blind man said to him: Rabboni, that I may see. {52} And JESUS said to him: Go thy ways, thy faith hath made thee safe. And forthwith he saw, and followed him in the way.

Chapter 11

Being now come to the place of his Passion, he entereth with triumph as their Christ. 12. He curseth that fruitless leafy tree. 15. He sheweth his zeal for the house of God; for which the Rulers seek his destruction. 24. He exhorteth his Disciples to steadfastness of faith, and to forgive their enemies. 27. He avoucheth his power by the witness of John who was a man sent of God.

{1} AND when they came nigh unto Jerusalem and Bethania to Mount-olivet, he sendeth two of his Disciples, {2} and saith to them: Go into the town that is against you, and immediately entering in thither, you shall find a colt tied, upon which no man yet hath sitten: loose him, and bring him. {3} And if any man shall say to you, what do you? Say that he is needful for our Lord: and incontinent he will send him hither. {4} And going their ways, they found the colt tied before the gate without, in the meeting of two ways: and they loose him. {5} And certain of them that stood there, said to them: What do you, loosing the colt? {6} Who said to them as JESUS had commanded them; and they did let him go with them. {7} And they brought the colt to JESUS; and they lay their garments upon him, and he sat upon him. {8} And many spread their garments in the way: and others did cut boughs from the trees, and strawed them in the way. {9} And they that went before and they that followed, cried saying: Hosanna, blessed is he that cometh in the name of our Lord. {10} Blessed is the Kingdom of our father David that cometh, Hosanna in the highest. {11} And he entered Jerusalem into the temple; and having viewed all things round about, when now the evening hour was come, he went forth into Bethania with the Twelve. {12} And the next day when they departed from Bethania, he was an hungered. {13} And when he had seen a far off, a figtree having leaves, he came if happily he could find any thing on it. And when he was come to it, he found nothing but leaves. For it was not the time for figs. {14} And answering he said to it: Now no man eat fruit of thee any more for ever. And his Disciples heard it. {15} And they come to Jerusalem. And when he was entered into the temple, he began to cast out them that sold and bought in the temple, and the tables of the bankers, and the chairs of them that sold pigeons he overthrew. {16} And he suffered not that any man should carry a vessel through the temple; {17} And he taught, saying to them: Is it not written, That my house shall be called the house of prayer to all nations? But you have made it a den of thieves. {18} Which when the chief Priests and the Scribes had heard, they sought how they might destroy him. For they were afraid of him, because the whole multitude was in admiration upon his doctrine. {19} And when evening was come, he went forth out of the city. {20} And when they passed by in the morning, they saw the figtree withered from the roots. {21} And Peter remembering, said to him: Rabbi, behold the figtree that thou didst curse, is withered. {22} And JESUS answering saith to them: Have faith of God. {23} Amen I say to you, that whosoever shall say to this mountain, Be taken up and be cast into the sea, and shall not stagger in his heart, but believe that whatsoever he saith shall be done; it shall be done unto him. {24} Therefore I say to you, all things, whatsoever you ask, praying, believe that you shall receive, and they shall come unto you. {25} And when you shall stand to pray, forgive if you have ought against any man; that also your Father which is in Heaven, may forgive you your sins. {26} If so be that you will not forgive, neither will your Father that is in Heaven, forgive you your sins. {27} And they come again to Jerusalem. And when he walked in the temple, there come to him the chief Priests & the Scribes and the Ancients, {28} and they say to him: In what power doest thou these things? and who hath given thee this power, that thou shouldst do these things? {29} And JESUS answering said to them: I also will ask you one word, and answer you me, and I will tell you in what power I do these things. {30} The baptism of John was it from Heaven, or from men? Answer me. {31} But they thought with them selves, saying: If we say, from Heaven; he will say, why then did you not believe him? {32} If we say, from men, we fear the people. For all accounted John that he was indeed a Prophet. {33} And they answering say to JESUS: We know not. And JESUS answering saith to them: Neither do I tell you in what power I do these things.

He foretelleth to the Jews in a parable their reprobation most worthy, and the vocation of the Church of the Gentiles in their place, 10. him self being the headstone thereof. 13. He defeateth the snare of the Pharisees and Herodians, about paying tribute to Caesar: 18. answereth also the invention of the Sadducees against the Resurrection: 28. also the opposition of a Scribe. 35. And so having put all the busy sects to silence, he turneth and poseth them on the other side, because they imagined Christ should be no more but a man. 18. Bidding the people to beware of the Scribes, being ambitious and hypocrites. 41. He commendeth the poor widow for her two mites, above all.

{1} AND he began to speak to them in parables: A man planted a vineyard and made a hedge about it, and digged a trough, and built a tower, and let it out to husbandmen; and went forth into a strange country. {2} And he sent to the husbandmen in season a servant, to receive of the husbandmen, of the fruit of the vineyard. {3} Who apprehending him, beat him; and sent him away empty. {4} And again he sent to them another servant; and him they wounded in the head, and used him reproachfully. {5} And again he sent another, & him they killed: and many other, beating certain, and killing others. {6} Therefore having yet one son most dear; him also he sent unto them last saying: That they will reverence my son. {7} But the husbandmen said one to an other. This is the heir; come, let us kill him; and the inheritance shall be ours. {8} And apprehending him, they killed him, and cast him forth out of the vineyard. {9} What therefore will the Lord of the vineyard do? He will come and destroy the husbandmen; and will give the vineyard to others. {10} Neither have you read this scripture, The stone which the builders rejected; the same is made the head of the corner: {11} By our Lord was this done, and it is marvelous in our eyes? {12} And they sought to lay hands on him, and they feared the multitude. For they knew that he spake this parable to them. And leaving him they went their way. {13} And they send to him certain of the Pharisees and of the Herodians; that they should entrap him in his word. {14} Who coming, say to him: Master, we know that thou art a true speaker, and carest not for any man; for thou doest not look upon the person of men, but teachest the way of God in truth. Is it lawful to give tribute to Caesar; or shall we not give it? {15} Who knowing their subtlety, said to them: Why tempt you me? Bring me a penny that I may see it. {16} But they brought it him. And he saith to them: Whose is this image, and inscription? They say to him, Caesar's. {17} And JESUS answering, said to them: Render therefore the things that are Caesar's, to Caesar; and that are God's, to God. And they marveled at him. {18} And there came to him the Saducees that say there is no resurrection; and they asked him saying: Master, {19} Moyses wrote unto us, that if any man's brother die, and leave his wife, and leave no children, his brother shall take his wife and raise up seed to his brother. {20} There were therefore seven brethren; and the first took a wife, and died leaving no issue. {21} And the second took her, and died: and neither this left issue. And the third in like manner. {22} And the seven took her in like sort; and did not leave issue. Last of all the woman also died. {23} In the resurrection therefore when they shall rise again, whose wife shall she be of these? For the seven had her to wife. {24} And JESUS answering, said to them: Do ye not therefore err, not knowing the scriptures, nor the power of God? {25} For when they shall rise again from the dead, they shall neither marry, nor be married, but are as the Angels in Heaven. {26} And as concerning the dead, that they do rise again, have you not read in the book of Moyses, how in the bush God spake to him, saying: I am the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob? {27} He is not the God of the dead, but of the living. You therefore are much deceived. {28} And there came one of the Scribes that had heard them questioning, and seeing that he had well answered them, asked him which was the first commandment of all. {29} And JESUS answered him: That the first commandment of all is, Hear Israel: the Lord thy God, is one God. {30} And thou shalt love the Lord thy God from thy whole heart, and with thy whole soul, and with thy whole mind, and with thy whole power. This is the first commandment. {31} And the second is like to it: Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thy self. An other commandment greater than these there is not. {32} And the Scribe said to him: Well Master, thou hast said in truth, that there is one God, and there is none other besides him. {33} And that he be loved from the whole heart, and with the whole understanding, and with the whole soul, and with the whole strength: and to love his neighbour as himself, is a greater thing than all holocausts and sacrifices. {34} And JESUS seeing that he had answered wisely, said to him: Thou art not far from the Kingdom of God. And no man now durst ask him. {35} And JESUS answering, said, teaching in the temple: How do the Scribes say, that Christ is the son of David? {36} For David himself saith in the Holy Ghost: Our Lord said to my Lord, sit on my right hand, until I put thine enemies the foot-stool of thy feet. {37} David therefore himself calleth him Lord, and whence is he his son? And a great multitude heard him gladly. {38} And he said to them in his doctrine: Take heed of the Scribes that will walk in long robes, and be saluted in the market-place, {39} And sit in the first chairs in the Synagogues, and love the highest places at suppers: {40} Which devour widow's houses under the pretence of long prayer: these shall receive larger judgement. {41} And JESUS sitting over against the treasury, beheld how the multitude did cast money into the treasury, and many rich men did cast in much. {42} And when there came a certain poor widow, she cast in two mites, which is a farthing. {43} And calling his Disciples together, he saith to them, Amen I say to you, that this poor widow hath cast in more than all that have cast into the treasury. {44} For all they of their abundance have cast in; but she, of her penury hath cast in all that she had, her whole living.

Chapter 13

To his Disciples (by occasion of Hierusalem and the Temple's destruction) he foretelleth. 5. what things shall be before the consummation of the world, as specially the Church's full preaching unto all nations. 14. Then, what shall be in the very consummation, to wit, Antichrist with his passing great persecution and seduction; but for a short time, 24. then incontinent the day of Judgement, 28. to our great comfort in those miseries under Antichrist. 32. As for the moment, to us it pertaineth not to know it. 33. but rather every man to watch, that we be not unprovided when he cometh to each one particularly by death.

{1} AND when he went out of the Temple, one of his Disciples saith to him: Master, behold what manner of stones, and what kind of buildings. {2} And JESUS answering, said to him: Seest thou all these great buildings? There shall not be left a stone upon a stone, that shall not be destroyed. {3} And when he sat in Mount-olivet against the temple, Peter and James and John and Andrew asked him apart: {4} Tell us, when shall these things be? and what shall be the sign when all these things shall begin to be consummate? {5} And JESUS answering began to say to them, See, that no man seduce you. {6} For many shall come in my name saying that I am he; and they shall seduce many. {7} And when you shall hear of wars and bruits of wars, fear not. For these things must be, but the end is not yet. {8} For nation shall rise against nation and kingdom against kingdom, and there shall be earthquakes in places, & famines. These things are the beginning of sorrows. {9} But look to your selves. For they shall deliver you up in Councils, and in Synagogues shall you be beaten, and you shall stand before Presidents and kings for my sake, for a testimony unto them. {10} And into all nations first the Gospel must be preached. {11} And when they shall lead you and deliver you, be not careful beforehand what you shall speak; but that which shall be given you in that hour, that speak ye. For it is not you that speak, but the Holy Ghost. {12} And brother shall deliver brother unto death, and the father his Son; and the children shall arise against the parents, and shall work their death. {13} And you shall be odious to all men for my name. But he that shall endure unto the end, he shall be saved. {14} And when you shall see the abomination of desolation, standing where it ought not (he that readeth, let him understand) then they that are in Jewry, let them flee unto the mountains: {15} and he that is on the house-top, let him not go down into the house, nor enter in, to take any thing out of his house: {16} and he that shall be in the field, let him not return back to take his garment. {17} And woe to them that are with-child and that give suck in those days. {18} But pray that the things chance not in the winter. {19} For those days shall be such tribulations as were not from the beginning of the creation that God created until now, neither shall be. {20} And unless the Lord had shortened the days, no flesh should be saved: but for the elect which he hath elected, he hath shortened the days. {21} And then if any man shall say unto you, Lo, here is Christ, lo, there: do not believe. {22} For there shall rise up false-Christians and false-Prophets, and they shall shew signs and wonders, to seduce (if it be possible) the elect also. {23} You therefore take heed; behold I have foretold you all things. {24} But in those days after that tribulation the sun shall be darkened, and the moon shall not give her light, {25} and the stars of Heaven shall be falling down, and the powers that are in Heaven, shall be moved. {26} And then they shall see the Son of man coming in the clouds, with much power and glory. {27} And then shall he send his Angels, and shall gather together his elect from the four winds, from the uttermost part of the earth to the uttermost part of Heaven. {28} And of the figtree learn ye a parable. When now the bough thereof is tender, and the leaves come forth, you know that summer is very nigh. {29} So you also when you shall see these things come to pass, know ye that it is very nigh, at the doors. {30} Amen I say to you, that this generation shall not pass, until all these things be done. {31} Heaven & earth shall pass, but my words shall not pass. {32} But of that day or hour no man knoweth, neither the Angels in Heaven, nor the Son, but the Father. {33} Take heed, watch, and pray. For you know not when the time is. {34} Even as a man who being gone into a strange country, left his house; and gave his servants authority over each work, and commanded the porter to watch. {35} Watch ye therefore (for you know not when the Lord of the house cometh: at even, or at midnight, or at the cock crowing, or in the morning) {36} lest coming upon a sudden, he find you sleeping. {37} And that which I say to you, I say to all, Watch.

Chapter 14

Judas by occasion of Mary Magdalen's ointment, doth sell him to the Council of the Jews 12. After the Paschal lamb he giveth them the bread of life (Io. [6].) in a mystical sacrifice or separation of his body and blood. 27. and that night, is after his prayer, 43. taken of Jew's men, Judas being their Captain: is forsaken of the other eleven for fear: 53. is falsely accused, and impiously condemned of the Jew's Council, 65. and shamefully abused of them: 66. and thrice denied of Peter. All even as the Scriptures and him self had often foretold.

{1} AND the Pasche was, and the Azymes after two days: and the chief Priests and the Scribes sought how they might by some wile lay hands on him, and kill him. {2} But they said: Not on the festival day, lest there might be a tumult of the people. {3} And when he was at Bethania in the house of Simon the Leper, and sat at meat, there came a woman having an alabaster box of ointment, of precious spike-nard; and breaking the alabaster-box, she poured it out upon his head. {4} But there were certain that had indignation within them selves, and said: Whereto is this waste of the ointment made? {5} For this ointment might have been sold for more than three hundred pence, and given to the poor. And they murmured against her. {6} But JESUS said: Let her alone, why do you molest her? She hath wrought a good work upon me. {7} For the poor you have always with you; and when you will, you may do them good; but me you have not always. {8} That which she had, she hath done; she hath prevented to anoint my body to the burial. {9} Amen I say to you, wheresoever this Gospel shall be preached in the whole world, that also which she hath done, shall be told for a memory of her. {10} And Judas Iscariote one of the Twelve went his way to the chief Priests, for to betray him to them. {11} Who hearing it, were glad; and they promised him that they would give him money. And he sought how he might betray him conveniently. {12} And the first day of the Azymes when they sacrificed the Pasche, the Disciples say to him: Whither wilt thou that we go, and prepare for thee to eat the Pasche? {13} And he sendeth two of his Disciples, and saith to them: Go ye into the city; and there shall meet you a man carrying a pitcher of water, follow him; {14} and whithersoever he entereth, say to the Master of the house, that the Master saith, where is my refectionary, where I may eat the Pasche with my Disciples? {15} And he will shew you a great chamber, adorned; and there prepare for us. {16} And his Disciples went their ways, and came into the city; and they found as he had told them, and they prepared the Pasche. {17} And when even was come, he cometh with the Twelve. {18} And when they were sitting at the table and eating, JESUS said: Amen I say to you, that one of you shall betray me, he that eateth with me. {19} But they began to be sad, and to say to him severally, Is it I? {20} Who said to them: One of the Twelve, he that dippeth with me his hand in the dish. {21} And the Son of man in deed goeth, as it is written of him, but woe to that man by whom the Son of man shall be betrayed. It were good for him, if that man had not been born. {22}

And whiles they were eating, JESUS took bread: and blessing brake, and gave to them, and said: Take, THIS IS MY BODY. {23} And taking the chalice, giving thanks he gave to them. And they all drank of it. {24} And he said to them: THIS IS MY BLOOD OF THE NEW TESTAMENT, THAT SHALL BE SHED FOR MANY. {25} Amen I say to you, that now I will not drink of the fruit of the vine until that day when I shall drink it new in the Kingdom of God. {26} And an hymn being said, they went forth into Mount-olivet. {27} And JESUS saith to them: You shall all be scandalized in me in this night; for it is written, I will strike the Pastor, & the sheep shall be dispersed. {28} But after that I shall be risen again, I will go before you into Galilee. {29} And Peter said to him: Although all shall be scandalized, yet not I. {30} And JESUS saith to him: Amen I say to thee, that thou this day in this night, before the cock crow twice, shalt thrice deny me. {31} But he spake more vehemently: Although I should die together with thee, I will not deny thee. And in like manner also said they all. {32} And they come into a farm-place called Gethsemani. And he saith to his Disciples: Sit you here, until I pray. {33} And he taketh Peter and James and John with him; and he began to fear and to be heavy. {34} And he saith to them: My soul is sorrowful even unto death; stay here, and watch. {35} And when he was gone forward at little, he fell flat upon the ground; and he prayed that if it might be, the hour might pass from him; {36} and he said: Abba, Father, all things are possible to thee, transfer this chalice from me, but not that which I will, but that which thou. {37} And he cometh, and findeth them sleeping. And he saith to Peter: Simon, sleepest thou? couldst thou not watch one hour? {38} Watch ye, and pray that you enter not into temptation. The spirit in deed is prompt, but the flesh infirm. {39} And going away again, he prayed, saying the self same word. {40} And returning, again he found them asleep (for their eyes were heavy) and they wist not what they should answer him. {41} And he cometh the third time, and saith to them: Sleep ye now, and take rest. It sufficeth: the hour is come; behold the Son of man shall be betrayed into the hands of sinners. {42} Arise, let us go. Behold, he that shall betray me, is at hand. {43} And as he was yet speaking, cometh Judas Iscariote one of the Twelve, and with him a great multitude with swords and clubs, from the chief Priests and the Scribes and the Ancients. {44} And the betrayer of him had given them a sign, saying: Whomsoever I shall kiss, it is he, lay hold on him, and lead him warily. {45} And when he was come, immediately going to him, he saith: Rabbi, and he kissed him. {46} But they laid hands upon him, and held him. {47} And one certain man of the standers about, drawing out a sword, smote the servant of the chief Priest, and cut off his ear. {48} And JESUS answering, said to them: As to a thief you come out with swords and clubs to apprehend me? {49} I was daily with you in the temple teaching, and you did not lay hands on me. But, that the Scriptures may be fulfilled. {50} Then his Disciples leaving him, all fled. {51} And a certain young man followed him clothed with sindon upon the bare; and they took him. {52} But he casting off the sindon, fled from them naked. {53} And they brought JESUS to the chief Priest; and all the Priests and the Scribes and the Ancients assembled together. {54} And Peter followed him a far off even in unto the court of the high Priest; and he sat with the servants at the fire, and warmed himself. {55} And the chief Priests and all the Council sought testimony against JESUS, that they might put him to death, neither found they. {56} For many spake false witness against him; and the testimonies were not convenient. {57} And certain rising up, bare false witness against him, saying: {58} That we heard him say, I will dissolve this temple made with hand, and in three days will I build an other not made with hand. {59} And their testimony was not convenient. {60} And the high Priest rising up into the midst, asked JESUS, saying: Answerest thou nothing to these things that are objected to thee of these? {61} But he held his peace and answered nothing. Again the high Priest asked him, and said to him: Art thou Christ the Son of the blessed God? {62} And JESUS saith to him: I am. And you shall see the Son of man sitting on the right hand of power, and coming with the clouds of Heaven. {63} And the high Priest renting his garments, saith: What need we witnesses any further? {64} You have heard blasphemy. How think you? Who all condemned him to be guilty of death. {65} And certain began to spit upon him, and to cover his face, and to beat him with buffets, and to say unto him, Prophesy; and the servants gave him blows. {66} And when Peter was in the court beneath, there cometh one of the woman-servants of the high Priest. {67} And when she had seen Peter warming him self, beholding him she saith: And thou wast with JESUS of Nazareth. {68} But he denied, saying: Neither know I, neither wot I what thou sayest. And he went before the court; and the cock crew. {69} And again a wench seeing him, began to say to the standers about, That this fellow is of them. {70} But he denied again. And after a while again, they that stood by, said to Peter: Verily thou art of them; for thou art also a Galilean. {71} But he began to curse and to swear, That I know not this man whom you speak of. {72} And immediately the cock crew again. And Peter remembered the word that JESUS had said unto him: Before the cock crow twice, thou shalt thrice deny me. And he began to weep.

Chapter 15

The chief of the Jews accuse him to Pilate the Gentile. 6. And (he seeking to deliver him) they persuade the common people (who hitherto were always ready to defend him) not only to prefer the murderer Barabbas, but also to cry Crucifice (to the reprobation of the whole nation.) 16. After many illusions, 20. he is crucified by the Gentiles, 29. which the Jews seeing, do triumph as if they had now the victory. 33. But even then by many wonderful works he declareth his might, 42. and finally is buried honorably.

{1} AND forthwith in the morning the chief Priests with the Ancients and the Scribes & the whole Council, consulting together, binding JESUS led & delivered him to Pilate. {2} And Pilate asked him: Art thou the King of the Jews? but he answering, said to him: Thou sayest, {3} And the chief Priests accused him in many things. {4} And Pilate again asked him, saying: Answerest thou nothing? See in how many things they accuse thee. {5} But JESUS answered nothing more; so that Pilate marveled. {6} And upon the festival day he was wont to release unto them one of the prisoners whomsoever they had demanded. {7} And there was one called Barabbas, which was put in prison with seditious persons, who in a sedition had committed murder. {8} And when the multitude was come up, they began to require, according as always he did unto them. {9} And Pilate answered them, and said: Will you that I release to you the King of the Jews? {10} For he knew that the chief Priests for envy had delivered him. {11} But the chief Priests moved the people, that he should release Barabbas rather to them. {12} And Pilate again answering, said to them: What will you then that I do to the King of the Jews? {13} But they again cried: Crucify him. {14} And Pilate saith to them: Why, what evil hath he done? But they cried the more: Crucify him. {15} And Pilate willing to satisfy the people, released to them Barabbas, and delivered JESUS, having whipped him, for to be crucified. {16} And the soldiers led him into the court of the Palace, and they call together the whole band: {17} and they clothe him in purple, and plattting a crown of thorns, they put it upon him. {18} And they began to salute him: Hail King of the Jews. {19} And they smote his head with a reed: and they did spit on him. And bowing the knees, they adored him. {20} And after they had mocked him, they stripped him of the purple, and put on him his own garments, and they lead him forth to crucify him. {21} And they forced a certain man that passed by, Simon a Cyrenean coming from the country, the father of Alexander and Rufus, to take up his cross. {22} And they bring him into the place Golgotha, which being interpreted is, The place of Calvary. {23} And they gave him to drink wine mingled with myrrh; and he took it not. {24} And crucifying him, they divided his garments, casting lots upon them, who should take which. {25} And it was the third hour, and they crucified him. {26} And the title of his cause was superscribed, KING OF THE JEWS. {27} And with him they crucify two thieves; one on the right hand, and an other on his left. {28} And the Scripture was fulfilled that saith: And with the wicked he was reputed. {29} And they that passed by, blasphemed him, wagging their heads, and saying: Vah, he that destroyeth the Temple, and in three days buildeth it: {30} save thy self, coming down from the cross. {31} In like manner also the chief Priests mocking said with the Scribes one to an other: He saved others, himself he can not save. {32} Let Christ the King of Israel come down now from the cross that we may see and believe. And they that were crucified with him, railed at him. {33} And when it was the sixth hour, there was made darkness upon the whole earth until the ninth hour. {34} And at the ninth hour JESUS cried out with a mighty voice, saying: Eloi, Eloi, lamma-sabacthani? Which is being interpreted, My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me? {35} And certain of the standers about hearing, said: Behold, he calleth Elias. {36} And one running and filling a spunge with vinegar, and putting it about a reed, gave him drink, saying: Let be, let us see if Elias come to take him down. {37} And JESUS putting forth a mighty voice, gave up the ghost. {38} And the veil of the temple was rent in two, from the top to the bottom. {39} And the Centurion that stood over against him, seeing that so crying he had given up the ghost, said: In deed this man was the Son of God. {40} And there were also women looking on, a far off: among whom was Mary Magdalene, and Mary the mother of James the less, and of Joseph, and Salome; {41} and when he was in Galilee, they followed him, and ministered to him, and many other women that came up together with him to Jerusalem. {42} And when evening was now come (because it was the Parusche, which is the Sabbath-eve) {43} Came Joseph of Arimathaea a noble Senator, who himself also was expecting the Kingdom of God; and he went in boldly to Pilate, and asked the body of JESUS. {44} But Pilate marveled if he were now dead. And sending for the Centurion, asked him if he were now dead. {45} And when he understood by the Centurion, he gave the body to Joseph. {46} And Joseph buying sindon, and taking him down, wrapped him in the sindon, and laid him in a monument, that was hewed out of a rock. And he rolled a stone to the door of the monument. {47} And Mary Magdalene and Mary of Joseph beheld where he was laid.

The third day, to three women at his Sepulcher, an Angel telleth that he is risen, and will (as he promised Mar. 14. [28].) shew him self in Galilee. 9. The same day he appeareth to Mary Magdalene, afterward to two Disciples: yet the Eleven will not believe it, until to them also he appeareth. 15. To whom having given commission into all nations, with power also of Miracles, he ascendeth, and they plant his Church every where.

{1} AND when the Sabbath was past, Mary Magdalene and Mary of James, and Salome bought spices, that coming they might anoint JESUS. {2} And very early the first of the Sabbaths, they come to the monument, the sun being now risen. {3} And they said one to an other: Who shall roll us back the stone from the door of the monument? {4} And looking, they saw the stone rolled back. For it was very great. {5} And entering into the monument, they saw a young man sitting on the right hand covered with a white robe: and they were astonished. {6} Who saith to them: Be not dismayed; you seek JESUS of Nazareth, that was crucified; he is risen, he is not here, behold the place where they laid him. {7} But go, tell his Disciples and Peter that he goeth before you into Galilee; there you shall see him, as he told you. {8} But they going forth, fled from the monument. For trembling and fear had invaded them: and they said nothing to any body, for they were afraid. {9} And he rising early the first of the Sabbath, appeared first to Mary Magdalene, out of whom he had cast seven devils. {10} She went and told them that had been with him, that were mourning & weeping. {11} And they hearing that he was alive and had been seen of her, did not believe. {12} And after this he appeared in another shape to two of them walking, as they were going into the country. {13} And they going told the rest: neither them did they believe. {14} Last he appeared to those eleven as they sat at the table; and he exprobated their incredulity and hardness of heart, because they did not believe them that had seen him risen again. {15} And he said to them: Going into the whole world preach the Gospel to all creatures. {16} He that believeth and is baptized, shall be saved; but he that believeth not, shall be condemned. {17} And them that believe, these signs shall follow: In my name shall they cast out devils; They shall speak with new tongues; {18} Serpents shall they take away; And if they drink any deadly thing, it shall not hurt them; They shall impose hands upon the sick and they shall be whole. {19} And so our Lord JESUS after he spake unto them, was assumed into Heaven, and sat on the right hand of God. {20} But they going forth preached every where: our Lord working withal, and confirming the word with signs that followed.

THE HOLY GOSPEL ACCORDING TO S. LUKE

Chapter 1

The Annunciation and Conception, first of the Precursor: 26. and six months after, of Christ also him self. 39. The visitation of our Lady, where both the mothers do Prophesy. 57. The Nativity and Circumcision of the Precursor, where his father doth prophesy. 80. The Precursor is from a child an Eremit.

{1} BECAUSE many have gone about to compile a narration of the things that have been accomplished among us; {2} according as they have delivered unto us, who from the beginning themselves saw and were ministers of the word; {3} it seemed good also unto me having diligently attained to all things from the beginning, to write to thee in order, good Theophilus, {4} that thou mayst know the verity of those words whereof thou hast been instructed. {5} There was in the days of Herod the king of Jewry, a certain Priest named Zacharie, of the course of Abia; & his wife of the daughters of Aaron, and her name Elizabeth. {6} And they were both just before God, walking in all the commandments and justifications of our Lord without blame, {7} and they had no son: for that Elizabeth was barren, and both were well striken in their days. {8} And it came to pass, when he executed the priestly function in the order of his course before God, {9} according to the custom of the Priestly function, he went forth by lot to offer incense, entering into the temple of our Lord; {10} and all the multitude of the people was praying without at the hour of the incense. {11} And there appeared to him an Angel of our Lord, standing on the right hand of the Altar of incense. {12} And Zacharie was troubled, seeing him; and fear fell upon him. {13} But the Angel said to him: Fear not Zacharie, for thy prayer is heard; and thy wife Elizabeth shall bear thee a son and thou shalt call his name John: {14} and thou shalt have joy and exultation, and many shall rejoice in his nativity. {15} For he shall be great before our Lord; and wine and sicer he shall not drink; and he shall be replenished with the Holy Ghost even from his mother's womb. {16} And he shall convert many of the children of Israel to the Lord their God. {17} And he shall go before him in the spirit and virtue of Elias, that he may convert the hearts of the fathers unto the children, and the incredulous to the wisdom of the just, to prepare unto the Lord a perfect people. {18} And Zacharie said to the Angel: Whereby shall I know this? For I am old; and my wife is well striken in her days. {19} And the Angel answering said to him: I am Gabriel that assist before God; and am sent to speak to thee, and to evangelize these things to thee. {20} And behold, thou shalt be dumb, and shalt not be able to speak until the day wherein these things shall be done; for-because thou hast not believed my words, which shall be fulfilled in their time. {21} And the people was expecting Zacharie; and they marveled that he made tariance in the temple. {22} And coming forth he could not speak to them, and they knew that he had seen a vision in the temple. And he made signs to them, and remained dumb. {23} And it came to pass, after the days of his office were expired, he departed into his house. {24} And after these days, Elizabeth his wife conceived; and hid herself five months, saying: {25} For thus hath our Lord done to me in the days wherein he had respect to take away my reproach among men. {26} And in the sixth month, the Angel Gabriel was sent of God into a city of Galilee, called Nazareth, {27} to a virgin despoused to a man whose name was Joseph, of the house of David; and the virgin's name was MARY. {28} And the Angel being entered in, said unto her: HAIL full of grace, our Lord is with thee: blessed art thou among women. {29} Who having heard, was troubled at his saying, and thought what manner of salutation this should be. {30} And the Angel said to her: Fear not MARY, for thou hast found grace with God. {31} Behold thou shalt conceive in thy womb, and shalt bear a Son; and thou shalt call his name JESUS. {32} He shall be great, and shall be called the Son of the most High, and our Lord God shall give him the seat of David his father: {33} and he shall reign in the house of Jacob for ever, and of his Kingdom there shall be no end. {34} And MARY said to the Angel: How shall this be done, because I know not man? {35} And the Angel answering, said to her: The Holy Ghost shall come upon thee, and the power of the most High shall overshadow thee. And therefore also that which of thee shall be born Holy, shall be called the Son of God. {36} And behold Elizabeth thy cousin, she also hath conceived a Son in her old age; and this month, is the sixth to her that is called barren; {37} because there shall not be impossible with God any word. {38} And MARY said, BEHOLD the handmaid of our Lord, be it done to me according to thy word. And the Angel departed from her. {39} And MARY rising up in those days, went unto the hill country with speed into a city of Juda. {40} And she entered into the house of Zacharie, and saluted Elizabeth. {41} And it came to pass; as Elizabeth heard the salutation of MARY, the infant did leap in her womb. And Elizabeth was replenished with the Holy Ghost: {42} and she cried out with a loud voice, and said, BLESSED art thou among women, and blessed is the fruit of thy womb. {43} And whence is this to me, that the mother of my Lord doth come to me? {44} For behold as the voice of thy salutation sounded in mine ears, the infant in my womb did leap for joy. {45} And Blessed is she that believed because those things shall be accomplished that were spoken to her by our Lord. {46} And MARY said: MY SOUL doth magnify our Lord: {47} And my spirit hath rejoiced in God my Saviour. {48} Because he hath regarded the humility of his handmaid; for behold from hence forth all generations shall call me blessed {49} Because he that is mighty hath done great things to me: and holy is his name. {50} And his mercy from generation unto generations, to them that fear him. {51} He hath shewed might in his arm: he hath dispersed the proud in the conceit of their heart. {52} He hath deposed the mighty from their seat, & hath exalted the humble. {53} The hungry he hath filled with good things: and the rich he hath sent away empty. {54} He hath received Israel his child, being mindful of his mercy, {55} As he spake to our fathers, to Abraham and his seed for ever. {56} And MARY tarried with her about three months: and she returned into her house. {57} And Elizabeth's full time was come to be delivered; and she bare a son. {58} And her neighbours and kinsfolk heard that our Lord did magnify his mercy with her, and they did congratulate her. {59} And it came to pass; on the eighth day they came to circumcise the child, and they called him by his father's name Zacharie. {60} And his mother answering, said: Not so, but he shall be called John. {61} And they said to her, That there is none in thy kindred that is called by this name. {62} And they made signs to his father, what he would have him called. {63} And demanding a writing table, he wrote, saying: John is his name. And they all marveled. {64} And forthwith his mouth was opened, and his tongue, and he spake, blessing God. {65} And fear came upon all their neighbours; and all these things were bruited over all the hill-country of Jewry: {66} and all that had heard, laid them up in their heart, saying: What an one, trow ye, shall this child be? For the hand of our Lord was with him. {67} And Zacharie his father was replenished with the Holy Ghost; and he prophesied, saying: {68} BLESSED BE OUR LORD God of Israel: because he hath visited and wrought the redemption of his people: {69} And hath erected the horn of salvation to us, in the house of David his servant. {70} As he spake by the mouth of his holy Prophets, that are from the beginning: {71} Salvation from our enemies, and from the hand of all that hate us: {72} To work mercy with our fathers; and to remember his holy testament, {73} The oath which he sware to Abraham our father, {74} that he would give to us. That without fear being delivered from the hand of our enemies, we may serve him, {75} In holiness and justice before him, all our days. {76} And thou child, shalt be called the Prophet of the Highest: for thou shalt go before the face of our Lord to prepare his ways. {77} To give knowledge of salvation to his people, unto remission of their sins, {78} Through the bowels of the mercy of our God, in which the Orient, from on high, hath visited us. {79} To illuminate them that sit in darkness, and in the shadow of death: to direct our feet into the way of peace. {80} And the child grew, and was strengthened in spirit, and was in the deserts until the day of his manifestation to Israel.

Chapter 2

The Nativity of Christ, 8. and manifestation thereof to the Shepherds by an Angel, and by them to others. 21. His Circumcision. 22. His Presentation, together with Simeon's (as also Anne's) attestation and prophesying of his Passion, of the Jews reprobation, and of the Gentile's illumination. 41. His annual ascending to Hierusalem with his parents, to whom he was subject, and his fullness of wisdom shewed among the Doctors at twelve years of his age.

{1} AND it came to pass, in those days there came forth an Edict from Caesar Augustus, that the whole world should be enrolled. {2} This first enrolling was made by the President of Syria, Cyrinus. {3} And all went to be enrolled, every one into his own city. {4} And Joseph also went up from Galilee out of the city of Nazareth into Jewry, to the city of David that is called Beth-lehem: for because he was of the house and family of David, {5} to be enrolled with MARY his despoused wife that was with child. {6} And it came to pass, when they were there, her days were fully come that she should be delivered. {7} And she brought forth her first begotten son, and swaddled him in cloths, and laid him down in a manger; because there was not place for them in the inn. {8} And there were in the same country shepherds watching, and keeping the night watches over their flock. {9} And behold, an Angel of our Lord stood beside them, and the brightness of God did shine round about them, and they feared with a great fear. {10} And the Angel said to them: Fear not; for behold I evangelize to you great joy, that shall be to all the people: {11} because this day is born to you a SAVIOUR which is Christ our Lord, in the city of David. {12} And this shall be a sign to you; You shall find the infant swaddled in cloths, and laid in a manger. {13} And suddenly there was with the Angel a multitude of the heavenly army, praising God, and saying, {14} Glory in the highest to God: and in earth peace to men of good will. {15} And it came to pass, after the Angels departed from them into Heaven, the shepherds spake one to an other: Let us go over to Bethlehem, and let us see this word that is done, which our Lord hath shewed to us. {16} And they came with speed; and they found MARY and Joseph, and the infant laid in the manger. {17} And seeing it, they understood of the word that had been spoken to them concerning this child. {18} And all that heard, did marvel; and concerning those things that were reported to them by the shepherds. {19} But MARY kept all these words, conferring them in her heart. {20} And the shepherds returned, glorifying and praising God in all things that they had heard, and seen, as it was said to them. {21} And after eight days were expired, that the child should be circumcised; his name was called JESUS, which was called by the Angel, before that he was conceived in the womb. {22} And after the days were fully ended of her purification according to the law of Moyses, they carried him into Jerusalem, to present him to our Lord {23} (as it is written in the law of our Lord, That every male opening the matrice, shall be called holy to the lord.) {24} and to give a sacrifice according as it is written in the law of our Lord, a pair of turtles, or two young pigeons. {25} And behold there was a man in Jerusalem named Simeon, and this man was just and religious, expecting the consolation of Israel: and the Holy Ghost was in him. {26} And he had received an answer of the Holy Ghost, that he should not see death unless he saw first the CHRIST of our Lord. {27} And he came in Spirit into the temple. And when his parents brought in the child JESUS, to do according to the custom of the Law for him, {28} he also took him into his arms, and blessed God, and said: {29} NOW THOU doest dismiss thy servant O Lord, according to thy word in peace. {30} Because mine eyes have seen thy SALVATION, {31} Which thou hast prepared before the face of all peoples: {32} A light to the revelation of the Gentiles, & the glory of thy people Israel. {33} And his father and mother were marveling upon those things which were spoken concerning him. {34} And Simeon blessed them, and said to MARY his mother: Behold this is set unto the ruin, and unto the resurrection of many in Israel, & for a sign which shall be contradicted, {35} and thine own soul shall a sword pierce, that out of many hearts cogitations may be revealed. {36} And there was Anne a prophetess, the daughter of Phanuel, of the tribe of Aser: she was far striken in days, and had lived with her husband seven years from her virginity. {37} And she was a widow until eighty and four years; who departed not from the temple, by fastings and prayers serving night and day. {38} And she at the same hour suddenly coming in, confessed to our Lord; and spake of him to all that expected the redemption of Israel. {39} And after they had wholly done all things according to the law of our Lord, they returned into Galilee, into their city Nazareth. {40} And the child grew, and waxed strong: full of wisdom, and the grace of God was in him. {41} And his parents went every year unto Jerusalem at the solemn day of Pasche. {42} And when he was twelve years old, they going up into Jerusalem according to the custom of the festival day: {43} and having ended the days, when they returned, the child JESUS remained in Jerusalem: and his parents knew it not. {44} And thinking that he was in the company, they came a day's journey, and sought him among their kinsfolk and acquaintance. {45} And not finding him, they returned into Jerusalem, seeking him. {46} And it came to pass, after three days they found him in the temple sitting in the midst of the Doctors, hearing them and asking them. {47} And all were astonished that heard him, upon his wisdom & answers. {48} And seeing him, they wondered. And his mother said to him: Son, why hast thou so done to us? Behold thy father and I sorrowing did seek thee. {49} And he said to them: What is it that you sought me? Did you not know, that I must be about those things which are my Father's? {50} And they understood not the word that he spake unto them. {51} And he went down with them, and came to Nazareth; and was subject to them. And his mother kept all these words in her heart. {52} And JESUS proceeded in wisdom and age, and grace with God and men.

Chapter 3

John, to prepare to Christ (as Esay had prophesied of him) baptizeth them to penance, 7. insinuating their reprobation, and the Gentle's vocation. 10. teaching also & exhorting each sort to do their duty. 15. That himself is not Christ, he sheweth by the difference of their two Baptisms: 17. and saith that Christ will also judge his baptized. 19. John's imprisonment, 21. Christ being him self also baptized of John, hath testimony from heaven, 23. as he whose generation reduceth us again to God.

{1} AND in the fifteenth year of the empire of Tiberius Caesar, Pontius Pilate being Governor of Jewry, and Herod being Tetrarch of Galilee, and Philip his brother Tetrarch of Iturea and the country Trachonitis, and Lysanias Tetrarch of Abilina, {2} under the high Priests Annas and Caiphas: the word of our Lord was made upon John the son of Zacharie, in the desert. {3} And he came into all the country of Jordan, preaching the baptism of penance unto remission of sins; as it is written in the book of the sayings of Esay the Prophet: {4} A voice of one crying in the desert; prepare the way of our Lord, make straight his paths. {5} Every valley shall be filled; and every mountain and hill shall be made low, and crooked things shall become straight; and rough ways, plain: {6} And all flesh shall see the SALVATION of God. {7} He said therefore to the multitudes that went forth to be baptized of him: Ye vipers' broods, who hath shewed you to flee from the wrath to come? {8} Yield therefore fruits worthy of penance; and do ye not begin to say, we have Abraham, to our father. For I tell you, that God is able of these stones to raise up children to Abraham. {9} And now the axe is put to the root of the trees. Every tree therefore that yieldeth not good fruit, shall be cut down, and cast into fire. {10} And the multitudes asked him, saying: What shall we do then? {11} And he answering, said unto them: He that hath two coats, let him give to him that hath not; and he that hath meat, let him do likewise. {12} And the Publicans also came to be baptized, and said to him: Master, what shall we do? {13} But he said to them: Do nothing more than that which is appointed you. {14} And the soldiers also asked him, saying: What shall we also do? And he said to them: Vex not, neither calumniate any man; and be content with your stipends. {15} And the people imagining, and all men thinking in their hearts of John, lest perhaps he were Christ: {16} John answered, saying unto all: I indeed baptize you with water, but there shall come a mightier than I, whose latchet of his shoes I am not worthy to loose; he shall baptize you in the Holy Ghost and fire: {17} whose fan is in his hand, and he will purge his floor; and will gather the wheat into his barn, but the chaff he will burn with unquenchable fire. {18} Many other things also exhorting did he evangelize to the people. {19} And Herod the Tetrarch, when he was rebuked of him for Herodias his brother's wife, and for all the evils which Herod did: {20} He added this also above all, and shut up John into prison. {21} And it came to pass when all the people was baptized, JESUS also being baptized and praying, Heaven was opened: {22} And the Holy Ghost descended in corporal shape as a dove upon him: and a voice from Heaven was made: Thou art my beloved Son, in thee I am well pleased. {23} And JESUS him self was beginning to be about thirty years old: as it was thought, the son of Joseph, who was of Heli, {24} who was of Matthat, who was of Levi, who was of Melchi, who was of Janne, who was of Joseph, {25} who was of Matthathias, who was of Amos, who was of Naum, who was of Hesli, who was of Nagge, {26} who was of Mahath, who was of Matthathias, who was of Semei, who was of Joseph, who was of Juda, {27} who was of Johanna, who was of Resa, who was of Zorobabel, who was of Salathiel, who was of Neri, {28} who was of Melchi, who was of Addi, who was of Cosam, who was of Elmadan, who was of Her, {29} who was of Jesus, who was of Eliezer, who was of Joram, who was of Matthat, who was of Levi, {30} who was of Simeon, who was of Judas, who was of Joseph, who was of Jona, who was of Eliacim. {31} who was of Melcha, who was of Menna, who was of Matthatha, who was of Nathan, who was of David, {32} who was of Jesse, who was of Obed, who was of Booz, who was of Salmon, who was of Naasson, {33} who was of Aminadab, who was of Aram, who was of Esron, who was of Phares, who was of Judas, {34} who was of Jacob, who was of Isaac, who was of Abraham, who was of Thare, who was of Nachor, {35} who was of Sarug, who was of Ragau, who was of Phaleg, who was of Heber, who was of Sale, {36} who was of Cainan, who was of Arphaxad, who was of Sem, who was of Noe, who was of Lamech, {37} who was of Mathusale, who was of Henoch, who was of Jared, who was of Malaleel, who was of Cainan, {38} who was of Henos, who was of Seth, who was of Adam, who was of God.

Chapter 4

Christ going into the Desert to prepare himself before his manifestation, overcometh the temptations of the Devil. 24. then beginning gloriously in Galilee. 16. he sheweth to them of Nazareth his commission out of Esay the Prophet. 23. insinuating by occasion of the Jews his countrymen's reprobation. 31. In Capharnaum his doctrine is admired. 33. specially for his miracle in the Synagogue. 38. from which going to Peter's house, he sheweth there much more power. 42. Then retiring into the wilderness, he preacheth afterward to the other cities of Galilee.

{1} AND JESUS full of the Holy Ghost, returned from Jordan, & was driven in the spirit into the desert. {2} forty days, and was tempted of the devil. And he did eat nothing in those days; and when they were ended, he was an hungered. {3} And the devil said to him: If thou be the Son of God, say to this stone that it be made bread. {4} And JESUS made answer unto him: It is written, That not in bread alone shall man live, but in every word of God. {5} And the devil brought him into an high mountain, and shewed him all the kingdoms of the whole world in a moment of time; {6} and he said to him: To thee will I give this whole power, and the glory of them; for to me they are delivered, and to whom I will, I do give them. {7} Thou therefore if thou wilt adore before me, they shall all be thine. {8} And JESUS answering said to him: It is written, Thou shalt adore the Lord thy God & him only shalt thou serve. {9} And he brought him into Jerusalem, & set him upon the pinnacle of the Temple; and he said to him: If thou be the Son of God, cast thy self from hence downward. {10} For it is written, that He hath given his Angels charge of thee, that they preserve thee: {11} and that in their hands they shall bear thee up, lest perhaps thou knock thy foot against a stone. {12} And JESUS answering said to him: It is said, Thou shalt not tempt the Lord thy God. {13} And all the temptation being ended, the devil departed from him until a time. {14} And JESUS returned in the force of the spirit into Galilee, and the same went forth through the whole country of him. {15} And he taught in their Synagogues, and was magnified of all. {16} And he came to Nazareth where he was brought up: and he entered according to his custom on the Sabbath day into the Synagogue; and he rose up to read. {17} And the book of Esay the Prophet was delivered unto him. And as he unfolded the book, he found the place where it was written: {18} The Spirit of the Lord upon me, for which he anointed me, to evangelize unto the poor he sent me, to heal the contrite of heart, {19} to preach to the captives remission, and sight to the blind, to dismiss the bruised unto remission, to preach the acceptable year of the Lord, and the day of retribution. {20} And when he had folded the book, he rendered it to the minister, and sat down. And the eyes of all in the Synagogue were bent upon him. {21} And he began to say unto them: That this day is fulfilled this scripture in your ears. {22} And all gave testimony to him; and they marveled in the words of grace that proceeded from his mouth, and they said: Is not this Joseph's son? {23} And he said to them: Certes you will say to me this similitude, Physician, cure thy self: as great things as we have heard done in Capharnaum, do also here in thy country. {24} And he said: Amen I say to you, that no Prophet is accepted in his own country. {25} In truth I say to you, there were many widows in the days of Elias in Israel, when the Heaven was shut three years and six months, when there was a great famine made in the whole earth: {26} And to none of them was Elias sent, but into Sarepta of Sidon, to a widow woman. {27} And there were many lepers in Israel under Elisaeus the Prophet; and none of them was made clean but Naaman the Syrian. {28} And all in the Synagogue were filled with anger, hearing these things. {29} And they rose, and cast him out of the city: and they brought him to the edge of the hill, where upon their city was built, that they might throw him down headlong. {30} But he passing through the midst of them, went his way. {31} And he went down into Capharnaum a city of Galilee; and there he taught them on the Sabbath. {32} And they were astonished at his doctrine; because his talk was in power. {33}

And in the Synagogue there was a man having an unclean devil, and he cried out with a loud voice. {34} Saying: Let be, what to us and thee JESUS of Nazareth? Art thou come to destroy us? I know thee who thou art, the Saint of God. {35} And JESUS rebuked him, saying: Hold thy peace, & go out of him. And when the devil had thrown him into the midst, he went out of him, and hurted him nothing. {36} And there came fear upon all, and they talked together one with another, saying: What word is this, that in power and virtue he commandeth the unclean spirits, and they go out? {37} And the same of him was published into every place of the country. {38} And JESUS rising up out of the Synagogue, entered into Simon's house. And Simon's wife's mother was holden with a great fever; and they besought him for her. {39} And standing over her, he commanded the fever, and it left her. And incontinent rising, she ministered to them. {40} And when the sun was down, all that had diseased of sundry maladies, brought them to him. But he imposing hands upon every one, cured them. {41} And devils went out from many, crying and saying: That thou art the Son of God. And rebuking them he suffered them not to speak, that they knew he was Christ. {42} And when it was day, going forth he went into a desert place; & the multitudes sought him, and came even unto him; and they held him that he should not depart from them. {43} To whom he said: That to other cities also must I evangelize the Kingdom of God; because therefore I was sent. {44} And he was preaching in the Synagogues of Galilee.

Chapter 5

Having taught the People out of Peter's ship. 4. he sheweth in a miraculous taking of fishes how he will make him the fisher of men. 12. He cureth a leper by touching him, and sendeth him to the Priest in witness that he is not against Moyses. 15. The people flocking unto him, he retireth into the wilderness. 17. To the Pharisees in a solemn assembly he prooveth by a miracle his power to remit sins in earth. 27. He defendeth his eating with sinners, as being the Physician of souls. 33. and his not prescribing as yet of any fasts to his Disciples.

{1} AND it came to pass, when the multitudes pressed upon him to hear the word of God, and him self stood beside the lake of Genesareth. {2} And he saw two ships standing by the lake: and the fishers were gone down, and washed their nets. {3} And he going up into one ship that was Simon's, desired him to bring it back a little from the land. And sitting, he taught the multitudes out of the ship. {4} And as he ceased to speak, he said to Simon: Launch forth into the deep, and let loose your nets to make a draught. {5} And Simon answering, said to him: Master, labouring all the night, we have taken nothing; but in thy word I will let loose the net. {6} And when they had done this, they inclosed a very great multitude of fishes, and their net was broken. {7} And they beckoned to their fellows that were in the other ship, that they should come and help them. And they came and filled both ships, so that they did sink. {8} Which when Simon Peter did see, he fell down at JESUS' knees, saying: Go forth from me, because I am a sinful man, O Lord. {9} For he was wholly astonished and all that were with him, at the draught of fishes which they had taken. {10} In like manner also James and John the sons of Zebedee, who were Simon's fellows. And JESUS said to Simon: Fear not; from this time now, thou shalt be taking men. {11} And having brought their ships to land, leaving all things they followed him. {12} And it came to pass, when he was in one of the cities, & behold a man full of leprosy, and seeing JESUS, and falling on his face, besought him saying: Lord, if thou wilt, thou canst make me clean. {13} And stretching forth the hand, he touched him, saying: I will. Be thou made clean. And immediately the leprosy departed from him. {14} And he commanded him that he should tell no body, but, Go, shew thy self to the Priest, and offer for thy cleansing as Moyses commanded, for a testimony to them. {15} But the bruit of him went abroad the more, and great multitudes came together to hear, and to be cured of their infirmities. {16} And he retired into the desert, and prayed. {17} And it came to pass one day, and he sat teaching. And there were Pharisees sitting and Doctors of Law that were come out of every town of Galilee and Jewry and Jerusalem; and the virtue of our Lord was to heal them. {18} And behold men carrying in a bed a man that had the palsy: and they sought to bring him in, and to lay him before him. {19} And not finding on which side they might bring him in for the multitude, they went up upon the roof, and through the tiles let him down with the bed into the midst, before JESUS. {20} Whose faith when he saw, he said: Man, thy sins are forgiven thee. {21} And the Scribes and Pharisees began to think, saying: Who is this that speaketh blasphemies? Who can forgive sins, but only God? {22} And when JESUS knew their cogitations, answering he said to them: What do you think in your hearts? {23} Which is easier to say, Thy sins are forgiven thee, or to say, Arise, and walk? {24} But that you may know that the Son of man hath power in earth to forgive sins (he said to the sick of the palsy) I say to thee, Arise, take up thy bed, and go into thy house. {25} And forthwith rising up before them, he took that, wherein he lay; and he went into his house, magnifying God. {26} And all were astonished: and they magnified God. And they were replenished with fear, saying: That we have seen marvelous things to day. {27} And after these things he went forth, and saw a Publican called Levi, sitting at the Custom-house, and he said to him: Follow me. {28} And leaving all things, he rose and followed him. {29} And Levi made him a great feast in his house; and there was a great multitude of Publicans; and of others that were sitting at the table with them. {30} And their Pharisees and Scribes murmured, saying to his disciples: Why do you eat and drink with Publicans and sinners? {31} And JESUS answering said to them: They that are whole, need not the Physician: but they that are ill at ease. {32} I came not to call the just, but sinners to penance. {33} But they said to him: Why do the disciples of John fast often, and make obsecrations, and of the Pharisees in like manner; but thine do eat and drink? {34} To whom he said: Why, can you make the children of the bridegroom fast whiles the bridegroom is with them? {35} But the days will come; and when the bridegroom shall be taken away from them, then they shall fast in those days. {36} And he said a similitude also unto them: That no man putteth a piece from a new garment into an old garment; otherwise both he breaketh the new, and the piece from the new agreeth not with the old. {37} And no body putteth new wine into old bottles; otherwise the new wine will break the bottles, and it self will be shed, and the bottles will be lost. {38} But new wine is to be put into new bottles: and both are preserved together. {39} And no man drinking old, will new by and by, for he saith, The old is better.

Chapter 6

For reproving by Scripture and miracle (as also by reason) the Pharisees' blindness about the observation of the Sabbath, 11. they seek his death, 12. Having in the mountain prayed all night, he chooseth twelve Apostles, 17. and after many miracles upon the diseased, 20. he maketh a sermon to his Disciples before the people: proposing Heaven to such as will suffer for him, 24. and woe to such as will not, 27. Yet with all exhorting to do good even to our enemies also, 19. and that the Masters must first mend themselves, 46. finally to do good works, because only faith will not suffice.

{1} AND it came to pass on the Sabbath second-first, when he passed through the corn, his Disciples did pluck the ears, & did eat rubbing them with their hands. {2} And certain of the Pharisees said to them: Why do you that which is not lawful on the Sabbaths? {3} And JESUS answering them, said: Neither this have you read which David did, when himself was an hungered & they that were with him: {4} how he entered into the house of God, and took the loaves of Proposition, and did eat, and gave to them that were with him, which it is not lawful to eat but only for Priests? {5} And he said to them: That the Son of man is Lord of the Sabbath also. {6} And it came to pass on another Sabbath also, that he entered into the Synagogue, and taught. And there was a man, and his right hand was withered. {7} And the Scribes and Pharisees watched if he would cure on the Sabbath; that they might find how to accuse him. {8} But he knew their cogitations; and he said to the man that had the withered hand: Arise, and stand forth into the midst. And rising he stood. {9} And JESUS said to them: I ask you, if it be lawful on the Sabbaths to do well or ill; to save a soul or to destroy? {10} And looking about upon them all, he said to the man: Stretch forth thy hand. And he stretched it forth; & his hand was restored. {11} And they were replenished with madness: & they communed one with another what they might do to JESUS. {12} And it came to pass in those days, he went forth into the mountain to pray, and he passed the whole night in the prayer of God. {13} And when day was come, he called his Disciples; and he chose twelve of them (whom also he named Apostles) {14} Simon whom he surnamed Peter, and Andrew his brother, James and John, Philippe and Bartholomew, {15} Matthew and Thomas, James of Alphaeus and Simon that is called Zelotes, {16} and Jude of James, and Judas Iscariote which was the traitor. {17} And descending with them he stood in a plain place, and the multitude of his Disciples, and a very great company of people from all Jewry and Jerusalem, and the sea coast both of Tyre & Sidon, {18} Which were come to hear him, and to be healed of their maladies. And they that were vexed of unclean spirits, were cured. {19} And all the multitude sought to touch him, because virtue went forth from him, and healed all. {20} And he lifting up his eyes upon his Disciples, said: Blessed are ye poor: for yours is the Kingdom of God. {21} Blessed are you that now are an hungered: because you shall be filled. Blessed are you that now do weep: because you shall laugh. {22} Blessed shall you be when men shall hate you, and when they shall separate you, and upbraid you, and abandon your name as evil, for the Son of man's sake. {23} Be glad in that day and rejoice: for behold, your reward is much in Heaven. For according to these things did their fathers to the Prophets. {24} But woe to you that are rich: because you have your consolation. {25} Woe to you that are filled: because you shall be hungry. Woe to you that now do laugh: because you shall mourn and weep. {26} Woe, when all man shall bless you: For according to these things did their fathers to the false-Prophets. {27} But to you I say that do hear: Love your enemies, do good to them that hate you. {28} Bless them that curse you, and pray for them that calumniate you. {29} And he that striketh thee on the cheek, offer also the other. And from him that taketh away from thee thy robe, prohibit not thy coat also. {30} And to every one that asketh thee, give, and of him that taketh away the things that are thine, ask not again. {31} And according as you will that men do to you, do you also to them in like manner. {32} And if you love them that love you, what thank is to you? For sinners also love those that love them. {33} And if ye do good to them that do you good: what thank is to you? For sinners also do this. {34} And if ye lend to them of whom ye hope to receive; what thank is to you? For sinners also lend unto sinners, for to receive as much. {35} But love ye your enemies; do good and lend, hoping for nothing thereby: and your reward shall be much, and you shall be the Sons of the Highest, because him self is beneficial upon the unkind and the evil. {36} Be ye therefore merciful as also your Father is merciful. {37} Judge not, & you shall not be judged. Condemn not, & you shall not be condemned. Forgive, and you shall be forgiven. {38} Give, and there shall be given to you. Good measure & pressed down and shaken together and running over shall they give into your bosom. For with the same measure that you do mete, it shall be measured to you again. {39} And he said to them a similitude also: Can the blind lead the blind? Do not both fall into the ditch? {40} The Disciple is not above his Master: but every one shall be perfect, if he be as his Master. {41} And why seest thou the mote in thy brother's eye: but the beam that is in thine own eye thou considerest not? {42} Or how canst thou say to thy brother: Brother, let me cast out the mote out of thine eye: thy self not seeing the beam in thine own eye? Hypocrite, cast first the beam out of thine own eye; and then shalt thou see clearly to take forth the mote out of thy brother's eye. {43} For there is no good tree that yieldeth evil fruits; nor evil tree, that yieldeth good fruit. {44} For every tree is known by his fruit. For neither do they gather figs of thorns; neither of a bush do they gather the grape. {45} The good man, of the good treasure of his heart bringeth forth good; and the evil man of the ill treasure bringeth forth evil. For of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaketh, {46} And why call you me, Lord, Lord: and do not the things which I say? {47} Every one that cometh to me, and heareth my words, and doeth them, I will shew you to whom he is like. {48} He is like to a man building a house, that digged deep, and laid the foundation upon a rock. And when an inundation rose, the river beat against that house, and it could not move it; for it was founded upon a rock. {49} But he that heareth, and doeth not; is like to a man building his house upon the earth without a foundation: against the which the river did beat; and incontinent it fell, and the ruin of that house was great.

Chapter 7

He testifieth, the faith of the Centurion who was a Gentile, to be greater than he found among all the Jews, and cureth his servant absent. 11. the widow's son he reviveth and restoreth to her, & is renowned therewith. 18. To John's messengers he answereth with miracles, leaving to John to preach thereby unto them that he is Christ. 24. And afterward he declareth how worthy credit was John's testimony. 29. inveighing against the Pharisees, 31. who with neither of their manners of living could be won, 36. shewing also unto them by occasion of Mary Magdalen, how he is a friend to sinners, not to maintain them in sin, but to forgive them their sins upon their faith and penance.

{1} AND when he had fully said all his words into the ears of the people, he entered into Capharnaum. {2} And the servant of a certain Centurion being sick, was ready to die: who was dear unto him. {3} And when he had heard of JESUS, he sent unto him the Ancients of the Jews, desiring him to come and heal his servant. {4} But they being come to JESUS, besought him earnestly, saying to him, That he is worthy that thou shouldest do this for him. {5} For he loveth our Nation; and he hath built a Synagogue for us. {6} And JESUS went with them. And when he was now not far from the house, the Centurion sent his friends unto him, saying: Lord, trouble not thyself. For I am not worthy that thou shouldest enter under my roof. {7} For the which cause neither did I think my self worthy to come to thee; but say the word, and my servant shall be made whole. {8} For I also am a man subject to authority, having under me soldiers: and I say to this, go, and he goeth: and to an other, come, and he cometh; and to my servant, do this, and he doeth it. {9} Which JESUS hearing, marveled; and turning to the multitudes that followed him he said: Amen I say to you, neither in Israel have I found so great faith. {10} And they that were sent, being returned home, found the servant that had been sick, whole. {11} And it came to pass, afterward he went into a city that is called Naim; and there went with him his Disciples and a very great multitude. {12} And when he came nigh to the gate of the city, behold a dead man was carried forth, the only son of his mother; and she was a widow: and a great multitude of the city with her. {13} Whom when our Lord had seen, being moved with mercy upon her, he said to her: Weep not. {14} And he came near and touched the coffin. And they that carried it stood still; and he said: Yong man, I say to thee, arise. {15} And he that was dead, sat up, and began to speak. And he gave him to his mother. {16} And fear took them all; and they magnified God, saying, That a great Prophet is risen among us: and, that God hath visited his people. {17} And this saying went forth into all Jewry of him, & into all the country about. {18} And John's disciples shewed him of all these things. {19} And John called two of his disciples, and sent them to JESUS, saying: Art thou he that art to come; or expect we another? {20} And when the men were come unto him, they said: John the Baptist hath sent us to thee, saying: Art thou he that art to come; or expect we another? {21} (And the self same hour, he cured many of maladies, and hurts, and evil spirits: and to many blind he gave sight.) {22} And answering, he said to them: Go & report to John what you have heard and seen: That the blind see, the lame walk, the lepers are made clean, the deaf hear, the dead rise again, {23} the poor are evangelized: and blessed is he whosoever shall not be scandalized in me. {24} And when John's messengers were departed, he began to say of John to the multitudes: What went you out into the desert to see? A reed moved with the wind? {25} But what went you forth to see? A man clothed in soft garments? Behold they that are in costly apparel and delicacies, are in the house of kings. {26} But what went you out for to see? A Prophet? Certes I say to you, and more than a Prophet. {27} This is he of whom it is written: Behold I send mine Angel before thy face, which shall prepare thy way before thee. {28} For I say to you: A greater Prophet among the children of women than John the Baptist, there is no man. But he that is the lesser in the Kingdom of God, is greater than he. {29} And all the people hearing and the Publicans, justified God, being baptized with John's baptism. {30} But the Pharisees and the lawyers despised the counsel of God against them selves, being not baptized of him. {31} And our Lord said: Where unto then shall I liken the men of this generation, and whereunto are they like? {32} They are like to children sitting in the market-place, and speaking one to another, and saying: We have piped to you, and you have not danced; we have lamented, and you have not wept. {33} For John the Baptist came neither eating bread nor drinking wine; and you say: He hath a devil. {34} The Son of man came eating and drinking; and you say: Behold a man that is a gourmander and a drinker of wine, a friend of Publicans and sinners. {35} And wisdom is justified of all her children. {36} And one of the Pharisees desired him to eat with him. And being entered into the house of the Pharisee, he sat down to meat. {37} And behold a woman that was in the city, a sinner, as she knew that he was set down in the Pharisee's house, she brought an alabaster box of ointment; {38} and standing behind beside his feet, she began to water his feet with tears, & wiped them with the hairs of her head, and kissed his feet, & anointed them with the ointment. {39} And the Pharisee that had bid him, seeing it, spake within himself, saying: This man if he were a Prophet, would know certes who and what manner of woman she is which toucheth him, that she is a sinner. {40} And JESUS answering said to him: Simon, I have somewhat to say unto thee. But he said: Master, say. {41} A certain creditor had two debtors; one did owe five hundred pence, & the other fifty. {42} They having not wherewith to pay, he forgave both. Whether therefore doth love him more? {43} Simon answering said: I suppose that he to whom he forgave more. But he said to him: Thou hast judged rightly. {44} And turning to the woman, he said unto Simon: Doest thou see this woman? I entered into thy house, water to my feet thou didst not give; but she with tears hath watered my feet, and with her hairs hath wiped them. {45} Kiss thou gavest me not; but she since I came in, hath not ceased to kiss my feet. {46} With oil thou didst not anoint my head; but she with ointment hath anointed my feet. {47} For the which I say to thee: Many sins are forgiven her, because she hath loved much. But to whom less is forgiven, he loveth less. {48} And he said to her: Thy sins are forgiven thee. {49} And they that sat together at the table began to say within them selves. Who is this that also forgiveth sins? {50} And he said to the woman: Thy faith hath made thee safe, go in peace.

Chapter 8

Going over all Galilee with his train, 4. he preacheth to the Jews in parables because of their reprobation, 9. but to his Disciples manifestly; because he will not for the Jew's incredulity have his coming frustrate: 19. signifying also that we are his kin (though we be Gentiles) and not his carnal brethren the Jews. 22. To whom also (signified by the Gerasenes) after the tempest of his sleep (that is, in his death) & calm in his resurrection, he cometh: but they preferring their temporals before his presence, he leaveth them again. 41. Likewise coming to cure the Jews (who were born when the Gentiles sickened about Abraham's time) he is prevented with the faith of the Gentiles, and then the Jews die, but them also in the end he will restore.

{1} AND it came to pass afterward, and he made his journey by cities and towns preaching and evangelizing the Kingdom of God; and the Twelve with him, {2} and some women that had been cured of wicked spirits and infirmities; Mary which is called Magdalene, out of whom seven devils were gone forth, {3} And Joane the wife of Chusa Herod's procurator, and Susan, and many others that did minister unto him of their substance. {4} And when a very great multitude assembled and hastened out of the cities unto him, he said by a similitude. {5} The sower went forth to sow his seed. And whiles he soweth, some fell by the way side, and was trodden upon, and the fowls of the air did eat it. {6} And other some fell upon the rock; and being shot up, it withered, because it had not moisture. {7} And othersome fell among thorns, and the thorns growing up withal, choked it. {8} And other some fell upon good ground; and being shot up, yielded fruit an hundred fold. Saying these things he cried: He that hath ears to hear, let him hear. {9} And his Disciples asked him what this parable was. {10} To whom he said: To you it is given to know the mystery of the Kingdom of God; but to the rest in parables, that seeing they may not see, and hearing may not understand. {11} And the parable is this: The seed, is the word of God. {12} And they besides the way, are those that hear, then the devil cometh, and taketh the word out of their heart, lest believing they be saved. {13} For they upon the rock; such as when they hear, with joy receive the word: and these have no roots; because for a time they believe, and in time of temptation they revolt. {14} And that which fell into thorns, are they that have heard, and going their ways, are choked with cares and riches and pleasures of this life, and render not fruit. {15} And that upon good ground, are they which in a good and very good heart, hearing the word, do retain it, and yield fruit in patience. {16} And no man lighting a candle doth cover it with a vessel, or put it under a bed; but setteth it upon a candlestick, that they that enter in, may see the light. {17} For there is not any thing secret, that shall not be made manifest; nor hid, that shall not be known, & come abroad. {18} See therefore how you hear. For he that hath, to him shall be given; and whosoever hath not, that also which he thinketh he hath, shall be taken away from him. {19} And his mother and brethren came unto him; and they could not come at him for the multitude. {20} And it was told him: Thy mother and thy brethren stand without, desirous to see thee. {21} Who answering said to them: My mother and my brethren, are they that hear the word of God and do it. {22} And it came to pass one day; and he went up into a boat, and his Disciples, and he said to them: Let us strike over the lake. And they launched forth. {23} And when they were sailing, he slept; and there fell a storm of wind into the lake, and they were filled, and were in danger. {24} And they came and raised him, saying:{1109} Master, we perish. But he rising, rebuked the wind and the tempest of water; and it ceased, and there was made a calm. {25} And he said to them: Where is your faith? Who fearing, marveled one to an other, saying: Who is this (trow ye) that he commandeth both the winds and the sea, and they obey him? {26} And they sailed to the country of the Gerasens which is over against Galilee. {27} And when he was come forth to the land, there met him a certain man that had a devil now a very long time, and he did wear no cloths, neither did he tarry in house, but in the monuments. {28} And as he saw JESUS, he fell down before him; and crying out with a great voice, he said: What is it to me & thee JESUS Son of God most high? I beseech thee do not torment me. {29} For he commanded the unclean spirit to go forth out of the man. For many times he caught him, and he was bound with chains, and kept with fetters; and breaking the bonds was driven of the devil into the deserts. {30} And JESUS asked him saying: What is thy name? But he said: Legion, because many devils were entered into him. {31} And they besought him that he would not command them to go into the depth. {32} And there was there a herd of many swine feeding on the mountain; & they desired him that he would permit them to enter into them. And he permitted them. {33} The devils therefore went forth out of the man, and entered into the swine; and the herd with violence went headlong into the lake, and was stifled. {34} Which when the swineherds saw done, they fled, and told into the city and into the towns. {35} And they went forth to see that which was done; and they came to JESUS, and found the man, out of whom the devils were gone forth, sitting at his feet, clothed, and well in his wits, and they were afraid. {36} And they also that had seen, told them how he had been made whole from the legion. {37} And all the multitude of the country of the Gerasens besought him to depart from them; for they were taken with great fear. And he going up into the boat, returned. {38} And the man out of whom the devils were departed, desired him that he might be with him. But JESUS dismissed him, saying: {39} Return into thy house, and tell how great things God hath done to thee. And he went through the whole city, preaching how great things JESUS had done to him. {40} And it came to pass; when JESUS was returned, the multitude received him. And all were expecting him. {41} And behold there came a man whose name was Jairus, and he was Prince of the Synagogue: and he fell at the feet of JESUS, desiring him that he would enter into his house, {42} because he had an only daughter almost twelve years old, and she was a dying. And it chanced, whiles he went, he was thronged of the multitudes. {43} And there was a certain woman in a flux of blood from twelve years past, which had bestowed all her substance upon Physicians, neither could she be cured of any: {44} she came behind him, and touched the hem of his garment; and forthwith the flux of her blood stinted, {45} And JESUS said: Who is it that touched me? And all denying, Peter said, and they that were with him: Master, the multitudes throng and press thee, and doest thou say, Who touched me? {46} And JESUS said: Some body hath touched me; for I know that there is virtue proceeded from me. {47} And the woman seeing, that she was not hid, came trembling, and fell down before his feet; and for what cause she had touched him, she shewed before all the people, and how forthwith she was made whole. {48} But he said to her: Daughter, thy faith hath made thee safe, go thy way in peace. {49} As he was speaking, there cometh one to the Prince of the Synagogue, saying to him, That thy daughter is dead, trouble him not. {50} And JESUS hearing this word, answered the father of the maid: Fear not; believe only, and she shall be safe. {51} And when he was come to the house, he permitted not any man to enter in with him, but Peter, and James, and John, and the father and mother of the maid. {52} And all wept, and mourned for her. But he said: Weep not, the maid is not dead, but sleepeth. {53} And they derided him, knowing that she was dead. {54} But he holding her hand cried saying: Maid arise. {55} And her spirit returned, and she rose incontinent. And he bade them give her to eat. {56} And her parents were astonished, whom he commanded to tell no man that which was done.

Chapter 9

His Twelve also now preaching every where and working miracles. 6. Herod and all do wonder much. 10. After which, he taketh them and goeth into the wilderness: where he cureth and teacheth, feeding [5000] with five loaves. 18. Peter confessing him to be Christ, 21, he on the other side foretelleth his Passion, and that all must in time of persecution follow him therein. 27. wheretounto to encourage us the more, 29, he giveth in his Transfiguration a sight of the glory, which is the reward of suffering. 37. The next day he casteth out a Devil which his Disciples could not. 43. whom amidst these wonders he forewarneith again of his scandalous Passion. 49. And to cure their ambition, he telleth them, that the most humble he esteemeth most: 50. bidding them also not to prohibit any that is not against them 51. Yea and toward such as be against them Schismatically, to shew mildness for all that. 57. Of following him, three examples.

{1} AND calling together the twelve Apostles, he gave them virtue and power over all devils, and to cure maladies. {2} And he sent them to preach the Kingdom of God; and to heal the sick. {3} And he said to them: Take nothing for the way, neither rod, nor scrip, nor bread, nor money, neither have two coats. {4} And into whatsoever house you enter, tarry there, and thence do not depart. {5} And whosoever shall not receive you, going forth out of that city, shake off the dust also of your feet for a testimony upon them. {6} And going forth they went a circuit from town to town evangelizing and curing every where. {7} And Herod the Tetrarch heard all things that were done by him; and he staggered because it was said of some, That John was risen from the dead. {8} But of other some, That Elias hath appeared; and of others, that a Prophet, one of the old ones was risen. {9} And Herod said: John I have beheaded; but who is this of whom I hear such things? And he sought for to see him. {10} And the Apostles being returned, reported to him whatsoever they did; and taking them he retired apart into a desert place, which belongeth to Beth-saida. {11} Which the multitudes understanding, followed him & he received them, and spake to them of the Kingdom of God, and them that had need of cure he healed. {12} And the day began to draw towards an end. And the Twelve coming near, said to him: Dismiss the multitudes, that going into towns and villages here about, they may have lodging, and find meats; because here we are in a desert place. {13} And he said to them: Give you them to eat. But they said: We have no more but five loaves and two fishes; unless perhaps we should go & buy meats for all this multitude. {14} And there were men almost five thousand. And he said to his Disciples: Make them sit down by companies fifty and fifty. {15} And so they did. And they made all sit down. {16} And taking the five loaves and the two fishes, he looked up unto Heaven, and blessed them; and he brake, and distributed to his Disciples, for to set before the multitudes. {17} And they did all eat, and had their fill. And there was taken up that which remained to them, twelve baskets of fragments. {18} And it came to pass; when he was alone praying, his Disciples also were with him; and he asked them saying: Whom do the multitudes say that I am? {19} But they answered, and said: John the Baptist; and some, Elias; but some, that one of the Prophets before time, is risen. {20} And he said to them: But whom say ye that I am? Simon Peter answering, said: The CHRIST of God. {21} But he rebuking them, commanded that they should tell this to no man, {22} saying: That the Son of man must suffer many things, and be rejected of the Ancients and chief Priests and Scribes, and be killed, and the third day rise again. {23} And he said to all: If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me. {24} For he that will save his life, shall lose it; for he that shall lose his life for my sake, shall save it. {25} For what profit hath a man if he gain the whole world, and lose himself, and cast away himself? {26} For he that shall be ashamed of me and of my words, him the Son of man shall be ashamed of, when he shall come in his majesty, and his Father's, and of the holy Angels. {27} And I say to you assuredly: There be some standing here that shall not taste death, till they see the Kingdom of God. {28} And it came to pass after these words almost eight days, and he took Peter and James and John, and went into a mountain to pray. {29} And whiles he prayed, the shape of his countenance was altered: and his raiment white and glistering. {30} And behold two men talked with him. And they were Moyses and Elias, {31} appearing in majesty. And they told his decease that he should accomplish in Jerusalem. {32} But Peter and they that were with him, were heavy with sleep. And awaking, they saw his majesty, and the two men that stood with him. {33} And it came to pass, when they departed from him, Peter said to JESUS: Master, it is good for us to be here; and let us make three tabernacles, one for thee, and one for Moyses, and one for Elias: not knowing what he said. {34} And as he spake these things, there came a cloud, and overshadowed them: and they feared, when they entered into the cloud. {35} And a voice was made out of the cloud, saying: This is my beloved Son, hear him. {36} And whiles the voice was made, JESUS was found alone. And they held their peace, and told no man in those days any of these things which they had seen. {37} And it came to pass the day following, when they came down from the mountain, there met him a great multitude. {38} And behold a man of the multitude cried out, saying: Master, I beseech thee, look upon my son because he is mine only one. {39} And lo, the spirit taketh him, and he suddenly crieth, and he dasheth him, and teareth him that he foameth, and with much ado departeth renting him. {40} And I desired thy Disciples to cast him out, and they could not. {41} And JESUS answering said: O faithless and perverse generation, how long shall I be with you and suffer you? Bring hither thy son. {42} And when he came to him, the devil dashed, and tore him. And JESUS rebuked the unclean Spirit, and healed the lad, and rendered him to his father. {43} And all were astonished at the might of God; and all marveling at all things that he did, he said to his Disciples: {44} Lay you in your hearts these words, for it shall come to pass that the Son of man shall be delivered into the hands of men. {45} But they did not know this word, and it was covered before them, that they perceived it not. And they were afraid to ask him of this word. {46} And there entered a cogitation into them, which of them should be greater. {47} But JESUS seeing the cogitations of their heart, took a child and set him by him, {48} and said to them, whosoever receiveth this child in my name, receiveth me, and whosoever receiveth me, receiveth him that sent me. For he that is the lesser among you all, he is the greater. {49} And John answering said: Master, we saw a certain man casting out devils in thy name, and we prohibited him, because he followeth not with us. {50} And JESUS said to him: Prohibit not. For he that is not against you, is for you. {51} And it came to pass, whiles the days of his assumption were accomplishing, and he fixed his face to go into Jerusalem. {52} And he sent messengers before his face; and going they entered into a city of the Samaritans to prepare for him. {53} And they received him not, because his face was to go to Jerusalem. {54} And when his Disciples James and John had seen it, they said: Lord wilt thou we say that fire come down from Heaven and consume them? {55} And turning, he rebuked them, saying: You know not of what spirit you are. {56} The Son of man came not to destroy souls, but to save. And they went into another town. {57} And it came to pass as they walked in the way, a certain man said to him: I will follow thee whithersoever thou goest. {58} JESUS said to him: The foxes have holes, and the fowls of the air nests; but the Son of man hath not where to repose his head. {59} But he said to another: Follow me. And he said: Lord, permit me first to go, and to bury my father. {60} And JESUS said to him: Let the dead bury their dead; but go thou, set forth the Kingdom of God. {61} And another said: I will follow thee Lord, but permit me first to take my leave of them that are at home. {62} JESUS said to him: No man putting his hand to the plough, and looking back, is apt for the Kingdom of God.

Chapter 10

He sendeth yet 72. more to preach to the Jews, with power also of miracles. 13. crying woe to the cities' impenitent. 17. At their return he agnizeth the great power he gave them, but yet teacheth them not to be proud thereof. 21. and praeseth God for his grace. 23. his Church also for her happy state. 25. To one of the Scribes he sheweth, that the love of God and of his neighbour will bring him to life everlasting. 29. teaching him by the parable of the Samaritane, to take every one for his neighbour that needeth his charity. 38. To Martha he sheweth that Mary's Contemplative life is the better.

{1} AND after this our Lord designed also other seventy two: and he sent them two and two before his face into every city and place whither himself would come. {2} And he said to them: The harvest truly is much; but the workmen few. Desire therefore the Lord of the harvest, that he send workmen into his harvest. {3} Go: Behold I send you as lambs among wolves. {4} Carry not purse nor scrip, nor shoes; and salute no body by the way. {5} Into whatsoever house you enter, first say: Peace to this house. {6} And if the son of peace be there, your peace shall rest upon him: but if not, it shall return to you. {7} And in the same house tarry you, eating and drinking such things as they have. For the workman is worthy of his hire. Remove not from house to house. {8} And into what city soever you enter, and they receive you, eat such things as are set before you; {9} and cure the sick that are in it, and say to them: The Kingdom of God is come nigh upon you. {10} And into whatsoever city you enter, and they receive you not, going forth into the streets thereof, say: {11} The dust also of your city that cleaveth to us, we do wipe off against you. Yet this know ye that the Kingdom of God is at hand. {12} I say to you, it shall be more tolerable for Sodom in that day, than for that city. {13} Woe to thee Corozaim, woe to thee Beth-saida: for if in Tyre and Sidon had been wrought the miracles that have been wrought in you, they had done penance sitting in sack cloth and ashes long ago. {14} But it shall be more tolerable for Tyre and Sidon in the judgement, than for you. {15} And thou Capharnaum that art exalted unto Heaven: thou shalt be thrust down even unto hell. {16} He that heareth you, heareth me; and he that despiseth you, despiseth me. And he that despiseth me, despiseth him that sent me. {17} And the Seventy-two returned with joy, saying: Lord, the devils also are subject to us in thy name. {18} And he said to them: I saw Satan as a lightning fall from Heaven. {19} Behold, I have given you power to tread upon serpents, and scorpions, and upon all the power of the enemy, and nothing shall hurt you. {20} But yet rejoice not in this, that the spirits are subject unto you; but rejoice in this, that your names are written in Heaven. {21} In that very hour he rejoiced in spirit, and said: I confess to thee O Father, Lord of Heaven and earth, because thou hast hid these things from the wise and prudent, and hast revealed them to little ones. Yea Father, for so hath it well pleased thee. {22} All things are delivered to me of my Father. And no man knoweth who the Son is, but the Father; and who the Father is, but the Son, and to whom the Son will reveal. {23} And turning to his Disciples, he said: Blessed are the eyes that see the things that you see. {24} For I say to you, that many Prophets and kings desired to see the things that you see, and saw them not; and to hear the things that you hear, and heard them not. {25} And behold a certain lawyer stood up, tempting him and saying: Master, by doing of what thing shall I possess life everlasting? {26} But he said to him: In the law what is written? How readest thou? {27} He answering said: Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with thy whole heart, and with thy whole soul, and with all thy strength, and with all thy mind: and thy neighbour as thy self. {28} And he said to him: Thou hast answered right, this do and thou shalt live. {29} But he desirous to justify himself, said to JESUS: And who is my neighbour? {30} And JESUS taking it, said: A certain man went down from Jerusalem into Jericho, and fell among thieves, who also spoiled him, and giving him wounds went away leaving him half-dead. {31} And it chanced that a certain Priest went down the same way; and seeing him, passed by. {32} In like manner also a Levite, when he was near the place, and saw him, passed by. {33} But a certain Samaritane going his journey, came near him; and seeing him, was moved with mercy. {34} And going unto him, bound his wounds, pouring in oil and wine: and setting him upon his own beast, brought him into an inn, and took care of him. {35} And the next day he took forth two pence, and gave to the host, and said: Have care of him; and whatsoever thou shalt supererogate, I at my return will repay thee. {36} Which of these three in thy opinion was neighbour to him that fell among thieves? {37} But he said: He that did mercy upon him. And JESUS said to him: Go, and do thou in like manner. {38} And it came to pass as they went, and he entered into a certain town; and a certain woman named Martha, received him into her house, {39} and she had a sister called Mary. Who sitting also at our Lord's feet, heard his word. {40} But Martha was busy about much service. Who stood and said: Lord, hast thou no care that my sister hath left me alone to serve? Speak to her therefore, that she help me. {41} And our Lord answering said to her: Martha, Martha, thou art careful, and art troubled about many things. {42} But one thing is necessary, Mary hath chosen the best part which shall not be taken away from her.

Chapter 11

He teacheth a form of prayer, 5. and exhorteth to pray instantly, 11. assuring that so God will give us good things. 14. The Jews blaspheming his casting out of Devils, and asking for a miracle from Heaven, 17. he defendeth his doing: 22. foretelling also the Devil's expulsion by him out of the world (that is, the vocation of the Gentiles) 24. and his re-entry into their Nation, 27. with their reprobation though he be of their flesh, 29. and also their final most worthy damnation. 37. Again, to the Pharisees, and Scribes he crieth woe, as authors of the said reprobation now at hand.

{1} AND it came to pass, when he was in a certain place praying, as he ceased, one of his Disciples said to him: Lord teach us to pray, as John also taught his Disciples. {2} And he said to them: When you pray, say, FATHER, sanctified be thy name. Thy Kingdom come, {3} Our daily bread give us this day, {4} and forgive us our sins, for because our selves also do forgive every one that is in debt to us. And lead us not into temptation. {5} And he said to them: Which of you shall have a friend, and shall go to him at midnight, and shall say to him, Friend, lend me three loaves, {6} because a friend of mine is come out of his way to me, and I have not what to set before him: {7} and he from within answering saith: Trouble me not, now the door is shut, and my children are with me in bed; I can not rise and give thee. {8} And if he shall persevere knocking, I say to you, although he will not rise and give him because he is his friend, yet for his importunity he will rise, and give him as many as he needeth. {9} And I say to you, Ask, and it shall be given you: seek, and you shall find: knock, and it shall be opened to you. {10} For every one that asketh, receiveth: and he that seeketh, findeth: and to him that knocketh, it shall be opened. {11} And which of you if he ask his father bread, will he give him a stone? Or a fish, will he for a fish give him a serpent? {12} Or if he ask an egg, will he reach him a scorpion? {13} If you then being naught, know how to give good gifts to your children, how much more will your Father from Heaven give the good spirit to them that ask him? {14} And he was casting out a devil, and that was dumb. And when he had cast out the devil, the dumb spake: and the multitudes marveled. {15} And certain of them said: In Beel-zebub the prince of devils he casteth out devils. {16} And other tempting, asked of him a sign from Heaven. {17} But he seeing their cogitations, said to them: Every kingdom divided against itself, shall be made desolate, and house upon house, shall fall. {18} And if Satan also be divided against himself, how shall his kingdom stand? Because you say that in Beel-zebub I do cast out devils. {19} And if I in Beel-zebub cast out devils: your children, in whom do they cast out? Therefore they shall be your judges. {20} But if I in the finger of God do cast out devils; surely the Kingdom of God is come upon you. {21} When the strong armed keepeth his court, those things are in peace that he possessest. {22} But if a stronger than he come upon him and overcome him; he will take away his whole armour wherein he trusted, and will distribute his spoils. {23} He that is not with me, is against me: and he that gathereth not with me, scattereth. {24} When the unclean spirit shall depart out of a man, he wandereth through places without water, seeking rest. And not finding, he saith, I will return into my house whence I departed. {25} And when he is come, he findeth it swept with a besom, and trimmed. {26} Then he goeth and taketh seven other spirits worse than himself, and entering in they dwell there. And the last of that man be made worse than the first. {27} And it came to pass, when he said these things, a certain woman lifting up her voice out of the multitude said to him: Blessed is the womb that bare thee, and the paps that thou didst suck. {28} But he said: Yea rather, blessed are they that hear the word of God, and keep it. {29} And the multitudes running together, he began to say: This generation, is a wicked generation: it asketh a sign, and a sign shall not be given it but the sign of Jonas the Prophet. {30} For as Jonas was a sign to the Ninivites; so shall the Son of man also be to this generation. {31} The queen of the South shall rise in the judgement with the men of this generation, and shall condemn them: because she came from the ends of the earth to hear the wisdom of Salomon. And behold, more than Salomon here. {32} The men of Nineve shall rise in the judgement with this generation, and shall condemn it, because they did penance at the preaching of Jonas. And behold, more than Jonas here. {33} No man lighteth a candle, and putteth it in secret, neither under a bushel: but upon a candlestick, that they that go in may see the light. {34} The candle of thy body is thine eye. If thine eye be simple, thy whole body shall be lightsome: but if it be naught, thy body also shall be darksome. {35} See therefore that the light which is in thee, be not darkness. {36} If then thy whole body be lightsome, having no part of darkness: it shall be lightsome wholly, and as a bright candle it shall lighten thee. {37} And when he was speaking, a certain Pharisee desired him that he would dine with him. And he going in sat down to eat. {38} And the Pharisee began to think within himself and to say: Why he was not washed before dinner. {39} And our Lord said to him: Now you Pharisees do make clean, that on the out side of the cup and of the platter; but that of yours which is within, is full of rapine and iniquity. {40} Fools, did not he that made that on the out side, make that also that is on the inside? {41} But yet that, that remaineth, give alms, & behold all things are clean unto you. {42} But woe to you Pharisees, because you tithe mint and reu and every herb: and pass over judgement and the charity of God. But these things you ought to have done, and not to omit those. {43} Woe to you Pharisees, because you love the first chairs in the Synagogues, and salutations in the market place. {44} Woe to you, because you are as monuments that appear not, and men walking over, are not ware. {45} And one of the Lawyers answering saith to him: Master, in saying these things, thou speakest to our reproach also. {46} But he said: Woe to you Lawyers also: because you load men with burdens which they can not bear, and your selves touch not the packs with one of your fingers. {47} Woe to you that build the monuments of the Prophets: and your fathers did kill them. {48} Surely you do testify that you consent to the works of your fathers: because they indeed did kill them, and you build their sepulchres. {49} For this cause the wisdom also of God said, I will send to them Prophets and Apostles, and of them they will kill and persecute. {50} That the blood of all the Prophets that was shed from the making of the world, may be required of this generation, {51} from the blood of Abel unto the blood of Zacharie that was slain between the altar and the temple. Yea I say to you, it shall be required of this generation. {52} Woe to you Lawyers, because you have taken away the key of knowledge: your selves have not entered, & those that did enter you have prohibited. {53} And when he said these things to them, the Pharisees & the Lawyers began vehemently to urge him, & to stop his mouth about many things, {54} lying in waite for him, and seeking to catch something of his mouth, that they might accuse him.

Chapter 12

He prepareth his Disciples against persecutions to come upon them at their publishing of his Doctrine. 13. with dividing the brethren's inheritance he will not meddle, but exhorteth them against avarice, 22. and his Disciples (by this occasion) against solicitude as of necessities, 32. yea counseling them to give all in alms, 35. and to be ready at a knock: 41. namely admonishing Peter and other Prelates to see to their charge, 49. and all, not to look but for persecution, 54. The Jews he reprehendeth for that they will not see this time of grace, 58. whereas it is so horrible to die without reconciliation.

{1} AND when great multitudes stood about him, so that they trod one another, he began to say to his Disciples: Take good heed of the leaven of the Pharisees, which is hypocrisy. {2} For nothing is hid, that shall not be revealed: nor secret, that shall not be known. {3} For the things that you have said in darkness, shall be said in the light: and that which you have spoken into the ear in the chambers, shall be preached in the house-tops. {4} And I say to you my friends, Be not afraid of them that kill the body, and after this have no more to do. {5} But I will shew you whom ye shall fear: fear him who after he hath killed, hath power to cast into hell. Yea I say to you, fear him. {6} Are not five sparrows sold for two farthings, and one of them is not forgotten before God? {7} Yea the hairs also of your head are all numbered. Fear not therefore: you are more worth than many sparrows. {8} And I say to you, Every one that confesseth me before men, the Son of man also will confess him before the Angels of God. {9} But he that denieth me before men, shall be denied before the Angels of God. {10} And every one that speaketh a word against the Son of man it shall be forgiven him: but he that shall blaspheme against the Holy Ghost, to him it shall not be forgiven. {11} And when they shall bring you into the Synagogues and to Magistrates and Potestates, be not careful in what manner, or what you shall answer, or what you shall say. {12} For the Holy Ghost shall teach you in the very hour what you must say. {13} And one of the multitude said to him: Master, speak to my brother that he divide the inheritance with me. {14} But he said to him: Man, who hath appointed me judge or divider over you? {15} And he said to them: See and beware of all avarice: for not in any man's abundance doth his life consist, of those things which he possesseth. {16} And he spake a similitude to them, saying: A certain rich man's field yielded plenty of fruits. {17} And he thought within himself, saying, What shall I do, because I have not whither to gather my fruits? {18} And he said: This will I do, I will destroy my barns, and will make greater, and thither will I gather all things that are grown to me, and my goods. {19} And I will say to my soul; Soul, thou hast much goods laid up for many years, take thy rest, eat, drink, make good cheer. {20} But God said to him, Thou fool, this night they require thy soul of thee; and the things that thou hast provided, whose shall they be? {21} So is he that layeth up treasure to himself, and is not rich to God-ward. {22} And he said to his Disciples: Therefore I say to you, Be not careful for your life, what you shall eat; nor for your body, what you shall do on. {23} The life is more than the meat, and the body is more than the raiment. {24} Consider the ravens, for they sow not, neither do they reap, which neither have storehouse nor barn, and God feedeth them. How much more are you of greater price than they? {25} And which of you by caring can add to his stature one cubit? {26} If then you be not able to do so much as the least thing, for the rest why are you careful? {27} Consider the lilies how they grow: they labour not, neither do they spin. But I say to you, Neither Salomon in all his glory was arrayed as one of these. {28} And if the grass that to day is in the field, and to morrow is cast into the oven, God so clotheth: how much more you, O ye of little faith? {29} And you, do not seek what you shall eat, or what you shall drink: and be not lifted up on high. {30} For all these things the Nations of the world do seek. But your Father knoweth that you have need of these things. {31} But seek first the Kingdom of God, and all these things shall be given you besides. {32} Fear not little flock, for it hath pleased your Father to give you a Kingdom. {33} Sell the things that you possess, and give alms. Make to you purses that wear not, treasure that wasteth not, in Heaven: whither the thief approacheth not, neither doth the moth corrupt. {34} For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also. {35} Let your loins be girded, and candles burning in your hands, {36} and you like to men expecting their Lord, when he shall return from the marriage: that when he doth come and knock, forthwith they may open unto him. {37} Blessed are those servants, whom when the Lord cometh, he shall find watching. Amen I say to you, that he will gird himself, and make them sit down, and passing will minister unto them. {38} And if he come in the second watch, and if in the third watch he come, and so find, blessed are those servants. {39} And this know ye, that if the householder did know what hour the thief would come, he would watch verily, and would not suffer his house to be broken up. {40} Be you also ready: for at what hour you think not, the Son of man will come. {41} And Peter said to him: Lord, doest thou speak this parable to us, or likewise to all? {42} And our Lord said: Who (thinkest thou) is a faithful steward and wise, whom the Lord appointeth over his family, to give them in season their measure of wheat? {43} Blessed is that servant, whom when the Lord cometh, he shall find so doing. {44} Verily I say to you, that over all things which he possesseth, he shall appoint him. {45} But if that servant say in his heart, My Lord is long a coming; and shall begin to strike the servants and handmaids, and eat and drink, and be drunk: {46} the Lord of that servant shall come in a day that he hopeth not, and at an hour that he knoweth not, and shall divide him, and shall appoint his portion with the infidels. {47} And that servant that knew the will of his Lord, and prepared not himself, & did not according to his will, shall be beaten with many stripes. {48} But he that knew not, and did things worthy of stripes, shall be beaten with few. And every one to whom much was given, much shall be required of him: and to whom they committed much, more will they demand of him. {49} I came to cast fire on the earth; & what will I, but that it be kindled? {50} But I have to be baptized with a baptism: and how am I straitened until it be dispatched? {51} Think you that I came to give peace on the earth? No, I tell you, but separation. {52} For there shall be from this time, five in one house divided: three against two, and two against three. {53} There shall be divided, the father against the son, and the son against his father, the mother against the daughter, and the daughter against the mother, the mother in law against her daughter in law, and the daughter in law against her mother in law. {54} And he said also to the multitudes, when you see a cloud rising from the west, by and by you say, A shower cometh, and so it cometh to pass: {55} and when the south wind blowing, you say, That there will be heat: & it cometh to pass. {56} Hypocrites, the face of the Heaven and of the earth you have skill to discern: but this time how do you not discern? {57} And why of your selves also judge you not that which is just? {58} And when thou goest with thy adversary to the Prince, in the way endeavour to be delivered from him: lest perhaps he draw thee to the judge, and the judge deliver thee to the exactor, and the exactor cast thee into prison. {59} I say to thee, thou shalt not go out thence, until thou pay the very last mite.

Chapter 13

He threateneth the Jews to be soon forsaken unless they do penance, 10. and confoundeth them for maligning him for his miraculous good-doing on the Sabbaths. 18. but his Kingdom (the Church) as contemptible as it seemeth to them now in the beginning, shall spread over all the world, 20. and convert all, 23. and what an heart-sore it shall be to them at the last day to see them selves excluded from the glory of his Kingdom, and the Gentiles admitted in their place. 31. He foretelleth that it is not Galilee that he feareth, but that obstinate & reprobate Hierusalem will needs murder him as also his messengers afore and after him.

{1} AND there were certain present at that very time telling him of the Galilaeans, whose blood Pilate mingled with their sacrifices. {2} And he answering said to them: Think you that these Galilaeans were sinners more than all the Galilaeans, that they suffered such things? {3} No, I say to you: but unless you have penance, you shall all likewise perish. {4} As those eighteen upon whom the tower fell in Siloe, and slew them: think you that they also were debtors above all the men that dwell in Jerusalem? {5} No, I say to you: but if you have not penance you shall all likewise perish. {6} And he said this similitude: A certain man had a figtree planted in his vineyard, and he came seeking for fruit on it, and found not. {7} And he said to the dresser of the vineyard, Lo it is three years since I come seeking for fruit upon this figtree, and I find not. Cut it down therefore; whereto doth it also occupy the ground? {8} But he answering said to him: Lord, let it alone this year also, until I dig about it, and dung it. {9} And if happily it yield fruit: but if not, hereafter thou shalt cut it down. {10} And he was teaching in their Synagogue on the Sabbaths. {11} And behold a woman that had a spirit of infirmity eighteen years: and she was crooked, neither could she look upward at all. {12} Whom when JESUS saw, he called her unto him, and said to her: Woman, thou art delivered from thy infirmity. {13} And he imposed hands upon her, and forthwith she was made straight and glorified God. {14} And the Archsynagogue answering (because he had indignation that JESUS had cured on the Sabbath) said to the multitude: Six days there are wherein you ought to work. In them therefore come, and be cured; and not in the Sabbath day. {15} And our Lord answering to him, said: Hypocrite, doth not every one of you upon the Sabbath loose his ox or his ass from the manger, and leadeth them to water? {16} But this daughter of Abraham whom Satan hath bound, lo, these eighteen years, ought not she to be loosed from this bond on the Sabbath day? {17} And when he said these things, all his adversaries were ashamed: and all the people rejoiced in all things that were gloriously done of him. {18} He said therefore: Whereunto is the Kingdom of God like, and whereunto shall I esteem it like? {19} It is like to a mustard seed, which a man took and cast into his garden and it grew, and became a great tree, & the fowls of the air rested in the boughs thereof. {20} And again he said: Like to what shall I esteem the Kingdom of God? {21} It is like to leaven, which a woman took and hid in three measures of meal, till the whole was leavened. {22} And he went by the cities and towns teaching, and making his journey unto Jerusalem. {23} And a certain man said to him: Lord, be they few that are saved? But he said to them: {24} Strive to enter by the narrow gate: because many, I say to you, shall seek to enter, and shall not be able. {25} But when the good-man of the house shall enter in, and shut the door, and you shall begin to stand without, and knock at the door, saying, Lord open to us: and he answering shall say to you, I know you not whence you are: {26} then you shall begin to say: We did eat before thee and drink, and in our streets didst thou teach. {27} And he shall say to you, I know you not whence you are, depart from me all ye workers of iniquity. {28} There shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth: when you shall see Abraham and Isaac and Jacob, and all the Prophets in the Kingdom of God, and you to be thrust out. {29} And there shall come from the East and West & the North and the South; and shall sit down in the Kingdom of God. {30} And behold, they are last that shall be first, and they be first that shall be last. {31} The same day there came certain of the Pharisees, saying to him: Depart and get thee hence, because Herod will kill thee. {32} And he said to them: Go, and tell that fox, Behold I cast out devils, and perfit cures this day and to morrow, and the third day I am consummate. {33} But yet I must walk this day and to morrow and the day following, because it cannot be that a Prophet perish out of Jerusalem. {34} Jerusalem, Jerusalem which killest the Prophets, and stonest them that are sent to thee, how often would I gather thy children as the bird doth her brood under her wings, and thou wouldest not? {35} Behold your house shall be left desert to you. And I say to you, that you shall not see me till it come when you shall say: Blessed is he that cometh in the name of our Lord.

By occasion of dining with a Pharisee, 2. after that he hath again confounded them for maligning him for his miraculous good-doing on the Sabbath, 7. he teacheth them humility, seeing their ambition, 12. and in their works to seek retribution not of men in this world, but of God in the world to come: 16. foretelling also that the Jews for their worldly excuses shall not taste of the Supper, but the Gentiles in their place. 25. Yea that so far must men be from all worldliness, that they must earnestly bethink them before they enter into his Church, and be ready to forgo all: 34. specially considering they must be the salt of others also.

{1} AND it came to pass when JESUS entered into the house of a certain Prince of the Pharisees upon the Sabbath to eat bread, and they watched him. {2} And behold there was a certain man before him that had the dropsy. {3} And JESUS answering, spake to the Lawyers and Pharisees, saying: Is it Lawful to cure on the Sabbath? {4} But they held their peace. But he taking him, healed him, and sent him away. {5} And answering them he said: Which of you shall have an ass or an ox fallen into a pit; and will not incontinent draw him out on the Sabbath day? {6} And they could not answer him to these things. {7} And he spake to them also that were invited a parable, marking how they chose the first seats at the table, saying to them: {8} When thou art invited to a marriage, sit not down in the first place, lest perhaps a more honourable than thou be invited of him; {9} and he that bade thee and him, come and say to thee, Give this man place: and then thou begin with shame to take the last place. {10} But when thou art bidden, go, sit down in the lowest place: that when he that invited thee cometh, he may say to thee, Friend sit up higher: then shalt thou have glory before them that sit at table with thee. {11} because every one that exalteth him self, shall be humbled: and he that humbleth him self, shall be exalted. {12} And he said to him also that had invited him: When thou makest a dinner or a supper, call not thy friends, nor thy brethren, nor kinsmen, nor thy neighbours that are rich: lest perhaps they also invite thee again, and recompence be made to thee. {13} But when thou makest a feast, call the poor, feeble, lame, and blind, {14} and thou shalt be blessed, because they have not to recompence thee: for recompence shall be made thee in the resurrection of the just. {15} When one of them that sat at the table with him, had heard these things, he said to him: Blessed is he that shall eat bread in the Kingdom of God. {16} But he said to him: A certain man made a great supper, and called many. {17} And he sent his servant at the hour of supper to say to the invited, that they should come, because now all things are ready. {18} And they began all at once to make excuse. The first said to him, I have bought a farm, and I must needs go forth and see it; I pray thee hold me excused. {19} And an other said, I have bought five yoke of oxen, and I go to prove them; I pray thee, hold me excused. {20} And an other said, I have married a wife, and therefore I can not come. {21} And the servant returning told these things to his Lord. Then the Master of the house being angry, said to his servant: Go forth quickly into the streets and lanes of the city, and the poor and feeble and blind and lame bring in hither. {22} And the servant said: Lord, it is done as thou didst command, and yet there is place. {23} And the Lord said to the servant: Go forth into the ways and hedges; and compel them to enter, that my house may be filled. {24} But I say to you, that none of those men that were called, shall taste my supper. {25} And great multitudes went with him; and turning, he said to them: {26} If any man come to me and hateth not his father and mother, and wife and children, and brethren and sisters, yea and his own life besides; he can not be my disciple. {27} And he that doth not bear his cross and come after me; can not be my Disciple. {28} For, which of you minding to build a tower, doth not first sit down and reckon the charges that are necessary, whether he have to finish it: {29} lest, after that he hath laid the foundation, and is not able to finish it, all that see it, begin to mock him, {30} saying, That this man began to build, and he could not finish it? {31} Or what king about to go to make war against an other king, doth not first sit down and think whether he be able with ten thousands to meet him that with twenty thousands cometh against him? {32} Otherwise whiles he is yet far off, sending a legacy he asketh those things that belong to peace. {33} So therefore every one of you that doth not renounce all that he possesseth, can not be my disciple. {34} Salt is good. But if the salt leese his virtue, wherewith shall it be seasoned? {35} It is profitable neither for the ground, nor for the dunghill, but it shall be cast forth. He that hath ears to hear, let him hear.

By occasion of the Pharisees murmuring at him for receiving penitent sinners, he sheweth what joy shall be in Heaven for the conversion of one sinner, 11, and for the younger son, which is the Gentiles: 25. the elder (to wit the Jews) in the mean time disdaining thereof, and refusing to come into his Church.

{1} AND there approached Publicans and sinners unto him for to hear him. {2} And the Pharisees and the Scribes murmured saying: That this man receiveth sinners, and eateth with them. {3} And he spake to them this parable, saying: {4} What man of you having an hundred sheep: and if he hath lost one of them, doth he not leave the ninety nine in the desert, and goeth after that which was lost until he find it? {5} And when he hath found it, layeth it upon his shoulders rejoicing: {6} and coming home calleth together his friends and neighbours, saying to them: Rejoice with me, because I have found my sheep that was lost? {7} I say to you, that even so there shall be joy in Heaven upon one sinner that doth penance, than upon ninety nine just that need not penance. {8} Or what woman having ten groats: if she leese one groat, doth she not light a candle, and sweep the house, and seek diligently, until she find? {9} And when she hath found, calleth together her friends and neighbours, saying: Rejoice with me, because I have found the groat which I had lost? {10} So I say to you, there shall be joy before the Angels of God upon one sinner that doth penance. {11} And he said: A certain man had two sons; {12} and the younger of them said to his father: Father, give me the portion of substance that belongeth to me. And he divided unto them the substance. {13} And not many days after, the younger son gathering all his things together went from home into a far country: and there he wasted his substance, living riotously. {14} And after he had spent all, there fell a sore famine in that country, and he began to be in need. {15} And he went, and cleaved to one of the citizens of that country. And he sent him into his farm to feed swine. {16} And he would fain have filled his belly of the husks that the swine did eat; and no body gave unto him. {17} And returning to him self he said: How many of my father's hirelings have abundance of bread, and I here perish for famine? {18} I will arise, and will go to my father, and say to him: Father, I have sinned against Heaven and before thee: {19} I am not now worthy to be called thy son: make me as one of thy hirelings. {20} And rising up he came to his father. And when he was yet far off, his father saw him, and was moved with mercy, and running to him fell upon his neck, and kissed him. {21} And his son said to him: Father, I have sinned against Heaven & before thee, I am not now worthy to be called thy son. {22} And the father said to his servants: Quickly bring forth the first stole, and do it on him, and put a ring upon his hand, and shoes upon his feet: {23} and bring the fatted calf, and kill it, and let us eat, and make merry: {24} because this my son was dead, and is revived: was lost, and is found. And they began to make merry. {25} But his elder son was in the field, and when he came and drew nigh to the house, he heard music and dancing: {26} and he called one of the servants, and asked what these things should be. {27} And he said to him: Thy brother is come, and thy father hath killed the fatted calf, because he hath received him safe. {28} But he had indignation, and would not go in. His father therefore going forth began to desire him. {29} But he answering said to his father: Behold, so many years do I serve thee, and I never transgressed thy commandment, and thou didst never give me a kid to make merry with my friends: {30} but after that this thy son, that hath devoured his substance with whores, is come, thou hast killed for him the fatted calf. {31} But he said to him: Son, thou art always with me, and all my things are thine. {32} But it behoved us to make merry and be glad because this thy brother was dead, and is revived, was lost, and is found.

Chapter 16

He teacheth the rich to procure Heaven with their riches. 14. And being therefore derided of the covetous Pharisees (who saw temporal riches promised in the letter of the Law) he sheweth that now is come the preaching of the Kingdom of God, howbeit the Law for all that in no jot shall be frustrate. 19. foretelling them also, that the covetous Jews shall be dented of their father Abraham, when poor Lazarus (the penitent Gentile) shall rest in his bosom.

{1} AND he said also to his Disciples: There was a certain rich man that had a bailiff: & he was ill reported of unto him, as he that had wasted his goods. {2} And he called him, and said to him: What hear I this of thee? Render account of thy bailiffship: for now thou canst no more be bailiff. {3} And the bailiff said within him self: What shall I do, because my lord taketh away from me the bailiffship? Dig I am not able, to beg I am ashamed. {4} I know what I will do, that when I shall be removed from the bailiffship, they may receive me into their houses. {5} Therefore calling together every one of his lord's debtors, he said to the first: How much doest thou owe my lord? {6} But he saith: An hundred pipes of oil. And he said to him: Take thy bill and sit down, quickly write fifty. {7} After that he said to an other: But thou, how much doest thou owe? Who said: An hundred quarters of wheat. He said to him: Take thy bill, and write eighty. {8} And the lord praised the bailiff of iniquity, because he had done wisely: for the children of this world, are wiser than the children of light in their generation. {9} And I say to you: Make unto you friends of the mammon of iniquity that when you fail, they may receive you into the eternal tabernacles. {10} He that is faithful in the least, is faithful in the greater also: and he that is unjust in little, is unjust in the greater also. {11} If then you have not been faithful in the unjust mammon, with that which is the true who may credit you? {12} And if you have not been faithful in other men's, that which is yours, who will give you? {13} No servant can serve two masters; for either he shall hate the one, and love the other; or cleave to one, and contemn the other. You can not serve God and mammon. {14} And the Pharisees which were covetous, heard all these things: and they derided him. {15} And he said to them: You are they that justify your selves before men, but God knoweth your hearts, because that which is high to men, is abomination before God. {16} The Law and the Prophets, unto John. From that time the Kingdom of God is evangelized, and every one doth force toward it. {17} And it is easier for Heaven and earth to pass, than one tittle of the law to fall. {18} Every one that dismisseth his wife, and marrieth another, committeth adultery: and he that marrieth her that is dismissed from her husband, committeth adultery. {19} There was a certain rich man, & he was clothed with purple and silk: and he fared every day magnificently. {20} And there was a certain beggar called Lazarus, that lay at his gate, full of sores: {21} desiring to be filled of the crumbs, that fell from the rich man's table, but the dogs also came, and licked his sores. {22} And it came to pass that the beggar died, and was carried of the Angels into Abraham's bosom. And the rich man also died: and he was buried in hell. {23} And lifting up his eyes, when he was in torments, he saw Abraham a far off, and Lazarus in his bosom: {24} and he crying said: Father Abraham, have mercy on me, and send Lazarus that he may dip the tip of his finger into water for to cool my tongue, because I am tormented in this flame. {25} And Abraham said to him: Son, remember that thou didst receive good things in thy life time, and Lazarus likewise evil: but now he is comforted, and thou art tormented. {26} And beside all these things, between us and you there is fixed a great chaos: that they which will pass from hence to you, may not, neither go from thence hither. {27} And he said: Then, father, I beseech thee that thou wouldest send him unto my father's house, for I have five brethren, {28} for to testify unto them, lest they also come into this place of torments. {29} And Abraham said to him: They have Moyses and the Prophets: let them hear them. {30} But he said: No, father Abraham, but if some man shall go from the dead to them, they will do penance. {31} And he said to him: If they hear not Moyses and the Prophets, neither if one shall rise again from the dead, will they believe.

Chapter 17

So damnable it is to be author of a Schism. 3. that we must rather forgive be it never so often. {5}. We must be fervent in faith, and humble within, knowing that we are bound to God, and not to us. 11. The nine Jews are ungrateful after that he hath cured their leprosy: but the one Samaritane (the one Catholic Church of the Gentiles) for otherwise. 20. The Pharisees asking, when cometh this kingdom of God (of whose approaching they had now heard so much) he teacheth that God must reign within us: 22. and warneth us after his Passion never to go out of his Catholic Church for any new secret coming of Christ that Heretics shall pretend, but only to expect his second coming in glory, 26. preparing our selves unto it, because it shall come upon many unprovided. 31. specially through the persecution of Antichrist a little before it.

{1} AND he said to his Disciples: It is impossible that scandal should not come: but woe to him by whom they come. {2} It is more profitable for him, if a mill-stone be put about his neck, and he be cast into the sea, than that he scandalize one of these little ones. {3} Look well to your selves. If thy brother sin against thee, rebuke him: and if he do penance, forgive him. {4} And if he sin against thee seven times in a day, and seven times in a day be converted unto thee, saying, It repenteth me, forgive him. {5} And the Apostles said to our Lord: Increase faith in us. {6} And our Lord said: If you had faith like to a mustard-seed, you might say to this mulberry tree, be thou rooted up, and be transplanted into the sea: and it would obey you. {7} And which of you having a servant plowing or keeping cattle, that will say to him returning out of the field: Pass quickly, sit down: {8} and saith not to him: Make ready supper, and gird thy self, and serve me whiles I eat and drink, and afterward thou shalt eat and drink? {9} Doth he give that servant thanks, for doing the things which he commanded him? {10} I trow not: So you also, when you shall have done all things that are commanded you, say: We are unprofitable servants; we have done that which we ought to do. {11} And it came to pass, as he went unto Jerusalem, he passed through the midst of Samaria and Galilee. {12} And when he entered into a certain town, there met him ten men that were lepers, who stood a far off; {13} and they lifted up their voice, saying: JESUS Master, have mercy on us. {14} Whom as he saw, he said: Go, shew your selves to the Priests. And it came to pass, as they went, they were made clean. {15} And one of them as he saw that he was made clean, went back with a loud voice magnifying God, {16} and he fell on his face before his feet, giving thanks: and this was a Samaritan. {17} And JESUS answering said: Were not ten made clean? and where are the nine? {18} There was not found that returned, and gave glory to God, but this stranger. {19} And he said to him: Arise, go thy ways; because thy faith hath made thee safe. {20} And being asked of the Pharisees: when cometh the Kingdom of God? he answered them and said: The Kingdom of God cometh not with observation: {21} neither shall they say: Lo here, or lo there. For lo the Kingdom of God is within you. {22} And he said to his Disciples: The days will come when you shall desire to see one day of the Son of man; and you shall not see. {23} And they will say to you: Lo here and lo there. Go not, neither do ye follow after. {24} For even as the lightning that lighteneth from under Heaven, unto those parts that are under Heaven, shineth: so shall the Son of man be in his day. {25} But first he must suffer many things and be rejected of this generation. {26} And as it came to pass in the days of Noe, so shall it be also in the days of the Son of man. {27} They did eat and drink, they did marry wives and were given to marriage even until the day that Noe entered into the ark: and the flood came, and destroyed them all. {28} Likewise as it came to pass in the days of Lot: They did eat and drink, bought and sold, planted, and builded: {29} and in the day that Lot went out from Sodom, it rained fire & brimstone from Heaven, & destroyed them all: {30} according to these things it shall be in the day that the Son of man shall be revealed. {31} In that hour he that shall be in the house-top, and his vessel in the house, let him not go down to take them up: & he that is in the field, in like manner let him not return back. {32} Be mindful of Lot's wife. {33} Whosoever seeketh to save his life, shall lose it: and Whosoever doth lose the same, shall quicken it. {34} I say to you, in that night there shall be two in one bed: the one shall be taken, and the other shall be left: {35} two women shall be grinding together: the one shall be taken, and the other shall be left. two in the field: the one shall be taken, and the other shall be left. {36} They answering say to him: Where Lord? {37} Who said to them: Wheresoever the body shall be, thither will the eagles also be gathered together.

Chapter 18

The Church is taught to commit the revenge of her persecutions to God, and to pray incessantly, for he no doubt (though in the persecution of Antichrist few will so think) will at length come. 9. We must also pray with humility, because we know not with the Pharisee if we be just, but we know with the Publican that we be sinners. 15. He will have children to be brought to him, and all to be as children. 18. What is to be done to get life everlasting. 22. What also, to get perfection, 28. and what reward they shall have that leave all, yea or any part, for his sake. 31. He foretelleth of his Passion most particularly. 33. And entering into Jericho, cureth one blind man.

{1} AND he spake also a parable to them that it behoveth always to pray, & not to be weary, {2} saying: There was a certain judge in a certain city, which feared not God, and of man made no account. {3} And there was a certain widow in that city, and she came to him, saying: Revenge me of mine adversary. {4} And he would not of a long time. But afterward he said within himself: Although I fear not God, nor make account of man, {5} yet because this widow is importune upon me, I will revenge her, lest at the last she come and defame me. {6} And our Lord said: Hear what the judge of iniquity sayeth. {7} And will not God revenge his elect that cry to him day and night: and will he have patience in them? {8} I say to you that he will quickly revenge them. But yet the Son of man coming, shall he find trow you, faith in the earth? {9} And he said also to certain that trusted in them selves as just, and despised others, this parable: {10} Two men went up into the Temple to pray: the one a Pharisee, and the other a Publican. {11} The Pharisee standing, prayed thus with him self: God, I give thee thanks that I am not as the rest of men, extortioners, unjust, adulterers, as also this Publican. {12} I fast twice in a week: I give tithes of all that I possess. {13} And the Publican standing a far off would not so much as lift up his eyes toward Heaven; but he knocked his breast, saying: God be merciful to me a sinner. {14} I say to you, this man went down into his house justified more than he: because every one that exalteth himself, shall be humbled; and he that humbleth himself, shall be exalted. {15} And they brought unto him infants also, that he might touch them. Which thing when the Disciples saw, they rebuked them. {16} But JESUS calling them together, said: Suffer children to come unto me, and forbid them not, for the Kingdom of Heaven is for such. {17} Amen I say to you: Whosoever receiveth not the Kingdom of God as a child, shall not enter into it. {18} And a certain Prince asked him, saying: Good Master, by doing what, shall I possess everlasting life? {19} And JESUS said to him: Why dost thou call me good? None is good but only God. {20} Thou knowest the commandments: Thou shalt not kill, Thou shalt not commit adultery, Thou shalt not steal, Thou shalt not bear false witness, Honour thy father & mother. {21} Who said: All these things have I kept from my youth. {22} Which JESUS hearing, said to him: Yet one thing thou lackest: Sell all that ever thou hast, & give to the poor, and thou shalt have treasure in Heaven: and come follow me. {23} He hearing these things, was stroken sad: because he was very rich. {24} And JESUS seeing him stroken sad, said: How hardly shall they that have money enter into the Kingdom of God? {25} For it is easier for a camel to pass through the eye of a needle, than for a rich man to enter into the Kingdom of God. {26} And they that heard, said: And who can be saved? {27} He said to them: The things that are impossible with men, are possible with God. {28} And Peter said: Lo, we have left all things, and have followed thee. {29} Who said to them: Amen I say to you, there is no man that hath left house, or parents, or brethren, or wife, or children for the Kingdom of God, {30} and shall not receive much more in this time, and in the world to come life everlasting. {31} And JESUS took the Twelve, and said to them: Behold we go up to Jerusalem, and all things shall be consummate which were written by the Prophets, of the Son of man. {32} For he shall be delivered to the Gentiles, and shall be mocked, and scourged, and spit upon: {33} and after they have scourged him, they will kill him, and the third day he shall rise again. {34} And they understood none of these things, and this word was hid from them, and they understood not the things that were said. {35} And it came to pass, when he drew nigh to Jericho, a certain blind man sat by the way, begging. {36} And when he heard the multitude passing by, {1124} he asked what this should be. {37} And they told him that JESUS of Nazareth passed by. {38} And he cried saying: JESUS son of David, have mercy upon me. {39} And they that went before, rebuked him, that he should hold his peace. But he cried much more, Son of David have mercy upon me. {40} And JESUS standing commanded him to be brought unto him. And when he was come near, he asked him, {41} saying: What wilt thou that I do to thee? but he said: Lord, that I may see. {42} And JESUS said to him: Do thou see; thy faith hath made thee whole. {43} And forthwith he saw, and followed him, magnifying God. And all the people as they saw it, gave praise to God.

Chapter 19

In Jericho he lodgeth in the house of Zachaeus a Publican, and against the murmuring Jews openeth the reasons of his so doing. 11. He sheweth, that the last day should not be yet, 15, and what then is the judgement he will do both to us of his Church as well good as bad, 27. and also to the reprobate Jews. 29. Being now come to the place of his Passion, he entereth (weeping and foretelling the destruction of blind Hierusalem): with triumph as their Christ. 45. He sheweth his zeal for the house of God, and teacheth therein every day. 47. The rulers would destroy him, but for fear of the people.

{1} AND entering in, he walked through Jericho. {2} and this was a Prince of the Publicans, and And behold a man named Zachaeus: he rich. {3} And he sought to see JESUS what he was, and he could not for the multitude, because he was little of stature. {4} And running before, he went up into a sycamore tree that he might see him: because he was to pass by it. {5} And when he was come to the place, JESUS looking up, saw him, and said to him Zachaeus, come down in haste: because this day I must abide in thy house. {6} And he in haste came down, and received him rejoicing. {7} And when all saw it, they murmured saying, that he turned in, to a man that was a sinner. {8} But Zachaeus standing, said to our Lord: Behold the half of my goods, Lord, I give to the poor: and if I have defrauded any man of any thing, I restore fourfold. {9} JESUS said to him: That this day salvation is made to this house: because that he also is the son of Abraham. {10} For the Son of man is come to seek and to save that which was lost. {11} They hearing these things, he added and spake a parable, for that he was nigh to Jerusalem, and because they thought that forthwith the Kingdom of God should be manifested. {12} He said therefore: A certain noble man went into a far country to take to him self a kingdom, and to return. {13} And calling his ten servants, he gave them ten pounds, and said to them: Occupy till I come. {14} And his citizens hated him: and they sent a legacy after him, saying: We will not have this man reign over us. {15} And it came to pass after he returned, having received his kingdom: and he commanded his servants to be called, to whom he gave the money; that he might know how much every man had gained by occupying. {16} And the first came, saying: Lord thy pound hath gotten ten pounds. {17} And he said to him: Well fare thee good servant, because thou hast been faithful in a little, thou shalt have power over ten cities. {18} And the second came saying: Lord, thy pound hath made five pounds. {19} And he said to him: And be thou over five cities. {20} And an other came, saying: Lord, lo here thy pound, which I have had laid up in a napkin. {21} For I feared thee, because thou art an austere man: thou takest up that, thou didst not set down, and thou reapest that, which thou didst not sow. {22} He saith to him: By thine own mouth I judge thee, naughty servant. Thou didst know that I am an austere man, taking up that, I set not down, and reaping that, which I sowed not: {23} and why didst thou not give my money to the bank, and I coming might certes with usury have exacted it? {24} And he said to them that stood by: Take the pound away from him, and give it to him that hath ten pounds {25} And they said to him: Lord, he hath ten pounds. {26} But I say to you, that to every one that hath shall be given: and from him that hath not, that also which he hath shall be taken from him. {27} But as for those mine enemies that would not have me reign over them, bring them hither; and kill them before me. {28} And having said these things, he went before, ascending to Jerusalem. {29} And it came to pass when he was come nigh to Bethphage and Bethania unto the mount called Olivet, he sent two of his Disciples, {30} saying: Go into the town which is over against, into the which as you enter, you shall find the colt of an ass tied, on which no man ever hath sitten: loose him, and bring him. {31} And if any man ask you: Why loose you him? You shall say thus to him: Because our Lord needeth his service. {32} And they that were sent, went their ways, and found as he said to them, the colt standing. {33} And when they loosed the colt, the owners thereof said to them: Why loose you the colt? {34} But they said: Because our Lord hath need of him. {35} And they brought him to JESUS. And casting their garments upon the colt, they set JESUS thereupon. {36} And as he went, they spread their garments underneath in the way. {37} And when he approached now to the descent of mount-Olivet, all the multitudes of them that descended, began with joy to praise God with a loud voice, for all the miracles that they had seen, {38} saying: Blessed is he that cometh King in the name of our Lord, peace in Heaven, and glory on high. {39} And certain Pharisees of the multitudes said to him: Master, rebuke thy disciples. {40} To whom he said: I say to you, that if these hold their peace, the stones shall cry. {41} And as he drew near, seeing the city, he wept upon it, saying, {42} Because if thou also hadst known, and that in this thy day, the things that pertain to thy peace: but now they are hid from thine eyes. {43} For the days shall come upon thee: and thy enemies shall compass thee with a trench, and inclose thee about, and straiten thee on every side, {44} and beat thee flat to the ground, and thy children that are in thee: and they shall not leave in thee a stone upon a stone, because thou hast not known the time of thy visitation. {45} And entering into the Temple, he began to cast out the sellers therein and the buyers, {46} saying to them: It is written, That my house is the house of prayer. But you have made it a den of thieves. {47} And he was teaching daily in the Temple. And the chief Priests and the Scribes and the Princes of the people sought to destroy him: {48} and they found not what to do to him. For all the people was suspense, hearing him.

Chapter 20

To the Jews he avoucheth his power by the witness of John who was a man sent of God. 9. & foretelleth in a parable their reprobation most worthy (with the vocation of the Gentiles in their place) 17. and consequently their irreparable damnation that shall ensue therefrom. 20. He defeateth their snare about paying tribute to Caesar: 27. he answereth also the invention of the Sadducees against the Resurrection. 40. And so having put them all to silence, 41. he turneth and poseth them, because they imagined that Christ should be no more but a man: 45. bidding all to beware of the Scribes (authors of the Jew's schism from him) being ambitious & hypocrites.

{1} AND it came to pass in one of the days, when he was teaching the people in the Temple & evangelizing, the chief Priests & the Scribes with the Ancients assembled, {2} and spake saying to him, Tell us, in what power doest thou these things? Or, who is he that hath given thee this power? {3} And JESUS answering, said to them: I also will ask you one word. Answer me, {4} The baptism of John was it from Heaven, or of men? {5} But they thought within themselves, saying: That if we say, From Heaven, he will say: Why then did you not believe him? {6} But if we say, of men, the whole people will stone us: for they are certain that John is a Prophet. {7} And they answered that they knew not whence it was. {8} And JESUS said to them: Neither do I tell you in what power I do these things. {9} And he began to say to the people this parable: A certain man planted a vineyard, & let it out to husbandmen: and he was from home a long time. {10} And in time he sent to the husbandmen a servant, that they should give him of the fruit of the vineyard. Who beating him sent him away empty. {11} And again he sent another servant. But they beating him also and reproachfully abusing him, sent him away empty. {12} And again he sent the third: who wounding him also, cast him out. {13} And the Lord of the vineyard said: What shall I do? I will send my beloved son: perhaps when they shall see him, they will reverence him. {14} Whom when the husbandmen saw, they thought within themselves, saying: This is the heir, let us kill him, that the heritage may be ours. {15} And casting him forth out of the vineyard, they killed him. What therefore will the Lord of the vineyard do to them? {16} He will come, and will destroy these husbandmen, and will give the vineyard to others. Which they hearing, said to him: God forbid. {17} But he beholding them said: What is this then that is written, The stone which the builders rejected, the same is become into the head of the corner? {18} Every one that falleth upon this stone, shall be quashed: and upon whom it shall fall, it shall break him to powder. {19} And the chief Priests and Scribes sought to lay hands upon him that hour: and they feared the people, for they knew that he spake this similitude to them. {20} And watching, they sent spies which should feign themselves just: that they might take him in his talk, and deliver him to the principality and power of the President. {21} And they asked him, saying: Master, we know that thou speakest and teachest rightly; and thou doest not accept person, but teachest the way of God in truth. {22} Is it lawful for us to give tribute to Caesar, or not? {23} But considering their guile, he said to them: Why tempt you me? {24} Shew me a peny. Whose image hath it and inscription? They answering said: Caesar's. {25} And he said to them: Render therefore the things that are Caesar's, to Caesar: and the things that are God's, to God. {26} And they could not reprehend his word before the people: and marveling at his answer, they held their peace. {27} And there came certain of the Sadducees, which deny that there is a resurrection, and they asked him, {28} saying: Master, Moyses gave us in writing: If a man's brother die having a wife, and he have no children, that his brother take her to wife, and raise up seed to his brother. {29} There were therefore seven brethren: and the first took a wife, and died without children. {30} And the next took her, & he died without child. {31} And the third took her. In like manner also all the seven, and they left no seed, and died. {32} Last of all the woman died also. {33} In the resurrection therefore, whose wife shall she be of them? Sithens the seven had her to wife. {34} And JESUS said to them: The children of this world marry, and are given in marriage: {35} But they that shall be counted worthy of that world and the resurrection from the dead, neither marry, nor take wives; {36} neither can they die any more, for they are equal to Angels: and they are the sons of God, seeing they are the sons of the resurrection. {37} But that the dead rise again, Moyses also shewed, beside the bush, as he calleth the Lord: The God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob. {38} For God is not of the dead, but of the living: for all live to him. {39} And certain of the Scribes answering, said to him: Master, thou hast said well. {40} And further they durst not ask him anything. {41} But he said to them: How say they that Christ is the son of David, {42} and David himself saith in the book of Psalms: The Lord said to my Lord, sit on my right hand, {43} till I put thine enemies, the footstool of thy feet? {44} David then calleth him Lord: and how is he his son? {45} And all the people hearing him, he said to his Disciples: {46} Beware of the Scribes, that will walk in robes, and love salutations in the market-place, and the first chairs in the synagogues, and the chief rooms in feasts. {47} Which devour widows' houses: feigning long prayer. These shall receive greater damnation.

Chapter 21

He commendeth the poor widow for her two mites, above all. 5. Having said that the Temple shall be quite destroyed, 7. he foretelleth first many things that shall go before, 20. then a sign also when it is near, after which shall come the destruction it self in most horrible manner, without hope of restitution, until all Nations of the Gentiles be gathered unto his Church in the very end of the world. 25. And then what signs shall come of the last day, terrible to the world, 28. but comfortable to us of his Church, 34. so that we be always watchful.

{1} AND beholding, he saw them that did cast their gifts into the treasury, rich persons. {2} And he saw also a certain poor widow casting two brass mites. {3} And he said: Verily I say to you, that this poor widow hath cast more than all. {4} For all these of their abundance have cast into the gifts of God: but she of her penury, hath cast in all her living that she had. {5} And certain, saying of the temple that it was adorned with goodly stones and donaries, he said: {6} These things which you see, the days will come wherein there shall not be left a stone upon a stone that shall not be destroyed. {7} And they asked him, saying: Master, when shall these things be: and what shall be the sign when they shall begin to come to pass? {8} Who said: See you be not seduced. For many will come in my name, saying that I am he: and the time is at hand, go not therefore after them. {9} And when you shall hear of wars and seditions, be not terrified: these things must first come to pass, but the end is not yet by and by. {10} Then he said to them: Nation shall rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom. {11} And there shall be great earth-quakes in places, and pestilences and famines, and terrors from Heaven, and there shall be great signs. {12} But before all these things they will lay their hands upon you: and persecute you delivering you into Synagogues and prisons, drawing you to kings and Presidents for my name. {13} and it shall happen unto you for testimony. {14} Lay up this therefore in your hearts, not to premeditate how you shall answer. {15} For I will give you mouth and wisdom, which all your adversaries shall not be able to resist and gainsay. {16} And you shall be delivered up of your parents and brethren, kinsmen and friends: and they will put to death of you. {17} And you shall be odious to all men for my name: {18} and a hair of your head shall not perish. {19} In your patience you shall possess your souls. {20} And when you shall see Jerusalem compassed about with an army, then know that the desolation thereof is at hand. {21} then they that are in Jewry, let them flee to the mountains: and they in the midst thereof, let them depart: and they in the countries, let them not enter into it. {22} For these are the days of vengeance, that all things may be fulfilled that are written. {23} But woe to them that are with child & that give suck in those days. For there shall be great affliction upon the land, and wrath on this people. {24} And they shall fall by the edge of the sword; and shall be led captive into all nations: and Jerusalem shall be trodden of the Gentiles, till the times of nations be fulfilled. {25} And there shall be signs in the sun and the moon and the stars: and upon earth distress of nations, for the confusion of the sound of sea and waves, {26} men withering for fear and expectation, what shall come upon the whole world. For the powers of Heaven shall be moved: {27} and then they shall see the Son of man coming in a cloud with great power and majesty. {28} But when these things begin to come to pass, look up and lift up your heads: because your redemption is at hand. {29} And he spake to them a similitude. See the figtree and all trees: {30} when they now bud forth fruit out of them selves, you know that summer is nigh. {31} So you also when you shall see these things come to pass, know that the Kingdom of God is nigh. {32} Amen I say to you, that this generation shall not pass, till all be done. {33} Heaven and earth shall pass; but my words shall not pass. {34} And look well to your selves, lest perhaps your hearts be overcharged with surfeiting and drunkenness and cares of this life: and that day come upon you suddenly. {35} For as a snare shall it come upon all that sit upon the face of all the earth. {36} Watch therefore, praying at all times, that you may be accounted worthy to escape all these things that are to come, and to stand before the Son of man. {37} And the days he was teaching in the temple: but the nights, going forth, he abode in the mount that is called Olivet. {38} And all the people in the morning went unto him in the temple to hear him.

Chapter 22

Judas doth sell him to the Jews. 7. After the old Pascal, 19. he giveth to his Disciples the bread of life in a mystical Sacrifice of his body and blood, for an everlasting commemoration of his Passion. 21. He covertly admonisheth the traitor. 24. Against their ambitious contention he sheweth them that the majority of any among them in this world is for their service, as his own also was: 28. & how he will exalt them all in the world to come: 31. foretelling Peter the singular privilege of his faith never failing. 33. and his three negations: 35. and how they shall all now be put to their shifts. 39. And that night, after his prayer with sweating of blood, 42. he is taken of the Jew's men, Judas being their Captain: yet shewing them both by miracle and word, that they could do nothing unto him but by his own permission. 54. Then in the chief Priest's house he is thrice denied of Peter, 63. shamefully abused of his keepers, 66. and in the morning impiously condemned of their Council, for confessing himself to be the Son of God.

{1} AND the festival day of the Azymes approached, which is called Pasche: the chief Priests & the Scribes sought how {2} & they might kill him: but they feared the people. {3} And Satan entered into Judas that was surnamed Iscariote, one of the Twelve.

{4} And he went, and talked with the chief Priests and the Magistrates, how he might betray him to them. {5} And they were glad, and bargained to give him money. {6} And he promised. And he sought opportunity to betray him apart from the multitudes. {7} And the day of the Azymes came, wherein it was necessary that the Pasche should be killed. {8} And he sent Peter and John, saying: Go and prepare us the Pasche, that we may eat. {9} But they said: Where wilt thou that we prepare it? {10} And he said to them: Behold, as you enter into the city, there shall meet you a man carrying a pitcher of water: follow him into the house into which he entereth, {11} and you shall say to the good-man of the house: The Master saith to thee, where is the inn where I may eat the Pasche with my Disciples? {12} And he will shew you a great refectory adorned: and there prepare. {13} And they going, found as he said to them, and prepared the Pasche. {14} And when the hour was come, he sat down, and the twelve Apostles with him. {15} And he said to them: With desire I have desired to eat this Pasche with you before I suffer. {16} For I say to you, that from this time I will not eat it, till it be fulfilled in the Kingdom of God. {17} And taking the chalice he gave thanks, and said: Take and divide among you. {18} For I say to you, that I will not drink of the generation of the vine, till the Kingdom of God do come. {19} And taking bread, he gave thanks, and brake; and gave to them, saying: THIS IS MY BODY WHICH IS GIVEN FOR YOU. Do this for a commemoration of me. {20} In like manner the chalice also, after he had supped, saying: THIS IS THE CHALICE OF THE NEW TESTAMENT IN MY BLOOD, WHICH SHALL BE SHED FOR YOU. {21} But yet behold, the hand of him that betrayeth me, is with me on the table. {22} And the Son of man indeed goeth according to that which is determined: but yet woe to that man by whom: he shall be betrayed. {23} And they began to question among them selves, which of them it should be that should do this. {24} And there fell also a contention between them, which of them seemed to be greater. {25} And he said to them: The Kings of the Gentiles overrule them; and they that have power upon them, are called beneficial. {26} But you not so: {1129} but he that is the greater among you, let him become as the younger: & he that is the leader, as the waiter. {27} For which is greater, he that sitteth at the table, or he that ministereth? Is not he that sitteth? But I am in the midst of you, as he that ministereth: {28} & you are they that have remained with me in my tentations. {29} And I dispose to you, as my Father disposed to me, a Kingdom: {30} that you may eat & drink upon my table in my Kingdom, & may sit upon thrones, judging the twelve tribes of Israel. {31} And our Lord said: Simon, Simon, behold Satan hath required to have you for to sift as wheat: {32} BUT I HAVE PRAYED FOR THEE, that thy faith fail not: and thou once converted, confirm thy brethren. {33} Who said to him: Lord, with thee I am ready to go both into prison and unto death. {34} And he said: I say to thee Peter, the cock shall not crow to day, till thou deny thrice that thou knowest me. {35} And he said to them: When I sent you without purse and scrip and shoes, did you lack any thing? But they said: Nothing. {36} He said therefore unto them: But now he that hath a purse, let him take it, likewise also a scrip: and he that hath not, let him sell his coat, and buy a sword. {37} For I say to you, that yet this that is written must be fulfilled in me: And with the wicked was he reputed. For those things that are concerning me, have an end. {38} But they said: Lord, lo two swords here. But he said to them: It is enough. {39} And going forth he went according to his custom into mount-Olivet. And his Disciples also followed him. {40} And when he was come to the place, he said to them: Pray, lest ye enter into temptation. {41} And he was pulled away from them a stone's cast: and kneeling he prayed, {42} saying: Father, if thou wilt, transfer this chalice from me. But yet not my will, but thine be done. {43} And there appeared to him an Angel from Heaven, strengthening him. And being in an agony, he prayed the longer. {44} And his sweat became as drops of blood trickling down upon the earth. {45} And when he was risen up from prayer, and was come to his Disciples, he found them sleeping for pensiveness. {46} And he said to them: Why sleep you? Arise, pray, lest you enter into temptation. {47} As he was yet speaking, behold a multitude: and he that was called Judas, one of the Twelve, went before them, and approached to JESUS, for to kiss him. {48} And JESUS said to him: Judas with a kiss doest thou betray the Son of man? {49} And they that were about him, seeing what would be, said to him: Lord, shall we strike with the sword? {50} And one of them smote the servant of the high Priest: and cut off his right ear. {51} But JESUS answering, said: Suffer ye thus far. And when he had touched his ear, he healed him. {52} And JESUS said to them that were come unto him, the chief Priests, and magistrates of the temple, & ancients: As it were to a thief are you come forth with swords and clubs? {53} When I was daily with you in the temple, you did not lay hands upon me, but this is your hour, and the power of darkness. {54} And apprehending him, they led him to the high Priest's house: but Peter followed a far off. {55} And a fire being kindled in the midst of the court, & they sitting about it, Peter was in the midst of them. {56} Whom when a certain wench saw sitting at the light, and had beheld him, she said: This fellow also was with him. {57} But he denied him, saying: Woman, I know him not. {58} And after a while another man seeing him, said: And thou art of them. But Peter said: O man I am not. {59} And after the space as it were of one hour, a certain other man affirmed, saying: Verily this fellow also was with him: for he is also a Galilaean. {60} And Peter said: Man I know not what thou sayest. And incontinent as he was yet speaking, the cock crew. {61} And our Lord turning looked on Peter. And Peter remembered the word of our Lord, as he had said: That before the cock crow, thou shalt thrice deny me. {62} And Peter going forth a doors, wept bitterly. {63} And the men that held him, mocked him, beating him. {64} And they did blind-fold him, and smote his face. And they asked him saying: Prophesy, who is it that smote thee? {65} And blaspheming many other things they said against him. {66} And when it was day, there assembled the Ancients of the people and chief Priests and Scribes, and they brought him into their Council, saying: {67} If thou be Christ tell us. And he said to them: If I tell you, you will not believe me: {68} if also I ask, you will not answer me, nor dismiss me. {69} But from henceforth the Son of man shall be sitting on the right hand of the power of God. {70} And they all said: Art thou then the Son of God? Who said: You say that I am. {71} But they said: What need we testimony any further? For our selves have heard of his own mouth.

Chapter 23

The Jews accuse him to Pilate the Gentile: 4. who seeking earnestly to deliver him, specially after that Herod sent him back, 17. they not only prefer the murderer Barabbas, but also cry. CRUCIFIGE: 26. In the way to Calvary he foretelleth the women that lamented upon him, the horrible destruction of their Hierusalem. 32. Upon the cross he is between two thieves, 35. scorched of the Jews, 36. of the soldiers, 39. and of one of the thieves, 40. but even there confessed of the other thief, 44. and after his death (because of the great miracles concurring) also of the Centurion, 48. yea and of the whole multitude. 50. And finally he is buried honourably.

{1} AND all the multitude of them rising up, led him to Pilate. him, saying: We have found this man {2} And they began to accuse subverting our nation, & prohibiting to give tributes to Caesar, and saying that he is Christ the King. {3} And Pilate asked him, saying: Art thou the King of the Jews? But he answering said: Thou sayest. {4} And Pilate said to the chief Priests and multitudes: I find no cause in this man. {5} But they were more earnest, saying: He stirreth the people teaching throughout all Jewry, beginning from Galilee even hither. {6} But Pilate hearing Galilee, asked if the man were of Galilee. {7} And when he understood that he was of Herod's jurisdiction, he sent him back to Herod, who was also himself at Jerusalem in those days. {8} And Herod seeing JESUS, was very glad, for he was desirous of a long time to see him, for because he heard many things of him: and he hoped to see some sign wrought by him. {9} And he asked him in many words. But he answered him nothing. {10} And there stood the chief Priests and the Scribes constantly accusing him. {11} And Herod with his army set him at naught: and he mocked him, putting on him a white garment, and sent him back to Pilate. {12} And Herod and Pilate were made friends that day. For before, they were enemies one to another. {13} And Pilate calling together the chief Priests and Magistrates, and the people, {14} said to them: You have presented unto me this man, as averting the people, and behold I examining him before you, have found no cause in this man of those things, wherein you accuse him. {15} No, nor Herod neither. For I sent you to him, and behold, nothing worthy of death is done to him. {16} I will chasten him therefore and dismiss him. {17} And he of necessity had to release unto them upon the feast day, one. {18} But the whole multitude together cried out, saying: Dispatch him, and release us Barabbas. {19} Who was for a certain sedition made in the city and murder, cast into prison. {20} And Pilate again spake to them, desirous to release JESUS. {21} But they cried again, saying: Crucify, crucify him. {22} And he the third time said to them: Why, what evil hath this man done? I find no cause of death in him. I will correct him therefore & let him go. {23} But they were instant with loud voices requiring that he might be crucified. And their voices prevailed. {24} And Pilate adjudged their petition to be done. {25} And he released unto them him that for murder and sedition had been cast into prison, whom they demanded: but JESUS he delivered to their pleasure. {26} And when they led him, they took one Simon of Cyrene coming from the country: and they laid the Cross upon him to carry after JESUS. {27} And there followed him a great multitude of people, and of women which bewailed and lamented him. {28} But JESUS turning to them, said: Daughters of Jerusalem, weep not upon me, but weep upon your selves, and upon your children. {29} For behold the days shall come, wherein they will say: Blessed are the barren, and the wombs that have not born, & the paps that have not given suck. {30} Then shall they begin to say to the mountains, Fall upon us: and to the hills, Cover us. {31} For if in the green wood they do these things, in the dry what shall be done? {32} And there were led also other two malefactors with him, to be executed. {33} And after they came to the place which is called Calvary, there they crucified him: and the thieves, one on the right hand and the other on the left. {34} And JESUS said: Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do. But they dividing his garments, did cast lots. {35} And the people stood beholding, and the Princes with them derided him, saying: Others he hath saved, let him save himself, if this be Christ, the elect of God. {36} And the soldiers also mocked him coming to him, and offering him vinegar, {37} saying: If thou be the King of the Jews, save thy self. {38} And there was also a superscription written over him in Greek, and Latin, and Hebrew letters: THIS IS THE KING OF THE JEWS. {39} And one of those thieves that were hanged, blasphemed him, saying: If thou be Christ, save thy self, and us. {40} But the other answering, rebuked him, saying: Neither doest thou fear God, where as thou art in the same damnation? {41} And we indeed justly, for we receive worthy of our doings: but this man hath done no evil. {42} And he said to JESUS: Lord, remember me when thou shalt come into thy Kingdom. {43} And JESUS said to him: Amen I say to thee; this day thou shalt be with me in Paradise. {44} And it was almost the sixth hour: and there was made darkness upon the whole earth until the ninth hour. {45} And the sun was darkened; and the veil of the temple was rent in the midst. {46} And JESUS crying with a loud voice, said: Father, into thy hands I commend my Spirit. And saying this, he gave up the ghost. {47} And the Centurion seeing that which was done, glorified God, saying: Indeed this man was just. {48} And all the multitude of them that were present together at that sight, and saw the things that were done, returned knocking their breasts. {49} And all his acquaintance stood a far off, and the women that had followed him from Galilee, seeing these things. {50} And behold a man named Joseph, which was a Senator, a good man and a just. {51} He had not consented to their counsel and doings, of Arimathaea a city of Jewry, who also himself expected the Kingdom of God. {52} This man came to Pilate, and asked the body of JESUS. {53} And taking it down, wrapped it in spond, and laid him in a monument hewed of stone, wherein never yet any man had been laid. {54} And it was the day of Paraseve, and the Sabbath drew near. {55} And the women that were come with him from Galilee, following after, saw the monument, and how his body was laid. {56} And returning they prepared spices and ointments: and on the Sabbath they rested according to the commandment.

Chapter 24

Devout women not finding his body in the Sepulchre, 4. Angels tell them that he is risen according to his own prediction: 9. yet the Apostles will not believe it. 12. But neither Peter findeth his body there. 13. He walkeith with two Disciples, declaring all this unto them out of the Scriptures, and is known of them by breaking of bread. 36. The same day he appeareth to the Apostles being together, is felt of them, and eateth with them. Finally teaching them out of the Scriptures not only of his Passion and Resurrection, 47. but also of his Catholic Church, 49. he promiseth the Holy Ghost to confirm them, 50. and so ascendeth into Heaven.

{1} AND in the first of the Sabbath very early they came to the monument, carrying the spices which they had prepared. {2} And they found the stone rolled back from the monument. {3} And going in, they found not the body of our Lord JESUS. {4} And it came to pass, as they were astonished in their mind at this, behold two men stood beside them in glistering apparel. {5} And when they feared and cast down their countenance toward the ground, they said unto them: Why seek you the living with the dead? {6} he is not here, but is risen. Remember how he spake to you, when he yet was in Galilee, {7} saying: That the Son of man must be delivered into the hands of sinners and be crucified, and the third day rise again. {8} And they remembered his words. {9} And going back from the monument, they told all these things to those eleven, and to all the rest. {10} And it was Mary Magdalene, and Joane, and Mary of James, and the rest that were with them, which said these things to the Apostles. {11} And these words seemed before them as dotage, and they did not believe them. {12} But Peter rising up ran to the monument; and stooping down he saw the linen cloths lying alone, and went away marveling with himself at that which was done. {13} And behold, two of them went the same day into a town which was the space of sixty furlongs from Jerusalem, named Emmaus. {14} And they talked betwixt themselves of all those things that had chanced. {15} And it came to pass, while they talked and reasoned with themselves, JESUS also himself approaching went with them. {16} But their eyes were held that they might not know him. {17} And he said to them: What are these communications that you confer one with another walking, and are sad? {18} And one whose name was Cleophas, answering, said to him: Art thou only a stranger in Jerusalem, and hast not known the things that have been done in it, these days? {19} To whom he said: What things? And they said, concerning JESUS of Nazareth, who was a man a Prophet, mighty in work and word before God and all the people. {20} And how our chief Priests and Princes delivered him into condemnation of death, and crucified him. {21} But we hoped that it was he that should redeem Israel: and now besides all this, to day is the third day since these things were done. {22} But certain women also of ours, made us afraid: who before it was light, were at the monument, {23} and not finding his body, came, saying that they saw a vision also of Angels, who say that he is alive. {24} And certain men of ours went to the monument: and they found it so as the women said, but him they found not. {25} And he said to them: O foolish, and slow of heart to believe in all things which the Prophets have spoken. {26} Ought not Christ to have suffered these things, and so to enter into his glory? {27} And beginning from Moyses and all the Prophets, he did interpret to them in all the scriptures the things that were concerning him. {28} And they drew nigh to the town whither they went: and he made semblance to go further. {29} And they forced him, saying: Tarry with us, because it is toward night, and the day is now far spent. And he went in with them. {30} And it came to pass, whiles he sat at the table with them, he took bread, and blessed and brake, and did reach to them. {31} And their eyes were opened, and they knew him: and he vanished out of their sight. {32} And they said one to the other: Was not our heart burning in us, whiles he spake in the way, and opened unto us the scriptures? {33} And rising up the same hour they went back into Jerusalem: and they found the eleven gathered together, and those that were with them, {34} saying: That our Lord is risen indeed, and hath appeared to Simon. {35} And they told the things that were done in the way: and how they knew him in the breaking of bread. {36} And whiles they speak these things, JESUS stood in the midst of them, and he saith to them: Peace be to you; it is I, fear not. {37} But they being troubled and frightened, imagined that they saw a Spirit. {38} And he said to them: Why are you troubled, and cogitations arise into your hearts? {39} See my hands, and feet, that it is I my self: handle, and see: for a Spirit hath not flesh and bones, as you see me to have. {40} And when he had said this, he shewed them his hands and feet. {41} But they yet not believing and marveling for joy, he said: Have you here any thing to be eaten? {42} But they offered him a piece of fish broiled, and a honey comb. {43} And when he had eaten before them, taking the remains he gave to them. {44} And he said to them: These are the words which I spake to you, when I was yet with you, that all things must needs be fulfilled, which are written in the law of Moyses, and the Prophets, and the Psalms, of me. {45} Then he opened their understanding, that they might understand the Scriptures. {46} And he said to them: That so it is written, and so it behoved Christ to suffer, and to rise again from the dead the third day: {47} and penance to be preached in his name and remission of sins unto all nations, beginning from Jerusalem. {48} And you are witnesses of these things. {49} And I send the promise of my Father upon you: but you, tarry in the city, till you be endued with power from high. {50} And he brought them forth abroad into Bethania: and lifting up his hands he blessed them. {51} And it came to pass whiles he blessed them, he departed from them, and was carried into Heaven. {52} And they adoring went back into Jerusalem with great joy: {53} and they were always in the temple praising and blessing God. Amen.

THE HOLY GOSPEL ACCORDING TO S. JOHN

Chapter 1

The preface of the Evangelist, commanding Christ (as being God the Son incarnate) to the Gentiles, and setting out the blindness of the Jews in not receiving him. {19} Then, the testimonies of John Baptist, first to the solemn legacy of the Jews: {29} secondly, when he saw JESUS come to him: {35} thirdly, to his own Disciples also, putting them over from him self to JESUS. Who made it plainer to them that he is Christ. {40} and so began he also to have Disciples.

{1} IN the beginning was the WORD, and the WORD was with God, and God was the WORD. {2} This was in the beginning with God. {3} All things were made by him: and without him was made nothing. That which was made, {4} in him was life, and the life was the light of men: {5} and the light shineth in darkness, and the darkness did not comprehend it. {6} There was a man sent from God, whose name was John. {7} This man came for testimony; to give testimony of the light, that all might believe through him. {8} He was not the light, but to give testimony of the light. {9} It was the true light, which lighteneth every man that cometh into this world. {10} He was in the world, and the world was made by him, and the world knew him not. {11} He came into his own, and his own received him not. {12} But as many as received him, he gave them power to be made the sons of God, to those that believe in his name. {13} Who, not of blood, nor of the will of flesh, nor of the will of man, but of God are born. {14} AND THE WORD WAS MADE FLESH, and dwelt in us (and we saw the glory of him, glory as it were of the Only-begotten of the Father) full of grace and verity. {15} John giveth testimony of him, and crieth saying: This was he of whom I spake, He that shall come after me, is made before me: because he was before me. {16} And of his fullness we all have received, and grace for grace. {17} For the law was given by Moyses, grace and verity was made by JESUS Christ. {18} God no man hath seen at any time: the only-begotten Son which is in the bosom of the Father, he hath declared. {19} And this is John's testimony, when the Jews sent from Jerusalem Priests and Levites to him, that they should ask him, who art thou? {20} And he confessed, and did not deny: and he confessed, That I am not CHRIST. {21} And they asked him: What then? Art thou Elias? And he said: I am not. Art thou the Prophet? And he answered: No. {22} They said therefore unto him: Who art thou, that we may give an answer to them that sent us? what sayest thou of thy self? {23} He said: I am the voice of one crying in the desert, make straight the way of our Lord, as Esaie the Prophet said. {24} And they that were sent were of the Pharisees. {25} And they asked him, and said to him: Why then doest thou baptize, if thou be not Christ, nor Elias, nor the Prophet? {26} John answered them, saying: I baptize in water; but there hath stood in the midst of you whom you know not. {27} The same is he that shall come after me, that is made before me; whose latchet of his shoe I am not worthy to loose. {28} These things were done in Bethania beyond Jordan, where John was baptizing. {29} The next day John saw JESUS coming to him, and he saith: Behold the lamb of God, behold him that taketh away the sin, of the world. {30} This is he of whom I said: After me there cometh a man, which is made before me: because he was before me. {31} And I knew him not, but that he may be manifested in Israel, therefore came I baptizing in water. {32} And John gave testimony, saying: That I saw the Spirit descending as a dove from Heaven, and he remained upon him. {33} And I knew him not: but he that sent me to baptize in water, he said to me: He upon whom thou shalt see the Spirit descending and remaining upon him, he it is that baptizeth in the Holy Ghost. {34} And I saw; and I gave testimony that this is the Son of God. {35} The next day again John stood, and two of his Disciples. {36} And beholding JESUS walking, he saith: Behold the Lamb of God. {37} And the two Disciples heard him speaking, and they followed JESUS. {38} And JESUS turning, and seeing them following him, saith to them: What seek you? Who said to him: Rabbi (which is called by interpretation, Master) where dwellest thou? {39} He saith to them: Come and see. They came, and saw where he abode, and they tarried with him that day: and it was about the tenth hour. {40} And Andrew the brother of Simon Peter was one of the two that had heard of John, and followed him. {41} He findeth first his brother Simon, and saith to him: We have found MESSIAS, which is being interpreted, CHRIST. {42} And he brought him to JESUS. And JESUS looking upon him, said: Thou art Simon the son of Jona: thou shalt be called Cephas, which is interpreted, Peter. {43} On the morrow he would go forth into Galilee, and he findeth Philippe. And JESUS saith to him: Follow me. {44} And Philippe was of Bethsaida, the city of Andrew and Peter. {45} Philippe findeth Nathanael, and saith to him: Him whom Moyses in the law, and the Prophets wrote of, we have found, JESUS the son of Joseph, of Nazareth. {46} And Nathanael said to him: From Nazareth can there be any good? Philippe saith to him: Come and see. {47} JESUS saw Nathanael coming to him, and he saith of him: Behold an Israelite in very deed, in whom there is no guile. {48} Nathanael saith to him: How knowest thou me? JESUS answered and said to him: Before that Philippe did call thee, when thou wast under the figtree, I saw thee. {49} Nathanael answered him and saith: Rabbi, thou art the Son of God, thou art the King of Israel. {50} JESUS answered, and said to him: Because I said unto thee, I saw thee under the figtree, thou believest; greater than these things shalt thou see. {51} And he saith to him: Amen Amen I say to you, You shall see the Heaven opened, and the Angels of God ascending and descending, upon the Son of man.

Chapter 2

At the request of his mother he worketh his first miracle, turning water into wine at a marriage in Galilee, although the time of his manifestation be not yet come. {12} Then in Hierusalem at Pasche, being but one, and yet obscure, he throweth out of the Temple most miraculously all the merchants. {28} And being yet of the blind Jews asked a sign, he signifieth so long before, that they should kill him, but he will rise again the third day. {23} which also presently they would do, but that he knowing their false hearts (though many believe in him) will not tarry among them.

{1} AND the third day there was a marriage made in Cana of Galilee: and the mother of JESUS was there. {2} And JESUS also was called, and his Disciples to the marriage. {3} And the wine failing, the mother of JESUS saith to him: They have no wine. {4} And JESUS saith to her: What is to me and thee woman? My hour cometh not yet. {5} His mother saith to the ministers: Whatsoever he shall say to you, do ye. {6} And there were set there six water-pots of stone, according to the purification of the Jews, holding every one two or three measures. {7} JESUS saith to them: Fill the water-pots with water. And they filled them up to the top. {8} And JESUS saith to them: Draw now, and carry to the chief steward. And they carried it. {9} And after the chief steward tasted the water made wine, and knew not whence it was, but the ministers knew that had drawn the water; the chief steward calleth the bridegroom, {10} and saith to him: Every man first setteth the good wine, and when they have well drunk, then that which is worse. But thou hast kept the good wine until now. {11} This beginning of miracles did JESUS in Cana of Galilee: and he manifested his glory, and his Disciples believed in him. {12} After this he went down to Capharnaum himself and his mother, and his brethren, and his Disciples; and there they remained not many days. {13} And the Pasche of the Jews was at hand, and JESUS went up to Jerusalem: {14} and he found in the Temple them that sold oxen and sheep and doves, and the bankers sitting. {15} And when he had made as it were a whip of little cords, he cast them all out of the temple, the sheep also and the oxen, and the money of the bankers he poured out, and the tables he overthrew. {16} And to them that sold doves, he said: Take away these things hence, and make not the house of my Father, a house of merchandise. {17} And his Disciples remembered that it is written: The zeal of thy house hath eaten me. {18} The Jews therefore answered and said to him: What sign doest thou shew us, that thou doest these things? {19} JESUS answered and said to them: Dissolve this temple, and in three days I will raise it. {20} The Jews therefore said: In forty and six years was this temple built, & wilt thou raise it in three days? {21} But he spake of the temple of his body. {22} Therefore when he was risen again from the dead, his Disciples remembered, that he said this, and they believed the scripture and the word that JESUS did say. {23} And when he was at Jerusalem in the Pasche, upon the festival day, many believed in his name, seeing his signs which he did. {24} But JESUS did not commit himself unto them, for that he knew all, {25} and because it was not needful for him that any should give testimony of man; for he knew what was in man.

Chapter 3

He teacheth Nicodemus, that to come to the kingdom of God, Baptism is necessary, as being our Regeneration, {10} which point Nicodemus as then not understanding, {11} he sheweth that they must believe him, and what good cause there is for them so to do. 23. After this he also baptizeth, and John likewise at the same time. {25} Whereupon a question being moved, Whether Baptism is better, {25} John answereth it by saying, that he is so far inferior to Christ, as a mere man to God most high.

{1} AND there was a man of the Pharisees, named Nicodemus, a Prince of the Jews. {2} This man came to JESUS by night, and said to him: Rabbi, we know that thou art come from God a Master; for no man can do these signs which thou doest, unless God be with him. {3} JESUS answered, and said to him: Amen, Amen I say to thee, unless a man be born again, he can not see the Kingdom of God. {4} Nicodemus said to him: How can a man be born, when he is old? can he enter into his mother's womb again & be born? {5} JESUS answered: Amen, Amen I say to thee, unless a man be born again of water and the Spirit, he can not enter into the Kingdom of God. {6} That which is born of the flesh, is flesh: & that which is born of the Spirit, is spirit. {7} Marvel not, that I said to thee, You must be born again. {8} The Spirit breatheth where he will; and thou hearest his voice, but thou knowest not whence he cometh and whither he goeth: so is every one that is born of the Spirit. {9} Nicodemus answered, & said to him: How can these things be done? {10} JESUS answered, and said to him: Thou art a Master in Israel, and art thou ignorant of these things? {11} Amen, Amen I say to thee, that we speak that which we know, and that which we have seen we testify, and our testimony you receive not. {12} If I have spoken to you earthly things, and you believe not: how if I shall speak to you heavenly things, will you believe? {13} And no man hath ascended into Heaven, but he that descended from Heaven, the Son of man which is in Heaven. {14} And as Moyses exalted the serpent in the desert, so must the Son of man be exalted: {15} that every one which believeth in him, perish not, but may have life everlasting. {16} For so God loved the world, that he gave his only-begotten Son; that every one that believeth in him, perish not, but may have life everlasting. {17} For God sent not his Son into the world, to judge the world, but that the world may be saved by him. {18} He that believeth in him, is not judged. But he that doth not believe, is already judged: because he hath not believed in the name of the only-begotten Son of God. {19} And this is the judgement: because the light is come into the world, and men have loved the darkness rather than the light: for their works were evil. {20} For every one that doeth ill, hateth the light, and cometh not to the light, that his works may not be controlled. {21} But he that doeth verity, cometh to the light, that his works may be made manifest, because they were done in God. {22} After these things JESUS came and his Disciples into the country of Jewry; & there he abode with them, and baptized. {23} And John also was baptizing in Aenon beside Salim; because there was much water there, and they came, and were baptized. {24} For John was not yet cast into prison. {25} And there rose a question of John's Disciples with the Jews concerning purification. {26} And they came to John, and said to him: Rabbi, he that was with thee beyond Jordan, to whom thou didst give testimony, behold he baptizeth, and all come to him. {27} John answered and said: A man can not receive any thing, unless it be given him from Heaven, {28} Your selves do bear me witness, that I said, I am not CHRIST; but that I am sent before him. {29} He that hath the bride, is the bridegroom: but the friend of the bridegroom that standeth and heareth him, rejoiceth with joy for the voice of the bridegroom. This my joy therefore is filled. {30} He must increase, and I diminish. {31} He that cometh from above, is above all. He that is of the earth, of the earth he is, and of the earth he speaketh. He that cometh from Heaven, is above all. {32} And what he hath seen and heard, that he testifieth: and his testimony no man receiveth. {33} He that hath received his testimony, hath signed that God is true. {34} For he whom God hath sent, speaketh the words of God. For God doth not give the Spirit by measure. {35} The Father loveth the Son: & he hath given all things in his hand. {36} He that believeth in the Son: hath life everlasting: but he that is incredulous to the Son, shall not see life, but the wrath of God remaineth upon him.

Chapter 4

Leaving Jewry because of the Pharisees, in the way to Galilee he talketh with a Samaritane woman, telling her that he will give water of everlasting life. {16} shewing him self to know men's secrets, {19} preferring the Jew's religion before the Samaritane's, but ours (the Christian Catholic religion) before them both, {25} and uttering unto her that he is Christ. {28} which by her testimony and his preaching very many Samaritanes do believe: he in the mean time fore telling his Disciples, of the harvest he will send them in to. {45} The Galilaeans also receive him, where again he worketh his second miracle.

{1} WHEN JESUS therefore understood that the Pharisees heard that JESUS maketh more Disciples, and baptizeth, than John, {2} (howbeit JESUS did not baptize, but his Disciples) {3} he left Jewry, and went again into Galilee. {4} And he had of necessity to pass through Samaria. {5} He cometh therefore into a city of Samaria which is called Sichar; beside the manor that Jacob gave to Joseph his son. {6} And there was there the fountain of Jacob.

{1} JESUS therefore wearied of his journey, sat so upon the fountain. It was about the sixth hour. {7} There cometh a woman of Samaria to draw water.

{1} JESUS said to her: Give me to drink. {8} For his Disciples were gone into the city, to buy meats. {9} Therefore that Samaritane woman saith to him: How doest thou being a Jew, ask of me to drink, which am a Samaritane woman? For the Jews do not communicate with the Samaritans. {10} JESUS answered, and said to her: If thou didst know the gift of God, and who he is that saith unto thee, Give me to drink; thou perhaps wouldest have asked of him, and he would have given thee living water. {11} The woman saith to him: Sir, neither hast thou wherein to draw, and the well is deep; whence hast thou the living water? {12} art thou greater than our Father Jacob, who gave us the well, & himself drank of it, and his children, and his cattle? {13} JESUS answered, and said to her: Every one that drinketh of this water, shall thirst again; but he that shall drink of the water that I will give him, shall not thirst for ever, {14} but the water that I will give him, shall become in him a fountain of water springing up onto life everlasting. {15} The woman saith to him: Lord give me this water, that I may not thirst, nor come hither to draw. {16} JESUS saith to her: Go, call thy husband, and come hither. {17} The woman answered and said: I have no husband.

{1} JESUS said to her: Thou hast said well, that I have no husband. {18} For thou hast had five husbands; and he whom thou now hast, is not thy husband. This thou hast said truly. {19} The woman saith to him: Lord, I perceive that thou art a Prophet. {20} Our Fathers adored in this mountain, and you say, that at Jerusalem is the place where men must adore. {21} JESUS saith to her: Woman believe me, that the hour shall come, when you shall neither in this mountain, nor in Jerusalem adore the Father. {22} You adore that you know not: we adore that we know; for salvation is of the Jews. {23} But the hour cometh, and now it is, when the true adorers shall adore the Father in spirit and verity. For the Father also seeketh such to adore him. {24} God is a Spirit, and they that adore him, must adore in spirit and verity. {25} The woman saith to him: I know that MESSIAS cometh, (which is called CHRIST) therefore when he cometh, he will shew us all things. {26} JESUS saith to her: I am he, that speak with thee. {27} And incontinent his Disciples came: and they marveled that he talked with a woman. No man for all that said: What seekest thou, or why talkest thou with her? {28} The woman therefore left her water-pot: and she went into the city, and saith to those men: {29} Come, and see a man that hath told me all things whatsoever I have done. Is not he CHRIST? {30} They went forth therefore out of the city, and came to him. {31} In the mean time the Disciples desired him, saying: Rabbi eat. {32} But he said to them: I have meat to eat which you know not. {33} The Disciples therefore said one to another: Hath any man brought him for to eat? {34} JESUS saith to them: My meat is to do the will of him that sent me, to perfitt his work. {35} Do not you say that yet there are four months, and harvest cometh? Behold I say to you, lift up your eyes, and see the Countries, that they are white already to harvest. {36} And he that reapeth, receiveth hire, and gathereth fruit unto life everlasting: that both he that soweth, and he that reapeth, may rejoice together. {37} For in this is the saying true: that it is one man that soweth, and it is another that reapeth. {38} I have sent you to reap that which you laboured not: others have laboured, & you have entered into their labours. {39} And of that city many believed in him of the Samaritans, for the word of the woman giving testimony, that he told me all things whatsoever I have done. {40} Therefore when the Samaritans were come to him, they desired him that he would tarry there. And he tarried there two days. {41} And many more believed for his own word. {42} And they said to the woman, That now not for thy saying do we believe; for our selves have heard, and do know that this is the Saviour of the world indeed. {43} And after two days he departed thence; and went into Galilee. {44} For JESUS himself gave testimony that a Prophet hath not honour in his own country: {45} Therefore when he was come into Galilee, the Galilaeans received him, whereas they had seen all things that he had done at Jerusalem in the festival day: for themselves also came to the festival day. {46} He came again therefore into Cana of Galilee, where he made water wine. And there was a certain lord whose son was sick at Capharnaum. {47} He having heard that JESUS came from Jewry into Galilee, went to him, and desired him that he would come down and heal his son, For he began to die. {48} JESUS therefore said to him: Unless you see signs and wonders, you believe not. {49} The lord saith to him: Lord, come down before that my son die. {50} JESUS saith to him: Go, thy son liveth. The man believed the word that JESUS said to him, and went. {51} And as he was now going down, his servants met him: and they brought word, saying, That his son lived. {52} He asked therefore of them the hour, wherein he was amended. And they said to him, That yesterday at the seventh hour the fever left him. {53} The father therefore knew that it was in the same hour wherein JESUS said to him: Thy son liveth, and himself believed and his whole house. {54} This again the second sign did JESUS, when he was come from Jewry into Galilee.

Chapter 5

Curing a bedrid man at the pond of miracle, because he doth it on the Sabbath, the blind Jews do persecute him, [7] and again because he saith that God is his natural father. [19] He thereupon continueth saying, the Father's operation and his to be in every thing all one, and that he shall do greater things than these miraculous cures, to wit, [21] quicken the dead in soul by sin, as being appointed Judge of all. [28] yea and quicken the dead in bodies also, incontinent judging all uprightly. [21] And that these are not brags of his own, but his witnesses to be, [33] John Baptist, [26] his own miraculous works, [37] his father's voice at his baptism, [39] the Scriptures also, namely of Moyses.

{1} AFTER these things there was a festival day of the Jews, and JESUS went up to Jerusalem. {2} And there is at Jerusalem upon Probatica a pond which in hebrew is surnamed Bethsaida, having five porches. {3} In these lay a great multitude of sick persons, of blind, lame, withered, expecting the stirring of the water. {4} And an Angel of our Lord descended at a certain time into the pond; and the water was stirred. And he that had gone down first into the pond after the stirring of the water, was made whole of whatsoever infirmity he was holden. {5} And there was a certain man there that had been eight and thirty years in his infirmity. {6} Him when JESUS had seen lying, & knew that he had now a long time, he saith to him: Wilt thou be made whole? {7} The sick man answered him: Lord, I have no man, when the water is troubled, to put me into the pond. For whiles I come, another goeth down before me. {8} JESUS saith to him: Arise, take up thy bed, and walk. {9} And forthwith he was made whole: and he took up his bed, and walked. And it was the Sabbath that day. {10} The Jews therefore said to him that was healed: It is the Sabbath, thou mayst not take up thy bed. {11} He answered them: He that made me whole, he said to me, take up thy bed, and walk. {12} They asked him therefore, what is that man that said to thee, take up thy bed, and walk? {13} But he that was made whole, knew not who it was. For JESUS shrunk aside from the multitude standing in the place. {14} Afterward JESUS findeth him in the temple, & said to him:

Behold thou art made whole; sin no more, lest some worse thing chance to thee. {15} That man went his way, and told the Jews that it was JESUS that made him whole. {16} Thereupon the Jews persecuted JESUS, because he did these things on the Sabbath. {17} But JESUS answered them: My Father worketh until now; and I do work. {18} Thereupon therefore the Jews sought the more to kill him: because he did not only break the Sabbath, but also he said God was his Father, making himself equal to God. {19} JESUS therefore answered, and said to them: Amen, amen, I say to you, the Son can not do any thing of himself, but that which he seeth the Father doing. For what things soever he doeth, these the Son also doeth in like manner. {20} For the Father loveth the Son, and sheweth him all things that himself doeth, and greater works than these will he shew him, that you may marvel. {21} For as the Father doth raise the dead and quickeneth: so the Son also quickeneth whom he will. {22} For neither doth the Father judge any man: but all judgement he hath given to the Son, {23} that all may honour the Son, as they do honour the Father. He that honoureth not the Son, doth not honour the Father, who sent him. {24} Amen, amen I say to you, that he which heareth my word, and believeth him that sent me, hath life everlasting: and he cometh not into judgement, but shall pass from death into life. {25} Amen, amen I say to you, that the hour cometh, and now it is when the dead shall hear the voice of the Son of God, and they that have heard, shall live. {26} For as the Father hath life in himself; so he hath given to the Son also to have life in himself: {27} and he hath given him power to do judgement also because he is the Son of man. {28} Marvel not at this, because the hour cometh wherein all that are in the graves, shall hear his voice, {29} and they that have done good things, shall come forth into the resurrection of life: but they that have done evil into the resurrection of judgement. {30} I can not of myself do any thing. As I hear, so I judge: and my judgement is just, because I seek not my will, but the will of him that sent me. {31} If I give testimony of myself, my testimony is not true. {32} There is another that giveth testimony of me: and I know that the testimony is true which he giveth of me. {33} You sent to John; and he gave testimony to the truth, {34} But I receive not testimony of man: but I say these things that you may be saved. {35} He was the lamp burning and shining. And you would for a time rejoice in his light. {36} But I have a greater testimony than John. For the works which the Father hath given me to perfite them: the very works themselves which I do, give testimony of me, that the Father hath sent me. {37} And the Father that sent me, himself hath given testimony of me: neither have you heard his voice at any time, nor seen his shape, {38} and his word you have not remaining in you: because whom he hath sent, him you believe not. {39} Search the scriptures, for you think in them to have life everlasting: & the same are they that give testimony of me: {40} and you will not come to me that you may have life. {41} Glory of men I receive not. {42} But I have known you, that the love of God you have not in you. {43} I am come in the name of my Father, and you receive me not: if another shall come in his own name, him you will receive. {44} How can you believe, that receive glory one of another: and the glory which is of God only, you seek not? {45} Think not that I will accuse you to the Father. There is that accuseth you, Moyses, in whom you trust. {46} For if you did believe Moyses: you would perhaps believe me also. For of me he hath written. {47} And if you do not believe his writings: how will you believe my words.

Chapter 6

Having with five loaves fed five thousand [16] (walking also the night after upon the sea) [22] on the morrow the people there upon resorting unto him, [27] he preacheth unto them of the Bread which he will give: telling them that he is come from heaven, and therefore able to give such bread as can quicken the world, even his own flesh: and that all his Elect shall believe as much. 60. Many notwithstanding do murmur at this doctrine, yea and become apostatae, though he tell them that they shall see by his Ascension into heaven, that he is descended from heaven, but the Twelve stick unto him, believing that he is God omnipotent, as he said. Among whom also (that no man be scandalized) he signifieth that he foreknoweth which will become a traitor: as among the foresaid, which would become apostates.

{1} AFTER these things JESUS went beyond the sea of Galilee, which is of Tiberias. {2} and a great multitude followed him, because they saw the signs which he did upon those that were sick. {3} JESUS therefore went up into the mountain, and there he sat with his Disciples. {4} And the Pasche was at hand, the festival day of the Jews. {5} When JESUS therefore had lifted up his eyes, and saw that a very great multitude cometh to him, he saith to Philippe: Whence shall we buy bread, that these may eat? {6} And this he said, tempting him. For himself knew what he would do? {7} Philippe answered him: Two hundred peny worth of bread is not sufficient for them, that every man may take a little piece. {8} One of his Disciples, Andrew the brother of Simon Peter, saith to him: {9} There is a boy here that hath five barley loaves, & two fishes; but what are these among so many? {10} JESUS therefore saith: Make the men to sit down. And there was much grass in the place. The men therefore sat down, in number about five thousand. {11} JESUS therefore took the loaves; and when he had given thanks, he distributed to them that sat. In like manner also of the fishes as much as they would. {12} And after they were filled, he said to his Disciples: Gather the fragments that are remaining, lest they be lost. {13} They gathered therefore, and filled twelve baskets with fragments of the five barley loaves, which remained to them that had eaten. {14} Those men therefore when they had seen what a sign JESUS had done, said, That this is the Prophet indeed that is to come into the world. {15} JESUS therefore when he knew that they would come to take him, and make him king, he fled again into the mountain him self alone. {16} And when even was come, his Disciples went down to the sea. {17} And when they were gone up into the ship, they came beyond the sea into Capharnaum: And now it was dark and JESUS was not come unto them. {18} And the sea arose, by reason of a great wind that blew. {19} When they had rowed therefore about five and twenty or thirty furlongs, they see JESUS walking upon the sea, and to draw nigh to the ship, and they feared. {20} But he said to them: It is I, fear not. {21} They would therefore have taken him into the ship: and forthwith the ship was at the land to which they went. {22} The next day, the multitude that stood beyond the sea, saw that there was no other boat there but one, and that JESUS had not entered into the boat with his Disciples, but that his Disciples only were departed. {23} But other boats came in from Tiberias beside the place where they had eaten the bread, our Lord giving thanks. {24} When therefore the multitude saw that JESUS was not there, nor his Disciples, they went up into the boats, & came to Capharnaum seeking JESUS. {25} And when they had found him beyond the sea, they said to him: Rabbi, when camest thou hither? {26} JESUS answered them, and said: Amen, amen I say to you, you seek me not because you have seen signs, but because you did eat of the loaves, and were filled. {27} Work not the meat that perisheth, but that endureth unto life everlasting, which the Son of man will give you. For him the Father, God, hath signed. {28} They said therefore unto him: What shall we do that we may work the works of God? {29} JESUS answered, and said to them: This is the work of God, that you believe in him whom he hath sent. {30} They said therefore to him: What sign therefore doest thou, that we may see, and may believe thee? what workest thou? {31} Our Fathers did eat Manna in the desert as it is written, Bread from Heaven he gave them to eat. {32} JESUS therefore said to them: Amen, amen I say to you, Moyses gave you not the bread from Heaven, but my Father giveth you the true bread from Heaven. {33} For the bread of God it is that descended from Heaven, and giveth life to the world. {34} They said therefore unto him: Lord, give us always this bread. {35} And JESUS said to them: I am the bread of life, he that cometh to me, shall not hunger; and he that believeth in me, shall never thirst. {36} But I said to you that both you have seen me and you believe not. {37} All that the Father giveth me, shall come to me; and him that cometh to me I will not cast forth. {38} Because I descended from Heaven, not to do mine own will, but the will of him that sent me. {39} For this is the will of him that sent me, the Father: that all that he hath given me I leese not thereof, but raise it in the last day. {40} And this is the will of my Father that sent me; that every one that seeth the Son, and believeth in him, have life everlasting, & I will raise him in the last day. {41} The Jews therefore murmured at him, because he had said, I am the bread which descended from Heaven; {42} and they said: Is not this JESUS the son of Joseph, whose father and mother we know? How then saith he, That I descended from Heaven? {43} JESUS therefore answered and said to them: Murmur not one to another: {44} no man can come to me, unless the Father that sent me, draw him, and I will raise him up in the last day. {45} It is written in the Prophets: And all shall be docible of God. Every one that hath heard of the Father, & hath learned, cometh to me. {46} Not that any man hath seen the Father, but he which is of God; this hath seen the Father. {47} Amen, amen I say to you: He that believeth in me, hath life everlasting. {48} I am the bread of life. {49} Your fathers did eat Manna in the desert; and they died. {50} This is the bread that descended from Heaven: that if any man eat of it, he die not. {51} I am the living bread, that came down from Heaven. {52} If any man eat of this bread, he shall live for ever: and the bread which I will give, is my flesh for the life of the world. {53} The Jews therefore strove among themselves, saying: How can this man give us his flesh to eat? {54} JESUS therefore said to them: Amen, amen I say to you, unless you eat the flesh of the Son of man, and drink his blood, you shall not have life in you. {55} He that eateth my flesh, and drinketh my blood, hath life everlasting; and I will raise him up in the last day. {56} For my flesh, is meat indeed: and my blood is drink indeed. {57} He that eateth my flesh, and drinketh my blood, abideth in me, and I in him. {58} As the living Father hath sent me, and I live by the Father: and he that eateth me, the same also shall live by me. {59} This is the bread that came down from Heaven. Not as your fathers did eat Manna, and died. He that eateth this bread, shall live for ever. {60} These things he said teaching in the Synagogue, in Capharnaum. {61} Many therefore of his Disciples hearing it, said: This saying is hard, and who can hear it? {62} But JESUS knowing with himself that his Disciples murmured at this, he said to them: Doth this scandalize you? {63} If then you shall see the Son of man ascend where he was before? {64} It is the spirit that quickeneth, the flesh profiteth nothing. The words that I have spoken to you, be spirit and life. {65} But there be certain of you that believe not. For JESUS knew from the beginning who they were that did not believe, and who he was that would betray him. {66} And he said: Therefore did I say to you, that no man can come to me, unless it be given him of my Father. {67} After this many of his Disciples went back: and now they walked not with him. {68} JESUS therefore said to the Twelve: What, will you also depart? {69} Simon Peter therefore answered him: Lord, to whom shall we go? thou hast the words of eternal life. {70} And we believe and have known that thou art Christ the Son of God. {71} JESUS answered them: Have not I chosen you the Twelve; and of you one is a devil? {72} And he meant Judas Iscariot, Simon's son: for this same was to betray him, whereas he was one of the Twelve.

Chapter 7

The Jews (of Hierusalem) seeking his death, he walketh in Galilee: Where he signifieth to his brethren, that not in this feast Scenopegia, but in an other (to Wit, Pasche following) the Jews should kill him: that is, not when they would, but when he will, [10] in so much that at this feast he teacheth openly in the Temple, and converteth many, [14] both in the middle day [37] and the last day thereof, without any hurt, though also the Rulers send to apprehend him.

{1} AFTER these things JESUS walked into Galilee, for he would not walk into Jewry: because the Jews sought to kill him. {2} And the festival day of the Jews, Scenopegia, was at hand. {3} And his brethren said to him: Pass from hence, and go into Jewry; that thy Disciples also may see thy works which thou doest. {4} For no man doeth any thing in secret, and seeketh himself to be in public.

If thou do these things, manifest thy self to the world. {5} For neither did his brethren believe in him. {6} JESUS therefore saith to them: My time is not yet come; but your time is always ready. {7} The world can not hate you, but me it hateth: because I give testimony of it, that the works thereof are evil. {8} Go you up to this festival day: I go not up to this festival day; because my time is not yet accomplished. {9} When he had said these things, himself tarried in Galilee. {10} But after his brethren were gone up, then he also went up to the festival day, not openly, but as it were in secret. {11} The Jews therefore sought him in the festival day, and said: Where is he? {12} And there was much murmuring in the multitude of him. For certain said: That he is good. And others said: No, but he seduceth the multitudes. {13} Yet no man spake openly of him for fear of the Jews. {14} And when the festivity was now half done, JESUS went up into the temple, and taught. {15} And the Jews marveled, saying: How doth this man know letters, whereas he hath not learned? {16} JESUS answered them, and said: My doctrine is not mine, but his that sent me. {17} If any man will do the will of him, he shall understand of the doctrine whether it be of God, or I speak of my self. {18} He that speaketh of himself, seeketh his own glory. But he that seeketh the glory of him that sent him, he is true, and injustice in him there is not. {19} Did not Moyses give you the law, and none of you doeth the law? {20} Why seek you to kill me? The multitude answered, and said, Thou hast a devil, who seeketh to kill thee? {21} JESUS answered and said to them: One work I have done; and you do all marvel. {22} Therefore Moyses gave you circumcision: not that it is of Moyses, but of the fathers, and in the Sabbath you circumcise a man. {23} If a man receive circumcision in the Sabbath, that the law of Moyses be not broken; are you angry at me because I have healed a man wholly in the Sabbath? {24} Judge not according to the face, but judge just judgement. {25} Certain therefore of Jerusalem said: Is not this he whom they seek to kill? {26} And behold, he speaketh openly, and they say nothing to him. Have the Princes known indeed that this is CHRIST? {27} But this man we know whence he is. But when CHRIST cometh, no man knoweth whence he is. {28} JESUS therefore cried in the temple teaching and saying: Both me you do know, and whence I am you know. And of my self I am not come, but he is true that sent me, whom you know not. {29} I know him, because I am of him, and he sent me. {30} They sought therefore to apprehend him: and no man laid hands upon him, because his hour was not yet come. {31} But of the multitude many believed in him, and said: CHRIST, when he cometh shall he do more signs than these which this man doeth? {32} The Pharisees heard the multitude murmuring these things touching him: and the Princes and Pharisees sent Ministers to apprehend him. {33} JESUS therefore said to them: Yet a little time I am with you: and I go to him that sent me. {34} You seek me, and shall not find: and where I am, you can not come. {35} The Jews therefore said among themselves, whither will this man go, that we shall not find him? will he go into the dispersion of the Gentiles, and teach the Gentiles? {36} What is this saying that he hath said: You shall seek me, and shall not find; and where I am, you can not come. {37} And in the last, the great day of the festivity JESUS stood and cried, saying: If any man thirst, let him come to me, and drink. {38} He that believeth in me, as the scripture saith, Out of his belly shall flow rivers of living water. {39} (And this he said of the Spirit that they should receive which believed in him. For as yet the Spirit was not given: because JESUS was not yet glorified.) {40} Of that multitude therefore, when they had heard these words of his, some said: This is the Prophet indeed. {41} Others said: This is CHRIST. But certain said: Why, doth CHRIST come from Galilee? {42} Doth not the scripture say: That of the seed of David, and from Bethlehem the town where David was, CHRIST doth come? {43} Therefore there arose dissension in the multitude for him. {44} And certain of them would have apprehended him: but no man laid hands upon him. {45} The ministers therefore came to the chief Priests and the Pharisees. And they said to them: Why have you not brought him? {46} The Ministers answered: Never did there man so speak, as this man. {47} The Pharisees therefore answered them: Why, are you also seduced? {48} Hath any of the Princes believed in him, or of the Pharisees? {49} but this multitude that knoweth not the law, are accursed. {50} Nicodemus said to them he that came to him by night, who was one of them: {51} Doth our law judge a man, unless it first hear him, and know what he doeth? {52} They answered & said to him: Why, art thou also a Galilaean? Search, & see that from Galilee a Prophet riseth not. {53} And every man returned to his house.

Again in the Temple (absolving an adulteress after his merciful manner, and yet withal declaring against his enemies that he is not a favourer of sin, no more than Moyses) 12. he teacheth openly, and is not for all that apprehended, telling them both of his Godhead, [21]. and of their reprobation [28], of his exaltation also by their Crucifying of him, [31]. exhorting the believers to persevere: [33], and shewing them that seek his death, that they are neither free, [39], nor of Abraham, [41], nor of God, [44], but of the Devil, [45], but that him self is of God, [52], and greater and ancienter than Abraham. [59]. For the which they go about to stone him, but in vain.

{1} AND JESUS went into the Mount-olivet: {2} came into the temple, and the people and early in the morning again he came to him, and sitting he taught them. {3} And the Scribes and Pharisees bring a woman taken in adultery; and they did set her in the midst, {4} And said to him: Master, this woman was even now taken in adultery. {5} And in the law, Moyses commanded us to stone such. What sayest thou therefore? {6} And this they said tempting him, that they might accuse him. But JESUS bowing himself down, with his finger wrote in the earth. {7} When they therefore continued asking him, he lifted up himself, and said to them: He that is without sin of you, let him first throw the stone at her. {8} And again bowing himself, he wrote in the earth. {9} And they hearing, went out one by one, beginning at the seniors: and JESUS alone remained, and the woman standing in the midst. {10} And JESUS lifting up himself, said to her: Woman, where are they that accused thee? Hath no man condemned thee? {11} Who said: No man, Lord. And JESUS said: Neither will I condemn thee. Go, and now sin no more. {12} Again therefore JESUS spake to them, saying: I am the light of the world: he that followeth me, walketh not in darkness, but shall have the light of life. {13} The Pharisees therefore said to him: Thou givest testimony of thy self; thy testimony is not true. {14} JESUS answered, and said to them: Although I do give testimony of my self, my testimony is true: because I know whence I came, & whither I go: but you know not whence I come, or whither I go. {15} You judge according to the flesh: I do not judge any man. {16} And if I do judge, my judgement is true: because I am not alone, but I and he that sent me, the Father. {17} And in your law it is written, that the testimony of two men is true. {18} I am he that give testimony of my self: and he that sent me, the Father, giveth testimony of me. {19} They said therefore to him: Where is thy Father? JESUS answered, Neither me do you know, nor my Father. If you did know me, perhaps you might know my Father also. {20} These words JESUS spake in the Treasury, teaching in the temple, and no man apprehended him, because his hour was not yet come. {21} Again therefore JESUS said to them: I go, and you shall seek me, and shall die in your sin. Whither I go, you can not come. {22} The Jews therefore said: Why, will he kill himself, because he saith: Whither I go, you can not come? {23} And he said to them: You are from beneath, I am from above. You are of this world, I am not of this world. {24} Therefore I said to you that you shall die in your sins. For if you believe not that I am he, you shall die in your sin. {25} They said therefore to him: Who art thou? JESUS said to them: The Beginning who also speak to you. {26} Many things I have to speak and judge of you. But he that sent me, is true: and what I have heard of him, these things I speak in the world. {27} And they knew not that he said to them that his Father was God. {28}

JESUS therefore said to them: When you shall have exalted the Son of man, then you shall know that I am he, and of my self I do nothing, but as the Father hath taught me, these things I speak: {29} and he that sent me, is with me: and he hath not left me alone, because the things that please him I do always. {30} When he spake these things, many believed in him. {31} JESUS therefore said to them that believed him, the Jews: If you abide in my word, you shall be my Disciples indeed. {32} And you shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free. {33} They answered him: We are the seed of Abraham, and we never served any man: how sayest thou, You shall be free? {34} JESUS answered them: Amen, amen I say to you, that every one which committeth sin, is the servant of sin. {35} And the servant abideth not in the house for ever: the son abideth for ever. {36} If therefore the Son make you free, you shall be free indeed. {37} I know that you are the children of Abraham: but you seek to kill me, because my word taketh not in you. {38} I speak that which I have seen with my Father: and you do the things that you have seen with your father. {39} They answered, and said to him: Our father is Abraham.

{1} JESUS saith to them: If you be the children of Abraham, do the works of Abraham. {40} But now, you seek to kill me, a man that have spoken the truth to you, which I have heard of God. This did not Abraham. {41} You do the works of your father. They said therefore to him: We were not born of fornication. We have one Father, God. {42} JESUS therefore said to them: If God were your Father, verily you would love me. For from God I proceeded, and came: for I came not of my self, but he sent me: {43} Why do you not know my speech? Because you can not hear my word. {44} You are of your father the devil, & the desires of your father you will do. He was a man-killer from the beginning, & he stood not in the verity; because verity is not in him. When he speaketh a lie, he speaketh of his own, because he is a liar, & the father thereof. {45} But because I say the verity, you believe me not. {46} Which of you shall argue me of sin? If I say the verity, why do you not believe me? {47} He that is of God, heareth the words of God. Therefore you hear not, because you are not of God. {48} The Jews therefore answered, and said to him: Do not we say well that thou art a Samaritane, and hast a devil? {49} JESUS answered: I have no devil: but I do honour my Father, and you have dishonoured me. {50} but I seek not mine own glory. There is that seeketh and judgeth. {51} Amen, amen I say to you: If any man keep my word, he shall not see death for ever. {52} The Jews therefore said: Now we have known that thou hast a devil. Abraham is dead, and the Prophets; and thou sayest: If any man keep my word, he shall not taste death for ever. {53} Why, art thou greater than our father Abraham, who is dead? and the Prophets are dead. Whom doest thou make thy self? {54} JESUS answered: If I do glorify my self, my glory is nothing. It is my Father that glorifieth me, whom you say that he is your God. {55} And you have not known him, but I know him. And if I shall say that I know him not, I shall be like to you, a liar. But I do know him, and do keep his word. {56} Abraham your father rejoiced that he might see my day: and he saw, and was glad. {57} The Jews therefore said to him: Thou hast not yet fifty years and hast thou seen Abraham? {58} JESUS said to them: Amen, amen I say to you, before that Abraham was made, I am. {59} They took stones therefore to cast at him. But JESUS hid himself, and went out of the temple.

To shew that by his Baptism (being the Sacrament of illumination or faith) he will take away the blindness of the world, he giveth with strange ceremonies sight to one born blind. {8} By which wonderful miracle (the attestation of the party him self and of his parents concurring) first the neighbours, then also the Pharisees them selves are plainly confounded. Yet so obstinate they are, that because it was the Sabbath when he wrought it, they infer that he is not of God: yea and throw out of their Synagogue the party for confessing him. {15} But our Lord receiveth him: {39} and foretelleth by this occasion, the execution of the Jews (because of their wilful obstinacy) and illumination of the Gentiles who confess their own blindness.

{1} AND JESUS passing by, saw a man blind: from his nativity; asked him: Rabbi, who hath sinned, this {2} and his Disciples man, or his parents, that he should be born blind? JESUS answered: {3} Neither hath this man sinned, nor his parents; but that the works of God may be manifested in him. {4} I must work the works of him that sent me, whiles it is day. The night cometh, when no man can work. {5} As long as I am in the world, I am the light of the world. {6} When he had said these things, he spit on the ground, and made clay of the spittle, and spread the clay upon his eyes, {7} and said to him: Go, wash in the pool of Siloe, which is interpreted, Sent. He went therefore, and washed; and he came seeing. {8} Therefore the neighbours, and they which had seen him before, that he was a beggar, said: Is not this he that sat, and begged? Others said: That this is he. {9} But others: No, not so, but he is like him. But he said: That I am he. {10} They said therefore to him: How were thine eyes opened? {11} He answered: That man that is called JESUS, made clay, and anointed mine eyes, and said to me: Go to the pool of Siloe, and wash. And I went, and washed, and saw. {12} And they said to him: Where is he? He saith: I know not. {13} They bring him that had been blind, to the Pharisees. {14} And it was the Sabbath when JESUS made the clay, and opened his eyes. {15} Again therefore the Pharisees asked him, how he saw. But he said to them: He put clay upon mine eyes, & I washed; and I see. {16} Certain therefore of the Pharisees said: This man is not of God, that keepeth not the Sabbath. But others said: How can a man that is a sinner do these signs? And there was a schism among them. {17} They say therefore to the blind again: Thou, what sayest thou of him that opened thine eyes? And he said: That he is a Prophet. {18} The Jews therefore did not believe of him, that he had been blind and saw, until they called the parents of him that saw, {19} and asked them, saying: Is this your son, whom you say that he was born blind? how then doth he now see? {20} His parents answered them, and said: We know that this is our son, and that he was born blind; {21} but how he now seeth, we know not, or who hath opened his eyes, we know not, ask himself; he is of age, let himself speak of himself. {22} These things his parents said, because they feared the Jews. For the Jews had now conspired, that if any man should confess him to be CHRIST, he should be put out of the Synagogue. {23} Therefore did his parents say: That he is of age, ask himself. {24} They therefore again called the man that had been blind, and said to him: Give glory to God. We know that this man is a sinner. {25} He therefore said to them: Whether he be a sinner, I know not: one thing I know, that whereas I was blind, now I see. {26} They said therefore to him: What did he to thee? how did he open thine eyes? {27} He answered them: I have now told you, and you have heard; why will you hear it again? will you also become his Disciples? {28} They reviled him therefore, & said: Be thou his Disciple: but we are the Disciples of Moyses. {29} We know that to Moyses God did speak; but this man we know not whence he is. {30} The man answered and said to them: For in this it is marvelous that you know not whence he is, and he hath opened mine eyes. {31} And we know that sinners God doth not hear. But if a man be a server of God, and do the will of him, him he heareth. {32} From the beginning of the world it hath not been heard that any man hath opened the eyes of one born blind. {33} unless this man were of God, he could not do any thing. {34} They answered and said to him: Thou wast wholly born in sins, and doest thou teach us? And they did cast him forth. {35} JESUS heard that they cast him forth; & when he had found him, he said to him: Doest thou believe in the Son of God? {36} He answered, and said: Who is he Lord, that I may believe in him? {37} And JESUS said to him: Both thou hast seen him; and he that talketh with thee, he it is. {38} But he said, I believe Lord. And falling down he adored him. {39} And JESUS said to him: For judgement came I into this world; that they that see not, may see: and they that see, may become blind. {40} And certain of the Pharisees that were with him, heard; and they said to him: Why, are we also blind? {41} JESUS said to them: If you were blind, you should not have sin, but now you say, That we see. Your sin remaineth.

Chapter 10

He continueth his talk to the Pharisees, shewing that they and all other that will not enter in by him, are wolves: and that they which hear them, are not the true sheep. {11} But that him self is the good Pastor, and therefore to save the sheep from these wolves, he will yield his life, which otherwise no might of theirs could take from him: fortelling also his Resurrection, and vocation of the Gentiles. {22} Again an other time, he telleth these Jews openly, that they are not of his sheep, and that no might of theirs shall take from him his true sheep, because he is God, even as his Father is God. {31} Which by his miracles and by Scripture he sheweth to be no blasphemy: and they in vain seeking to stone and, to apprehend him, {40} he goeth out to the place where John Baptist had given open witness of him.

{1} AMEN, amen I say to you, he that entereth not by the door into the fold of the sheep, but climbeth up another way; he is a thief and a robber. {2} But he that entereth by the door, is the Pastor of the sheep. {3} To this man the porter openeth; and the sheep hear his voice: and he calleth his own sheep by name, and leadeth them forth. {4} And when he hath let forth his own sheep, he goeth before them: and the sheep follow him, because they know his voice. {5} But a stranger they follow not, but fly from him because they know not the voice of strangers. {6} This proverb JESUS said to them. But they knew not what he spake to them. {7} JESUS therefore said to them again: Amen, amen I say to you, that I am the door of the sheep. {8} And how many soever have come, are thieves and robbers: but the sheep heard them not. {9} I am the door. By me if any enter, he shall be saved: & he shall go in and shall go out, & shall find pastures. {10} The thief cometh not but to steal and kill & destroy. I came that they may have life, & may have more abundantly. {11} I am the good Pastor. {12} The good Pastor giveth his life for his sheep. But the hireling & he that is not the Pastor, whose own the sheep are not, seeth the wolf coming, and leaveth the sheep, and flyeth: and the wolf raveneth, and disperseth the sheep. {13} And the hireling flyeth because he is a hireling; and he hath no care of the sheep. {14} I am the good Pastor; and I know mine, and mine know me. {15} As the Father knoweth me, and I know the Father: and I yield my life for my sheep. {16} And other sheep I have that are not of this fold: them also I must bring, and they shall hear my voice, and there shall be made one fold and one Pastor. {17} Therefore the Father loveth me: because I yield my life, that I may take it again. {18} No man taketh it away from me: but I yield it of myself. And I have power to yield it: and I have power to take it again. This commandment I received of my Father. {19} A dissension rose again among the Jews for these words. {20} And many of them said: He hath a devil and is mad; why hear you him? {21} Others said: These are not the words of one that hath a devil. Can a devil open the eyes of blind men? {22} And the Dedication was in Jerusalem: and it was winter. {23} And JESUS walked in the temple, in Salomon's porch. {24} The Jews therefore compassed him round about, and said to him: How long doest thou hold our soul in suspense? if thou be CHRIST, tell us openly. {25} JESUS answered them: I speak to you; and you believe not; the works that I do in the name of my Father, they give testimony of me. {26} But you do not believe, because you are not of my sheep. {27} My sheep hear my voice; and I know them, and they follow me. {28} And I give them life everlasting; and they shall not perish for ever, and no man shall pluck them out of my hand. {29} My Father, that which he hath given me, is greater than all: and no man can pluck them out of the hand of my Father. {30} I and the Father are one. {31} The Jews took up stones, to stone him. {32} JESUS answered them: Many good works I have shewed you from my Father, for which of those works do you stone me? {33} The Jews answered him: For a good work we stone thee not, but for blasphemy, and because thou being a man, makest thyself God. {34} JESUS answered them: Is it not written in your law, that I said, you are gods? {35} If he called them gods, to whom the word of God was made, and the scripture can not be broken; {36} whom the Father hath sanctified and sent into the world, say you, That thou blasphemest, because I said I am the Son of God? {37} If I do not the works of my Father, believe me not. {38} But if I do, and if you will not believe me, believe the works: that you may know and believe that the Father is in me, and I in the Father. {39} They sought therefore to apprehend him; and he went forth out of their hands. {40} And he went again beyond Jordan into that place where John was baptizing first; and he tarried there. {41} and many came to him, and they said: That John indeed did no sign. But all things whatsoever John said of this man, were true. {42} And many believed in him.

He cometh once again into Jewry boldly (the time that he would be killed of them, being not yet come) and raiseth Lazarus four days buried. {47} At which miracle the blind malice of the rulers so increaseth, that in Council they conclude to make him away, howbeit the high Priest prophesieth unawares, of the salvation of the world by his death. {54} He thereupon goeth again out of the way.

{1} AND there was a certain sick man, Lazarus of Bethania, of the town of Mary & Martha her sister. {2} (And Mary was she that anointed our Lord with ointment, & wiped his feet with her hair: whose brother Lazarus was sick.) {3} His sisters therefore sent to him saying: Lord, behold, he whom thou lovest, is sick. {4} And JESUS hearing, said to them: This sickness is not to death, but for the glory of God: that the Son of God may be glorified by it. {5} And JESUS loved Martha, and her sister Mary, and Lazarus. {6} As he heard therefore that he was sick, then he tarried in the same place two days: {7} then after this he saith to his Disciples: Let us go into Jewry again. {8} The Disciples say to him: Rabbi, now the Jews sought to stone thee; and goest thou thither again? {9} JESUS answered: Are there not twelve hours of the day? If a man walk in the day, he stumbleth not: because he seeth the light of this world: {10} but if he walk in the night, he stumbleth, because the light is not in him. {11} These things he said; and after this he saith to them: Lazarus our friend sleepeth; but I go that I may raise him from sleep. {12} His Disciples therefore said: Lord, if he sleep, he shall be safe. {13} But JESUS spake of his death; & they thought that he spake of the sleeping of sleep. {14} Then therefore JESUS said to them plainly: Lazarus is dead; {15} and I am glad for your sake, that you may believe, because I was not there: but let us go to him. {16} Thomas therefore, who is called Didymus, said to his condisciples: Let us also go, to die with him. {17} JESUS therefore came, and found him now having been four days in the grave. {18} (And Bethania was nigh to Jerusalem about fifteen furlongs.) {19} And many of the Jews were come to Martha and Mary, to comfort them concerning their brother. {20} Martha therefore when she heard that JESUS was come, went to meet him; but Mary sat at home. {21} Martha therefore said to JESUS: Lord if thou hadst been here, my brother had not died. {22} But now also I know that what things soever thou shalt ask of God, God will give thee. {23} JESUS saith to her: Thy brother shall rise again. {24} Martha saith to him: I know that he shall rise again in the resurrection, in the last day. {25} JESUS saith to her: I am the resurrection and the life; he that believeth in me, although he be dead, shall live. {26} And every one that liveth, and believeth in me, shall not die for ever. Believest thou this? {27} She saith to him: Yea Lord, I have believed that thou art CHRIST the Son of God that art come into this world. {28} And when she had said these things, she went, and called Mary her sister secretly, saying: The Master is come, & calleth thee. {29} She, when she heard, riseth quickly & cometh to him. {30} For JESUS was not yet come into the town: but he was yet in that place where Martha had met him. {31} The Jews therefore that were with her in the house and did comfort her, when they saw Mary that she rose quickly and went forth, followed her, saying: That she goeth to the grave, to weep there. {32} Mary therefore when she was come where JESUS was, seeing him, fell at his feet, and saith to him: Lord, if thou hadst been here, my brother had not died. {33} JESUS therefore when he saw her, weeping, and the Jews that were come with her, weeping, he groaned in spirit, and troubled himself, {34} and said: Where have you laid him? They say to him: Lord, come and see. {35} And JESUS wept. {36} The Jews therefore said: Behold how he loved him. {37} But certain of them said: Could not he that opened the eyes of the blind man, make that this man should not die? {38} JESUS therefore again groaning in him self, cometh to the grave: and it was a cave; and a stone was laid over it. {39} JESUS saith: Take away the stone. Martha the sister of him that was dead, said to him: Lord, now he stinketh, for he is now of four days. {40} JESUS saith to her: Did not I say to thee, that if thou believe, thou shalt see the glory of God? {41} They took therefore the stone away. And JESUS lifting his eyes upward, said: Father, I give thee thanks that thou hast heard me. {42} And I did know that thou doest always hear me, but for the people that standeth about, have I said it, that they may believe that thou hast sent me. {43} When he had said these things, he cried with a loud voice: Lazarus, come forth. {44} And forthwith he came forth that had been dead, bound feet and hands with winding bands, and his face was tied with a napkin.

{1} JESUS said to them: Loose him, and let him go. {45} Many therefore of the Jews that were come to Mary & Martha, & had seen the things that JESUS did, believed in him. {46} And certain of them went to the Pharisees, & told them the things that JESUS did. {47} The chief Priests therefore & the Pharisees gathered a Council, & said: What do we, for this man doeth many signs. {48} If we let him alone so, all will believe in him: & the Romans will come, & take away our place & nation. {49} But one of them named Caiphas, being the high Priest of that year, said to them: You know nothing, {50} neither do you consider: that it is expedient for us that one man die for the people, & the whole nation perish not. {51} And this he said not of himself: but being the high Priest of that year, he prophesied that JESUS should die for the nation. {52} And not only for the nation, but to gather into one the children of God that were dispersed. {53} From that day therefore they devised to kill him. {54} JESUS therefore walked no more openly among the Jews, but he went into the country beside the desert unto a city that is called Ephrem, and there he abode with his Disciples. {55} And the Pasche of the Jews was at hand: & many of the country went up to Jerusalem before the Pasche to sanctify themselves. {56} They sought JESUS therefore; and they communed one with another, standing in the temple: What think you, in that he is not come to the festival day? And the chief Priests & Pharisees had given commandment, that if any man should know where he was, he should tell, that they might apprehend him.

Chapter 12

The Rulers dealing as if he hid him self.

{1} he cometh to Bethania. {3} Where by occasion of Judas the thief murmuring at Mary Magdalen's costly devotion, he foretelleth his death. {12} From thence, though they did now intend to kill Lazarus also, he rideth openly into Hierusalem, the people (because he had raised Lazarus) confessing with their acclamations that he is Christ. {20} Where certain Gentiles desiring to see him, {23} he foretelleth the conversion of the whole world from the Devil to him, to be now instant, as the effect of his death upon the Cross. {28} The Father also answering from heaven of his prayer made to that purpose, {37} yet after all this, the Jews continue incredulous as Esay prophesied of them: {42} though many believed, but were ashamed to confess him. {441150} Whereupon he sheweth that it is glorious before God, and salvation to them selves, to believe in him, and confess him: and damnable, to despise him.

{1} JESUS therefore six days before the Pasche came to Bethania, where Lazarus was, that had been dead, whom JESUS raised. {2} And they made him a supper there: and Martha ministered, but Lazarus was one of them that sat at the table with him. {3} Mary therefore took a pound of ointment of right spikenard, precious, and anointed the feet of JESUS, and wiped his feet with her hair: and the house was filled of the odour of the ointment. {4} One therefore of his Disciples, Judas Iscariote, he that was to betray him, said: {5} Why was not this ointment sold for three-hundred pence, and given to the poor? {6} And he said this, not because he cared for the poor; but because he was a thief, and having the purse, carried the things that were put in. {7} JESUS therefore said: Let her alone that she may keep it for the day of my burial. {8} For the poor you have always with you; but me you shall not have always. {9} A great multitude therefore of the Jews knew that he was there; and they came, not for JESUS only, but that they might see Lazarus, whom he raised from the dead. {10} But the chief Priests devised for to kill Lazarus also: {11} because many for him of the Jews went away, and believed in JESUS. {12} And on the morrow a great multitude that was come to the festival day when they had heard that JESUS cometh to Jerusalem, {13} they took the boughs of palms, and went forth to meet him, & cried: Hosanna, Blessed is he that cometh in the name of our Lord, the King of Israel. {14} And JESUS found a young ass, and sat upon it, as it is written: {15} Fear not daughter of Sion: behold, thy King cometh sitting upon an ass's colt. {16} These things his Disciples did not know at the first: but when JESUS was glorified, then they remembered that these things had been written of him, and these things they did to him. {17} The multitude therefore gave testimony, which was with him when he called Lazarus out of the grave, and raised him from the dead. {18} For therefore also the multitude came to meet him, because they heard that he had done this sign. {19} The Pharisees therefore said among themselves: Do you see that we prevail nothing? Behold the whole world is gone after him. {20} And there were certain Gentiles of them that came up to adore in the festival day. {21} These therefore came to Philippe who was of Bethsaida of Galilee, and desired him, saying: Sir, we are desirous to see JESUS. {22} Philippe cometh and telleth Andrew. Again Andrew & Philippe told JESUS. {23} But JESUS answered them, saying: The hour is come, that the Son of man shall be glorified. {24} Amen, amen I say to you, unless the grain of wheat falling into the ground, die: it self remaineth alone, but if it die, it bringeth much fruit. {25} He that loveth his life shall lose it: and he that hateth his life in this world, doth keep it to life everlasting. {26} If any man minister to me, let him follow me: and where I am, there also shall my minister be. If any man minister to me, my Father will honour him. {27} Now my soul is troubled. And what shall I say? Father, save me from this hour. But therefore came I into this hour. {28} Father, glorify thy name. A voice therefore came from Heaven: Both I have glorified it, and again I will glorify it. {29} The multitude therefore that stood and had heard, said that it thundered. Others said, An Angel spake to him. {30} JESUS answered, and said: This voice came not for me, but for your sake. {31} Now is the judgement of the world: now the Prince of this world shall be cast forth. {32} And I, if I be exalted from the earth, will draw all things to my self. {33} (And this he said, signifying what death he should die.) {34} The multitude answered him: We have heard out of the law, that CHRIST abideth for ever; and how sayest thou: The Son of man must be exalted? Who is this Son of man? {35} JESUS therefore said to them: Yet a little while, the light is among you. Walk whiles you have the light, that the darkness overtake you not. And he that walketh in darkness, knoweth not whither he goeth. {36} Whiles you have the light, believe in the light, that you may be the children of light. These things JESUS spake and he went away, and hid himself from them.

{37} And whereas he had done so many signs before them, they believed not in him: {38} that the saying of Esay the Prophet might be fulfilled, which he said: Lord, who hath believed the hearing of us? {39} and the arm of our Lord to whom hath it been revealed? {40} Therefore they could not believe, because Esay said again: He hath blinded their eyes, and indurated their heart: that they may not see with their eyes, nor understand with their heart, and be converted, and I heal them. {41} These things said Esiae, when he saw his glory, & spake of him. {42} But yet of the Princes also many believed in him: but for the Pharisees they did not confess, that they might not be cast out of the Synagogue. {43} For they loved the glory of men more, than the glory of God. {44} But JESUS cried, and said: He that believeth in me, doth not believe in me, but in him that sent me. {45} And he that seeth me, seeth him that sent me. {46} I a light am come into this world: that every one which believeth in me, may not remain in the darkness. {47} And if any man hear my words, and keep them not: I do not judge him. For I came not to judge the world, but to save the world. {48} He that despiseth me, & receiveth not my words, hath that judgeth him. the word that I have spoken, that shall judge him in the last day. {49} Because, of my self I have not spoken, but the Father that sent me, he gave me commandment what I should say, and what I should speak. {50} And I know that his commandment is life everlasting. The things therefore that I speak: as the Father said to me, so do I speak.

Chapter 13

At his last supper, to give his farewell, and that in most wonderful loving manner, [4] he washeth his Disciple's feet, [6] beginning with Peter, [8] (shewing how necessary it is for to be washed by him in Baptism, and needful also after Baptism) [12] and by this example teaching them all humility one toward an other. [21] Then he foretelleth, that (nowwithstanding his exceeding love toward them) one even of them will betray him, meaning Juda, [22] as to John he secretly sheweth. After those going out, he rejoiceth and saith that even now the hour is come, [34] commendeth unto them to love together, as a new commandment, [36] and foretelleth Peter who presumed too much of his own strength, that even this night he will deny him thrice.

{1} AND before the festival day of Pasche, JESUS knowing that his hour was come that he should pass out of this world to his Father: whereas he had loved his that were in the world, unto the end he loved them. {2} And when supper was done, whereas the devil now had put into the heart of Judas Iscariote the son of Simon, to betray him: {3} knowing that the Father gave him all things into his hands, & that he came from God, and goeth to God: {4} he riseth from supper, and layeth aside his garments, and having taken a towel, girded himself. {5} After that, he put water into a basin, and began to wash the feet of the Disciples, and to wipe them with the towel where with he was girded. {6} He cometh therefore to Simon Peter. And Peter saith to him: Lord: doest thou wash my feet? {7} JESUS answered and said to him: That which I do, thou knowest not now, hereafter thou shalt know. {8} Peter saith to him: Thou shalt not wash my feet for ever.

{1} JESUS answered him: If I wash thee not, thou shalt not have part with me. {9} Simon Peter saith to him: Lord, not only my feet, but also hands, and head. {10} JESUS saith to him: He that is washed, needeth not but to wash his feet, but is clean wholly. And you are clean, but not all. {11} For he knew who he was that would betray him. therefore he said: You are not clean all. {12} Therefore, after he had washed their feet, and taken his garments, being set down, again he said to them: Know you what I have done to you? {13} You call me, Master, and Lord: and you say well, for I am so. {14} If then I have washed your feet, Lord and Master; you also ought to wash one another's feet. {15} For I have given you an example, {1152} that as I have done to you, so you do also. {16} Amen, amen I say to you, a servant is not greater than his Lord, neither is an Apostle greater than he that sent him. {17} If you know these things, you shall be blessed if you do them. {18} I speak not of you all: I know whom I have chosen. But that the scripture may be fulfilled, He that eateth bread with me shall lift up his heel against me. {19} From this time I tell you, before it come to pass: that when it shall come to pass, you may believe, that I am he. {20} Amen, amen, I say to you, he that receiveth any that I send, receiveth me: & he that receiveth me, receiveth him that sent me. {21} When JESUS had said these things, he was troubled in spirit: and he protested, and said: Amen, amen I say to you that one of you shall betray me. {22} The Disciples therefore looked one upon another, doubting of whom he spake. {23} There was therefore one of his Disciples leaning in the bosom of JESUS, he whom JESUS loved. {24} Therefore Simon Peter beckoneth to him, and said to him: Who is it of whom he speaketh? {25} He therefore leaning upon the breast of JESUS saith to him: Lord, who is he? {26} JESUS answered: He it is to whom I shall reach the dipped bread. And when he had dipped the bread, he gave it to Judas Iscariote Simon's son. {27} And after the morsel, then Satan entered into him. And JESUS saith to him: That which thou doest, do it quickly. {28} But no man knew of those that sat at table to what purpose he said this unto him. {29} For certain thought, because Judas had the purse, that JESUS had said to him: Buy those things which are needful for us to the festival day: or that he should give some thing to the poor. {30} He therefore having received the morsel, incontinent went forth. And it was night. {31} When he therefore was gone forth, JESUS said: Now the Son of man is glorified, and God is glorified in him. {32} If God be glorified in him, God also will glorify him in himself, and incontinent will he glorify him. {33} Little children, yet a little while I am with you. You shall seek me, & as I said to the Jews, whither I go, you can not come: to you also I say now. {34} A new commandment I give to you, That you love one another; as I have loved you, that you also love one another. {35} In this all men shall know that you are my Disciples, if you have love one to another. {36} Simon Peter saith to him: Lord, whither goest thou? JESUS answered, Whither I go, thou canst not now follow me, but hereafter thou shalt follow. {37} Peter saith to him: Why can not I follow thee now? I will yield my life for thee. {38} JESUS answered him: Thy life wilt thou yield for me? Amen, amen I say to thee, the cock shall not crow, until thou deny me thrice.

They being sad, because he said that he must go from them, he comforteth them many ways, as, putting them in hope to follow him unto the same place, so that they keep his commandments. Where he telleth them, that him self is the way thither according to his Humanity, and also the end according to his Divinity, no less than his Father, because he is consubstantial, [15] promising also to send unto them (that is, to his Church) the Holy Ghost to be after his departure with them for ever. [28] And saying that it is his promotion (according to his Humanity) to go to the Father, for, whose obedience this his death shall be, & not for any gift of his own.

{1} LET not your heart be troubled. You believe in God, believe in me also. Father's house there be many mansions. If {2} In my not, I would have told you, Because I go to prepare you a place. {3} And if I go, and prepare you a place: I come again and will take you to my self, that where I am, you also may be. {4} And whither I go you know, and the way you know. {5} Thomas saith to him: Lord, we know not whither thou goest; and how can we know the way? {6} JESUS saith to him: I am the way, and the verity, and the life. No man cometh to the Father; but by me. {7} If you had known me, my Father also certes you had known: and from hence forth you shall know him, and you have seen him. {8} Philippe saith to him: Lord shew us the Father, and it sufficeth us. {9} JESUS saith to him: So long time I am with you; & have you not known me? Philippe, he that seeth me, seeth the Father also. How sayest thou, Shew us the Father? {10} Doest thou not believe that I am in the Father, & the Father in me? The words that I speak to you, of my self I speak not. But my Father that abideth in me, he doeth the works. {11} Believe you not, that I am in the Father and the Father in me? Otherwise for the works themselves believe. {12} Amen, amen I say to you, he that believeth in me, the works that I do, he also shall do, and greater than these shall he do, {13} because I go to the Father, & whatsoever you shall ask in my name, that will I do: that the Father may be glorified in the Son. {14} If you ask me any thing in my name, that will I do. {15} If you love me, keep my commandments. {16} And I will ask the Father, and he will give you another Paraclete, that he may abide with you for ever, {17} the Spirit of truth, whom the world can not receive, because it seeth him not, neither knoweth him, but you know him: because he shall abide with you, and shall be in you. {18} I will not leave you orphans: I will come to you. {19} Yet a little while: and the world seeth me no more. But you see me: because I live, and you shall live. {20} In that day you shall know that I am in my Father, and you in me; and I in you. {21} He that hath my commandments, & keepeth them: he it is that loveth me. And he that loveth me, shall be loved of my Father: and I will love him, and will manifest my self to him. {22} Judas saith to him, not that Iscarote: Lord, what is done, that thou wilt manifest thy self to us, and not to the world? {23} JESUS answered, and said to him: If any love me, he will keep my word, and my Father will love him, and we will come to him, and will make abode with him. {24} He that loveth me not, keepeth not my words. And the word which you have heard, is not mine; but his that sent me, the Father's. {25} These things have I spoken to you abiding with you. {26} But the Paraclete the Holy Ghost, whom the Father will send in my name, he shall teach you all things, & suggest unto you all things whatsoever I shall say to you. {27} Peace I leave to you, my peace I give to you; not as the world giveth, do I give to you. Let not your heart be troubled, nor fear. {28} You have heard that I said to you, I go, and I come to you. If you loved me, you would be glad verily, that I go to the Father: because the Father is greater than I. {29} And now I have told you before it come to pass: that when it shall come to pass, you may believe. {30} Now I will not speak many things with you. For the Prince of this world cometh, and in me he hath not any thing. {31} But that the world may know that I love the Father: and as the Father hath given me commandment, so do I: Arise, let us go hence.

Chapter 15

He exhorteth them to abide in him (that is, his Church, being the true vine, and not the Synagogue of the Jews any more) [9] and in his love, loving one an other, and keeping his commandments: [13] shewing how much he accounteth of them, by this that he dieth for them, [15] and revealeth unto them the secrets of heaven, [17] and appointheir fruit to be perpetual: [18] confirming them also against th persecutions and hatred of the obstinate Jews.

{1} IAM the true vine; and my Father is the husband-man, bearing fruit, he will take it away: & every {2} Every branch in me, not one that beareth fruit, he will purge it, that it may bring more fruit. {3} Now you are clean for the word which I have spoken to you. {4} Abide in me: and I in you. As the branch can not bear fruit of it self, unless it abide in the vine, so you neither unless you abide in me. {5} I am the vine: you the branches. He that abideth in me, and I in him, the same beareth much fruit: for without me you can do nothing. {6} If any abide not in me: he shall be cast forth as the branch, and shall wither, and they shall gather him up, and cast him into the fire, and he burneth. {7} If you abide in me, & my words abide in you: you shall ask what thing soever you will, and it shall be done to you. {8} In this my Father is glorified; that you bring very much fruit, and become my Disciples. {9} As my Father hath loved me, I also have loved you. Abide in my love. {10} If you keep my precepts, you shall abide in my love: as I also have kept my Father's precepts, and do abide in his love. {11} These things I have spoken to you, that my joy may be in you, and your joy may be filled. {12} This is my precept, that you love one another, as I have loved you. {13} Greater love than this no man hath, that a man yield his life for his friends. {14} You are my friends, if you do the things that I command you. {15} Now I call you not servants: for the servant knoweth not what his Lord doeth. But you I have called friends; because all things whatsoever I heard of my Father, I have notified unto you. {16} You chose not me, but I chose you; and have appointed you: that you go, & bring fruit; and your fruit abide: that whatsoever you ask the Father in my name, he may give it you. {17} These things I command you, that you love one another. {18} If the world hate you, know ye that it hath hated me before you. {19} If you had been of the world, the world would love his own. But because you are not of the world, but I have chosen you out of the world, therefore the world hateth you. {20} Remember my word that I said to you: The servant is not greater than his Master. If they have persecuted me, you also will they persecute. If they have kept my word, yours also will they keep. {21} But all these things they will do to you for my name sake; because they know not him that sent me. {22} If I had not come, and spoken to them, they should not have sin: but now they have no excuse of their sin. {23} He that hateth me, hateth my Father also. {24} If I had not done among them works that no other man hath done, they should not have sin: but now both they have seen, and they do hate both me and my Father. {25} But that the word may be fulfilled, which is written in their law: That they hated me gratis. {26} But when the Paraclete cometh whom I will send you from the Father, the Spirit of truth, which proceedeth from the Father, he shall give testimony of me: {27} and you shall give testimony, because you are with me from the beginning.

Chapter 16

The cause why he foretelleth them their persecution by the Jews, is, that they be not afterward scandalized therat. [6] Though they think this heavy news, it is for their vantage that he departeth, because of the great benefits that they shall receive by the coming then of the Holy Ghost, who shall also be his witness against his enemies. [16] Although in this world they shall so be persecuted, yet to his heavenly Father they and their prayers made in his name, shall be most acceptable, and at length the child (that is, Christ in all his members) being born, their joy shall be such as no persecutor can take from them. [31] Howbeit at this instant of his apprehension, they will all forsake him.

{1} THESE things have I spoken to you, that you be not scandalized. Synagogues they will cast you: but the {2} Out of the hour cometh, that every one which killeth you, shall think that he doeth service to God. {3} And these things they will do to you, because they have not known the Father, nor me. {4} But these things I have spoken to you: that when the hour shall come, you may remember them, that I told you. {5} But I told you not these things from the beginning, because I was with you. And now I go to him that sent me, and none of you asketh me: Whither goest thou? {6} But because I have spoken these things to you, sorrow hath filled your heart. {7} But I tell you the truth, it is expedient for you that I go. For if I go not, the Paraclete shall not come to you: but if I go, I will send him to you. {8} And when he is come, he shall argue the world of sin, and of justice, and of judgement. {9} Of sin: because they believed not in me. {10} But of justice: because I go to the Father; and now you shall not see me. {11} And of judgement: because the Prince of this world is now judged. {12} Yet many things I have to say to you: but you can not bear them now. {13} But when he, {1155} the Spirit of truth, cometh, he shall teach you all truth. For he shall not speak of himself; but what things soever he shall hear, he shall speak: and the things that are to come he shall shew you. {14} He shall glorify me; because he shall receive of mine, and shall shew to you. {15} All things whatsoever the Father hath, be mine. Therefore I said, that he shall receive of mine, and shall shew to you. {16} A little while, and now you shall not see me; & again a little while, & you shall see me: because I go to the Father. {17} Some therefore of his Disciples said one to another: What is this that he saith to us: A little while, and you shall not see me; and again a little while and you shall see me, and, because I go to the Father? {18} They said therefore: What is this that he saith, A little while? we know not what he speaketh. {19} And JESUS knew, that they would ask him; & he said to them: Of this you do question among your selves, because I said to you: A little while, and you shall not see me; and again a little while, and you shall see me. {20} Amen, amen I say to you, that you shall weep and lament, but the world shall rejoice: and you shall be made sorrowful, but your sorrow shall be turned into joy. {21} A woman when she travaileth, hath sorrow, because her hour is come: but when she hath brought forth the child, now she remembereth not the anguish for joy, that a man is born into the world. {22} And you therefore, now indeed you have sorrow, but I will see you again, and your heart shall rejoice; and your joy no man shall take from you. {23} And in that day, me you shall not ask any thing. Amen, amen I say to you, if you ask the Father any thing in my name, he will give it you. {24} Until now you have not asked any thing in my name. Ask and you shall receive; that your joy may be full. {25} These things in proverbs I have spoken to you. The hour cometh when in proverbs I will no more speak to you, but plainly of the Father I will shew you. {26} In that day you shall ask in my name: and I say not to you, that I will ask the Father for you. {27} For the Father himself loveth you, because you have loved me, and have believed that I came forth from God. {28} I came forth from the Father, and came into the world: again I leave the world, and I go to the Father. {29} His Disciples say to him: Behold now thou speakest plainly, and sayest no proverb. {30} Now we know that thou knowest all things, and thou needest not that any man ask thee. In this we believe that thou camest forth from God. {31} JESUS answered them: Now do you believe? {32} Behold the hour cometh, and it is now come, that you shall be scattered every man into his own, and me you shall leave alone: and I am not alone because the Father is with me. {33} These things I have spoken to you, that in me you may have peace. In the world you shall have distress, but have confidence, I have overcome the world.

Chapter 17

After his Sermon of farewell, he prayeth to his Father, that seeing he hath now finished his work, he will give him his appointed glory, for the conversion of all nations, [6] and preserve his Apostles, and his Church after them in unity and verity (that is, from Schism and Heresy:) {24} finally also glorify them with him in heaven.

{1} THESE things spake JESUS: and lifting up his eyes into Heaven, he said: Father, the hour is come, glorify thy Son, that thy Son may glorify thee. {2} As thou hast given him power over all flesh, that all which thou hast given him, to them he may give life everlasting. {3} And this is life everlasting that they know thee, the only true God, and whom thou hast sent JESUS CHRIST. {4} I have glorified thee upon the earth: I have consummated the work which thou gavest me to do: {5} and now glorify thou me O Father with thyself, with the glory which I had before the world was, with thee. {6} I have manifested thy name to the men whom thou gavest me out of the world. Thine they were, and to me thou gavest them: and they have kept thy word. {7} Now they have known that all things which thou gavest me are from thee: {8} because the words which thou gavest me, I have given them: and they have received, and known in very deed that I came forth from thee, and have believed that thou didst send me. {9} For them do I pray: Not for the world do I pray, but for them whom thou hast given me; {10} because they be thine: and all things be thine, and thine be mine: and I am glorified in them. And now I am not in the world, and these are in the world, & I come to thee. {11} Holy father, keep them in thy name, whom thou hast given me; that they may be one, as also we. {12} When I was with them, I kept them in thy name. Those whom thou gavest me, have I kept: and none of them perished, but the son of perdition, that the scripture may be fulfilled. {13} And now I come to thee: and these things I speak in the world, that they may have my joy filled in themselves. {14} I have given them thy word, and the world hath hated them, because they are not of the world: as I also am not of the world. {15} I pray not that thou take them away out of the world, but that thou preserve them from evil. {16} Of the world they are not: as I also am not of the world. {17} Sanctify them in truth. Thy word is truth. {18} As thou didst send me into the world, I also have sent them into the world. {19} And for them I do sanctify myself: that they also may be sanctified in truth. {20} And not for them only do I pray, but for them also that by their word shall believe in me: {21} that they all may be one, as thou (Father) in me & I in thee; that they also in us may be one: that the world may believe that thou hast sent me. {22} And the glory that thou hast given me, have I given to them; that they may be one as we also are one. {23} I in them, and thou in me: that they may be consummate in one: and the world may know that thou hast sent me, and hast loved them, as me also thou hast loved. {24} Father, whom thou hast given me, I will, that where I am, they also may be with me: that they may see my glory which thou hast given me, because thou hast loved me before the creation of the world. {25} Just Father, the world hath not known thee. But I have known thee: and these have known, that thou didst send me. {26} And I have notified thy name to them, and will notify it: that the love wherewith thou hast loved me may be in them, and I in them.

Chapter 18

Being gone to the place that Judas the Traitor did know, {4}/ he offereth him self to the band of his enemies, sheweth his Divine might in overthrowing them all with a word, and in saving his Apostles from them also with a word: {10}, rebuketh Peter that would defend him from them: {12}, and so being apprehended, is brought bound to Annas and Caiphas, where he is striken by a servant, and thrice denied of Peter. {28}. Again in the morning he is by them brought to Pilate. {29}. Who demanding their accusation, whereas they would oppress him with their authority, {33}, and examining the point of his kingdom, pronounceth him innocent: yet they cry rather to have a thief's life saved.

{1} WHEN JESUS had said these things, he went forth with his Disciples beyond the Torrent-Cedron, where was a garden, into the which he entered and his Disciples. {2} And Judas also, that betrayed him, knew the place: because JESUS had often resorted thither together with his Disciples. {3} Judas therefore having received the band of men, and of the chief Priests and Pharisees, ministers, cometh thither with lanterns and torches and weapons. {4} JESUS therefore knowing all things that should come upon him, went forth, and said to them: Whom seek ye? {5} They answered him, JESUS of Nazareth.

{1} JESUS saith to them: I am he. And Judas also that betrayed him, stood with them. {6} As soon therefore as he said to them, I am he; they went backward, and fell to the ground. {7} Again therefore he asked them: Whom seek ye? And they said: JESUS of Nazareth. {8} JESUS answered, I have told you, that I am he. If therefore you seek me, let these go their ways. {9} That the word might be fulfilled which he said, That of them whom thou hast given me, I have not lost any. {10} Simon Peter therefore having a sword, drew it out; and smote the servant of the high Priest, & cut off his right ear. And the name of the servant was Malchus. {11} JESUS therefore said to Peter: Put up thy sword into the scabbard. The chalice which my Father hath given me, shall not I drink it? {12} The band therefore and the Tribune & the ministers of the Jews apprehended JESUS, and bound him: {13} and they brought him to Annas first, for he was father in law to Caiphas, who was the high Priest of that year. {14} And Caiphas was he that had given the counsel to the Jews, That it is expedient that one man die for the people. {15} And Simon Peter followed JESUS, and another Disciple. And that Disciple was known to the high Priest, and went in with JESUS into the court of the high Priest. {16} But Peter stood at the door without. The other Disciple therefore that was known to the high Priest, went forth, and spake to the portress, and brought in Peter. {17} The wench therefore that was portress, saith to Peter: Art not thou also of this man's Disciples? He saith to her, I am not. {18} And the servants & ministers stood at a fire of coals, because it was cold, and warmed themselves. And with them was Peter also standing, and warming himself. {19} The high Priest therefore asked JESUS of his Disciples, and of his doctrine. {20} JESUS answered him: I have openly spoken to the world: I have always taught in the Synagogue, and in the temple whither all the Jews resort together: and in secret I have spoken nothing. {21} Why askest thou me? ask them that have heard what I have spoken unto them: behold they know what things I have said. {22} When he had said these things, one of the ministers standing by, gave JESUS a blow, saying: Answerest thou the high Priest so? {23} JESUS answered him: If I have spoken ill, give testimony of evil: but if well, why strikest thou me? {24} And Annas sent him bound to Caiphas the high priest. {25} And Simon Peter was standing, and warming himself. They said therefore to him: Art not thou also of his Disciples? He denied and said: I am not. {26} One of the servants of the high Priest saith to him, his cousin whose ear Peter did cut off: Did not I see thee in the garden with him? {27} Again therefore Peter denied: and forthwith the cock crew. {28} They therefore bring JESUS from Caiphas into the Palace. And it was morning: and they went not in into the Palace, that they might not be contaminated, but that they might eat the Pasche. {29} Pilate therefore went forth to them without, and said: What accusation bring you against this man? {30} They answered and said to him: If he were not a malefactor, we would not have delivered him up to thee. {31} Pilate therefore said to them: Take him you, and according to your law judge him. The Jews therefore said to him: It is not lawful for us to kill any man. {32} That the word of JESUS might be fulfilled which he said, signifying what death he should die. {33} Pilate therefore went into the Palace again, and called JESUS, and said to him: Art thou the King of the Jews? {34} JESUS answered: Sayest thou this of thyself, or have others told it thee of me? {35} Pilate answered: Why, am I a Jew? Thy Nation, and the chief Priests have delivered thee up to me: what hast thou done? {36} JESUS answered: My Kingdom is not of this world. If my Kingdom were of this world, my ministers verily would strive that I should not be delivered to the Jews. But now my Kingdom is not from hence. {37} Pilate therefore said to him: Art thou a King then? JESUS answered: Thou sayest, that I am a King. For this was I born, and for this came I into the world: that I should give testimony to the truth. Every one that is of the truth, heareth my voice. {38} Pilate saith to him: What is truth? And when he had said this, he went forth again to the Jews, and saith to them: I find no cause in him. {39} But you have a custom that I should release one to you in the Pasche: will you therefore that I release unto you the King of the Jews? {40} They all therefore cried again, saying: Not him but Barabbas. And Barabbas was a thief.

Chapter 19

The Jews are not satisfied with his scourging and irision. {8} Pilate hearing them say that he made him self the Son of God, is more afraid. {12} Yet, they urging him with his loyalty toward Caesar, and professing that them selves will no king but Caesar, he yieldeth unto them. {17} And so Christ carrying his own Cross, is crucified between two thieves. {19} Pilate writing notoriously the only cause of his death to be, for that he is their king or Christ. {23} His garments be so used, even as the Scriptures foretold. {25} He hath special care of his mother to the end. {28} He signifieth all that was written of his Passion, to be fulfilled, and so yieldeth up his ghost. {31} Then by the Jew's means also other Scriptures about his legs and side, are fulfilled. {38} And finally, he is honourably buried.

{1} THEN therefore Pilate took JESUS, and scourged him. a crown of thorns, put it upon his head: {2} And the soldiers plattng and they put about him a purple garment. {3} And they came to him, and said: Hail King of the Jews; and they gave him blows. {4} Pilate went forth again, and saith to them: Behold I bring him forth unto you, that you may know that I find no cause in him. {5} JESUS therefore went forth carrying the crown of thorns, and the purple vestiment. And he saith to them: Lo the man. {6} When the chief Priests therefore and the ministers had seen him, they cried, saying: Crucify, crucify him. Pilate saith to them: Take him you, and crucify him. For I find no cause in him. {7} The Jews answered him: We have a Law; and according to the Law he ought to die; because he hath made himself the Son of God. {8} When Pilate therefore had heard this saying, he feared more. {9} And he entered into the Palace again; and he saith to JESUS: Whence art thou? But JESUS gave him no answer. {10} Pilate therefore saith to him: Speakest thou not to me? knowest thou not that I have power to crucify thee, and I have power to release thee? {11}

JESUS answered: Thou shouldest not have any power against me, unless it were given thee from above. Therefore he that hath betrayed me to thee, hath the greater sin. {12} From thence forth Pilate sought to release him. But the Jews cried, saying: If thou release this man, thou art not Caesar's friend. Every one that maketh himself a king, speaketh against Caesar. {13} But Pilate when he had heard these words, brought forth JESUS: and he sat in the judgement seat, in the place that is called Lithostrotos, and in Hebrew Gabbatha. {14} And it was the Parasceve of Pasche, about the sixth hour, and he saith to the Jews: Lo your King. {15} But they cried: Away, away with him, crucify him. Pilate saith to them: Shall I crucify your King? The chief Priests answered: We have no King, but Caesar. {16} Then therefore he delivered him unto them for to be crucified. And they took JESUS, and led him forth. {17} And bearing his own cross he went forth into that which is called the place of Calvary, in Hebrew Golgotha. {18} Where they crucified him, and with him two others, on the one side & on the other, and in the midst JESUS. {19} And Pilate wrote a title also: and he put it upon the cross. And it was written, JESUS OF NAZARETH THE KING OF THE JEWS. {20} This title therefore many of the Jews did read: because the place where JESUS was crucified, was nigh to the city: and it was written in Hebrew, in Greek, and in Latin. {21} The chief Priests therefore of the Jews said to Pilate: Write not, The King of the Jews; but that he said, I am King of the Jews. {22} Pilate answered: That which I have written, I have written. {23} The soldiers therefore when they had crucified him, took his garments (and they made four parts, to every soldier a part) & his coat. And his coat was without seam, wrought from the top through out. {24} They said therefore one to another: Let us not cut it, but let us cast lots for it whose it shall be. That the scripture might be fulfilled saying: They have parted my garments among them: and upon my vesture they have cast lot. And the soldiers did these things. {25} And there stood beside the cross of JESUS, his mother, and his mother's sister, Mary of Cleophas, and Mary Magdalene. {26} When JESUS therefore had seen his mother and the Disciple standing whom he loved, he saith to his mother: Woman, behold thy son. {27} After that, he saith to the Disciple: Behold thy mother. And from that hour the Disciple took her to his own. {28} Afterward JESUS knowing that all things were now consummate, that the scripture might be fulfilled, he saith, I thirst. {29} A vessel therefore stood there full of vinegar. And they putting a sponge full of vinegar about hyssop, offered it to his mouth. {30} JESUS therefore when he had taken the vinegar, said: It is consummate. And bowing his head, he gave up the ghost. {31} The Jews therefore (because it was the Parasceve) that the bodies might not remain upon the cross on the Sabbath (for that was a great Sabbath day) they desired Pilate that their legs might be broken, and they might be taken away. {32} The soldiers therefore came: and of the first indeed they brake the legs, and of the other that was crucified with him. {33} But after they were come to JESUS, when they saw that he was dead, they did not break his legs, {34} but one of the soldiers with a spear opened his side, & incontinent there came forth blood and water. {35} And he that saw it, hath given testimony: and his testimony is true. And he knoweth that he saith true, that you also may believe. {36} For these things were done that the scripture might be fulfilled: You shall not break a bone of him. {37} And again another scripture saith: They shall look on him whom they pierced. {38} And after these things Joseph of Arimathaea (because he was a Disciple of JESUS, but secret for fear of the Jews) desired Pilate that he might take away the body of JESUS. And Pilate permitted. He came therefore, & took away the body of JESUS. {39} Nicodemus also came, he that at the first came to JESUS by night, bringing a mixture of myrrh and aloes, about an hundred pounds. {40} They took therefore the body of JESUS, and bound it in linen cloths with the spices, as the manner is with the Jews to bury. {41} And there was in the place where he was crucified, a garden: and in the garden a new monument, wherein no man yet had been laid. {42} There therefore because of the Paraseve of the Jews, they laid JESUS, because the monument was hard by.

Chapter 20

Upon Easter day his body is missed in the Sepulcher, first by M. Magdalene, {3} secondly by Peter also and John, the winding clothes yet remaining. {11} Then to M. Magdalene, after she had seen two Angels, JESUS also him self appeareth. {18} She having told to the Disciples, he appeareth to them also the same day, and sendeth them as him self was sent, giving them the Holy Ghost to remit and to retain sins. {26} Again upon low Sunday he appeareth to them, letting Thomas see, that he might believe, and commanding such as not seeing yet do believe. {30} The effect of this book.

{1} AND the first of the Sabbath, Mary Magdalene cometh early, when it was yet dark, unto the monument: and she saw the stone taken away from the monument. {2} She ran therefore and cometh to Simon Peter, and to the other Disciple whom JESUS loved, and saith to them: They have taken our Lord out of the monument, and we know not where they have laid him. {3} Peter therefore went forth and that other Disciple, and they came to the monument. {4} And both ran together, and that other Disciple did out-run Peter, and came first to the monument. {5} And when he had stooped down, he saw the linen cloths lying: but yet he went not in. {6} Simon Peter therefore cometh, following him, and went into the monument and saw the linen cloths lying, {7} and the napkin that had been upon his head, not lying with the linen cloths, but apart, wrapped up into one place. {8} Then therefore went in that other Disciple also which came first to the monument: and he saw, and believed. {9} For as yet they knew not the scripture, that he should rise again from the dead. {10} The Disciples therefore departed again to themselves. {11} But Mary stood at the monument without, weeping. Therefore as she was weeping, she stooped down, & looked into the monument: {12} and she saw two Angels in white, sitting, one at the head, and one at the feet, where the body of JESUS had been laid. {13} They say to her: Woman, why weepest thou? She saith to them: Because they have taken away my Lord, and I know not where they have put him. {14} When she had said thus, she turned backward, and saw JESUS standing; and she knew not that it is JESUS. {15} JESUS saith to her: Woman, why weepest thou? whom seekest thou? She thinking that it was the gardener, saith to him: Sir, if thou hast carried him away, tell me where thou hast laid him; and I will take him away. {16} JESUS saith to her: Mary. She turning saith to him: Rabboni (which is to say, Master.) {17} JESUS said to her: Do not touch me, for I am not yet ascended to my Father: but go to my Brethren, and say to them, I ascend to my Father and your Father, my God and your God. {18} Mary Magdalene cometh and telleth the Disciples, That I have seen our Lord, and thus he said unto me. {19} Therefore when it was late that day, the first of the Sabbaths, and the doors were shut, where the Disciples were gathered together for fear of the Jews, JESUS came and stood in the midst, and saith to them: Peace be to you. {20} And when he had said this, he shewed them his hands and side. The Disciples therefore were glad when they saw our Lord. {21} He said therefore to them again: Peace be to you. As my Father hath sent me, I also do send you. {22} When he had said this: he breathed upon them; and he said to them: Receive ye the Holy Ghost: {23} WHOSE SINS YOU SHALL FORGIVE, THEY ARE FORGIVEN THEM: AND WHOSE YOU SHALL RETAIN, THEY ARE RETAINED. {24} But Thomas one of the Twelve, who is called Didymus, was not with them when JESUS came. {25} The other Disciples therefore said to him: We have seen our Lord. But he said to them: unless I see in his hands the print of the nails, and put my finger into the place of the nails, and put my hand into his side: I will not believe. {26} And after eight days, again his Disciples were within; and Thomas with them.

{1} JESUS cometh the doors being shut, and stood in the midst, and said: Peace be to you. {27} Then he saith to Thomas: Put in thy finger hither, and see my hands, and bring hither thy hand, and put it into my side; & be not incredulous but faithful. {28} Thomas answered, & said to him: My Lord, & my God. {29} JESUS saith to him: Because thou hast seen me, Thomas, thou hast believed: Blessed are they that have not seen & have believed. {30} Many other signs also did JESUS in the sight of his Disciples, which are not written in this Book. {31} And these are written, that you may believe that JESUS is CHRIST the Son of God: and that believing, you may have life in his name.

Chapter 21

Appearing again n Galilee, where Peter was fishing with his fellows: and causing them after they had all night taken none, to catch a great multitude, which Peter draweth to land, where he also dieth them: {15} He (expressing what this fishing signified) maketh Peter his Vicar, committing unto him the feeding of his lambs and sheep: {18} and revealeth unto him, that he also shall be crucified, to the glory of God, {20} admonishing him to mind that, rather than to be curious about John's death.

{1} AFTER the Disciples at the sea of Tiberias. And he manifested thus. , JESUS manifested himself again to {2} There were together Simon Peter, and Thomas who is called Didymus, and Nathanael which was of Cana in Galilee, & the sons of Zebedee, and two others of his Disciples. {3} Simon Peter saith to them: I go to fish. They say to him: We also come with thee. And they went forth and got up into the boat: and that night they took nothing. {4} But when morning was now come, JESUS stood on the shore: yet the Disciples knew not that it was JESUS. {5} JESUS therefore saith to them: Children, have you any meat? They answered him, No. {6} He saith to them: Cast the net on the right side of the boat; and you shall find. They therefore did cast it: and now they were not able to draw it for the multitude of fishes. {7} That Disciples therefore whom JESUS loved, saith to Peter: It is our Lord. Simon Peter when he had heard that it is our Lord, girded his coat unto him (for he was naked) & {1161} cast himself into the sea. {8} But the other Disciples came in the boat (for they were not far from the land, but as it were two hundred cubits) drawing the net of fishes. {9} Therefore after they came down to land, they saw hot coals lying, and fish laid thereon, and bread. {10} JESUS saith to them: Bring hither of the fishes that you took now. {11} Simon Peter went up, and drew the net to the land, full of great fishes, an hundred fifty three. And although they were so many the net was not broken. {12} JESUS saith to them: Come, dine. And none of them that sat at meat, durst ask him: Who art thou? knowing that it is our Lord. {13} And JESUS cometh & taketh the bread and giveth them, & the fish in like manner. {14} This now the third time JESUS was manifested to his Disciples, after he was risen from the dead. {15} Therefore when they had dined, JESUS saith to Simon Peter: Simon of John, lovest thou me more than these? He saith to him: Yea Lord; thou knowest that I love thee. He saith to him: FEED MY LAMBS. {16} He saith to him again: Simon of John, lovest thou me? He saith to him: Yea Lord, thou knowest that I love thee. He saith to him: FEED MY LAMBS. {17} He saith to him the third time: Simon of John, lovest thou me? Peter was stroken sad because he said unto him the third time, Lovest thou me? And he said to him: Lord, thou knowest all things: thou knowest that I love thee. He said to him: FEED MY SHEEP. {18} Amen, amen I say to thee, when thou wast younger, thou didst gird thy self, and didst walk where thou wouldest. But when thou shalt be old thou shalt stretch forth thy hands, and another shall gird thee, and lead thee whither thou wilt not. {19} And this he said, signifying by what death he should glorify God. And when he had said this, he saith to him: Follow me. {20} Peter turning, saw that Disciple whom JESUS loved, following, who also leaned at the supper upon his breast, and said, Lord who is he that shall betray thee? {21} Him therefore when Peter had seen, he saith to JESUS: Lord, and this man what? {22} JESUS saith to him: So I will have him to remain till I come, what to thee? follow thou me. {23} This saying therefore went abroad among the brethren, that that Disciple dieth not. And JESUS did not say to him, he dieth not; but, So I will have him to remain till I come, what to thee? {24} This is that Disciple which giveth testimony of these things, and hath written these things: and we know that his testimony is true. {25} But there are many other things also which JESUS did: which if they were written in particular, neither the world it-self I think were able to contain those books that should be written.

THE ACTS OF THE APOSTLES

Chapter 1

Christ now ready to ascend, biddeth the Apostles to expect the Holy Ghost which he had promised, foretelling where (being strengthened by him) they should begin his Church, and how far they should carry it. {9} After his Ascension they are warmed by two Angels to set their minds upon his second coming. {14} In the days of their expectation, 15. Peter beginneth to execute his vicarship, giving instruction and order, by which Mathias is elected Apostle in the place of Judas.

{1} THE first treatise I made of all things, O Theophilus, which JESUS began to do and to teach, {2} until the day wherein giving commandment by the Holy Ghost to the Apostles whom he chose, he was assumed. {3} to whom he shewed also himself alive after his passion in many arguments, for forty days appearing to them, and speaking of the Kingdom of God. {4} And eating with them, he commanded them, that they should not depart from Jerusalem, but should expect the promise of the Father, which you have heard (saith he) by my mouth: {5} for John indeed baptized with water, but you shall be baptized with the Holy Ghost after these few days. {6} They therefore that were assembled, asked him, saying: Lord, whether at this time wilt thou restore the Kingdom to Israel? {7} but he said to them: It is not for you to know times or moments, which the Father hath put in his own power: {8} but you shall receive the virtue of the Holy Ghost coming upon you, and you shall be witnesses unto me in Jerusalem, and in all Jewry, and Samaria, and even to the utmost of the earth. {9} And when he had said these things, in their sight he was elevated: & a cloud received him out of their sight. {10} And when they beheld him going into Heaven, behold two men stood beside them in white garments, {11} who also said: Ye men of Galilee, why stand you looking into Heaven? This JESUS which is assumed from you into Heaven, shall so come as you have seen him going into Heaven. {12} Then they returned to Jerusalem from the mount that is called Olivet, which is by Jerusalem, distant a Sabbath's journey. {13} And when they were entered in, they went up into an upper chamber, where abode Peter & John, James and Andrew, Philippe and Thomas, Bartholomew and Matthew, James of Alpheus and Simon Zeletes, and Jude of James. {14} All these were persevering with one mind in prayer with the women and MARY the mother of JESUS, and his brethren. {15} In those days Peter rising up in the midst of the Brethren, said: (and the multitude of persons together, was almost an hundred and twenty.) {16} You men, brethren, the scripture must be fulfilled which the Holy Ghost spake before by the mouth of David concerning Judas, who was the captain of them that apprehended JESUS: {17} who was numbered among us and obtained the lot of this ministry. {18} And he indeed hath possessed a field of the reward of iniquity, and being hanged he burst in the midst, and all his bowels gushed out. {19} And it was made notorious to all the inhabitants of Jerusalem: so that the same field was called in their tongue, Hacel-dema, that is to say, the field of blood. {20} For it is written in the book of Psalms: Be their habitation made desert, & be there none to dwell in it. And his Bishopric let another take. {21} Therefore, of these men that have assembled with us, all the time that our Lord JESUS went in and went out among us, {22} beginning from the Baptism of John until the day wherein he was assumed from us, there must one of these be made a witness with us of his resurrection. {23} And they appointed two, Joseph, who was called Barsabas, who was surnamed Justus: and Matthias. {24} And praying they said: Thou

Lord that knowest the hearts of all men, shew of these two, one, whom thou hast chosen, {25} to take the place of this ministry & Apostleship, from the which Judas hath prevaricated that he might go to his own place. {26} And they gave them lots, and the lot fell upon Matthias, and he was numbered with the eleven Apostles.

Chapter 2

The Holy Ghost coming to the Faithful upon whitsunday, {5} Jews in Hierusalem of all Nations do wonder to hear them speak all tongues. {14} And Peter to the deriders declareth, that it is not drunkenness, but the Holy Ghost which Joel did prophecy of, which JESUS (whom they crucified) being now risen again and ascended (as he sheweth also out of the Scriptures) hath poured out from heaven, concluding therefore that he is CHRIST, and they most horrible murderers. {37} Whereat they being compunct, and submitting them selves, he telleth them that they must be baptized, and then they also shall receive the same Holy Ghost, as being promised to all the baptized. {41} And so {3000} are baptized that very day. {42} Whose godly exercises are here reported, and also their living in state of perfection. The Apostles work many miracles, and God daily increaseth the number of the Church.

{1} AND when the days of Pentecost were accomplished, they were all together in one place: {2} and suddenly there was made a sound from Heaven, as of a vehement wind coming, & it filled the whole house where they were sitting. {3} And there appeared to them parted tongues as it were of fire, and it sat upon every one of them: {4} and they were all replenished with the HOLY GHOST, and they began to speak with diverse tongues, according as the HOLY GHOST gave them to speak. {5} And there were dwelling at Jerusalem Jews, devout men of every nation that is under Heaven. {6} And when this voice was made, the multitude came together, and was astonished in mind, because every man heard them speak in his own tongue. {7} And they were all amazed, and marveled saying: Are not, lo, all these that speak, Galilaeans, {8} and how have we heard, each man our own tongue wherein we were born? {9} Parthians, & Medians, & Elamites, & that inhabit Mesopotamia, Jewry, & Cappadocia, Pontus, and Asia, {10} Phrygia, and Pamphilia, AEgypt & the parts of Lybia that is about Cyrene, & strangers of Rome, {11} Jews also, and Proselytes, Cretensians, and Arabians: we have heard, them speak in our own tongues the great works of God. {12} And they were all astonished, and marveled, saying one to another: What meaneth this? {13} But others deriding said: That these are full of new wine. {14} But Peter standing with the Eleven, lifted up his voice; and spake to them: Ye men, Jews, and all you that dwell in Jerusalem, be this known to you, and with your ears receive my words. {15} For these are not drunk, as you suppose, whereas it is the third hour of the day: {16} But this is it that was said by the Prophet Joel: {17} And it shall be, in the last days (saith our Lord) of my Spirit I will pour out upon all flesh: and your sons and your daughters shall prophesy, and your young men shall see visions, and your Ancients shall dream dreams. {18} and upon my servants truly, and upon my handmaids will I pour out in those days, of my Spirit, and they shall prophesy: {19} and I will give wonders in the Heaven above, and signs in the earth beneath, blood and fire, and vapour of smoke. {20} The sun shall be turned into darkness, and the moon into blood, before the great and manifest day of our Lord doth come. {21} And it shall be, every one whosoever calleth upon the name of our Lord, shall be saved. {22} Ye men of Israel hear these words: JESUS of Nazareth a man approved of God among you, by miracles & {1164} wonders and signs which God did by him in the midst of you, as you also know; {23} this same, by the determinate counsel & prescience of God being delivered, you by the hands of wicked men have crucified and slain. {24} Whom God hath raised up loosing the sorrows of hell, according as it was impossible that he should be holden of it. {25} For David saith concerning him: I foresaw the Lord in my sight always: because he is at my right hand that I be not moved. {26} For this, my heart hath been glad and my tongue hath rejoiced: moreover my flesh also shall rest in hope. {27} Because thou wilt not leave my soul in hell, nor give thy Holy one to see corruption. {28} Thou hast made known to me the ways of life: thou shalt make me full of joyfulness with thy face. {29} Ye men, Brethren, let me boldly speak to you of the Patriarch David: that he died, and was buried; and his sepulchre is with us until this present day. {30} Whereas therefore he was a Prophet, and knew that by an oath God hath sworn to him, that of the fruit of his loins there should sit upon his seat; {31} foreseeing, he spake of the resurrection of Christ, for neither was he left in hell, neither did his flesh see corruption. {32} This JESUS hath God raised again, whereof all we are witnesses. {33} Being exalted therefore by the right hand of God, and having received of his Father the promise of the Holy Ghost, he hath poured out this whom you see and hear. {34} For David ascended not into Heaven; but he saith: Our Lord hath said to my Lord, sit on my right hand. {35} until I make thine enemies the foot-stool of thy feet. {36} Therefore let all the house of Israel know most certainly that God hath made him both Lord, & CHRIST, this JESUS, whom you have crucified. {37} And hearing these things, they were compunct in heart, and said to Peter and to the rest of the Apostles: What shall we do men, brethren. {38} But Peter said to them, do penance, & be every one of you baptized in the name of JESUS CHRIST for remission of your sins; and you shall receive the gift of the Holy Ghost. {39} For to you is the promise, and to your children, and to all that are far off, whomsoever the Lord our God shall call. {40} With very many other words also did he testify and exhorted them, saying: Save your selves from this perverse Generation. {41} They therefore that received his word, were baptized: & there were added in that day about three thousand souls. {42} And they were persevering in the doctrine of the Apostles, and in the communication of the breaking of bread, and prayers. {43} And fear came upon every soul; many wonders also and signs were done by the Apostles in Jerusalem, and there was great fear in all. {44} All they also that believed, were together, & had all things common. {45} Their possessions and substance they sold, and divided them to all, according as every one had need. {46} Daily also continuing with one accord in the temple, and breaking bread from house to house, they took their meat with joy and simplicity of heart: {47} praising God, and having grace with all the people. And our Lord increased them that should be saved, daily together.

Chapter 3

A miracle, and a Sermon of Peter's to the people, shewing that JESUS is Christ, and exhorting them to faith in him and penance for their sins, and so they shall have by him (in Baptism) the Benediction which was promised to Abraham.

{1} AND Peter and John went up into the temple, at the ninth hour of prayer. {2} And a certain man that was lame from his mother's womb, was carried; whom they laid every day at the gate of the temple, that is called Specious, that he might ask alms of them that went into the temple. {3} He, when he had seen Peter and John about to enter into the temple, asked to receive an alms. {4} But Peter with John looking upon him, said: Look upon us. {5} But he looked earnestly upon them, hoping that he should receive something of them. {6} But Peter said: Silver and gold I have not, but that which I have, the same I give to thee: In the name of JESUS CHRIST of Nazareth arise, and walk. {7} And taking his right hand, he lifted him up, and forthwith his feet & soles were made strong. {8} And springing he stood, & walked; & went in with them into the temple walking, and leaping, and praising God. {9} And all the people saw him walking and praising God. {10} And they knew him, that it was he which sat for alms at the Specious gate of the temple: and they were exceedingly astonished and aghast at that that had chanced to him. {11} And as he held Peter and John, all the people ran to them unto the porch which is called Salomon's, wondering. {12} But Peter seeing them, made answer to the people: Ye men of Israel, why marvel you at this, or why look you upon us, as though by our power or holiness we have made this man to walk? {13} The God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob, the God of our fathers hath glorified his Son JESUS, whom you indeed delivered & denied before the face of Pilate, he judging him to be released. {14} But you denied the Holy and the Just One, and asked a mankiller to be given unto you. {15} But the Author of life you killed, whom God hath raised from the dead, of which we are witnesses. {16} And in the faith of his name, this man whom you see and know, his name hath strengthened; & the faith which is by him, hath given this perfect health in the sight of all you. {17} And now (brethren) I know that you did it through ignorance, as also your princes. {18} But God who foreshewed by the mouth of all the Prophets that his CHRIST should suffer, hath so fulfilled it. {19} Be Penitent therefore & convert, that your sins may be put out. {20} That, when the times shall come of refreshing by the sight of our Lord, and he shall send him that hath been preached unto you JESUS CHRIST. {21} Whom Heaven truly must receive until the times of the restitution of all things, which God spake by the mouth of his holy Prophets from the beginning of the world. {22} Moses indeed said: That a prophet shall the Lord your God raise up to you of your brethren, as my self: him you shall hear according to all things whatsoever he shall speak to you. {23} And it shall be, every soul that shall not hear that Prophet, shall be destroyed out of the people. {24} And all the Prophets from Samuel and afterward that have spoken, told of these days. {25} You are the children of the Prophets and of the Testament which God made to our fathers, saying to Abraham: And in thy seed shall all the families of the earth be blessed. {26} To you first God raising up his Son, hath sent him blessing you: that every one should convert himself from his naughtiness.

Chapter 4

The Rulers of the Jews oppose them selves and imprison Peter and John. {4} But yet thousands of the people are converted: {5} and to the Rulers also, Peter boldly avoucheth by theforesaid miracle, that JESUS is Christ, telling them of their heinous fault out of the Psalms, and that without him they can not be saved. {13} They though confounded with the miracle, yet proceed in their obstinacy, forbidding them to speak any more of JESUS, adding also threats. {23} Whereupon the Church flee to prayer, wherein they comfort them selves with the omnipotent of God, and prediction of David, and ask for the gift of boldness and miracles against these threats. {31} And God sheweth miraculously that he hath heard their prayer. {32} The whole Church's unity and community of life. 36. Of Barnabas by name.

{1} AND when they were speaking to the people, the Priests and Magistrates of the temple & the Sadducees came upon them, {2} being grieved that they taught the people, and shewed in JESUS the resurrection from the dead: {3} and they laid hands upon them, and put them into ward, until the morrow, for it was now evening. {4} And many of them that had heard the word, believed: and the number of the men was made five thousand. {5} And it came to pass on the morrow, that their princes, and Ancients, and Scribes were gathered into Jerusalem. {6} And Annas the high Priest, and Caiphas and John, and Alexander, and as many as were of the priest's stock. {7} And setting them in the midst, they asked: In what power or in what name have you done this? {8} Then Peter replenished with the Holy Ghost, said to them: Ye princes of the people and Ancients: {9} If we, this day be examined for a good deed upon an impotent man, in what he hath been made whole, {10} be it known to all you and to all the people of Israel, that in the name of JESUS CHRIST of Nazareth, whom you did crucify, whom God hath raised from the dead, in this same this man standeth before you, whole. {11} This is the stone that was rejected of you the builders: which is made into the head of the corner: {12} and there is not salvation in any other. For neither is there any other name under Heaven given to men, wherein we must be saved. {13} And seeing Peter's constancy and John's, understanding that they were men unlettered, and of the vulgar sort, they marveled; and they knew them that they had been with JESUS: {14} seeing the man also that had been cured, standing with them, they could say nothing to the contrary, {15} But they commanded them to go aside forth out of the council: and they conferred together, {16} saying: What shall we do to these men? for a notorious sign indeed hath been done by them, to all the inhabitants of Jerusalem: it is manifest, and we can not deny it. {17} But that it be no further spread abroad among the people, let us threaten them, that they speak no more in this name to any man. {18} And calling them, they charged them that they should not speak at all, nor teach in the name of JESUS. {19} But Peter and John answering, said to them: If it be just in the sight of God, to hear you rather than God, judge ye. {20} For we can not but speak the things which we have seen and heard. {21} But they threatening, dismissed them: nor finding how they might punish them, for the people, because all glorified that which had been done, in that which was chanced. {22} For the man was more than forty years old in whom that sign of health had been wrought. {23} And being dismissed they came to theirs, and shewed all that the chief priests and Ancients had said to them. {24} Who having heard it, with one accord lifted up their voice to God, and said: Lord, thou that didst make Heaven & earth, the sea, and all things that are in them, {25} who in the Holy Ghost by the mouth of our Father David thy servant hast said: Why did the Gentiles rage, and the people meditate vain things: {26} the kings of the earth stand up, and the Princes assemble together against our Lord, and against his CHRIST? {27} For there assembled indeed in this city against the holy child JESUS whom thou hast anointed, Herod, and Pontius Pilate, with the Gentiles and the people of Israel; {28} to do what thy hand and thy counsel decreed to be done. {29} And now Lord look upon their threatenings, and give unto thy servants with all confidence to speak thy word, {30} in that, that thou extend thy hand to cures & signs and wonders to be done by the name of thy holy son JESUS. {31} And when they had prayed, the place was moved wherein they were gathered: and they were all replenished with the Holy Ghost, and they spake the word of God with confidence. {32} And the multitude of believers had one heart and one soul: neither did any one say that ought was his own of those things which he possessed, but all things were common unto them. {33} And with great power did the Apostles give testimony of the resurrection of JESUS CHRIST our Lord: and great grace was in all them. {34} For neither was there any one needy among them. For as many as were owners of lands or houses sold and brought the prices of those things which they sold, {35} and laid it before the feet of the Apostles. And to every one was divided according as every one had need. {36} And Joseph who was surnamed of the Apostles Barnabas (which is by interpretation, the son of consolation) a Levite, a Cyprian born, {37} whereas he had a piece of land, sold it, and brought the price, and laid it before the feet of the Apostles.

Chapter 51167

J Ananias and his wife Saphira, for their sacrilege, at Peter's word fall down dead, to the great terror of the rest. 12. By the Apostle's miracles, not only the number, but also their faith so increaseth, that they seek in the streets to the very shadow of Peter, the towns also about bringing their diseased to Hierusalem. 17. The Rulers again oppose them selves, but in vain. 19. For out of prison an Angel delivere them, bidding them preach openly to all: 27. and in their Council Peter is nothing afraid of their bid words: 34. Yea Gamaliel being one of them selves casteth a doubt among them, lest the matter be of God, and therefore impossible to be dissolved. 40. Finally, the Apostles being scourged by them, count it an honour, and cease no day from preaching.

{1} BUT a certain man named Ananias, with Saphira his wife sold a piece of land, {2} and defrauded of the price of the land, his wife being privy thereto: and bringing a certain portion, laid it at the feet of the Apostles. {3} And Peter said: Ananias, why hath Satan tempted thy heart, that thou shouldest lie to the Holy Ghost, and defraud of the price of the land? {4} Remaining, did it not remain to thee: and being sold, was it not in thy power? Why hast thou put this thing in thy heart? Thou hast not lied to men, but to God. {5} And Ananias hearing these words, fell down, and gave up the ghost. And there came great fear upon all that heard it. {6} And young men rising up, removed him, & bearing him forth buried him. {7} And it was the space as it were of three hours, and his wife, not knowing what was chanced, came in. {8} And Peter answered her: Tell me woman, whether did you sell the land for so much? But she said: Yea, for so much. {9} And Peter unto her: Why have you agreed together to tempt the Spirit of our Lord? Behold, their feet that have buried thy husband, at the door, and they shall bear thee forth. {10} Forthwith she fell before his feet, and gave up the ghost. And the young men going in, found her dead: and carried her forth, & buried her by her husband. {11} And there fell great fear in the whole Church, and upon all that heard these things. {12} And by the hands of the Apostles were many signs and wonders done among the people. And they were all with one accord in Salomon's porch. {13} But of the rest none durst join themselves unto them: but the people magnified them. {14} And the multitude of men and women that believed in our Lord, was more increased: {15} so that they did bring forth the sick into the streets, & laid them in beds and couches, that when Peter came, his shadow at the least might overshadow any of them, and they all might be delivered from their infirmities. {16} And there ran together unto Jerusalem the multitude also of the cities adjoining, bringing sick persons and such as were vexed of unclean spirits; who were all cured. {17} And the high Priest rising up, and all that were with him, which is the heresy of the Sadducees, were replenished with zeal: {18} laid hands upon the Apostles, and put them in the common prison. {19} But an Angel of our Lord by night opening the gates of the prison, & leading them forth, said: {20} Go; and standing speak in the temple to the people all the words of this life. {21} Who having heard this, early in the morning entered into the temple, and taught. And the high priest coming, and they that were with him, called together the Council & all the ancients of the children of Israel: and they sent to the prison that they might be brought. {22} But when the ministers were come, and opening the prison, found them not; returning they told, saying: {23} The prison truly we found shut with all diligence, and the keepers standing before the gates: but opening it, we found no man within. {24} And as soon as the Magistrates of the temple and the chief Priests heard these words, they were in doubt of them, what would befall. {25} And there came a certain man and told them: That the men, lo, which you did put in prison, are in the temple standing, and teaching the people. {26} Then went the Magistrate with the ministers, & brought them without force, for they feared the people, lest they should be stoned. {27} And when they had brought them, they set them in the Council. And the high Priest asked them, {28} saying: Commanding we commanded you that you should not teach in this name: and behold you have filled Jerusalem with your doctrine, and you will bring upon us the blood of this man. {29} But Peter answering and the Apostles, said: God must be obeyed, rather than men. {30} The God of our Fathers hath raised up JESUS, whom you did kill, hanging him upon a tree. {31} This Prince and Saviour God hath exalted with his right hand, to give repentance to Israel, and remission of sins. {32} And we are witnesses of these words, and the holy Ghost, whom God hath given to all that obey him. {33} When they had heard these things, it cut them to the heart, and they consulted to kill them. {34} But one in the Council rising up, a Pharisee named Gamaliel, a Doctor of law honourable to all the people, commanded the men to be put forth a while. {35} and he said to them: Ye men of Israel, take heed to your selves touching these men what you mean to do. {36} For before these days there rose Theodos, saying he was some body, to whom consented a number of men about four hundred, who was slain: and all that believed him, were dispersed, and brought to nothing. {37} After this fellow there rose Judas of Galilee in the days of the Enrolling, and drew away the people after him, and he perished: and as many as ever consented to him, were dispersed. {38} And now therefore I say to you, depart from these men and let them alone: for if this counsel or work be of men, it will be dissolved: {39} but if it be of God, you are not able to dissolve them, lest perhaps you be found to resist God also. And they consented to him. {40} And calling in the Apostles, after they had scourged them, they charged them that they should not speak in the name of JESUS, and dismissed them. {41} And they went from the sight of the Council rejoicing, because they were accounted worthy to suffer reproach for the name of JESUS. {42} And every day they ceased not in the temple, and from house to house to teach and evangelize Christ JESUS.

By occasion of a murmur in the Church (whose number now is so grown that it can not be numbered) Seven of them being ordered by the Apostles in the holy order of Deacons: {8} one of them, Steven, worketh great miracles: and is by such as he confounded in disputation, falsely accused in the Council, of blasphemy against the Temple and rites thereof.

{1} AND in those days the number of Disciples increasing, there arose a murmuring of the Greeks against the Hebrews, for that their widows were despised in the daily ministry. {2} And the Twelve calling together the multitude of the Disciples, said: it is not reason, that we leave the word of God, and serve tables. {3} Consider therefore brethren, seven men of you of good testimony, full of the holy Ghost and wisdom, whom we may appoint over this business. {4} But we will be instant in prayer and the ministry of the word. {5} And the saying was liked before all the multitude. And they chose Steven a man full of faith and of the holy Ghost, and Philippe, and Prochorus, and Nicanor, and Timon, and Parmenas, and Nicolas a stranger of Antioch: {6} These they did set in the presence of the Apostles: and praying they imposed hands upon them. {7} And the word of God increased, and the number of the Disciples was multiplied in Jerusalem exceedingly: a great multitude also of the Priests obeyed the faith. {8} And Steven full of grace and fortitude did great wonders & signs among the people. {9} And there arose certain of that which is called the Synagogue of the Libertines, and of the Cyrenians, and of the Alexandrians, and of them that were of Cilicia and Asia, disputing with Steven: {10} and they could not resist the wisdom and the Spirit that spake. {11} Then they suborned men, to say they had heard him speak words of blasphemy against Moyses and God. {12} They therefore stirred up the people, and the Ancients, and the Scribes: and running together they took him, and brought him into the Council, {13} and they set false witnesses that said: This man ceaseth not to speak words against the holy place & the Law. {14} For we have heard him say, that this same JESUS of Nazareth shall destroy this place, and shall change the traditions, which Moyses delivered unto us. {15} And all that sat in the Council beholding him, saw his face as it were the face of an Angel.

Chapter 7

Steven being permitted to answer, beginning at Abraham, sheweth that God was with their fathers both in other places, and also long before the Temple. 48. and that after it was built, it could not be (as they grossly imagined) a house for God to dwell in. 51. then he inviteth against their stiffneckedness, and telleth them boldly of their treacherous murdering of Christ, as their fathers had done his Prophets afore him. 54. Whereat they being wroth, he seeth heaven open, and JESUS there in his Divine Majesty. {57} Whereat they become more mad, so that they stone him to death (Saul consenting) he commanding his soul to JESUS, and humbly praying for them.

{1} AND the chief priest said: Are these things so? fathers, hear. The God of glory appeared to {2} Who said: Ye men, brethren and our father Abraham when he was in Mesopotamia, before that he abode in Charan, {3} & said to him: Go forth out of thy country, and out of thy kindred, & come into a land that I shall shew thee. {4} Then went he forth out of the land of the Chaldees, and dwelt in Charan. And from thence, after his father was dead, he translated him into this land wherein you do now dwell. {5} And he gave him no inheritance in it, no not the pace of a foot: and he promised to give it him in possession, and to his seed after him, when as he had no child. {6} And God spake to him: That his seed shall be a sojourner in a strange country, and they shall subdue them to servitude, and shall evil entreat them four hundred years. {7} and the nation which they shall serve, will I judge, said God. And after these things they shall go forth and shall serve me in this place. {8} And he gave him the testament of circumcision, and so he begat Isaac, and circumcised him the eighth day: and Isaac, Jacob: and Jacob, the twelve Patriarchs. {9} And the Patriarchs through emulation, sold Joseph into Ægypt. And God was with him: {10} and delivered him out of all his tribulations. And he gave him grace and wisdom in the sight of Pharaoh the king of Ægypt, and he appointed him Governor over Ægypt and over all his house. {11} And there came famine upon all Ægypt and Chanaan, and great tribulation: and our fathers found no victuals. {12} But when Jacob had heard that there was corn in Ægypt; he sent our fathers first: {13} and at the second time Joseph was known of his brethren, and his kindred was made known unto Pharaoh. {14} And Joseph sending, called thither Jacob his father and all his kindred in seventy five souls. {15} And Jacob descended into Ægypt: and he died, and our fathers. {16} And they were translated into Sichem, and were laid in the sepulchre that Abraham bought for a price of silver of the sons of Hemor the son of Sichem. {17} And when the time drew near of the promise which God had promised to Abraham, the people increased and was multiplied in Ægypt, {18} until another king arose in Ægypt, that knew not Joseph. {19} This same circumventing our stock, afflicted our fathers, that they should expose their children, to the end they might not be kept alive. {20} The same time was Moyses born, and he was acceptable to God; who was nourished three months in his father's house. {21} And when he was exposed, Pharaoh's daughter took him up, and nourished him for her own son. {22} And Moyses was instructed in all the wisdom of the Ægyptians: and he was mighty in his words and works. {23} And when he was full of the age of forty years, it came to his mind to visit his brethren the children of Israel. {24} And when he had seen one suffer wrong, he defended him: and striking the Ægyptian, he revenged his quarrel that sustained the wrong. {25} And he thought that his brethren did understand that God by his hand would save them: but they understood it not. {26} And the day following he appeared to them being at strife: and he reconciled them unto peace, saying: Men, ye are brethren, wherefore hurt you one another? {27} But he that did the injury to his neighbour, repelled him, saying: Who hath appointed thee prince and judge over us: {28} What, wilt thou kill me, as thou didst yesterday kill the Ægyptian? {29} And Moyses fled upon this word: and he became a sojourner in the land of Madian, where he begat two sons. {30} And after forty years were expired, there appeared to him in the desert of mount Sina an Angel in the fire of the flame of a bush. {31} And Moyses seeing it, marveled at the vision. And as he went near to view it, the voice of our Lord was made to him: {32} I am the God of thy fathers; the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob. And Moyses being made to tremble, durst not view it. {33} And our Lord said to him: Loose off the shoe of thy feet, for the place wherein thou standest, is holy ground. {34} Seeing I have seen the affliction of my people which is in Ægypt, and I have heard their groaning and am descended to deliver them. And now come, and I will send thee into Ægypt. {35} This Moyses, whom they denied, saying: Who hath appointed thee prince and Captain? him God sent prince & redeemer with the hand of the Angel that appeared to him in the bush. {36} He brought them forth doing wonders and signs in the land of Ægypt, and in the red sea, and in the desert forty years. {37} This is that Moyses which said to the children of Israel: A Prophet will God raise up to you of your own brethren as my self: him you shall hear. {38} This is he that was in the assembly in the wilderness, with the Angel that spake to him in Mount Sina, and with our fathers: who received the words of life to give unto us. {39} To whom our fathers would not be obedient: but they repelled him, and in their hearts turned away into Ægypt, {40} saying to Aaron: Make us gods that may go before us. For this Moyses that brought us out of the land of Ægypt, we know not what is befallen to him. {41} And they made a calf in those days, and offered sacrifice to the idol, and rejoiced in the works of their own hands. {42} And God turned, and delivered them up to serve the host of Heaven, as it is written in the book of the Prophets: Did you offer victims and hosts unto me forty years in the desert, O house of Israel? {43} And you took unto you the tabernacle of Moloch, and the star of your god Rempham, figures which you made, to adore them. And I will translate you beyond Babylon. {44} The tabernacle of testimony was among our fathers in the desert, as God ordained speaking to Moyses, that he should make it according to the form which he had seen. {45} Which our fathers with Jesus receiving, brought it in also into the possession of the Gentiles. Which God expelled from the face of our fathers, till in the days of David, {46} who found grace before God, and desired that he might find a tabernacle for the God of Jacob. {47} And Salomon built him a house. {48} But the Highest dwelleth not in houses made by hand, as the Prophet saith: {49} Heaven is my seat: and the earth the foot-stool of my feet. What house will you build me, saith our Lord, or what place is there of my resting? {50} Hath not my hand made all these things? {51} You stiff-necked and of uncircumcised hearts and ears, you always resist the holy Ghost: as your fathers, your selves also. {52} Which of the Prophets did not your fathers persecute? And they slew them that foretold of the coming of the Just one, of whom now {53} you have been betrayers and murderers: who received the Law by the disposition of Angels, and have not kept it. {54} And hearing these things they were cut in their hearts, and they gnashed with their teeth at him. {55} But he being full of the holy Ghost, looking steadfastly unto Heaven, saw the glory of God, and JESUS standing on the right hand of God. And he said: Behold I see the Heavens opened, and the Son of man standing on the right hand of God. {56} And they crying out with a loud voice, stopped their ears, and with one accord ran violently upon him. {57} And casting him forth without the city they stoned him: and the witnesses laid off their garments beside the feet of a young man that was called Saul. {58} And they stoned Steven invocating, and saying: Lord JESUS, receive my spirit. {59} And falling on his knees, he cried with a loud voice, saying: Lord, lay not this sin unto them. And when he had said this, he fell asleep. And Saul was consenting to his death.

Chapter 8

So far is persecution from prevailing against the Church, that by it the Church groweth from Hierusalem into all Jewry and Samaria. 5. The second of the Deacons, Philip, converteth with his miracles the city it self of Samaria, and baptizeth them; even Simon Magus also him self among the rest. 14. But the Apostles Peter and John are the Ministers to give them the Holy Ghost. 18. Which ministry Simon Magus would buy of them. 26. The same Philip being sent of an Angel to a great man of Aethiopia, who came a Pilgrimage to Hierusalem, first catechizeth him: 36. and then (he professing his faith and desiring Baptism) doth also baptize him.

{1} AND the same day there was made a great persecution in the Church, which was at Jerusalem, and all were dispersed through the countries of Jewry and Samaria, saving the Apostles. {2} And devout men took order for Steven's funeral, and made great mourning upon him. {3} But Saul wasted the Church: entering in from house to house, and drawing men and women, delivered them into prison. {4} They therefore that were dispersed, passed through, evangelizing the word. {5} And Philippe descending into the city of Samaria, preached CHRIST unto them. {6} and the multitudes were attent to those things which were said of Philippe, with one accord hearing, and seeing the signs that he did. {7} For many of them that had unclean spirits, crying with a loud voice, went out. And many sick of the palsy and lame were cured. {8} There was made therefore great joy in that city. {9} And a certain man named Simon, who before had been in that city a Magician, seducing the nation of Samaria, saying himself to be some great one: {10} unto whom all harkened from the least to the greatest, saying: This man is the power of God, that is called great. {11} And they were attent upon him, because a long time he had bewitched them with his magical practises. {12} But when they had believed Philippe evangelizing of the Kingdom of God, and of the name of JESUS CHRIST, they were baptized, men and women. {13} Then Simon also himself believed: & being baptized, he cleaved to Philippe. Seeing also signs and very great miracles to be done, he was astonished with admiration. {14} And when the Apostles who were in Jerusalem, had heard that Samaria had received the word of God: they sent unto them Peter and John. {15} Who when they were come, prayed for them, that they might receive the holy Ghost. {16} For he was not yet come upon any of them, but they were only baptized in the name of our Lord JESUS. {17} Then did they impose their hands upon them, & they received the holy Ghost. {18} And when Simon had seen that by the imposition of the hand of the Apostles, the holy Ghost was given, he offered them money, {19} saying: Give me also this power, that on whomsoever I impose my hands, he may receive the holy Ghost. {20} But Peter said to him: Thy money be with thee unto perdition: because thou hast thought that the gift of God is purchased with money. {21} Thou hast no part, nor lot in this word. For thy heart is not right before God. {22} Do penance therefore from this thy wickedness: and pray to God, if perhaps this cogitation of thy heart may be remitted thee. {23} For I see thou art in the gall of bitterness and the obligation of iniquity. {24} And Simon answering said: Pray you for me to our Lord, that nothing come upon me of these things which you have said. {25} And they indeed having testified and spoken the word of our Lord, returned to Jerusalem, and evangelized to many countries of the Samaritans. {26} And an Angel of our Lord spake to Philippe, saying: Arise, and go toward the South, to the way that goeth down from Jerusalem into Gaza: this is desert. {27} And rising he went. And behold, a man of Æthiopia, an Eunuch, of great authority under Candace the queen of the Æthiopians, who was over all her treasures, was come to Jerusalem to adore: {28} and he was returning and sitting upon his chariot, and reading Esay the Prophet. {29} And the Spirit said to Philippe: Go near, and join thy self to this same chariot. {30} And Philippe running thereunto, heard him reading Esay the Prophet, and he said: Trowest thou that thou understandest the things which thou readest? {31} Who said: And how can I, unless some man shew me? & he desired Philippe that he would come up and sit with him. {32} And the place of the scripture which he did read, was this: As a sheep to slaughter was he led: and as a lamb before his shearer, without voice, so did he not open his mouth. {33} In humility his judgement was taken away. His generation who shall declare, for from the earth shall his life be taken? {34} And the Eunuch answering Philip, said: I beseech thee, of whom doth the Prophet speak this? of himself, or of some other? {35} And, Philip opening his mouth, and beginning from this scripture, evangelized unto him JESUS. {36} And as they went by the way, they came to a certain water: and the Eunuch said: Lo water, who doth let me to be baptized? {37} And Philip said: If thou believe with all thy heart, thou mayest. And he answering said: I believe that JESUS CHRIST is the Son of God. {38} And he commanded the chariot to stay: and both went down into the water, Philip and the Eunuch, and he baptized him. {39} And when they were come up out of the water, the Spirit of our Lord took away Philip, & the Eunuch saw him no more. And he went on his way rejoicing. {40} But Philip was found in Azotus, and passing through, he evangelized to all the cities, till he came to Caesarea.

Chapter 9

Saul not content to persecute so cruelly in Hierusalem, 3. is in the way to Damascus told by our Lord JESUS of his vain attempt, and miraculously converted to be an Apostle: and after great penance, restored to his sight by Ananias, and baptized. 20. And presently he dealeth mightily against the Jews, proving JESUS to be Christ, to their great admiration. 23. But such is their obstinacy, that they lay all Damascus to kill him, 26. From thence he goeth to Hierusalem, and there joineth with the Apostles, and again by the obstinate Jews his death is sought. 31. The Church being now grown over all Jewry, Galilee, and Samaria, Peter visiteth all: and in his visitation, 33. healing a lame man, 36. and raising a dead woman, converteth very many.

{1} AND Saul as yet breathing forth threatenings and slaughter against the Disciples of our Lord, came to the high priest, {2} and asked letters of him unto Damascus to the Synagogues that if he had found any men and women of this way, he might bring them bound unto Jerusalem. {3} And as he went on his journey, it chanced that he drew nigh to Damascus: and suddenly a light from Heaven shined round about him. {4} And falling on the ground, he heard a voice saying to him, Saul, Saul why persecutest thou me? {5} Who said: Who art thou Lord? And he: I am JESUS whom thou doest persecute. It is hard for thee to kick against the prick. {6} And trembling and being astonished he said: Lord, what wilt thou have me to do? {7} And our Lord to him: Arise and go into the city, & it shall be told thee what thou must do. But the men that went in company with him, stood amazed, hearing the voice, but seeing no man. {8} And Saul rose up from the ground, and his eyes being opened, he saw nothing. And they drawing him by the hands, brought him into Damascus. {9} And he was there three days not seeing, and he did neither eat nor drink. {10} And there was a certain Disciple at Damascus, named Ananias: and our Lord said to him in a vision, Ananias. But he said, Lo, here I am Lord. {11} And our Lord to him: Arise, and go into the street that is called Straight: and seek in the house of Judas, one named Saul of Tarsus. For behold he prayeth. {12} (And he saw a man named Ananias, coming in and imposing hands upon him for to receive his sight.) {13} But Ananias answered: Lord, I have heard by many, of this man, {1173} how much evil he hath done to thy saints in Jerusalem: {14} and here he hath authority from the chief priests to bind all that invoke thy name. {15} And our Lord said to him: Go, for a vessel of election is this man unto me, to carry my name before the Gentiles, and kings, and the children of Israel. {16} For I will shew him how great things he must suffer for my name. {17} And Ananias went, and entered into the house: and imposing hands upon him, he said: Brother Saul, our Lord JESUS hath sent me, he that appeared to thee in the way that thou camest; that thou mayest see and be filled with the Holy Ghost. {18} And forthwith there fell from his eyes as it were scales, and he received sight: and rising he was baptized. {19} And when he had taken meat, he was strengthened. And he was with the Disciples that were at Damascus, for certain days. {20} And incontinent entering into the Synagogues, he preached JESUS, that this is the Son of God. {21} And all that heard, were astonished, and said: Is not this he that expugned in Jerusalem those that invoked this name; and came hither to this purpose that he might bring them bound to the chief priests? {22} But Saul waxed mighty much more and confounded the Jews that dwelt at Damascus, affirming that this is CHRIST. {23} And when many days were passed, the Jews consulted that they might kill him. {24} But their conspiracy came to Saul's knowledge. And they kept the gates also day and night, that they might kill him. {25} But the Disciples taking him in the night, conveyed him away by the wall, letting him down in a basket. {26} And when he was come into Jerusalem, he assayed to join himself to the Disciples, & all feared him, not believing that he was a Disciple. {27} But Barnabas took him & brought him to the Apostles, and told them how in the way he had seen our Lord, and that he spake unto him, & how in Damascus he dealt confidently in the name of JESUS. {28} And he was with them going in & going out in Jerusalem, & dealing confidently in the name of our Lord. {29} He spake also to the Gentiles, & disputed with the Greeks: but they sought to kill him. {30} Which when the brethren had known, they brought him down to Caesarea & sent him away to Tarsus. {31} The CHURCH truly through all Jewry & Galilee and Samaria had peace, & was edified, walking in the fear of our Lord, and was replenished with the consolation of the Holy Ghost. {32} And it came to pass, that Peter as he passed through all, came to the saints that dwelt at Lydda. {33} and he found there a certain man named Æneas, lying in his bed from eight years before, who had the palsy. {34} And Peter said to him: Æneas, our Lord JESUS CHRIST heal thee: arise, and make thy bed. And incontinent he arose. {35} And all that dwelt at Lydda and Sarona, saw him: who converted to our Lord. {36} And in Joppe there was a certain Disciple named Tabitha, which by interpretation is called Dorcas. This woman was full of good works & alms-deeds which she did. {37} And it came to pass in those days, that she was sick and died. Whom when they had washed, they laid her in an upper chamber. {38} And whereas Lydda was nigh to Joppe, the Disciples hearing that Peter was in it, they sent two men unto him, desiring him: Be not loath to come so far as to us. {39} And Peter rising up came with them. And when he was come, they brought him into the upper chamber: and all the widows stood about him weeping, and shewing him the coats and garments which Dorcas made them. {40} And all being put forth, Peter falling on his knees prayed, and turning to the body he said: Tabitha, arise. And she opened her eyes: and seeing Peter, she sat up. {41} And giving her his hand, he lifted her up. And when he had called the saints and the widows, he presented her alive. {42} And it was made known throughout all Joppe: and many believed in our Lord. {43} And it came to pass that he abode many days in Joppe, with one Simon a tanner.

Chapter 10

Because the Jews so much abhorred the Gentiles, for the better warrant of their Christening, an Angel appeareth to Cornelius the devout Italian 9. and a vision is shewed to Peter him self (the chief and Paster of all) 19. and the Spirit speaketh to him, 34. yea and as he is Catechizing them about JESUS, 44. the holy Ghost cometh visibly upon them: and therefore not fearing any longer the offense of the Jews, he commandeth to baptize them.

{1} AND there was a certain man in Caesarea, named Cornelius, Centurion of that which is called the Italian band, {2} religious, & fearing God with all his house, doing many alms-deeds to the people. And always praying to God, {3} he saw in a vision manifestly, about the ninth hour of the day, an Angel of God coming in unto him and saying to him: Cornelius. {4} But he beholding him, taken with fear, said: Who art thou Lord? And he said to him: Thy prayers and thy alms-deeds are ascended into remembrance in the sight of God. {5} And now send men unto Joppe, and call hither one Simon that is surnamed Peter. {6} He lodgeth with one Simon a tanner, whose house is by the sea side. He will tell thee what thou must do. {7} And when the Angel was departed that spake to him, he called two of his household, and a soldier that feared our Lord, of them that were under him. {8} To whom when he had told all, he sent them unto Joppe. {9} And the next day whiles they were going on their journey, and drawing nigh to the city, Peter went up into the higher parts, to pray about the sixth hour. {10} And being hungry, he was desirous to take somewhat. And as they were preparing, there fell upon him an excess of mind: {11} and he saw the Heaven opened, and a certain vessel descending, as it were a great linen sheet with four corners let down from Heaven to the earth, {12} wherein were all four-footed beasts, and that creep on the earth, and fowls of the air. {13} And there came a voice to him: Arise Peter, kill, and eat. {14} But Peter said: God forbid, Lord; for I did never eat any common and unclean thing. {15} And a voice came to him again the second time: That which God hath purified, do not thou call common. {16} And this was done thrice, & forthwith the vessel was taken up again into Heaven. {17} And whiles Peter doubted within himself, what the vision should be that he had seen, behold the men that were sent from Cornelius, inquiring for Simon's house, stood at the gate. {18} And when they had called, they asked, if Simon that is surnamed Peter were lodged there. {19} And as Peter was thinking of the vision, the Spirit said to him: Behold, three men do seek thee. {20} Arise therefore, and get thee down, and go with them, doubting nothing; for I have sent them. {21} And Peter going down to the men, said: Behold I am he whom you seek; what is the cause, for the which you are come? {22} Who said: Cornelius the Centurion, a just man and that feareth God, and having testimony of all the nation of the Jews, received an answer of an holy Angel to send for thee into his house, and to hear words of thee. {23} Therefore bringing them in, he lodged them. And the day following he arose and went with them: and certain of the brethren of Joppe accompanied him. {24} And on the morrow he entered into Caesarea. And Cornelius expected them, having called together his kin, and special friends. {25} And it came to pass, when Peter was come in, Cornelius came to meet him, & falling at his feet adored. {26} But Peter lifted him up saying: Arise, my self also am a man. {27} And talking with him, he went in, and findeth many that were assembled. {28} And he said to them: You know how abominable it is for a man that is a Jew, to join, or to approach unto a stranger: but God hath shewed to me, to call no man common or unclean. {29} For the which cause, making no doubt, I came when I was sent for. I demand therefore, for what cause you have sent for me? {30} And Cornelius said: Four days since, until this hour, I was praying the ninth hour in my house, and behold a man stood before me in white apparel, {31} and said: Cornelius, thy prayer is heard, and thy alms-deeds are in memory in the sight of God. {32} Send therefore to Joppe, and call hither Simon that is surnamed Peter: he lodgeth in the house of Simon a tanner by the sea side. {33} Immediately therefore I sent to thee: {1175} and thou hast done well in coming. Now therefore all we are present in thy sight, to hear all things whatsoever are commanded thee of the Lord. {34} And Peter opening his mouth, said: In very deed I perceive that God is not an accepter of persons. {35} But in every nation, he that feareth him, and worketh justice, is acceptable to him. {36} The word did God send to the children of Israel, preaching peace by JESUS CHRIST (this is Lord of all.) {37} You know the word that hath been made through all Jewry, for beginning from Galilee, after the baptism which John preached: {38} JESUS of Nazareth how God anointed him with the Holy Ghost and with power, who went throughout doing good and healing all that were oppressed of the devil, because God was with him. {39} And we are witnesses of all things that he did in the country of the Jews and in Jerusalem, whom they killed hanging him upon a tree. {40} Him God raised up the third day and gave him to be made manifest, {41} not to all the people, but to us, who did eat and drink with him after he rose again from the dead. {42} And he commanded us to preach to the people, & to testify that it is he that of God was appointed judge of the living and of the dead. {43} To him all the prophets give testimony, that all receive remission of sins by his name, which believe in him. {44} As Peter was yet speaking these words, the Holy Ghost fell upon all that heard the word. {45} And the faithful of the Circumcision that came with Peter, were astonished, for that the grace of the Holy Ghost was poured out upon the Gentiles also. {46} For they heard them speaking with tongues, and magnifying God. {47} Then Peter answered: Can any man forbid water, that these should not be baptized which have received the Holy Ghost as well as we? {48} And he commanded them to be baptized in the name of our Lord JESUS CHRIST. Then they desired him that he would tarry with them certain days.

Chapter 11

The Christian Jews repreнд the foresaid fact of Peter in baptizing the Gentiles {4} But he alleging his foresaid warrants, and shewing plainly that it was of God. 18. they like good Catholics do yield. 19. By the foresaid persecution, the Church is yet further dilated, not only into all Jewry, Galilee, and Samaria, but also into other Countries: specially in Antioch Syriae the increase among the Greeks, is notable, first by the foresaid dispersed, 22. then by Barnabas, thirdly by him and Saul together: so that there beginneth the name of Christians: 27. with perfit unity between them and the Church that was before them at Hierusalem.

{1} AND the Apostles and brethren that were in Jewry, heard that the Gentiles also received the word of God. {2} And when Peter was come up to Jerusalem, they that were of the Circumcision reasoned against him, saying: {3} Why didst thou enter in to men uncircumcised, and didst eat with them? {4} But Peter began and declared to them the order, saying: {5} I was in the city of Joppe praying, & I saw in an excess of mind a vision, a certain vessel descending as it were a great sheet with four corners let down from heaven, & it came even unto me. {6} Into which I looking considered, & saw four footed beasts of the earth, & cattle, & such as creep, & fowls of the air. {7} And I heard also a voice saying to me: Arise Peter, kill and eat. {8} And I said: Not so Lord; for common or unclean thing never entered into my mouth. {9} And a voice answered the second time from heaven: That which God hath made clean, do not thou call common. {10} And this was done thrice: and all were taken up again into heaven. {11} And behold, three men immediately were come to the house wherein I was, sent to me from Caesarea. {12} And the spirit said to me, that I should go with them, doubting nothing. And there came with me these six brethren also: and we went into the man's house. {13} And he told us, how he had seen an Angel in his house, standing and saying to him: Send to Joppe, and call hither Simon, that is surnamed Peter, {14} who shall speak to thee words wherein thou shalt be saved and all thy house. {15} And when I had begun to speak, the Holy Ghost fell upon them, as upon us also in the beginning. {16} And I remembered the word of our Lord, according as he said: John indeed baptized with water, but you shall be baptized with the Holy Ghost. {17} If therefore God hath given them the same grace, as to us also that believed in our Lord JESUS CHRIST: who was I that might prohibit God? {18} Having heard these things, they held their peace: & glorified God, saying: God then to the Gentiles also hath given repentance unto life. {19} And they truly that had been dispersed by the tribulation that was made under Steven, walked throughout unto Phoenice & Cypres & Antioch, speaking the word to none, but to the Jews only. {20} But certain of them were men of Cypres and Cyrene, who when they were entered into Antioch, spake to the Greeks, preaching our Lord JESUS. {21} And the hand of our Lord was with them: and a great number of believers was converted to our Lord. {22} And the report came to the ears of the Church that was at Jerusalem, touching these things: and they sent Barnabas as far as Antioch. {23} Who when he was come, and saw the grace of God, rejoiced: and he exhorted all with purpose of heart to continue in our Lord: {24} because he was a good man, and full of the Holy Ghost and faith. And a great multitude was added to our Lord. {25} And he went forth to Tarsus, to seek Saul: {26} whom when he had found, he brought him to Antioch. And they conversed there in the church a whole year: and they taught a great multitude, so that the Disciples were at Antioch first named CHRISTIANS. {27} And in these days there came Prophets from Jerusalem to Antioch, {28} and one of them rising, named Agabus, did by the Spirit signify a great famine that should be in the whole world, which fell under Claudius. {29} And the Disciples according as each man had, purposed every one to send, for to serve the brethren that dwelt in Jewry: {30} which also they did, sending to the ancients by the hands of Barnabas and Saul.

Chapter 12

Herod the first king that persecuted the Church, having at Hierusalem (when Barnabas and Saul were there with the collation of the Antiochians) killed James the Apostle, 3. and to please the Jews imprisoned Peter with the mind to kill him also, but frustrate by an Angel sent of God at the continual prayers of the Church made for her chief Pastor, 19. being puffed up with such pride that at Caesarea he refuseth not to be honoured as God: 23. is miraculously striken of God's Angel. 24. And so after the persecutor's death, the Church's preaching prospereth exceedingly.

{1} AND at the same time Herod the king set his hands, to afflict certain of the Church. {2} And he killed James the brother of John with the sword. {3} And seeing that it pleased the Jews, he added to apprehend Peter also. And it was the days of the Azymes. {4} Whom when he had apprehended, he cast into prison, delivering him to four quaternions of soldiers to be kept, meaning after the Pasche to bring him forth to the people. {5} And Peter indeed was kept in prison. But prayer was made of the Church without intermission unto God for him. {6} And when Herod would have brought him forth, the same night Peter was sleeping between two soldiers, bound with two chains: and the keepers before the door kept the prison. {7} And behold an Angel of our Lord stood in presence: and light shined in the house: and striking Peter's side, he raised him, saying: Arise quickly. And the chains fell from his hands. {8} And the Angel said to him: Gird thee, and put on thy shoes. And he did so. And he said to him: Put thy garment about thee, & follow me. {9} And going forth he followed him, & he knew not that it was true which was done by the Angel: but he thought that he saw a vision. {10} And passing through the first & the second watch, they came to the iron gate that leadeth to the city, which of it self opened to them. And going out, they went forward one street: and incontinent the Angel departed from him. {11} And Peter returning to himself, said: Now I know in very deed that our Lord hath sent his Angel, and delivered me out of Herod's hand, & from all the expectation of the people of the Jews. {12} And considering, he came to the house of Mary the mother of John, who was surnamed Mark, where many were gathered and praying. {13} And when he knocked at the door of the gate, there came forth a wench to see, named Rhode. {14} And as she knew Peter's voice, for joy she opened not the gate, but running in she told that Peter stood before the gate. {15} But they said to her: Thou art mad. But she affirmed that it was so. But they said: It is his Angel. {16} And Peter continued knocking. And when they had opened, they saw him, & were astonished. {17} And beckoning with his hand to them, that they should hold their peace, he told how our Lord had brought him out of prison, & he said: Tell these things to James & to the brethren. And going forth he went into another place. {18} And when day was come, there was no little ado between the soldiers, what was become of Peter. {19} And Herod, when he had sought him, and had not found, making inquisition of the keepers, commanded them to be led away: & going down from Jewry into Caesarea, there he abode. {20} And he was angry with the Tyrians and the Sidonians. But they with one accord came to him, and persuading Blastus that was chief of the king's chamber, they desired peace, for that their countries were nourished by him. {21} And upon a day appointed, Herod being arrayed with kingly attire, sat in the judgement seat, and made an oration to them. {22} And the people made acclamation, The voices of a God, & not of a man. {23} And forthwith an Angel of our Lord strook him, because he had not given the honour to God: and being consumed of worms, he gave up the ghost. {24} But the word of our Lord increased and multiplied. {25} And Barnabas and Saul returned from Jerusalem, having accomplished their ministry, taking with them John that was surnamed Mark.

Chapter 13

The preachers of the Church of Antioch preparing them selves, the Holy Ghost out of them all, chooseth Saul and Barnabas. 3. They being first consecrated Bishops, 4. go their appointed circuit over all the land of Cypres, the Proconsul whereof is also converted, seeing the miraculous execution of a Jew by Paul. 13. Thence, into Pamphilia: 14. and Pisidia, where in Antioch Paul preacheth to the Jews, shewing that JESUS is Christ, 38. and that in him is salvation, and not in their Law of Moyses: 40. warning them to beware of the reprobation foretold by the Prophets. 44. But the next Sabbath, they blaspheming, he in plain terms forsaketh them, and turneth to the Gentiles. Whereat the Gentiles be as glad on the contrary side. 50. Finally the Jews raising persecution, they forsake them, pronouncing them to be obstinate contemners.

{1} AND there were in the Church which was at Antioch, Prophets and Doctors, among whom was Barnabas, and Simon that was called Niger, and Lucius of Cyrene, and Manahen who was the foster-brother of Herod the Tetrarch, and Saul. {2} And as they were ministering to our Lord, & fasting, the Holy Ghost said: Separate me Saul and Barnabas unto the work, whereto I have taken them. {3} Then they fasting and praying, and imposing hands upon them, dismissed them. {4} And they being sent of the Holy Ghost, went to Seleucia, and thence sailed to Cypres. {5} And when they were come to Salamina, they preached the word of God in the Synagogues of the Jews. And they had John also in their ministry. {6} And when they had walked throughout the whole island as far as Paphos, they found a certain man that was a magician, a false-prophet, a Jew, whose name was Bar-jesu, {7} who was with the Proconsul Sergius Paulus a wise man. He, sending for Barnabas & Saul, desired to hear the word of God. {8} But Elymas the magician (for so is his name interpreted) resisted them, seeking to avert the Proconsul from the faith. {9} But Saul, otherwise Paul, replenished with the Holy Ghost, looking upon him, {10} said: O full of all guile, and all deceit, son of the devil, enemy of all justice, thou ceasest not to subvert the right ways of our Lord. {11} And now behold the hand of our Lord upon thee, & thou shalt be blind, not seeing the sun until a time. And forthwith there fell dimness and darkness upon him, and going about he sought some body that would give him his hand. {12} Then the Proconsul, when he had seen that which was done, believed, marveling at the doctrine of our Lord. {13} And when Paul and they that were with him had sailed from Paphos, they came to Perge in Pamphylia. And John departing from them, returned to Jerusalem. {14} But they passing through Perge, came to Antioch in Pisidia: and entering into the Synagogue on the day of the Sabbath, they sat down. {15} And after the lesson of the Law and the Prophets, the princes of the Synagogue sent to them, saying: Men, brethren, if there be among you any sermon of exhortation to the people, speak. {16} And Paul rising up, and with his hand beckoning for silence, said: Ye men of Israel, and you that fear God, harken. {17} The God of the people of Israel chose our fathers, and exalted the people when they were sojourners in the land of Ægypt, and in a mighty arm brought them out thereof, {18} and for the space of forty years tolerated their manners in the desert. {19} And destroying seven nations in the land of Chanaan, by lot he divided their land among them, {20} as it were after four hundred and fifty years, and after these things he gave Judges, until Samuel the Prophet. {21} And thenceforth they desired a king: & he gave them Saul the son of Cis, a man of the tribe of Benjamin, forty years. {22} and removing him, he raised them up David to be king: to whom giving testimony, he said: I have found David the son of Jesse, a man according to my heart, who shall do all my wills. {23} Of his seed God according to his promise hath brought forth to Israel a Saviour JESUS, {24} John preaching before the face of his coming, baptism of penance to all the people of Israel. {25} And when John fulfilled his course, he said: Whom do you think me to be? I am not he: but behold there cometh after me, whose shoes of his feet I am not worthy to loose. {26} Men, brethren, children of the stock of Abraham, & they among you that fear God; to you the word of this salvation was sent. {27} For they that inhabited Jerusalem, and the princes thereof, not knowing him, nor the voices of the prophets that are read every Sabbath, judging have fulfilled them, {28} and finding no cause of death in him, desired of Pilate, that they might kill him. {29} And when they had consummated all things that were written of him, taking him down from the tree, they put him in a monument. {30} But God raised him up from the dead the third day: {31} who was seen for many days of them that came up together with him from Galilee into Jerusalem, who until this present are his witnesses to the people. {32} And we preach unto you that promise which was made to our fathers: {33} that God hath fulfilled this same to our children, raising up JESUS, as in the second Psalm also it is written: My Son art thou, this day have I begotten thee. {34} And that he raised him up from the dead, not to return now any more into corruption, thus he said: That I will give you the holy things of David faithful. {35} And therefore in another place also he saith: Thou shalt not give thy holy one to see corruption. {36} For David in his generation when he had served, according to the will of God slept: and he was laid to his fathers & saw corruption. {37} But he whom God hath raised up, saw no corruption. {38} Be it known therefore to you, men, brethren, that through him, forgiveness of sins is preached to you, from all the things from the which you could not be justified by the law of Moyses. {39} In him every one that believeth, is justified. {40} Take heed therefore lest that come upon you which is spoken in the prophets, {41} See ye contemners, and wonder, and perish: because I work a work in your days, a work which you will not believe, if any man shall tell it you. {42} And they going forth, they desired them that the Sabbath following they would speak unto them these words. {43} And when the Synagogue was dismissed, many of the Jews, and of the strangers serving God, followed Paul & Barnabas: who speaking exhorted them to continue in the grace of God. {44} But the next Sabbath the whole city almost assembled to hear the word of God. {45} And the Jews seeing the multitudes, were replenished with envy, & contradicted those things which were said of Paul, blaspheming. {46} Then Paul and Barnabas constantly said: To you it behoved us first to speak the word of God: but because you repel it, and judge your selves unworthy of eternal life; behold we turn to the Gentiles. {47} For so our Lord commanded us: I have put thee to be the light of the Gentiles; that thou mayest be salvation unto the utmost of the earth. {48} And the Gentiles hearing it, were glad, and glorified the word of our Lord: and there believed as many as were preordained to life everlasting. {49} And the word of our Lord was spread throughout the whole country. {50} But the Jews stirred up religious and honest women, and the chief of the city, and raised persecution against Paul and Barnabas: and they did cast them forth out of their coasts. {51} But they shaking off the dust of their feet against them, came to Iconium. {52} The Disciples also were replenished with joy and with the holy Ghost.

Chapter 14

Next in Iconium they preach, where many being converted of both sorts, the obstinate Jews raise persecution. 6. Then in the towns of Lycaonia, where the Heathen first seeing that Paul had healed one born lame, are hardly persuaded but they are Gods. 18. but afterward, by the instigation of the malicious Jews, they stone Paul, leaving him for dead. 20. And so having done their circuit, they return the same way confirming the Christians, and making Priests for every Church. 25. And being come home to Antioch in Syria, they report all to the Church there.

{1} AND it came to pass at Iconium that they entered together into the Synagogue of the Jews, and so spake, that a very great multitude of Jews and of the Greeks did believe. {2} But the Jews that were incredulous, stirred up and incensed the hearts of the Gentiles to anger against the brethren. {3} A long time therefore they abode, dealing confidently in our Lord, who gave testimony to the word of his grace, granting signs and wonders to be done by their hands. {4} And the multitude of the city was divided: and certain of them indeed were with the Jews, but certain with the Apostles. {5} And when the Gentiles and the Jews with their princes had made an assault, to use them contumeliously, and to stone them, {6} understanding it, they fled to the cities of Lycaonia, Lystra and Derbe, and the whole country about, and there they were evangelizing. {7} And a certain man at Lystra impotent of his feet sat there, lame from his mother's womb, that never had walked. {8} This same heard Paul speaking. Who looking upon him, and seeing that he had faith for to be saved, {9} he said with a loud voice: Stand up right on thy feet. And he leaped & walked. {10} And the multitudes when they had seen what Paul had done, lifted up their voice in the Lycaonian tongue, saying: Gods made like to men, are descended to us. {11} And they called Barnabas, Jupiter: but Paul Mercury, because he was the chief speaker. {12} The Priest also of Jupiter that was before the city, bringing oxen and garlands before the gates, would with the people sacrifice. {13} Which thing when the Apostles Barnabas and Paul heard, renting their coats, they leaped forth into the multitudes, crying {14} and saying: Ye men, why do you these things? We also are mortal men like unto you, preaching to you for to convert from these vain things, to the living God that made the Heaven, and the earth, and the sea, and all things that are in them: {15} who in the Generations past suffered all the Gentiles to go their own ways. {16} Howbeit he left not himself without testimony, being beneficial from Heaven, giving rains, and fruitful seasons, filling our hearts with food and gladness. {17} And speaking these things, they scarce appeased the multitudes from sacrificing to them. {18} But there came in certain Jews from Antioch and Iconium: and persuading the multitudes, and stoning Paul, they drew him out of the city, thinking him to be dead. {19} But the Disciples compassing him round about, he rising up, entered into the city, and the next day he went forth with Barnabas unto Derbe. {20} And when they had evangelized to that city, & had taught many, they returned to Lystra and Iconium, and to Antioch: {21} confirming the hearts of the Disciples, and exhorting them to continue in the faith; and that by many tribulations we must enter into the Kingdom of God. {22} And when they had ordained to them Priests in every Church, and had prayed with fastings, they commanded them to our Lord in whom they believed. {23} And passing through Pisidia, they came into Pamphylia, {24} and speaking the word of our Lord in Perge, they went down into Attalia: {25} and from thence they sailed to Antioch, whence they had been delivered to the grace of God unto the work which they accomplished. {26} And when they were come, and had assembled the Church, they reported what great things God had done with them, & that he had opened a door of faith to the Gentiles. {27} And they abode no little time with the Disciples.

Chapter 15

Some of those Jews also that were Christians, do fall, and are authors of the Heresy of Judaizing. 2. They refer the matter to Council: 7. Wherein after great disputation, Peter striking the stroke, 12. and other confirming his sentence with miracles, 13. and with Scriptures: 22. the Apostles and Priests do write and command in the name of the Holy Ghost what is to be done. 30. And the faithful therby are straightways quieted in mind. 36. After which, Paul and Barnabas thinking to go again their above said circuit together, are by occasion of Mark parted, to the greater increase of the Church.

{1} AND certain coming down from Jewry, taught the brethren: That unless you be circumcised according to the manner of Moyses, you can not be saved. {2} No little sedition therefore being risen to Paul and Barnabas against them, they appointed that Paul and Barnabas should go up, & certain others of the rest, to the Apostles and Priests unto Jerusalem, upon this question. {3} They therefore being brought on their way by the Church, passed through Phoenice & Samaria, reporting the conversion of the Gentiles: and they made great joy to all the brethren. {4} And when they were come to Jerusalem, they were received of the Church and of the Apostles and Ancients, declaring whatsoever God had done with them. {5} And there arose certain of the heresy of the Pharisees that believed, saying, That they must be circumcised; commanded also to keep the law of Moyses. {6} And the Apostles and Ancients assembled to consider of this word. {7} And when there was made a great disputation, Peter rising up said to them: Men, brethren, you know that of old days God among us chose, that by my mouth the Gentiles should hear the word of the Gospel, and believe. {8} And God which knoweth the hearts, gave testimony, giving unto them the Holy Ghost as well as to us, {9} and hath put no difference between us and them, by faith purifying their hearts. {10} Now therefore why tempt you God, to put a yoke upon the necks of the Disciples, which neither our fathers nor we have been able to bear? {11} But by the grace of our Lord JESUS CHRIST we believe to be saved, in like manner as they also. {12} And all the multitude held their peace: and they heard Barnabas and Paul telling what great signs and wonders God had done among the Gentiles by them. {13} And after they held their peace, James answered, saying: Men, brethren, hear me. {14} Simon hath told how God first visited to take of the Gentiles a people to his name. {15} And to this accord the words of the Prophets, as it is written: {16} After these things I will return, and will re-edify the tabernacle of David which was fallen, and the ruins thereof I will re-edify, and set it up: {17} that the residue of men may seek after the Lord, and all nations upon whom my name is invoked, saith the Lord that doeth these things. {18} To our Lord was his own work known from the beginning of the world. {19} For the which cause I judge, that they which of the Gentiles are converted to God, are not to be disquieted, {20} but to write unto them that they refrain themselves from the contaminations of idols, and fornication, and strangled things, and blood. {21} For Moyses of old times hath in every city them that preach him in the Synagogues, where he is read every Sabbath. {22} Then it pleased the Apostles and Ancients with the whole Church, to choose men out of them, & to send to Antioch with Paul and Barnabas, Judas, who was surnamed Barsabas, & Silas, chief men among the Brethren, {23} writing by their hands. The Apostles and Ancients, the brethren, to the brethren of the Gentiles that are at Antioch and in Syria and Cilicia, greeting. {24} Because we have heard that certain going forth from us have troubled you with words subverting your souls, to whom we gave no commandment: {25} It hath pleased us being gathered in one, to choose out men & to send them unto you with our dearest Barnabas and Paul, {26} men that have given their lives for the name of our Lord JESUS CHRIST. {27} We have sent therefore Judas and Silas who themselves also will in words report unto you the same things. {28} For it hath seemed good to the Holy Ghost and to us, to lay no further burden upon you than these necessary things: {29} That you abstain from the things immolated to idols, and blood, and that which is strangled, and fornication, from the which things keeping yourselves, you shall do well. Fare ye well. {30} They therefore being dismissed went down to Antioch: and gathering the multitude, delivered the epistle. {31} Which when they had read, they rejoiced upon the consolation: {32} but Judas and Silas, themselves also being prophets, with many words comforted the brethren, and confirmed them. {33} And having spent some time there, they were with peace dismissed of the brethren unto them that had sent them. {34} But it seemed good unto Silas to remain there: and Judas departed alone: {35} and Paul and Barnabas tarried at Antioch, teaching and evangelizing with many others the word of our Lord. {36} And after certain days, Paul said to Barnabas, let us return and visit our brethren in all cities wherein we have preached the word of our Lord, how they do. {37} And Barnabas would have taken with them John also that was surnamed Mark. {38} But Paul desired that he (as who had departed from them out of Pamphylia, & had not gone with them to the work) might not be received. {39} And there rose a dissension, so that they departed one from another, & that, Barnabas indeed taking Mark sailed to Cypres. {40} But Paul choosing Silas departed, being delivered of the brethren to the grace of God. {41} And he walked through Syria and Cilicia, confirming the Churches: commanding them to keep the precepts of the Apostles & the Ancients.

Chapter 16

Paul having for his part visited the Churches of Syria, Cilicia, and Lycaonia, delivering unto them wihthold to keep the Decrees of the Council: 6. beginneth a new journey, over Phrygia, Galatia, Mysia: 8. Yea into Europe also he passeth, admonished by a vision, and cometh into Macedonia, 12. and there he beginneth the Church of the Philippians, working miracles, and suffering persecution.

{1} AND he came to Derbe and Lystra. And behold, there was a certain Disciple there named Timothee, the son of a widow woman that believed, of a father a Gentile. {2} To this man the brethren that were in Lystra and Iconium, gave a good testimony. {3} Him Paul would have to go forth with him: and taking him he circumcised him because of the Jews that were in those places. For they all knew that his father was a Gentile. {4} And when they passed through the cities, {1182} they delivered unto them to keep the decrees that were decreed of the Apostles and Ancients which were at Jerusalem. {5} And the Churches were confirmed in faith, and did abound in number daily. {6} And passing through Phrygia and the country of Galatia, they were forbidden by the Holy Ghost to preach the word in Asia. {7} And when they were come into Mysia, they attempted to go into Bithynia, and the Spirit of JESUS permitted them not. {8} And when they had passed through Mysia, they went down to Troas: {9} and a vision by night was shewed to Paul. There was a certain man of Macedonia standing and beseeching him, and saying: Pass into Macedonia, and help us. {10} And as soon as he had seen the vision, forthwith we sought to go into Macedonia, being assured that God had called us to evangelize to them. {11} And sailing from Troas, we came with a straight course to Samothracia, and the day following to Neapolis: {12} and from thence to Philippi, which is the first city of the part of Macedonia, a colonia. And we were in this city certain days, abiding. {13} And upon the day of the Sabbaths, we went forth without the gate beside a river, where it seemed that there was prayer: & sitting we spake to the women that were assembled. {14} And a certain woman named Lydia, a seller of purple of the city of the Thyatirians, one that worshipped God, did hear: whose heart our Lord opened to attend to those things which were said of Paul. {15} And when she was baptized, & her house, she besought us, saying: If you have judged me to be faithful to our Lord, enter into my house & tarry. And she constrained us. {16} And it came to pass as we went to prayer, a certain wench having a Pythonical spirit, met us, that brought great gain to her masters by divining. {17} This same following Paul & us, cried saying: These men are the servants of the high God, which preach unto you the way of salvation. {18} And this she did many days. And Paul being sorry, and turning, said to the spirit: I command thee in the name of JESUS CHRIST to go out from her. And he went out the same hour. {19} But her masters seeing that the hope of their gain was gone, apprehending Paul and Silas, brought them into the market place to the Princes: {20} and presenting them to the magistrates, they said: These men trouble our city, being Jews: {21} and they preach a fashion which it is not lawful for us to receive, nor do, being Romans. {22} And the people ran against them: and the magistrates tearing their coats, commanded them to be beaten with rods. {23} And when they had laid many stripes upon them, they did cast them into prison, commanding the keeper that he should keep them diligently. {24} Who when he had received such commandment, cast them into the inner prison, and made their feet fast in the stocks. {25} And at mid-night Paul and Silas praying, did praise God. And they that were in prison, heard them. {26} But suddenly there was made a great earthquake, so that the foundations of the prison were shaken. And forthwith all the doors were opened: and the bands of all were loosed. {27} And the keeper of the prison waked out of his sleep, and seeing the doors of the prison opened, drawing out his sword, would have killed himself, supposing that the prisoners had been fled. {28} But Paul cried with a loud voice, saying: Do thy self no harm, for we are all here. {29} And calling for light, he went in, and trembling fell down to Paul and Silas at their feet: {30} and bringing them forth, he said: Masters, what must I do that I may be saved? {31} But they said: Believe in our Lord JESUS; and thou shalt be saved and thy house. {32} And they preached the word of our Lord to him with all that were in his house. {33} And he taking them in the same hour of the night, washed their wounds: and himself was baptized and all his house incontinent. {34} And when he had brought them into his own house, he laid the table for them, and rejoiced with all his house, believing God. {35} And when day was come, the magistrates sent the sergeants, saying: Let those men go. {36} And the keeper of the prison told these words to Paul, That the magistrates have sent that you should be let go. Now therefore departing, go ye in peace. {37} But Paul said to them: Being whipped openly, uncondemned, men that are Romans, they have cast us into prison: & now do they send us out secretly? Not so, but let them come, & let us out themselves. {38} And the sergeants reported these words to the magistrates. And they were afraid hearing that they were Romans: {39} and coming they besought them, & bringing them forth they desired them to depart out of the city. {40} And going out of the prison, they entered in unto Lydia: and having seen the brethren, they comforted them, and departed.

Chapter 17

How in other parts of Macedonia he planted the Church, and namely at Thessalonica. 5. where the obstinate Jews are so malicious, that they pursue him also into Beroea. 14. From whence being conducted into Greece, he preacheth at Athens both to the Jews and Gentiles, disputing with the Philosophers, 19. and in Areopagus, persuading them from their Idols unto one God and JESUS CHRIST raised from the dead.

{1} AND when they had walked through Amphipolis and Apollonia, they came to Thessalonica, where there was a Synagogue of the Jews. {2} And Paul according to his custom entered in unto them, & three Sabbaths he discoursed to them out of the Scriptures, {3} declaring and insinuating that it behoved CHRIST to suffer and to rise again from the dead: & that this is JESUS CHRIST, whom I preach to you. {4} And certain of them believed, and were joined to Paul and Silas, and of the Gentiles that served God a great multitude, and noble women not a few. {5} But the Jews envying, & taking unto them of the rascal sort, certain naughty men, and making a tumult, stirred the city: and besetting Jason's house, sought to bring them forth unto the people. {6} And not finding them, they drew Jason and certain brethren to the princes of the city, crying, That these are they that stir up the world, and are come hither, {7} whom Jason hath received, and all these do against the decrees of Caesar, saying that there is another King, JESUS. {8} And they moved the people, and the princes of the city hearing these things. {9} And taking a satisfaction of Jason and of the rest, they dismissed them. {10} But the brethren forthwith by night sent away Paul and Silas unto Beroea. Who when they were come, entered into the Synagogue of the Jews. {11} (And these were more noble than they that are at Thessalonica, who received the word with all greediness, daily searching the scriptures, if these things were so. {12} And many surely of them believed, and of honest women Gentiles, and men not a few.) {13} And when the Jews in Thessalonica understood, that at Beroea also the word of God was preached by Paul, they came thither also, moving and troubling the multitude. {14} And then immediately the brethren sent away Paul, to go unto the sea: but Silas and Timothee remained there. {15} And they that conducted Paul, brought him as far as Athens, and receiving commandment of him to Silas and Timothee, that they should come to him very speedily, they departed. {16} And when Paul expected them at Athens, his spirit was incensed within him, seeing the city given to idolatry. {17} He disputed therefore in the Synagogue with the Jews, & them that served God, and in the market-place, every day with them that were there. {18} And certain Philosophers of the Epicures and the Stoicks disputed with him, and certain said, what is it that this word-sower would say? But others: He seemeth to be a preacher of new gods: because he preached to them JESUS and the resurrection. {19} And apprehending him, they led him to Areopagus, saying: May we know what this new doctrine is that thou speakest of? {20} for thou bringest in certain new things to our ears. We will know therefore what these things may mean. {21} (And all the Athenians, and the strangers sojourning there, employed them selves to nothing else but either to speak, or to hear some news.) {22} But Paul standing in the midst of Areopagus, said: Ye men of Athens, in all things I perceive you as it were superstitious. {23} For passing by and seeing your idols, I found an altar also where upon was written: To the unknown God. That therefore which you worship, not knowing it, the same do I preach to you. {24} The God that made the world and all things that are in it, he being Lord of Heaven & earth dwelleth not in temples made with hand, {25} neither is he served with men's hands, needing any thing, whereas himself giveth life unto all, and breathing, and all things: {26} and he made of one, all mankind, to inhabit upon the whole face of the earth, assigning set times, and the limits of their habitation, {27} for to seek God, if happily they may feel or find him; although he be not far from every one of us: {28} For in him we live and move and be, as certain also of your own poets said, For of his kind also we are. {29} Being therefore of God's kind, we may not suppose, the Divinity to be like unto gold or silver, or stone, the graving of art and devise of man. {30} And the times truly of this ignorance whereas God despised, now he denounceth unto men that all every where do penance, {31} for that he hath appointed a day wherein he will judge the world in equity, by a man whom he hath appointed, giving all men faith, raising him up from the dead. {32} And when they had heard the resurrection of the dead, certain indeed mocked, but certain said: We will hear thee again concerning this point. {33} So Paul went forth out of the midst of them. {34} But certain men joining unto him, did believe: among whom was also Dionysius Areopagita, and a woman named Damaris, and others with them.

Chapter 18

At Corinth in Achaia, he worketh with his own hands, preaching JESUS to be CHRIST, unto the Jews upon their Sabbaths. 6. But they being obstinate and blaspheming, he in plain terms forsaketh them, and turneth to the Gentiles, among whom according to a vision that he had to embolden him, he planteth the Church in great numbers. 12. the obstinate Jews in vain soliciting the Proconsul against him. 18. From thence at length departing he turneth [19] by Ephesus (where he promiseth the Jews to return to them) 22. and so to Antioch of Syria (from whence he began his journey Act. [15]) 23. but not resting, by and by he goeth again to visit the new Churches that he planted Act. [16] in Galatia and Phrygia: 24. Apollo in his absence mightily confounding the Jews at Ephesus. [27] and afterward at Corinth.

{1} AFTER these things, departing from Athens, he came to Corinth. certain Jew, named Aquila, born in Pontus, {2} and finding a who of late was come out of Italy, & Priscilla his wife (because Claudius had commanded all Jews to depart from Rome,) he came to them. {3} And because he was of the same craft, he remained with them, and wrought, (and they were tent-makers by their craft.) {4} And he disputed in the synagogue every Sabbath, interposing the name of our Lord JESUS, and he exhorted the Jews and the Greeks. {5} And when Silas and Timothee were come from Macedonia, Paul was instant in preaching, testifying to the Jews that JESUS is CHRIST. {6} But they contradicting and blaspheming, he shaking his garments, said to them: Your blood upon your own head: I being clean, from henceforth will go to the Gentiles. {7} And departing thence, he entered into the house of a certain man, named Titus Justus, one that served God, whose house was adjoining to the synagogue. {8} And Crispus the prince of the Synagogue believed our Lord, with all his house: & many of the Corinthians hearing believed, and were baptized. {9} And our Lord said in the night by a vision to Paul: Do not fear, but speak, and hold not thy peace, {10} for-because I am with thee: and no man shall set upon thee to hurt thee: for I have much people in this city. {11} And he sat there a year & six months, teaching among them the word of God. {12} But Gallio being Proconsul of Achaia, the Jews with one accord rose up against Paul, and brought him to the judgement seat, {13} saying: That this man contrary to the Law persuadeth men to worship God. {14} And Paul beginning to open his mouth, Gallio said to the Jews: If it were some unjust thing, or an heinous fact, O you men Jews, I should by reason bear you. {15} But if they be questions of word and names, and of your law, your selves look unto it: I will not be judge of these things. {16} And he drove them from the judgement seat. {17} And all apprehending Sosthenes the prince of the Synagogue, strook him before the judgement seat: and Gallio cared for none of those things. {18} But Paul when he had stayed yet many days, taking his leave of the brethren, sailed to Syria, (and with him Priscilla and Aquila,) who had shorn his head in Cenchris. For he had a vow. {19} And he came unto Ephesus, and them he left there. But himself entering into the Synagogue, disputed with the Jews. {20} And when they desired him, that he would tarry a longer time, he consented not, {21} but taking his leave, and saying: I will return to you again God willing, he departed from Ephesus. {22} And going down to Caesarea, he went up, and saluted the Church, and came down to Antioch. {23} And having tarried there a certain time, he departed, walking in order, through the country of Galatia and Phrygia, confirming all the Disciples. {24} And a certain Jew, named Apollo, born at Alexandria, an eloquent man, came to Ephesus, mighty in the Scriptures. {25} This man was taught the way of our Lord: and being fervent in spirit he spake, & taught diligently those things that pertain to JESUS, knowing only the Baptism of John. {26} This man therefore began to deal confidently in the Synagogue. Whom when Priscilla and Aquila had heard, they took him unto them, and expounded to him the way of our Lord more diligently. {27} And whereas he was desirous to go to Achaia, the brethren exhorting wrote to the Disciples to receive him. Who, when he was come, profited them much that had believed. {28} For he with vehemency convinced the Jews openly, shewing by the scriptures, that JESUS is CHRIST.

Chapter 19

How Paul began the Church of Ephesus, first in twelve that were baptized with John's baptism, 8. then preaching three months in the Synagogue of the Jes, until for their obstinacy and blaspheming, he forsook them, disputing afterward in a certain school for two years' space to the marvelous increase of the Church, specially through his great miracles also, in healing diseases with the touch of his clothes, and expelling devils, 13. who yet contemned the Exorcists of the Jews. 18. How the Christians there confess their acts, and burn their unlawful books: 21. and how he foretold that after he had been at Hierusalem, he must see Rome. 23. and what a great sedition was raised against him at Ephesus, by them that got their living of working to the idolatrous Temple of Diana.

{1} AND it came to pass when Apollo was at Corinth, that Paul having gone through the higher parts came to Ephesus, and found certain Disciples: {2} and he said to them: Have you received the Holy Ghost, believing? But they said to him: Nay, neither have we heard whether there be a Holy Ghost. {3} But he said: In what then were you baptized? Who said, In John's Baptism. {4} And Paul said: John baptized the people with the Baptism of penance, saying, That they should believe in him that was to come after him, that is to say, in JESUS. {5} Hearing these things, they were baptized in the name of our Lord JESUS. {6} And when Paul had imposed hands on them, the Holy Ghost came upon them, & they spake with tongues, and prophesied. {7} And all the men were about twelve. {8} And entering into the Synagogue, he spake confidently for three months, disputing & exhorting of the Kingdom of God. {9} But when certain were indurate, and believed not, ill-speaking the way of our Lord before the multitude, departing from them, he separated the Disciples, daily disputing in the school of one Tyrannus. {10} And this was done for the space of two years, so that all which dwelt in Asia, heard the word of our Lord, Jews and Gentiles. {11} And God wrought by the hand of Paul miracles not common: {12} so that there were also brought from his body napkins or handkerchiefs upon the sick, and the diseases departed from them, and the wicked spirits went out. {13} And certain also of the Judaical exorcists that went about, assayed to invoke upon them that had evil spirits, the name of our Lord JESUS, saying: I adjure you by JESUS whom Paul preacheth. {14} And there were certain sons of Sceva a Jew, chief Priest, seven, that did this. {15} But the wicked spirit answering, said to them: JESUS I know, and Paul I know: but you, what are ye? {16} And the man in whom the wicked spirit was, leaping upon them, and mastering both, prevailed against them, so that they fled out of that house naked and wounded. {17} And this was made notorious to all the Jews and the Gentiles that dwelt at Ephesus: and fear fell upon all them, and the name of our Lord JESUS was magnified. {18} And many of them that believed, came confessing & declaring their deeds. {19} And many of them that had followed curious things, brought together their books, and burnt them before all: and counting the prices of them, they found the money to be fifty thousand pence.

{20} So mightily increased the word of God and was confirmed. {21} And when these things were ended, Paul purposed in the Spirit, when he had passed through Macedonia and Achaia, to go to Jerusalem, saying: After I shall have been there, I must see Rome also. {22} And sending into Macedonia two of them that ministered unto him, Timothee and Erastus, himself remained for a time in Asia. {23} And at that time there was made no little trouble about the way of our Lord. {24} For one named Demetrius, a silver-smith, that made silver temples of Diana, procured to the artificers no small gain: {25} whom calling together and them that were the same kind of workmen, he said: Sirs, you know that our gain is of this occupation; {26} and you see, and hear that this same Paul by persuasion hath averted a great multitude not only of Ephesus, but almost of all Asia, saying: That they are not gods which be made by hands. {27} And not only unto us is this part in danger to be reproved, but also the temple of great Diana shall be reputed for nothing, yea & her majesty shall begin to be destroyed, whom all Asia & the world worshippeth. {28} Hearing these things they were replenished with anger, and cried out saying: Great is Diana of the Ephesians. {29} And the whole city was filled with confusion, and they ran violently with one accord into the theater, catching Gaius & Aristarchus, Macedonians, Paul's companions. {30} And when Paul would have entered in to the people, the Disciples did not permit him. {31} And certain also of the Princes of Asia that were his friends, sent unto him, desiring that he would not adventure himself into the theater: {32} and others cried another thing. For the assembly was confuse, & the more part knew not for what cause they were assembled. {33} And of the multitude they drew forth Alexander, the Jews thrusting him forward. But Alexander with his hand desiring silence, would have given the people satisfaction. {34} Whom as soon as they perceived to be a Jew, there was made one voice of all, almost for the space of two hours crying out: Great is Diana of the Ephesians. {35} And when the Scribe had appeased the multitudes, he saith: Ye men of Ephesus, for what man is there that knoweth not the city of the Ephesians to be a worshipper of great Diana, and Jupiter's child? {36} Forasmuch therefore as these things can not be gainsaid, you must be quieted, and do nothing rashly. {37} For you have brought these men, being neither sacrilegious, nor blaspheming your goddess. {38} But if Demetrius & the artificers that are with him, have matter to say against any man, there are Courts kept in the common place, & there are Proconsuls; let them accuse one another. {39} And if you ask any other matter, it may be resolved in a lawful assembly. {40} For we are in danger also to be accused for this day's sedition: whereas there is no man guilty by whom we may give an account of this concourse. And when he had said these things, he dismissed the assembly.

Chapter 20

Having visited the Churches of Macedonia and Achaia (as he purposed Act. 19) and now about to sail from Corinth toward Hierusalem, because of the Jews lying in wait for him, he is constrained to return into Macedonia. 6. And so at Philippis taking boat, cometh to Troas, where upon the Sunday, with a sermon, and a miracle, he greatly confirmeth that Church. 13. Thence coming to Miletum, 17. he sendeth to Ephesus for the Clergy of those parts: to whom he maketh a Pastoral sermon, committing unto their charge the flock begun by him there, and now like to be seen of him no more, considering the troubles that by revelation he looketh for at Hierusalem.

{1} AND after that the tumult was ceased, Paul calling the Disciples, and exhorting them, took his leave, and set forward to go into Macedonia. {2} And when he had walked through those parts, & had exhorted them with much speech, he came to Greece: {3} where when he had spent three months, the Jews laid wait for him as he was about to sail into Syria: and he had counsel to return through Macedonia. {4} And there accompanied him Sosipater of Pyrrhus, of Beroea: and of Thessalonians, Aristarchus, and Secundus: and Caius of Derbe, and Timothee: and of Asia, Tychicus and Trophimus. {5} These going before, stayed for us at Troas: {6} But we sailed after the days of Azymes from Philippi, and came to them unto Troas in five days, where we abode seven days. {7} And in the first of the Sabbath when we were assembled to break bread, Paul disputed with them, being to depart on the morrow: and he continued the sermon until mid-night. {8} And there were a great number of lamps in the upper chamber where we were assembled. {9} And a certain young man named Eutychus, sitting upon the window, whereas he was oppressed with heavy sleep: (Paul disputing long) driven by sleep, fell from the third loft down, and was taken up dead. {10} To whom when Paul was gone down, he lay upon him: and embracing him he said: Be not troubled, for his soul is in him. {11} And going up and breaking bread and tasting, and having talked sufficiently to them until day light, so he departed. {12} And they brought the lad alive, & were not a little comforted. {13} But we going up into the ship, sailed to Asson, from thence meaning to receive Paul; for so he had ordained, himself purposing to journey by land. {14} And when he had found us in Asson, taking him with us we came to Mitylene. {15} And sailing thence, the day following we came over against Chios: and the other day we arrived at Samos: and the day following we came to Miletum. {16} For Paul had purposed to sail leaving Ephesus, lest any stay should be made him in Asia. For he hastened, if it were possible for him, to keep the day of Pentecost at Jerusalem. {17} And sending from Miletum to Ephesus, he called the Ancients of the Church. {18} Who being come to him, and assembled together, he said to them: You know from the first day that I entered into Asia, in what manner I have been with you all the time, {19} serving our Lord with all humility and tears, and temptations that did chance to me by the conspiracies of the Jews: {20} How I have withdrawn nothing that was profitable, but that I preached it to you, and taught you openly and from house to house, {21} testifying to Jews and Gentiles penance toward God, and faith in our Lord JESUS CHRIST. {22} And now behold, being bound by the spirit, I go to Jerusalem; not knowing what things shall befall me in it, {23} but that the Holy Ghost through out all cities doth protest to me, saying: that bands and tribulations abide me at Jerusalem. {24} But I fear none of these things, neither do I make my life more precious than my self, so that I may consummate my course & ministry which I received of our Lord JESUS, to testify the Gospel of the grace of God. {25} And now behold I do know, that you shall no more see my face all you, through whom I have passed preaching the Kingdom of God. {26} Wherefore I take you to witness this present day that I am clear from the blood of all. {27} For I have not spared to declare unto you all the counsel of God. {28} Take heed to your selves and to the whole flock wherein the Holy Ghost hath placed you bishops, to rule the Church of God which he hath purchased with his own blood. {29} I know that after my departure there will ravening wolves enter in among you, not sparing the flock. {30} And out of your own selves shall arise men speaking perverse things, to draw away Disciples after themselves. {31} For the which cause be vigilant, keeping in memory that for three years, night & day I ceased not with tears to admonish every one of you. {32} And now I commend you to God and to the word of his grace, who is able to edify, and to give inheritance in all the sanctified. {33} No man's silver and gold or garment have I coveted. {34} Your selves know that for such things as were needful for me and them that are with me, these hands have ministered. {35} I have shewed you all things, that so labouring, you must receive the weak, and remember the word of our Lord JESUS, because he said: It is a more blessed thing to give rather than to take. {36} And when he had said these things, falling on his knees he prayed with all them. {37} And there was great weeping made of all; and falling upon the neck of Paul, they kissed him, {38} being sorry most of all for the word which he had said, that they should see his face no more. And they brought him going unto the ship.

Chapter 21

From Miletum going on his journey, 4. he can not be dissuaded neither at Tyre, 8. nor at Caesarea (in both which places the Holy Ghost revealed how he should be handled in Hierusalem, 10. the Prophet Agabus expressly foretelling that the Jews there should deliver him to the Gentiles) 15. but to Hierusalem he cometh: where being welcome to the Christians, and namely to James the Bishop, and to the Priests, while he goeth about to satisfy the Christian Jews there, who had been misinformed of him as if he had taught it to be unlawful for the Jews to keep Moyses' Law: 27. he is invaded by the infidel Jews, and ready to be murdered by them, until the Roman soldiers do rescue him.

{1} AND when it came to pass that we sailed, being carried from them, with a straight course we came to Coos, and the day following to Rhodes, and from thence to Patara. {2} And when we had found a ship that passed over to Phoenice, going up into it we sailed. {3} And when we were in the sight of Cypres, leaving it on the left hand, we sailed into Syria, and came to Tyre: for there the ship was to discharge her load. {4} And finding Disciples, we tarried there seven days: who said to Paul by the Spirit, that he should not go up to Jerusalem. {5} And the days being expired, departing we went forward, all bringing us on the way, with their wives and children, till we were out of the city: and falling upon our knees on the shore, we prayed. {6} And when we had bid one another farewell, we went up into the ship; and they returned unto their own. {7} But we having ended the navigation, from Tyre came down to Ptolomais: and saluting the brethren, we tarried one day with them. {8} And the next day departing, we came to Caesarea. And entering into the house of Philip the Evangelist, who was one of the seven, we tarried with him. {9} And he had four daughters, virgins, that did prophesy. {10} And as we abode there for certain days, there came a certain Prophet from Jewry, named Agabus. {11} He, when he was come to us, took Paul's girdle: and binding his own feet & hands, he said: Thus saith the Holy Ghost: The man whose girdle this is, so shall the Jews bind in Jerusalem, and shall deliver him into the hands of the Gentiles. {12} Which when we had heard, we and they that were of the same place, desired him that he would not go up to Jerusalem. {13} Then Paul answered, and said: What do you, weeping and afflicting my heart? for I am ready not only to be bound, but to die also in Jerusalem for the name of our Lord JESUS. {14} And when we could not persuade him, we ceased, saying: The will of our Lord be done. {15} And after these days, being prepared, we went up to Jerusalem. {16} And there came also of the Disciples from Caesarea with us, bringing with them one Jason a Cyprian (with whom we should lodge) an old Disciple. {17} And when we were come to Jerusalem, the brethren received us gladly. {18} And the day following Paul went in with us to James, and all the Ancients were assembled. {19} Whom when he had saluted, he told particularly what God had done among the Gentiles by his ministry. {20} But they hearing it, magnified God, and said to him: Thou seest (brother) how many thousands there are among the Jews that have believed: and all are zelatours of the Law. {21} But they have heard of thee that thou doest teach those Jews that are among the Gentiles, to depart from Moyses: saying that they ought not to circumcise their children, nor walk according to the custom. {22} What is it then? needs must the multitude assemble: for they will hear that thou art come. {23} Do this therefore which we tell thee. There are with us four men, that have a vow on them. {24} Taking these unto thee, sanctify thy self with them; and bestow on them, that they may shave their heads: and all shall know that the things which they heard of thee, are false: but that thy self also walkest keeping the Law. {25} But concerning them that believe of the Gentiles, we have written, decreeing that they should refrain themselves from the immolated to idols, and blood, and suffocated, and fornication. {26} Then Paul taking the men unto him, the next day being purified with them entered into the temple, shewing the accomplishment of the days of the purification, until an oblation was offered for every one of them. {27} But whilst the seven days were a finishing, those Jews that were of Asia, when they had seen him in the temple, stirred up all the people, and laid hands upon him, {28} crying: Ye men of Israel, help: this is the man that against the people and the Law and this place teaching all men every where, hath also moreover brought in Gentiles into the temple, and hath violated this holy place. {29} (For they had seen Trophimus the Ephesian in the city with him, whom they supposed that Paul had brought into the temple.) {30} And the whole city was in an uproar: and there was made a concourse of the people. And apprehending Paul, they drew him forth off the temple: and immediately the doors were shut. {31} And as they sought to kill him, it was told the Tribune of the band, That all Jerusalem is in a confusion. {32} Who forthwith taking unto him soldiers and Centurions, ran down to them. Who, when they had seen the Tribune and the soldiers, ceased to strike Paul. {33} Then the Tribune coming near apprehended him, and commanded him to be bound with two chains: and he demanded who he was, and what he had done. {34} And some cried one thing, some another, in the multitude. And whereas he could not know the certainty for the tumult, he commanded him to be led into the castle. {35} And when he was come to the stairs, it chanced that he was carried of the soldiers because of the violence of the people. {36} For the multitude of the people followed, crying: Away with him. {37} And when Paul began to be brought into the castle, he saith to the Tribune: is it lawful for me to speak some thing to thee? Who said: Canst thou speak Greek? {38} Art not thou the Ægyptian that before these days did raise a tumult, and didst lead forth into the desert four thousand men that were murderers? {39} And Paul said to him: I am a man truly a Jew of Tarsus, a citizen not of an obscure city of Cilicia. And I desire thee, permit me to speak to the people. {40} And when he had permitted him, Paul standing on the stayers, beckoned with his hand to the people. And great silence being made, he spake unto them in the Hebrew tongue, saying.

Chapter 22

Being licensed by the Tribune to speak to the people, he sheweth them that he was once as earnest on that side as they now be: 6. and how strange and miraculous his conversion was. 17. They hear him quietly, until he began to make mention of a vision that sent him away from them to the Gentiles. 22. Then they cry out upon him so, 23. that for their crying the Tribune commandeth him to be scourged. 25. which yet by his wisdom he escapeth.

{1} MEN account I do render now unto you. {2} (And when they had heard that he brethren and fathers, hear what spake to them in the Hebrew tongue, they did the more keep silence. {3} And he saith:) I am a man a Jew, born at Tarsus in Cilicia, but brought up in this city, at the feet of Gamaliel instructed according to the verity of the law of the fathers, an emulator of the Law as also all you are this day: {4} who persecuted this way unto death, binding & delivering into custodies men & women, {5} as the high Priest doth give me testimony, and all the Ancients. Of whom receiving letters also to the brethren, I went to Damascus, that I might bring them thence bound to Jerusalem, to be punished. {6} And it came to pass as I was going, and drawing nigh to Damascus at mid-day, suddenly from Heaven there shone round about me much light: {7} and falling on the ground, I heard a voice saying to me: Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me? {8} And I answered: Who are thou Lord? And he said to me: I am JESUS of Nazareth, whom thou persecutest. {9} And they that were with me, saw the light indeed, but the voice they heard not of him that spake with me. {10} And I said: What shall I do Lord? And our Lord said to me: Arise and go to Damascus; and there it shall be told thee of all things that thou must do. {11} And whereas I did not see for the brightness of that light, being led of my companions by the hand, I came to Damascus. {12} And one Ananias, a man according to the Law, having testimony of all the Jews inhabitants, {13} coming to me, and standing by me, said to me: Brother Saul, look up. And I, the self-same hour looked upon him. {14} But he said: The God of our fathers hath preordained thee, that thou shouldst know his will, and see the just one, and hear a voice from his mouth: {15} because thou shalt be his witness to all men, of those things which thou hast seen and heard. {16} And now what tarriest thou? Rise up, and be baptized, and wash away thy sins invoking his name.

{17} And it befell me returning into Jerusalem, and praying in the temple, that I was in a trance, {18} and saw him saying unto me: Make haste, and depart quickly out of Jerusalem: because they will not receive thy testimony of me. {19} And I said, Lord, they know that I did cast into prison and beat in every Synagogue them that believed in thee. {20} And when the blood of Steven thy witness was shed, I stood by and consented, and kept the garments of them that killed him. {21} And he said to me: Go, for into the Gentiles a far will I send thee. {22} And they heard him until this word, and they lifted up their voice, saying: Away with such an one from the earth: for it is not meet he should live. {23} And when they cried out, and threw off their garments, and cast dust into the air, {24} the Tribune commanded him to be carried into the castle, and to be beaten with whips, & that he should be tormented: to know for what cause they did so cry at him. {25} And when they had bound him very straight with thongs, Paul saith to the Centurion standing by him: Is it lawful for you to whip a man that is a Roman and uncondemned? {26} Which the Centurion hearing, went to the Tribune, and told him, saying: What wilt thou do? for this man is a citizen of Rome. {27} And the Tribune coming, said to him: Tell me, art thou a Roman? But he said: Yea. {28} And the Tribune answered: I obtained this city with a great sum. And Paul said: But I was also born to it. {29} Immediately therefore they departed from him that were to torment him. The Tribune also feared after he understood that he was a citizen of Rome, and because he had bound him. {30} But the next day meaning to know more diligently for what cause he was accused of the Jews, he loosed him, and commanded the Priests to come together and all the Council: & bringing forth Paul, he set him among them.

As the people in the tumult, so also the very chief of the Jews in their Council shew them selves obstinate, and wilful persecutors of the truth in S. Paul's person. Whose behaviour towards them is full of constancy, modesty, and wisdom. {11}. (Christ also by a vision encouraging him, and foretelling that he shall to Rome.) 12. yea they conspire with {40}. men to kill him treacherously. 16. But the matter being detected, the Roman Tribune conveyeth him strongly to Caesarea.

{1} AND Paul looking upon the Council, said: Men have conversed before God, until this , brethren, I with all good conscience present day. {2} And the high Priest Ananias commanded them that stood by him, to smite him on the mouth. {3} Then Paul said to him: God shall strike thee, thou whited wall. And thou sitting judgest me according to the law, and contrary to law doest thou command me to be smitten? {4} And they that stood by, said: Doest thou revile the high Priest of God? {5} And Paul said: I knew not, brethren, that he is the high Priest. For it is written: The prince of thy people thou shalt not mis-speak. {6} And Paul knowing that the one part was of Sadducees, and the other of Pharisees, he cried out in the Council: Men, brethren, I am a Pharisee, the son of Pharisees: of the hope and resurrection of the dead am I judged. {7} And when he had said these things, there rose dissension between the Pharisees and Sadducees; and the multitude was divided. {8} For the Sadducees say there is no resurrection, nor Angel, nor spirit: but the Pharisees confess both. {9} And there was made a great cry. And certain of the Pharisees rising up, strove saying: We find no evil in this man. What if a spirit hath spoken to him, or an Angel? {10} And when there was risen great dissension, the Tribune fearing lest Paul should be torn in pieces by them, commanded the soldiers to go down, and to take him out of the midst of them, and to bring him into the castle. {11} And the night following our Lord standing by him, said: Be constant; for as thou hast testified of me in Jerusalem, so must thou testify at Rome also. {12} And when day was come, certain of the Jews gathered themselves together, & vowed themselves, saying: that they would neither eat nor drink till they killed Paul. {13} And they were more than forty men that had made this conspiracy: {14} who came to the chief priests and the ancients, and said: By execration we have vowed our selves, that we will eat nothing, till we kill Paul. {15} Now therefore give you knowledge to the Tribune with the Council, that he bring him forth to you, as if you meant to know some more certainty touching him. But we, before he come near, are ready for to kill him. {16} Which when Paul's sister's son had heard, of their lying in wait, he came and entered into the castle and told Paul. {17} And Paul calling to him one of the Centurions, said: Bring this young man to the Tribune, for he hath some thing to tell him. {18} And he taking him, brought him to the Tribune, and said: The prisoner Paul desired me to bring this young man unto thee, having some thing to say to thee. {19} And the Tribune taking him by the hand, went aside with him apart, and asked him: What is it that thou hast to tell me? {20} And he said: The Jews have agreed to desire thee, that to morrow thou wilt bring forth Paul into the Council, as though they meant to inquire some more certainty touching him. {21} But do not thou credit them; for there lie in wait for him more than forty men of them, which have vowed neither to eat nor to drink, till they kill him: and they are now ready, expecting thy promise. {22} The Tribune therefore dismissed the young man, commanding that he should speak to no man that he had notified these things unto him. {23} And calling two Centurions, he said to them: Make ready two hundred soldiers, to go as far as Caesarea, and seventy horsemen, and lances two hundred, from the third hour of the night: {24} and prepare beasts: that setting Paul on, they might bring him safe to Felix the President. {25} (For he feared lest perhaps the Jews might take him away, and kill him, and himself afterward should sustain reproach, as though he would have taken money) {26} writing a letter containing this much: Claudius Lysias to the most excellent President Felix, greeting. {27} This man being apprehended of the Jews, and ready to be killed of them, I coming in with the band delivered him, understanding that he is a Roman: {28} and meaning to know the cause that they objected unto him, I brought him down into their Council. {29} Whom I found to be accused concerning questions of their law: but having no crime worthy of death or of bands. {30} And when it was told me of ambuscades that they had prepared against him, I sent him to thee, signifying also to the accusers, to speak before thee. Fare-well. {31} And the soldiers according as it was commanded them, taking Paul, brought him by night to Antipatris. {32} And the next day sending away the horse-men to go with him, they returned to the castle. {33} Who when they were come to Caesarea, and had delivered the letter to the President, they did set Paul also before him. {34} And when he had read, and had asked of what province he was: and understanding that of Cilicia: {35} I will hear thee, said he, when thy accusers are come. And he commanded him to be kept in Herod's palace.

Chapter 24

They prosecute him to Caesarea, bringing with them an orator, who before the President Felix accuseth him. 10. He answereth, defending him self from the crimes they charged him with, but confessing his religion plainly. 22. The Judge perceiving his religion to be irreproachable, yieldeth not to condemn him at their pleasure, 24. yea he offendeth with his wife heareth his preaching, 27. but yet doth not his duty to deliver him out of prison.

{1} AND after five days descended, with certain ancients and one Tertullus an orator, who went to the , the high priest Ananias President against Paul. {2} And Paul being cited, Tertullus began to accuse, saying: Whereas we live in much peace by thee, & many things are corrected by thy providence, {3} we do always & in all places receive it, most excellent Felix, with all thanks-giving. {4} But lest I hinder thee any longer, I desire thee of thy clemency briefly to hear us. {5} We have found this man pestiferous, & raising seditions to all the Jews in the whole world, and author of the sedition of the sect of the Nazarenes. {6} Who also hath attempted to violate the temple, whom also being apprehended we would have judged according to our law. {7} But Lysias the Tribune coming in, with great force took him away out of our hands, {8} commanding his accusers to come to thee, of whom thou mayest thyself judging, understand of all these things, whereof we accuse him. {9} And the Jews also added, saying that these things were so. {10} But Paul answered: (the President making a sign unto him for to speak) Knowing that of many years thou art judge over this nation, I will with good courage answer for my self. {11} For thou mayest understand that it is not above twelve days to me, since I went up to adore in Jerusalem. {12} And neither in the temple did they find me disputing with any man, or causing concourse of the multitude, neither in the synagogues, nor in the city: {13} neither can they prove unto thee the things whereof they now accuse me. {14} But this I confess to thee, that according to the sect, which they call heresy, I do so serve the Father my God, believing all things that are written in the Law & the Prophets: {15} having hope in God, the which these also themselves expect, that there shall be a resurrection of just and unjust. {16} In this my self also do study to have a conscience without offense toward God and toward men always. {17} And after many years I came to bestow alms upon my nation, & oblations, and vows. {18} In the which they found me purified in the temple: not with multitude nor with tumult. {19} But certain Jews of Asia, who ought to be present before thee and to accuse, if they had any thing against me: {20} or let these men themselves say, if they have found in me any iniquity, forasmuch as I stand in the Council, {21} but of this one voice only that I cried standing among them, That of the resurrection of the dead am I judged this day of you. {22} And Felix deferred them, knowing most certainly of this way, saying: When Lysias the Tribune is come down, I will hear you. {23} And he commanded the Centurion to keep him, and that he should have rest, neither to prohibit any of his to minister unto him. {24} And after some days, Felix coming with Drusilla his wife, which was a Jew, called Paul, and heard of him the faith that is in Christ JESUS. {25} And he disputing of justice and chastity, and of the judgement to come, Felix being terrified, answered: For this time, go thy way: but in time convenient I will send for thee. {26} hoping also withal, that money would be given him of Paul; for the which cause also oftentimes sending for him, he spake with him. {27} But when two years were ended, Felix had a Successor Portius Festus. And Felix being willing to shew the Jews a pleasure, left Paul in prison.

Chapter 25

After two years imprisonment the Jews continue their suit against him, soliciting the new President Festus, 6, first at Hierusalem, then at Caesarea: 9. where through the Jew's partiality he is fain to appeal unto the Emperor: 13. and in the mean time brought forth by Festus (giving him good testimony, notwithstanding the exclamations of the Jews against him) unto king Agrippa and his Queen Bernice.

{1} FESTUS therefore when he was come into the province, after three days went up to Jerusalem from Caesarea. {2} And the chief Priests, and principal men of the Jews went unto him against Paul: and they desired him, {3} requesting favour against him, that he would command him to be brought to Jerusalem, laying wait for to kill him in the way. {4} But Festus answered, that Paul is kept in Caesarea: and that he would very shortly go thither. {5} They therefore, saith he, that are of ability among you, going down with me, if there be any crime in the man, let them accuse him. {6} And having tarried among them not above eight or ten days, he went down to Caesarea, and the next day he sat in the judgement seat: and he commanded Paul to be brought. {7} Who being brought, there stood about him the Jews that were come down from Jerusalem, objecting many and grievous causes which they could not prove; {8} Paul making answer, That neither against the law of the Jews, nor against the temple, nor against Caesar have I any thing offended. {9} But Festus willing to shew the Jews a pleasure, answering Paul, said: Wilt thou go up to Jerusalem, and there be judged of these things before me? {10} And Paul said: At Caesar's judgement seat do I stand, where I ought to be judged: the Jews I have not hurt, as thou very well knowest. {11} For if I have hurt them, or done any thing worthy of death, I refuse not to die. But if none of those things be, whereof these accuse me, no man can give me to them. I appeal to Caesar. {12} Then Festus having conferred with the Council, answered: Hast thou appealed to Caesar? to Caesar shalt thou go. {13} And when certain days were passed, king Agrippa & Bernice came down to Caesarea to salute Festus. {14} And as they tarried there a good many days, Festus signified to the king, of Paul, saying: A certain person was left prisoner by Felix, {15} concerning whom, when I was at Jerusalem, the chief Priests and the Ancients of the Jews came unto me, desiring condemnation against him. {16} To whom I answered: That it is not the Romans' custom to yield up any man before that he which is accused have his accusers present, and take place to make his answer for to clear himself of the crimes. {17} When they therefore were assembled hither, without any delay, the day following, sitting in the judgement seat, I commanded the man to be brought. {18} Of whom, when the accusers stood up, they brought no cause which I thought ill of: {19} but certain questions of their own superstition they had against him, and of one JESUS deceased, whom Paul affirmed to live. {20} Doubting therefore of this kind of question, I said, whether he would go to Jerusalem, & there be judged of these things. {21} But Paul appealing to be kept unto the knowledge of Augustus, I commanded him to be kept, till I send him to Caesar. {22} And Agrippa said to Festus: My self also would hear the man. To morrow, said he, thou shalt hear him. {23} And the next day when Agrippa and Bernice were come with great pomp, and had entered into the hall of audience with the Tribunes and principal men of the city, at Festus' commandment, Paul was brought. {24} And Festus saith: King Agrippa, and all ye men that are present together with us, you see this man, concerning whom all the multitude of the Jews called upon me at Jerusalem, requesting and crying out that he ought not to live any longer. {25} Yet have I found nothing that he hath committed worthy of death. But forasmuch as he himself appealed to Augustus, I have determined to send him. {26} Of whom what to write for certainty to my lord, I have not. For the which cause I have brought him forth to you, and especially to thee, king Agrippa, that examination being made, I may have what to write. {27} For it seemeth to me without reason, to send a prisoner, & not to signify his causes.

In that honorable Audience being permitted to speak, 2. he declareth to the king what he first was, 12. and how miraculously he was converted, 19. and that he hath preached since, as he was commanded from heaven, and as the Prophets had foretold of Christ. 24. Which strange tale Festus the Heathen President hearing, saith that he is mad. 25. But he answereth, and exhorteth them all to be Christians as he is. 30. They finally pronounce that he might be set at liberty, but only for his appeal.

{1} BUT Agrippa said to Paul: Thou art permitted to speak for thy self. Then Paul stretching forth his hand, began to make his answer: {2} Touching all things whereof I am accused of the Jews, king Agrippa, I account my self happy for that I am to defend my self this day before thee, {3} especially whereas thou knowest all things that are among the Jews, customs and questions: for the which cause I beseech thee, hear me patiently. {4} And my life truly from my youth, which was from the beginning in my nation in Jerusalem, all the Jews do know: {5} knowing me before from the beginning (if they will give testimony) that according to the most sure sect of our religion I lived a Pharisee. {6} And now for the hope of the promise that was made of God to our fathers, do I stand subject to judgement: {7} the which, our twelve tribes serving night and day, hope to come unto. Of the which hope, o king, I am accused of the Jews. {8} What incredible thing is it judged with you, if God raise the dead? {9} And my self truly had thought that I ought to do against the name of JESUS of Nazareth many contrary things. {10} Which also I did at Jerusalem, and many of the saints did I shut up in prisons, having received authority of the chief priests: and when they were put to death, I brought the sentence. {11} And throughout all the synagogues oftentimes punishing them, I compelled them to blaspheme: and yet more mad against them, I persecuted them even unto foreign cities. {12} Among which things whilsts I went to Damascus with authority and permission of the chief priests, {13} at mid-day, in the way, I saw (o King) from Heaven a light to have shined round about me and them that were in company with me, above the brightness of the sun. {14} And when all we were fallen down on the ground, I heard a voice speaking to me in the Hebrew tongue: Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me? It is hard for thee to kick against the prick. {15} And I said: Who are thou Lord? And our Lord answered: I am JESUS whom thou doest persecute. {16} But rise up and stand upon thy feet: for to this end have I appeared to thee, that I may ordain thee a minister and witness of those things which thou hast seen, and of those things wherein I will appear to thee, {17} delivering thee out of the peoples and nations unto the which now I send thee, {18} to open their eyes, that they may be converted from darkness to light, and from the power of Satan to God, that they may receive remission of sins, and lot among the saints by the faith that is in me. {19} Whereupon, king Agrippa, I was not incredulous to the heavenly vision: {20} but to them first that are at Damascus, and at Jerusalem, and unto all the country of Jewry, and to the Gentiles did I preach that they should do penance, & turn to God, doing works worthy of penance. {21} For this cause the Jews, when I was in the temple, apprehending me, attempted meaning to kill me. {22} But aided by the help of God, I stand until this day, testifying to small & to great, saying nothing beside those things which the Prophets did speak should come to pass, & Moyses; {23} if CHRIST were passible, if the first of the resurrection from the dead, he were to shew light to the people and to the Gentiles. {24} As he spake these things and made his answer, Festus with a loud voice said: Thou art mad, Paul; much learning turneth thee to madness. {25} And Paul said: I am not mad, most excellent Festus; but I speak words of verity & sobriety. {26} For the king knoweth of these things, to whom also I speak constantly. For I think none of these things to be unknown to him. For neither was any of these things done in a corner. {27} Believest thou the Prophets, king Agrippa? I know that thou believest. {28} And Agrippa said to Paul: A little thou persuadest me to become a CHRISTIAN. {29} And Paul said: I wish of God, both in little, and in much, not only thee, but also all that hear this day, to become such as I am also, except these bands. {30} And the king rose up, and the President, and Bernice, and they that sat by them. {31} And going aside, they spake among themselves, saying, That this man hath done nothing worthy of death or bands. {32} And Agrippa said to Festus: This man might be released, if he had not appealed to Caesar.

What a dangerous navigation he had toward Rome: and that by his prediction and counsel the ship might have been saved. And for his sake (as God also revealed to him before) all the company was preserved, being 276 persons.

{1} AND after it was decreed that he should sail into Italy, and that Paul with other prisoners should be delivered to a Centurion named Julius, of the band Augusta, {2} we going up into a ship of Adrumentum, beginning to sail about the places of Asia, loosed from the land, Aristarchus the Macedonian of Thessalonica continuing with us. {3} And the third day following we came to Sidon. And Julius entreating Paul courteously, permitted him to go to his friends, and to take care of himself. {4} And when we had loosed thence we sailed under Cypres: because the winds were contrary. {5} And sailing the sea of Cilicia and Pamphilia, we came to Lystra, which is in Lycia: {6} and there the Centurion finding a ship of Alexandria sailing into Italy, removed us into it. {7} And whereas many days we sailed slowly, and were scarce come over against Gnidus, the wind hindering us, we sailed near

Crete by Salmone: {8} and with much ado sailing by it, we came into a certain place that is called Good-havens, nigh to the which was a city Thalassa. {9} And when much time was spent, and whereas now it was not safe sailing, because the fast now was past, Paul comforted them, {10} saying to them: Ye men, I see that the sailing beginneth to be with hurt and much damage, not only of the lading and the ship, but also of our lives. {11} But the Centurion believed the governor and master of the ship, more than those things which were said of Paul. {12} And whereas it was not a commodious haven to winter in, very many taking counsel appointed to sail thence, if by any means they might coming to Phoenice, winter there, a haven of Crete looking toward the Afrike and the Chore. {13} And the south-wind blowing, they thinking that they had obtained their purpose, when they had parted from Asson, sailed along by Crete. {14} But not long after, {1196} a tempestuous wind that is called Euro-aquilo, drove against it. {15} And when the ship was caught and could not make way against the wind, giving up the ship to the winds, we were driven, {16} And running upon a certain Island, that is called Cauda, we could scarce get the cock-boat. {17} Which being taken up, they used helps, girding the ship, and fearing lest they should fall into the Syrte, letting down the vessel, so were they carried. {18} And when we were mighty tossed with the tempest, the next day they cast forth. {19} And the third day with their own hands they threw forth the tacklings of the ship. {20} And neither sun, nor stars appearing for many days, and no small storm being toward, all hope was now taken away of our saving. {21} And when there had been long fasting, then Paul standing in the midst of them, said: You should indeed, O ye men, have heard me, and not have parted from Crete, & have gained this hurt and loss. {22} And now I exhort you to be of good cheer. For there shall be no loss of any soul among you, but of the ship. {23} For an Angel of the God whose I am, and whom I serve, stood by me this night, {24} saying: Fear not Paul, thou must appear before Caesar: and behold God hath given thee all that sail with thee. {25} For the which cause be of good cheer ye men: for I believe God, that it shall so be, as it hath been said to me. {26} And we must come unto a certain island. {27} But after the fourteenth night was come on us, as we were sailing in Adria about mid-night, the ship-men deemed that there appeared some country to them. {28} Who also sounding, found twenty fathoms: and being parted a little from thence, they found fifteen fathoms. {29} And fearing lest we should fall into rough places, casting out of the stern four anchors, they wished that day were come. {30} But as the ship-men sought to fly out of the ship, having let down the cock-boat into the sea, pretending as if they were about to cast out anchors out of the fore-part of the ship, {31} Paul said to the Centurion and to the soldiers: unless these tarry in the ship you can not be saved. {32} Then the soldiers cut off the ropes of the cock-boat; and suffered it to fall away. {33} And when it began to be light, Paul desired all to take meat, saying: This day is the fourteenth day that you expect and remain fasting, taking nothing. {34} For the which cause I desire you to take meat for your health sake: for there shall not an hair of the head perish of any of you. {35} And when he had said these things, taking bread he gave thanks to God in the sight of them all: and when he had broken it, he began to eat. {36} And being all made of better cheer, they also took meat. {37} And we were in all in the ship, souls two hundred seventy six. {38} And being filled with meat, they lighted the ship, casting the wheat into the sea. {39} And when day was come, they knew not the land: but they spied a certain creek that had a shore, into the which they minded, if they could, to cast aland the ship. {40} And when they had taken up the anchors, they committed themselves to the sea, loosing withal the rudder bands: and hoisting up the maine sail according as the wind blew, they went on toward the shore. {41} And when we were fallen into a place between two seas, they graved the ship: and the fore-part truly sticking fast remained unmoveable: but the hinder-part was broken by the violence of the sea. {42} And the counsel of the soldiers was, that they should kill the prisoners: lest any swimming out, might run away. {43} But the Centurion willing to save Paul, forbade it to be done: & he commanded them that could swim, to cast out themselves first, and escape, and go forth to land: {44} and the rest, some they carried on boards, & some upon those things that were of the ship. And so it came to pass, that all the souls escaped to land.

After their shipwreck having wintered in the Island (now named Malta) where many miracles were wrought by Paul, they take ship again, and so by Sicile they come to Puteoli in Italy, the Christian Romans coming a great way to meet him, to his great joy. 16. Finally being come to Rome, in his lodging he declareth to the Jews his cause. 23. and on a day appointed preacheth JESUS unto them. 25. And seeing their incredulity, he sheweth how it was foretold by Esay: 28. but that the Gentiles will not be incredulous. 30. To whom he there preacheth two whole years without prohibition.

{1} AND when we had escaped, then we knew that the island was called Mitilene. But the Barbarous shewed us no small courtesy. {2} For, kindling a fire they refreshed us all, because of the imminent rain and the cold. {3} And when Paul had gathered together some number of sticks, and had laid them on the fire, a viper issuing out of the heat, invaded his hand. {4} But as the Barbarous saw the beast hanging on his hand, they said one to another: Undoubtedly this man is a murderer, who being escaped out of the sea, vengeance doth not suffer him to live. {5} and he indeed shaking off the beast into the fire, suffered no harm. {6} But they supposed that he should be turned into a swelling, and that he would suddenly fall and die. But expecting long and seeing that there was no harm done on him, being changed they said that he was a God. {7} And in those places were lands of the prince of the ile, named Publius, who receiving us, for three days entreated us courteously. {8} And it chanced that the father of Publius lay vexed with fevers and the bloody flux. Unto whom Paul entered: and when he had prayed, and imposed hands on him, he healed him. {9} Which being done, all in the ile also that had infirmities, came, and were cured: {10} who also honoured us with many honours, and when we were sailing away, laded us with necessaries. {11} And after three months, we sailed in a ship of Alexandria, that had wintered in the island, whose sign was the Castors. {12} And when we were come to Syracusa, we tarried there three days. {13} Thence compassing by the shore, we came to Rhegium: and after one day the South-wind blowing, we came the second day to Puteoli, {14} where finding brethren, we were desired to tarry with them seven days: and so we came to Rome. {15} And from thence, when the Brethren had heard, they came to meet us unto Apii-forum, and the Three-taverns, whom when Paul had seen, giving thanks to God, he took courage. {16} And when we were come to Rome, Paul was permitted to remain to himself with a soldier that kept him. {17} And after the third day he called together the chief of the Jews. And when they were assembled, he said to them: Men, brethren, I doing nothing against the people, or the custom of the fathers, was delivered prisoner from Jerusalem into the hands of the Romans, {18} who when they had examined me, would have released me, for that there was no cause of death in me. {19} But the Jews contradicting it, I was compelled to appeal unto Caesar, not as having any thing to accuse my nation. {20} For this cause therefore I desired to see you and to speak to you. For, because of the hope of Israel, am I compassed with this chain. {21} But they said to him: We neither received letters concerning thee from Jewry, neither did any of the brethren that came hither, report or speak any evil of thee. {22} But we desire of thee to hear what thou thinkest: for concerning this sect, it is known to us that it is gainsaid every where. {23} And when they had appointed him a day, they came to him unto his lodging very many: to whom he expounded, testifying the Kingdom of God, and using persuasion to them of JESUS, out of the Law of Moyses and the Prophets, from morning until evening. {24} And certain believed those things that were said: but certain believed not. {25} And whereas they did not agree among themselves, they departed, Paul saying one word: That well did the Holy Ghost speak by Esaie the Prophet to our fathers, {26} saying: Go to this people, and say to them: With the ear you shall hear, and shall not understand: and seeing you shall see and shall not perceive. {27} For the heart of this people is waxen gross, and with their ears have they heavily heard, and their eyes they have shut: lest perhaps they may see with their eyes, and hear with their ears, {1198} and understand with their heart, and be converted, and I heal them. {28} Be it known therefore to you, that this Salvation of God is sent to the Gentiles, and they will hear. {29} And when he had said these things the Jews went out from him, having much questioning among themselves. {30} And he tarried full two years in his hired lodging: and he received all that came in to him, {31} preaching the Kingdom of God, and teaching the things that concern our Lord JESUS CHRIST with all confidence, without prohibition.

THE EPISTLE OF S. PAUL TO THE ROMANS

Chapter 1

The foundation of his Apostleship being laid, {8}. he highly commendeth the Romans, and protesteth this affection towards them, and so coming to the matter, saith, our Christian Catholic doctrine (that teacheth all to believe) to be the way to salvation: {18}. because the Gentiles (first of all) could not be saved by their Philosophy, whereby they knew God, for so much as they did not serve him, but Idols: he therefore justly permitting them to fall into all kind of most damnable sin.

{1} PAUL the servant of JESUS CHRIST, called to be an Apostle, separated into the Gospel of God, {2} which before he had promised by his Prophets in the holy Scriptures. {3} of his Son, (who was made to him of the seed of David according to the flesh, {4} who was predestinate the Son of God in power, according to the spirit of sanctification, by the resurrection of our Lord JESUS CHRIST from the dead, {5} by whom we have received grace and Apostleship for obedience to the faith in all Nations for the name of him, {6} among whom are you also the called of JESUS CHRIST:) {7} to all that are at Rome the beloved of God, called to be saints. Grace to you and peace from God our father, and our Lord JESUS CHRIST. {8} First I give thanks to my God through JESUS CHRIST for all you, because your faith is renowned in the whole world. {9} For God is my witness, whom I serve in my spirit in the Gospel of his Son, that without intermission I make a memory of you {10} always in my prayers, beseeching, if by any means I may sometime at the length have a prosperous journey by the will of God, to come unto you. {11} For I desire to see you, that I may impart unto you some spiritual grace, to confirm you: {12} that is to say, to be comforted together in you by that which is common to us both, your faith & mine. {13} And I will not have you ignorant (brethren) that I have often purposed to come unto you (and have been stayed hitherto) that I may have some fruit in you, as also in the other Gentiles. {14} To the Greeks & the Barbarous, to the wise and the unwise I am debtor. {15} So (as much as is in me) I am ready to evangelize to you also that are at Rome. {16} For I am not ashamed of the Gospel. For it is the power of God, unto salvation to every one that believeth, to the Jews first and to the Greek. {17} For the justice of God is revealed therein by faith into faith; as it is written: And the just liveth by faith. {18} For the wrath of God from Heaven is revealed, upon all impiety and injustice of those men that detain the verity of God in injustice: {19} because, that of God which is known, is manifest in them. For God hath manifested it unto them. {20} For his invisible things, from the creation of the world are seen, being understood by those things that are made; his eternal power also and Divinity: so that they are inexcusable. {21} Because, whereas they knew God, they have not glorified him as God, or given thanks: but are become vain in their cogitations, and their foolish heart hath been darkened. {22} For, saying themselves to be wise, they became fools. {23} And they changed the glory of the incorruptible God, into a similitude of the image of a corruptible man, and of fowls and four-footed beasts and of them that creep. {24} (For the which cause God hath delivered them up unto the desires of their heart, unto uncleanness, for to abuse their own bodies among themselves ignominiously.) {25} Who have changed the verity of God into lying: and have worshipped & served the creature rather than the Creator, who is blessed for ever. Amen. {26} Therefore God hath delivered them into passions of ignominy. For their women have changed the natural use, into that use that is contrary to nature. {27} And in like manner the men also, leaving the natural use of the woman, have burned in their desires one toward another, men upon men working turpitude, & the reward of their error (which they should) receiving in themselves. {28} And as they liked not to have God in knowledge; God delivered them up into a reprobate sense, to do those things that are not convenient: {29} replenished with all iniquity, malice, fornication, avarice, wickedness, full of envy, murder, contention, guile, malignity, whisperers, {30} detractors, odible to God, contumelious, proud, haughty, inventors of evil things, disobedient to parents, {31} foolish, dissolute, without affection, without fidelity, without mercy. {32} Who whereas they knew the justice of God, did not understand that they which do such things, are worthy of death: not only they that do them, but they also that consent to the doers.

Now also he sheweth that neither the Jews could be saved by the knowledge of the Law, of the which they did so much brag against the Gentiles, seeing they did notwithstanding sin as the Gentiles did. {14}. And therefore that the true Jew is the Christian (though he be a Gentile) who by grace in his heart doth the good works that the Law commandeth.

{1} FOR the which cause thou art inexcusable, o man, whosoever thou be that judgest. For wherein thou judgest another, thou condemnest thyself. For thou doest the same things which thou judgest. {2} For we know that the judgement of God is according to verity upon them that do such things. {3} And doest thou suppose this, o man, that judgest them which do such things, and doest the same, that thou shalt escape the judgement of God? {4} Or doest thou contemn the riches of his goodness, and patience, and longanimity, not knowing that the benignity of God bringeth thee to penance? {5} But according to thy hardness and impenitent heart, thou heapest to thy self wrath, in the day of wrath and of the revelation of the just judgement of God, {6} who will render to every man according to his works: {7} to them truly that according to patience in good work, seek glory and honour and incorruption, life eternal; {8} but to them that are of contention, and that obey not the truth, but give credit to iniquity, wrath and indignation. {9} Tribulation and anguish upon every soul of man that worketh evil, of the Jew first and of the Greek: {10} but glory and honour and peace to every one that worketh good, to the Jew first and to the Greek. {11} For there is no exception of persons with God. {12} For whosoever have sinned without the Law, without the Law shall perish: and whosoever have sinned in the Law, by the Law shall be judged. {13} For not the hearers of the Law are just with God: but the doers of the Law shall be justified. {14} For when the Gentiles which have not the Law, naturally do those things that are of the Law; the same not having the Law, themselves are a law to themselves: {15} who shew the work of the Law written in their hearts, their conscience giving testimony to them, and among themselves mutually their thoughts accusing, or also defending, {16} in the day when God shall judge the secrets of men, according to my Gospel, by JESUS CHRIST. {17} But if thou be surnamed a Jew, and restest in the Law, and doest glory in God, {18} and knowest his will, and approvest the more profitable things, instructed by the Law, {19} presumest that thyself art a leader of the blind, a light of them that are in darkness, {20} a teacher of the foolish, a master of infants, having the form of science & of verity in the Law. {21} Thou therefore that teachest another, teachest not thy self: that preachest, men ought not to steal, thou stealest: {22} that sayest men should not commit adultery, thou committest adultery: that abhorrest idols, thou doest sacrilege: {23} that doest glory in the Law, thou by prevarication of the Law doest dishonour God. {24} (For the name of God through you is blasphemed among the Gentiles, as it is written.) {25} Circumcision indeed profiteth, if thou observe the Law: but if thou be a prevaricator of the Law, thy circumcision is become prepuce. {26} If then the prepuce keep the justices of the Law; shall not his prepuce be reputed for circumcision? {27} and shall not that which of nature is prepuce, fulfilling the Law, judge thee, that by the letter and circumcision art a prevaricator of the Law? {28} For not he that is in open shew, is a Jew, nor that which is in open shew, in the flesh, is circumcision: {29} but he that is in secret, is a Jew; and the circumcision of the heart, in spirit, not in the letter: whose praise is not of men, but of God.

Chapter 3

He granteth that the Jews did pass the Heathen Gentiles, in God's benefits, [9]. but not in their own works, concluding, that he hath shewed, both Jew and Gentile to be sinners: [18], and therefore (inerring) that there must be some other way to Salvation, indifferent to both, which is to believe in JESUS CHRIST, that for his sake their sins may be forgiven them.

{1} WHAT preeminence then hath the Jew, or what is the profit of circumcision? {2} Much by all means. First surely because the words of God were committed to them. {3} For what if certain of them have not believed? Hath their incredulity made the faith of God frustrate? {4} God forbid. But God is true, & every man a liar, as it is written: That thou mayest be justified in thy words, and overcome when thou art judged. {5} But if our iniquity command the justice of God, what shall we say? Is God unjust that executeth wrath? (I speak according to man) {6} God forbid; otherwise how shall God judge this world? {7} For if the verity of God hath abounded in my lie, unto his glory, why am I also yet judged as a sinner, {8} and not (as we are blasphemed, and as some report us to say) let us do evil, that there may come good? whose damnation is just. {9} What then? do we excel them? No, not so. For we have argued the Jews and the Greeks, all to be under sin; {10} as it is written: That there is not any man just, {11} there is not that understandeth, there is not that seeketh after God. {12} All have declined, they are become unprofitable together: there is not that doeth good, there is not so much as one. {13} Their throat is an open sepulchre, with their tongues they dealt deceitfully. The venom of asps under their lips. {14} Whose mouth is full of malediction and bitterness: {15} Their feet swift to shed blood. {16} Destruction & infelicity in their ways: {17} and the way of peace they have not known. {18} There is no fear of God before their eyes. {19} And we know that whatsoever the Law speaketh, to them it speaketh that are in the Law; that every mouth may be stopped, & all the world may be made subject to God: {20} because by the works of the Law no flesh shall be justified before him. For by the Law is the knowledge of sin. {21} But now without the Law the justice of God is manifested; testified by the Law and the Prophets. {22} And the justice of God by faith of JESUS CHRIST, unto all and upon all that believe in him. For there is no distinction. {23} For all have sinned; and do need the glory of God. {24} Justified gratis by his grace, by the redemption that is in CHRIST JESUS, {25} whom God hath proposed a propitiation, by faith in his blood, to the shewing of his justice, for the remission of former sins, {26} in the toleration of God, to the shewing of his justice in this time: that he may be just, and justifying him that is of the faith of JESUS CHRIST. {27} Where is then thy boasting? it is excluded. By what law? of deeds? No, but by the law of faith. {28} For we account a man to be justified by faith without the works of the Law. {29} Is he God of the Jews only? is he not also of the Gentiles? Yes of the Gentiles also. {30}

For it is one God, that justifieth circumcision by faith, and prepuce by faith. {31} Do we then destroy the Law by faith? God forbid, but we do establish the Law.

Chapter 4

That Abraham was not justified by his own power, but by God's grace, in whom he believed (6. which is a way for the sinner also to come to justice.) 9. And that, seeing he was not as then circumcised, not only the circumcised Jew, but also the uncircumcised Gentile may by believing the Christian faith, come to justice, as Abraham did: 11. specially considering also, that Abraham was promised to be Father of the whole world, and not only of the Jews, to whom only the Law was given; and that, not to fulfill the promise, but for an other cause.

{1} WHAT shall we say then that Abraham did find, our father according to the flesh? {2} For if Abraham were justified by works: he hath glory, but not with God. {3} For what saith the Scripture? Abraham believed God, & it was reputed him to justice. {4} But to him that worketh, the reward is not imputed according to grace but according to debt. {5} But to him that worketh not, yet believeth in him that justifieth the impious, his faith is reputed to justice according to the purpose of the grace of God. {6} As David also termeth the blessedness of a man, to whom God reputeth justice without works: {7} Blessed are they, whose iniquities be forgiven, and whose sins be covered. {8} Blessed is the man to whom our Lord hath not imputed sin. {9} This blessedness then doth it abide in the circumcision, or in the prepuce also? For we say that unto Abraham faith was reputed to justice. {10} How was it reputed? in circumcision, or in prepuce? Not in circumcision, but in prepuce. {11} And he received the sign of circumcision, a seal of the justice of faith that is in prepuce: that he might be the father of all that believe by the prepuce, that unto them also it may be reputed to justice: {12} and might be father of circumcision, not to them only that are of the circumcision, but to them also that follow the steps of the faith that is in the prepuce of our father Abraham. {13} For not by the Law was the promise to Abraham, or to his seed, that he should be heir of the world; but by the justice of faith. {14} For if they that are of the Law, be heirs; faith is made void, the promise is abolished. {15} For the Law worketh wrath. For where is no Law, neither is there prevarication. {16} Therefore of faith: that according to grace the promise may be firm to all the seed, not to that only which is of the Law, but to that also which is of the faith of Abraham, who is the father of us all, (as it is written: {17} For, a father of many Nations have I appointed thee) before God, whom thou didst believe, who quickeneth the dead; calleth those things that are not, as those things that are. {18} Who contrary to hope believed in hope; that he might be made the father of many nations, according to that which was said to him: So shall thy seed be, as the stars of Heaven, and the sand of the sea. {19} And he was not weakened in faith; neither did he consider his own body now quite dead, whereas he was almost an hundred years old, and the dead matrice of Sara. {20} In the promise also of God he staggered not by distrust; but was strengthened in faith, giving glory to God: {21} most fully knowing that whatsoever he promised, he is able also to do. {22} Therefore was it also reputed him to justice. {23} And it is not written only for him, that it was reputed him to justice: {24} but also for us, to whom it shall be reputed believing in him, that raised up JESUS CHRIST our Lord from the dead, {25} who was delivered up for our sins, and rose again for our justification.

Chapter 5

Having therefore through faith in Christ, obtained the beginning, he sheweth what great cause we have to hope for the accomplishment. {12}. And then he proceedeth in his arguing, and sheweth that as by one, all were made sinners, so by one, all must be made just.

{1} BEING justified therefore by faith, let us have peace toward God by our Lord JESUS CHRIST; {2} by whom also we have access through faith into this grace wherein we stand, and glory, in the hope of the glory of the sons of God. {3} And not only this; but also we glory in tribulations, knowing that tribulation worketh patience: {4} and patience, probation; and probation, hope; {5} and hope confoundeth not: because the charity of God is poured forth in our hearts, by the Holy Ghost which is given us. {6} For why did Christ, when we as yet were weak, according to the time die for the impious? {7} For, scarce for a just man doth any die: for perhaps for a good man durst some man die. {8} But God commendeth his charity in us: because, when as yet we were sinners, Christ died for us. {9} Much more therefore now being justified in his blood, shall we be saved from wrath by him. {10} For if, when we were enemies, we were reconciled to God by the death of his Son; much more being reconciled, shall we be saved in the life of him. {11} And not only this; but also we glory in God through our Lord JESUS Christ, by whom now we have received reconciliation. {12} Therefore, as by one man sin entered into this world, and by sin death; and so unto all men death did pass, in which all sinned. {13} For even unto the Law sin was in the world: but sin was not imputed, when the Law was not. {14} But death reigned from Adam unto Moyses, even on them also that sinned not after the similitude of the prevarication of Adam, who is a figure of him to come. {15} But not as the offence, so also the gift. For if by the offence of one, many died; much more the grace of God and the gift, in the grace of one man JESUS Christ, hath abounded upon many. {16} And not as by one sin, so also the gift. For judgement indeed is of one, to condemnation: but grace is of many offences, to justification. {17} For if in the offence of one, death reigned by one; much more they that receive the abundance of grace and of donation & of justice, shall reign in life by one, JESUS Christ. {18} Therefore as by the offence of one, unto all men to condemnation; so also by the justice of one, unto all men to justification of life. {19} For as by the disobedience of one man, many were made sinners; so also by the obedience of one, many shall be made just. {20} But the Law entered in, that sin might abound. And where sin abounded, grace did more abound. {21} That as sin reigned to death; so also grace may reign by justice to life everlasting, through JESUS Christ our Lord.

Chapter 6

He exhorteth us, now after Baptism, to live no mire in sin, but to walk in good works: because there we died to the one, and rose again to the other [14]. (grace also giving us sufficient strength) [16], and were made free to the one, and servants to the other, [21], and specially because of the fruit here, and the end afterward, both of the one and of the other.

{1} WHAT shall we say then? Shall we continue in sin that grace may abound? forbid. For we that are dead to sin, how {2} God shall we yet live therein? {3} Are you ignorant that all we which are baptized in Christ JESUS, in his death we are baptized? {4} For we are buried together with him by Baptism into death: that as Christ is risen from the dead by the glory of the Father, so we also may walk in newness of life. {5} For if we be become complanted to the similitude of his death, we shall be also of his resurrection. {6} Knowing this, that our old man is crucified with him, that the body of sin may be destroyed, to the end that we may serve sin no longer. {7} For he that is dead, is justified from sin. {8} And if we be dead with Christ, we believe that we shall live also together with Christ. {9} Knowing that Christ rising again from the dead, now dieth no more, death shall no more have dominion over him. {10} For that he died, to sin he died once: but that he liveth, he liveth to God. {11} So think you also, that you are dead to sin, but alive to God in Christ JESUS our Lord. {12} Let not sin therefore reign in your mortal body, that you obey the concupiscences thereof. {13} But neither do ye exhibit your members instruments of iniquity unto sin: but exhibit your selves to God as of dead men, alive; and your members instruments of justice to God. {14} For sin shall not have dominion over you. For you are not under the Law, but under grace. {15} What then? shall we sin, because we are not under the Law, but under grace? God forbid. {16} Know you not that to whom you exhibit your selves servants to obey, you are the servants of him whom you obey, whether it be of sin, to death, or of obedience, to justice. {17} But thanks be to God, that you were the servants of sin, but have obeyed from the heart, unto that form of doctrine, into the which you have been delivered. {18} And being made free from sin, you were made servants to justice. {19} I speak an human thing, because of the infirmity of your flesh. For as you have exhibited your members to serve uncleanness and iniquity, unto iniquity; so now exhibit your members to serve justice, unto sanctification. {20} For when you were servants of sin, you were free to justice. {21} What fruit therefore had you then in those things, for which now you are ashamed? For the end of them is death. {22} But now being made free from sin, and become servants to God, you have your fruit unto sanctification, but the end, life everlasting. {23} For the stipends of sin, death. But the grace of God, life everlasting in Christ JESUS our Lord.

Chapter 7

Our former husband (sin) with his law, is dead in Baptism: and now we are married to an other husband (to Christ) to bring forth children to God, that is, good Works. [7]. And how the Law being good, was yet to us the law of sin and death, because concupiscence reigned in us. [17]. But now by Baptism grace reigneth in us, though also concupiscence doth remain and tempt us still.

{1} ARE you ignorant, brethren, (for I speak to them that know the Law) that the Law hath dominion over a man as long time as he liveth? {2} For the woman that is under a husband; her husband living is bound to the law. But if her husband be dead, she is loosed from the law of her husband. {3} Therefore her husband living, she shall be called an adulteress if she be with another man: but if her husband be dead she is delivered from the law of her husband: so that she is not an adulteress if she be with another man. {4} Therefore my brethren you also are made dead to the Law by the body of Christ; that you may be another man's who is risen again from the dead, that we may fructify to God. {5} For when we were in the flesh, the passions of sins that were by the Law, did work in our members, to fructify unto death. {6} But now we are loosed from the law of death wherein we were detained: in so much we serve in newness of spirit, and not in the oldness of the letter. {7} What shall we say then? Is the Law sin? God forbid. But sin I did not know, but by the Law: for concupiscence I knew not, unless the Law did say: Thou shalt not covet. {8} But occasion being taken, sin by the commandment wrought in me all concupiscence. For without the Law sin was dead. {9} And I lived without the Law sometime. But when the commandment was come, sin revived. {10} And I was dead. And the commandment, that was unto life, the same to me was found to be unto death. {11} For sin taking occasion by the commandment, seduced me, and by it killed me. {12} Therefore the Law indeed is holy, and the commandment holy, and just, and good. {13} That then which is good, to me was it made death? God forbid. But sin, that it may appear sin, by the good thing wrought me death: that sin might become sinning above measure by the commandment. {14} For we know that the Law is spiritual, but I am carnal, sold under sin. {15} For that which I work, I understand not. For not that which I will, the same do I, but which I hate, that I do. {16} And if that which I will not, the same I do; I consent to the Law, that it is good. {17} But now, not I work it any more, but the sin that dwelleth in me. {18} For I know that there dwelleth not in me, that is to say, in my flesh, good. For to will, is present with me, but to accomplish that which is good, I find not. {19} For not the good which I will, that do I; but the evil which I will not, that I do. {20} And if that which I will not, the same I do: now not I work it, but the sin that dwelleth in me. {21} I find therefore, the Law, to me having a will to do good, that evil is present with me. {22} For I am delighted with the Law of God according to the inward man: {23} but I see another law in my members, repugning to the law of my mind, and captivating me in the law of sin that is in my members. {24} Unhappy man that I am, who shall deliver me from the body of this death? {25} The grace of God by JESUS Christ our Lord.

Therefore I my self with the mind serve the law of God, but with the flesh, the law of sin.

Chapter 8

That now after Baptism we are no more in state of damnation, because by the grace which we have received, we are able to fulfill the Law: unless we do willfully give the dominion again to concupiscence. {18}. Then (because of the persecutions that then were) he comforteth and exhorteth them with many reasons.

{1} THERE is now therefore no damnation to them that are in Christ JESUS; that walk not according to the flesh. {2} For the Law of the spirit of life in Christ JESUS, hath delivered me from the law of sin and of death. {3} For that which was impossible to the Law, in that it was weakened by the flesh; God sending his Son in the similitude of the flesh of sin, even of sin, damned sin in the flesh, {4} that the justification of the Law might be fulfilled in us who walk not according to the flesh, but according to the spirit. {5} For they that are according to the flesh, are affected to the things that are of the flesh; but they that are according to the spirit are affected to the things that are of the spirit. {6} For the wisdom of the flesh is death; but the wisdom of the spirit, life and peace. {7} Because the wisdom of the flesh, is an enemy to God: for to the Law of Got it is not subject, neither can it be. {8} And they that are in the flesh, can not please God. {9} But you are not in the flesh, but in the spirit, yet if the Spirit of God dwell in you. But if any man have not the Spirit of Christ, the same is not his. {10} But if Christ be in you; the body indeed is dead because of sin, but the spirit liveth because of justification. {11} And if the Spirit of him that raised up JESUS from the dead, dwell in you; he that raised up JESUS CHRIST from the dead, shall quicken also your mortal bodies, because of his Spirit dwelling in you. {12} Therefore brethren, we are debtors, not to the flesh, to live according to the flesh. {13} For if you live according to the flesh, you shall die. But if by the spirit, you mortify the deeds of the flesh, you shall live. {14} For whosoever are led by the Spirit of God, they are the sons of God. {15} For you have not received the spirit of servitude again in fear; but you have received the spirit of adoption of sons, wherein we cry: Abba, (Father). {16} For the Spirit himself, giveth testimony to our spirit, that we are the sons of God. {17} And if sons, heirs also; heirs truly of God, and coheirs of Christ: yet if we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified with him. {18} For I think that the passions of this time are not condign to the glory to come that shall be revealed in us. {19} For the expectation of the creature, expecteth the revelation of the sons of God. {20} For the creature is made subject to vanity, not willing, but for him that made it subject in hope: {21} because the creature also itself shall be delivered from the servitude of corruption, into the liberty of the glory of the children of God. {22} For we know that every creature groaneth, & travaileth even till now. {23} And not only it, but we also our selves having the first fruits of the spirit, we also groan within our selves, expecting the adoption of the sons of God, the redemption of our body. {24} For by hope we are saved. But hope that is seen, is not hope. For that which a man seeth, wherefore doth he hope it? {25} But if we hope for that which we see not; we expect by patience. {26} And in like manner also the Spirit helpeth our infirmity. For, what we should pray as we ought, we know not: but the Spirit himself requesteth for us with groanings unspeakable. {27} And he that searcheth the hearts, knoweth what the Spirit desireth: because according to God he requesteth for the saints. {28} And we know that to them that love God, all things cooperate unto good, to such as according to purpose are called to be saints. {29} For whom he hath foreknown, he hath also predestinated to be made conformable to the image of his Son: that he might be the first-born in many brethren. {30} And whom he hath predestinated; them also he hath called. And whom he hath called; them also he hath justified. And whom he hath justified; them also hath he glorified. {31} What shall we then say to these things? If God be for us, who is against us? {32} He that spared not also his own Son, but for us all delivered him; how hath he not also with him given us all things? {33} Who shall accuse against the elect of God? God that justifieth. {34} Who is he that shall condemn? Christ JESUS that died, yea that is risen also again, who is on the right hand of God, who also maketh intercession for us. {35} Who then shall separate us from the charity of Christ? tribulation? or distress? or famine? or nakedness? or danger? or persecution? or the sword? {36} (as it is written: For we are killed for thy sake all the day: we are esteemed as sheep of slaughter.) {37} But in all these things we overcome because of him that hath loved us. {38} For I am sure that neither death, nor life, nor Angels, nor Principalities, nor Powers, neither things present, nor things to come, neither might, {39} nor height, nor depth, nor other creature, shall be able to separate us from the charity of God which is in Christ JESUS our Lord.

With a protestation of his sorrow for it (lest they should think him to rejoice in their perdition) he insinuateth the Jews to be reprobate, although they come of Abraham's flesh, {6}. saying, to be the sons of God, goeth not by that, but by God's grace: {19}, considering that all were one damned mass. {24}, by which grace the Gentiles to be made his people: and so the prophets to have foretold of them both. {30}. And the cause hereof to be, that the Gentiles submit them selves to the faith of Christ, which the Jews will not.

{1} I SPEAK the verity in Christ, I lie not, my conscience bearing me witness in the Holy Ghost, {2} that I have great sadness & continual sorrow in my heart. {3} For I wished my self to be an anathema from Christ for my brethren, who are my kinsmen according to the flesh, {4} who are Israelites, whose is the adoption of sons, and the glory, and the testament, and the law-giving, & the service, and the promises: {5} whose are the fathers, & of whom Christ is according to the flesh, who is above all things God blessed for ever. Amen. {6} But not that the word of God is frustrate. For, not all that are of Israel, they be Israelites: {7} nor they that are the seed of Abraham, all be children: but in Isaac shall the seed be called unto thee: {8} that is to say, not they that are the children of the flesh, they are the children of God: but they that are the children of the promise, are esteemed for the seed. {9} For the word of the promise is this: According to this time will I come; & Sara shall have a son. {10} And not only she. But Rebecca also conceiving of one copulation, of Isaac our father. {11} For when they were not yet born, nor had done any good or evil (that the purpose of God according to election might stand) {12} not of works, but of the caller it was said to her: That the elder shall serve the younger, {13} as it is written: Jacob I loved, but Esau I hated. {14} What shall we say then? Is there iniquity with God? God forbid. {15} For to Moyses he saith: I will have mercy on whom I have mercy; and I will shew mercy to whom I will shew mercy. {16} Therefore it is not of the willer, nor the runner, but of God that sheweth mercy. {17} For the Scripture saith to Pharaoh: That to this purpose have I raised thee, that in thee I may shew my power; and that my name may be renowned in the whole earth. {18} Therefore on whom he will, he hath mercy; and whom he will, he doth indurate. {19} Thou sayst therefore unto me: Why doth he yet complain? for who resisteth his will? {20} O man, who art thou that doest answer God? Doth the work say to him that wrought it: Why hast thou made me thus? {21} Or hath not the potter of clay, power, of the same mass to make one vessel unto honour, and another unto contumely? {22} And if God willing to shew wrath, & to make his might known, sustained in much patience the vessels of wrath apt to destruction, {23} that he might shew the riches of his glory upon the vessels of mercy which he prepared unto glory. {24} Whom also he hath called, us, not only of the Jews, but also of the Gentiles, {25} as in Osee he saith: I will call that which is not my people, my people; & her that was not beloved, beloved: & her that hath not obtained mercy, having obtained mercy. {26} And it shall be, in the place where it was said to them, you are not my people: there they shall be called the sons of the living God. {27} And Esaieth crieth for Israel: If the number of the children of Israel be as the sand of the sea, the remains shall be saved. {28} For consummating a word, and abridging it in equity: because a word abridged shall our Lord make upon the earth. {29} And as Esay foretold: unless the Lord of Sabaoth had left us seed, we had been made like Sodom, and we had been like as Gomorrah. {30} What shall we say then? That the Gentiles which pursued not after justice, have apprehended justice, but the justice that is of faith. {31} But Israel in pursuing the law of justice, is not come unto the law of justice. {32} Why so? Because not of faith, but as it were of works. For they have stumbled at the stone of stumbling, {33} as it is written: Behold I put in Sion a stone of stumbling, and a rock of scandal: and whosoever believeth in him, shall not be confounded.

The law was not (as the Jews ignorant zeal supposed) for them to justify them selves by it (considering that they could not fulfil it:) but to bring them to Christ, to believe in him, and so for his sake to be justified by the grace of God: {5}, according to Moyses' saying, and the Apostle's preaching: {11}. that so the Gentiles also (according to the Prophets) hearing and believing might come to justice: the Jews in the mean time (though inexcusably) remaining incredulous.

{1} BRETHREN, the will of my heart surely and prayer to God, is for them unto salvation. {2} For I give them testimony that they have zeal of God, but not according to knowledge. {3} For not knowing the justice of God, and seeking to establish their own, they have not been subject to the justice of God. {4} For, the end of the Law is Christ; unto justice to every one that believeth. {5} For Moyses wrote, that, the justice which is of the Law, the man that hath done it, shall live in it. {6} But the justice which is of faith, saith thus: Say not in thy heart, Who shall ascend into Heaven? that is, to bring Christ down. {7} Or who descendeth into the depth? that is, to call Christ again from the dead. {8} But what saith the Scripture? The word is nigh, in thy mouth, and in thy heart. This is the word of faith which we preach. {9} For if thou confess with thy mouth our Lord JESUS, and in thy heart believe that God hath raised him up from the dead, thou shalt be saved. {10} For with the heart we believe unto justice; but with the mouth confession is made to salvation. {11} For the Scripture saith: Whosoever believeth in him, shall not be confounded. {12} For there is no distinction of the Jew and the Greek: for one is Lord of all, rich toward all that invocate him. {13} For every one whosoever shall invocate the name of our Lord, shall be saved. {14} How then shall they invocate in whom they have not believed? Or how shall they believe him whom they have not heard? And how shall they hear without a preacher? {15} But how shall they preach unless they be sent? as it is written: How beautiful are the feet of them that evangelize peace, of them that evangelize good things? {16} But all do not obey the Gospel. For Esay saith, Lord, who hath believed the hearing of us? {17} Faith then, is by hearing: and hearing is by the word of Christ. {18} But I say, have they not heard? And certes into all the earth hath the sound of them gone forth: and unto the ends of the whole world the words of them. {19} But I say, hath not Israel known? Moyses first saith: I will bring you to emulation in that which is not a nation: in a foolish nation, I will drive you into anger. {20} But Esay is bold, and saith: I was found of them that did not seek me: openly I appeared to them that asked not of me. {21} But to Israel he saith: All the day have I spread my hands to a people that believeth not, and contradicteth me.

Chapter 11

Not all the Jews were reprobate, but some elect: and they by grace obtained justice, the rest (according to the Prophets) being execrated. {11}. Against whom notwithstanding the Christian Gentiles (to whom by that occasion Christ is come) must not insult: but rather fear every man him self to be likewise cut of the tree (which is the Catholic Church) {25}, and know that when all the Gentiles are brought into the Church, then (about the end of the world) shall the multitude of the Jews also come in: {33}, according to the disposition of the wonderful wisdom of God.

{1} I SAY then: Hath God rejected his people? God forbid. For I also am an Israelite, of the seed of Abraham, of the tribe of Benjamin. {2} God hath not rejected his people which he foreknew. Or know you not in Elias what the Scripture saith; how he requesteth God against Israel? {3} Lord, they have slain thy Prophets, they have digged down thine Altars: and I am left alone, & they seek my life. {4} But what saith the divine answer unto him? I have left me seven thousand men, that have not bowed their knees to Baal? {5} So therefore at this time also, there are remains saved according to the election of grace. {6} And if by grace, not now of works. Otherwise grace now is not grace. {7} What then? that which Israel sought, the same he hath not obtained; but the election hath obtained, and the rest were blinded: {8} as it is written: God hath given them the spirit of compunction; eyes, that they may not see, and ears, that they may not hear; until this present day. {9} And David saith: Be their table made for a snare and for a trap & for a scandal & for a retribution unto them. {10} Be their eyes darkened, that they may not see: & their back make thou always crooked. {11} I say then, have they so stumbled, that they should fall? God forbid. But by their offence, salvation is to the Gentiles, that they may emulate them. {12} And if the offence of them be the riches of the world, and the diminution of them the riches of the Gentiles; how much more the fullness of them? {13} For to you Gentiles I say, as long verily as I am the Apostle of the Gentiles, I will honour my ministry, {14} if by any means I may provoke my flesh to emulation, and may save some of them. {15} For if the loss of them be the reconciliation of the world; what shall the receiving be, but life from the dead? {16} And if the first fruit be holy, the mass also: and if the root be holy, the boughs also. {17} And if some of the boughs be broken, and thou whereas thou wast a wild olive, art grafted in them, and art made partaker of the root and of the fatness of the olive, {18} glory not against the boughs. And if thou glory; not thou bearest the root, but the root thee. {19} Thou sayest then: The boughs were broken, that I might be grafted in. {20} Well: because of incredulity they were broken, but thou by faith doest stand: be not too highly wise; but fear. {21} For if God hath not spared the natural boughs; lest perhaps he will not spare thee neither. {22} See then the goodness and the severity of God: upon them surely that are fallen, the severity; but upon thee the goodness of God, if thou abide in his goodness; otherwise thou also shalt be cut off. {23} But they also, if they do not abide in incredulity, shall be grafted in. For God is able to graff them in again. {24} For if thou wast cut out of the natural wild olive, and contrary to nature wast grafted into the good olive; how much more they that are according to nature shall be grafted into their own olive? {25} For I will not have you ignorant, brethren, of this mystery (that you be not wise in your selves) that blindness in part hath chanced in Israel, until the fullness of the Gentiles might enter: {26} and so all Israel might be saved, as it is written: There shall come out of Sion, he that shall deliver, and shall avert impiety from Jacob. {27} And this to them the testament from me: when I shall have taken away their sins. {28} According to the Gospel indeed enemies for you: but according to the election, most dear for the fathers. {29} For without repentance are the gifts & the vocation of God. {30} For as you also sometime did not believe God, but now have obtained mercy because of their incredulity; {31} so these also now have not believed, for your mercy, that they also may obtain mercy. {32} For God hath concluded all into incredulity, that he may have mercy on all. {33} O depth of the riches of the wisdom and of the knowledge of God: how incomprehensible are his judgements, and his ways unsearchable? {34} For who hath known the mind of our Lord? or who hath been his Counselor? {35} Or who hath first given to him, and retribution shall be made him? {36} For of him, and by him, and in him are all things: to him be glory for ever. Amen.

Chapter 12

He exhorteth them to mortification of the body, {2}. to renovation of the mind, {3}. to keeping of unity by humility, {6}. to the right using of their gifts and functions, {9}. to many other good actions, {17}. and specially to loving of their enemies.

{1} I BESEECH you therefore, brethren, by the mercy of God, that you exhibit your bodies a living host, holy, pleasing to God, your reasonable service. {2} And be not conformed to this world; but be reformed in the newness of your mind, that you may prove what the good, & acceptable, & perfect will of God is. {3} For I say by the grace that is given me, to all that are among you, not to be more wise than behoveth to be wise, but to be wise unto sobriety, to every one as God hath divided the measure of faith. {4} For as in one body we have many members, but all the members have not one action; {5} so we being many, are one body in Christ, & each one another's members. {6} And having gifts, according to the grace that is given us, different, either prophecy according to the rule of faith, {7} or ministry in ministering, or he that teacheth in doctrine, {8} he that exhorteth in exhorting, he that giveth in simplicity, he that ruleth in carefulness, he that sheweth mercy in cheerfulness. {9} Love without simulation. Hating evil, cleaving to good. {10} Loving the charity of the brotherhood one toward another, with honour preventing one another. {11} In carefulness not slothful. In spirit fervent. Serving our Lord. {12} Rejoicing in hope. Patient in tribulation. Instant in prayer. {13} Communicating to the necessities of the saints. Pursuing hospitality. {14} Bless them that persecute you: bless, and curse not. {15} To rejoice with them that rejoice, to weep with them that weep. {16} Being of one mind one toward another. Not minding high things, but consenting to the humble. Be not wise in your own conceit. {17} To no man rendering evil for evil. Providing good things not only before God, but also before all men. {18} If it may be, as much as is in you, having peace with all men. {19} Not revenging your selves, my dearest, but give place unto wrath, for it is written: Revenge to me; I will reward, saith our Lord. {20} but if thine enemy hunger, give him meat: if he thirst, give him drink. For, doing this, thou shalt heap coals of fire upon his head. {21} Be not overcome of evil, but overcome in good the evil.

To yield obedience and all other duties unto Potestates: {8}. to love their neighbour which is the fulfilling of the Law: {11}. and specially to consider, that now being the time of grace, we must do nothing that may not beseem day light.

{1} LET every soul be subject to higher powers, for there is no power but of God. And those that are, of God are ordained. {2} Therefore he that resisteth the power, resisteth the ordinance of God. And they that resist, purchase to themselves damnation. {3} For princes are no fear to the good work, but to the evil. But wilt thou not fear the power? Do good: and thou shalt have praise of the same. {4} For he is God's minister unto thee for good. But if thou do evil, fear; for he beareth not the sword without cause. For he is God's minister: a revenger unto wrath, to him that doeth evil. {5} Therefore be subject of necessity, not only for wrath, but also for conscience sake. {6} For therefore you give tributes also. For they are the ministers of God, serving unto this purpose. {7} Render therefore to all men their dew: to whom tribute, tribute: to whom custom, custom: to whom fear, fear; to whom honour, honour. {8} Owe no man any thing: but that you love one another. For he that loveth his neighbour, hath fulfilled the law. {9} For, Thou shalt not commit adultery, Thou shalt not kill, Thou shalt not steal. Thou shalt not bear false witness, Thou shalt not covet, and if there be any other commandment, it is comprised in this word, Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thy self. {10} The love of thy neighbour, worketh no evil. Love therefore is the fullness of the Law. {11} And that knowing the season, that it is now the hour for us to rise from sleep. For now our salvation is nearer than when we believed. {12} The night is passed, and the day is at hand. Let us therefore cast off the works of darkness, & do on the armour of light. {13}

As in the day let us walk honestly: not in banqueting and drunkenness, not in chamberings and impudicities, not in contention and emulation: {14} but do ye on our Lord JESUS Christ, and make not provision for the flesh in concupiscences.

Like a moderator and peacemaker between the firm Christians (who were the Gentiles) and the infirm (who were the Christian Jews, having yet a scruple to cease from keeping the ceremonial meats and days of Moyses' Law) he exhorteth the Jew not to condemn the Gentile using his liberty: and the Gentile again, not to condemn the scrupulous Jew: but rather to abstain from using his liberty, them offending the Jew, to be an occasion unto him of apostating.

{1} AND him that is weak in faith, take unto you; not in disputation of cogitations. {2} For one believeth that he may eat all things: but he that is weak, let him eat herbs. {3} Let not him that eateth, despise him that eateth not: and he that eateth not, let him not judge him that eateth. For God hath taken him to him. {4} Who art thou that judgest another man's servant? To his own Lord he standeth or falleth. And he shall stand: for God is able to make him stand. {5} For one judgeth between day and day; and another judgeth every day: let every one abound in his own sense. {6} He that respecteth the day, respecteth to our Lord. And he that eateth, eateth to our Lord: for he giveth thanks to God. And he that eateth not, to our Lord he eateth not, and giveth thanks to God. {7} For none of us liveth to himself: and no man dieth to himself. {8} For whether we live, we live to our Lord; or whether we die, we die to our Lord. Therefore whether we live, or whether we die, we are our Lord's. {9} For to this end Christ died and rose again; that he may have dominion both of the dead and of the living. {10} But thou, why judgest thou thy brother? or thou, why dost thou despise thy brother? For we shall all stand before the judgement seat of Christ. {11} For it is written: Live I, saith our Lord, that every knee shall bow to me; & every tongue shall confess to God. {12} Therefore every one of us for himself shall render account to God. {13} Let us therefore no more judge one another. But this judge ye rather, that you put not a stumbling block or a scandal to your brother. {14} I know and am persuaded in our Lord JESUS Christ, that nothing is common of it self, but to him that supposeth any thing to be common, to him it is common. {15} For if because of meat thy brother be grieved; now thou walkest not according to charity. Do not with thy meat destroy him for whom Christ died. {16} Let not then our good be blasphemed. {17} For the Kingdom of God is not meat and drink; but justice, and peace, and joy in the Holy Ghost. {18} For he that in this serveth Christ, pleaseth God, and is acceptable to men. {19} Therefore the things that are of peace let us pursue: and the things that are of edifying one toward another let us keep. {20} Destroy not the work of God for meat. All things indeed are clean: but it is ill for the man that eateth by giving offence. {21} It is good not to eat flesh, and not to drink wine, nor that wherein thy brother is offended, or scandalized, or weakened. {22} Hast thou faith? have it with thy self before God. Blessed is he that judgeth not himself in that which he approveth. {23} But he that discerneth, if he eat, is damned; because not of faith. For all that is not of faith, is sin.

Chapter 15

He proceedeth to make peace between the Christian Gentiles and Jews. {8}. with this resolution, that the Jew's vocation is of promise in deed, but the Gentile's also of mercy, and foretold by the Scriptures. {14}. Then drawing to an end, he excuseth him self to the Romans for writing thus unto them, {21}, hoping now at length to see them, after that he hath been at Hierusalem, {29}. whereunto also he requesteth their prayers.

{1} AND we that are the stronger, must sustain the infirmities of the weak, & not please our selves. {2} Let every one of you please his neighbour unto good, to edification. {3} For, Christ did not please himself, but as it is written: The reproaches of them that reproached thee, fell upon me. {4} For what things soever have been written, to our learning they are written: that by the patience and consolation of the Scriptures, we may have hope. {5} And the God of patience and of comfort give you to be of one mind one toward another according to JESUS Christ: {6} that of one mind, with one mouth you may glorify God & the Father of our Lord JESUS Christ. {7} For the which cause receive one another; as Christ also hath received you unto the honour of God. {8} For I say Christ JESUS to have been minister of the circumcision for the verity of God to confirm the promises of the fathers. {9} But the Gentiles to honour God for his mercy, as it is written: Therefore will I confess to thee in the Gentiles o Lord, and will sing to thy name. {10} And again he saith: Rejoice ye Gentiles with his people. {11} And again: Praise, all ye Gentiles, our Lord; and magnify him all ye peoples. {12} And again Esaie saith: There shall be the root of Jesse; and he that shall rise up to rule the Gentiles, in him the Gentiles shall hope. {13} And the God of hope replenish you with all joy and peace in believing; that you may abound in hope, and in the virtue of the Holy Ghost. {14} And I my self also, my brethren, am assured of you, that you also are full of love, replenished with all knowledge, so that you are able to admonish one another. {15} But I have written to you (brethren) more boldly in part, as it were putting you in remembrance; for the grace which is given me of God, {16} to be the minister of Christ JESUS in the Gentiles: sanctifying the Gospel of God, that the oblation of the Gentiles may be made acceptable and sanctified in the Holy Ghost. {17} I have therefore glory in Christ JESUS toward God. {18} For I dare not speak any of those things which Christ worketh not by me for the obedience of the Gentiles, by word and deeds, {19} in the virtue of signs and wonders, in the virtue of the Holy Ghost: so that from Jerusalem round about unto Illyricum I have replenished the Gospel of Christ. {20} And I have so preached this Gospel, not where Christ was named, lest I should build upon another man's foundation; {21} but as it is written: They to whom it hath not been preached of him, shall see, and they that have not heard, shall understand. {22} For the which cause also I was hindered very much from coming unto you. {23} But now having no longer place in these countries, and having a desire to come unto you these many years now passed: {24} when I shall begin to take my journey into Spain, I hope that as I pass, I shall see you, and be brought thither of you, if first in part I shall have enjoyed you. {25} Now therefore I will go unto Jerusalem to minister to the saints. {26} For Macedonia and Achaia have liked well to make some contribution upon the poor saints that are in Jerusalem. {27} For it hath pleased them: and they are their debtors. For if the Gentiles be made partakers of their spiritual things; they ought also in carnal things to minister unto them. {28} This therefore when I shall have accomplished, and signed them this fruit, I will go by you into Spain. {29} And I know that coming to you, I shall come in abundance of the blessing of Christ. {30} I beseech you therefore brethren by our Lord JESUS CHRIST, and by the charity of the Holy Ghost, that you help me in your prayers for me to God, {31} that I may be delivered from the infidels that are in Jewry, and the oblation of my service may become acceptable in Jerusalem to the saints, {32} that I may come to you in joy by the will of God, that I may be refreshed with you. {33} And the God of peace be with you all. Amen.

Chapter 16

He commendeth the bearer Phoebe to the Romans, {3}. and himself to many there by name. {17}. he declareth the doctrine which the Romans had learned, to be the touchstone to know Seducers. {21} he doth unto them the commendations of all the Churches and of certain persons by name: {25}. and concludeth.

{1} AND I commend to you Phoebe our sister, who is in the ministry of the Church that is in Cenchris: {2} that you receive her in our Lord as it is worthy for saints: and that you assist her in whatsoever business she shall need you. For she also hath assisted many, and my self. {3} Salute Prisca & Aquila my helpers in Christ JESUS, {4} who for my life have laid down their necks; to whom not I only give thanks, but also all the Churches of the Gentiles, {5} and their domestical Church. Salute Epaenetus my beloved: who is the first fruit of Asia in Christ. {6} Salute Mary who hath laboured much about us. {7} Salute Andronicus and Julia my cousins and fellow captives: who are noble among the Apostles, who also before me were in Christ. {8} Salute Ampliatus my best beloved in our Lord. {9} Salute Urbanus our helper in Christ JESUS, and Stachys my beloved. {10} Salute Apelles approved in Christ. Salute them that are of Aristobolus' house. {11} Salute Herodion my kinsman. Salute them that are of Narcissus' house, that are in our Lord. {12} Salute Tryphaena and Tryphosa: who labour in our Lord. Salute Persis the beloved, who hath much laboured in our Lord. {13} Salute Rufus the elect in our Lord and his mother and mine. {14} Salute Asyncritus, Phlegon, Hermas, Patrobas, Hermes: and the brethren that are with them. {15} Salute Philologus and Julia, Nereus, and his sister, and Olympias; and all the saints that are with them. {16} Salute one another in a holy kiss. All the churches of Christ salute you. {17} And I desire you, brethren, to mark them that make dissensions and scandals contrary to the doctrine which you have learned, and avoid them. {18} For such do not serve Christ our Lord, but their own belly: and by sweet speeches and benedictions seduce the hearts of innocents. {19} For our obedience is published into every place. I rejoice therefore in you. But I would have you to be wise in good, and simple in evil. {20} And the God of peace crush Satan under your feet quickly. The grace of our Lord JESUS Christ be with you. {21} Timothee my coadjutor saluteth you, and Lucius, and Jason, and Sosipater, my kinsmen. {22} I, Tertius salute you, that wrote the epistle, in our Lord. {23} Caius mine host, and the whole Churches, saluteth you. Erastus the Cofferer of the city saluteth you, and Quartus, a brother. {24} The grace of our Lord JESUS Christ be with all you, Amen. {25} And to him that is able to confirm you according to my Gospel and preaching of JESUS Christ, according to the revelation of the mystery from eternal times kept secret, {26} which now is opened by the Scriptures of the Prophets according to the precept of the eternal God, to the obedience of faith known in all Gentiles, {27} to God the only wise through JESUS Christ, to whom be honour & glory for ever and ever. Amen.

THE FIRST EPISTLE OF S. PAUL TO THE CORINTHIANS

Chapter 1

After salutation, 4. having acknowledged the graces of their Church, 10. he dehorteth them from their Schismatistical boasting against one another in their Baptizers (telling them that they must boast only in Christ for their Baptism) 17. and in their Preachers, who had the wisdom of words: telling them that it is the preaching of the Cross, whereby God saveth the world, and wherein only Christians should boast: 26. seeing God of purpose chose the contemptible, that so himself might have the glory.

{1} PAUL called to be an Apostle of JESUS Christ, by the will of God, and Sosthenes a brother, {2} to the Church of God that is at Corinth, to the sanctified in Christ JESUS, called to be saints, with all that invoke the name of our Lord JESUS Christ in every place of theirs and ours. {3} Grace to you and peace from God our Father and our Lord JESUS Christ. {4} I give thanks to my God always for you for the grace of God that is given you in Christ JESUS, {5} that in all things you be made rich in him, in all utterance, and in all knowledge, {6} (as the testimony of Christ is confirmed in you,) {7} so that nothing is wanting to you in any grace, expecting the revelation of our Lord JESUS Christ, {8} who also will confirm you unto the end without crime, in the day of the coming of our Lord JESUS Christ. {9} God is faithful; by whom you are called into the society of his Son JESUS Christ our Lord. {10} And I beseech you, brethren, by the name of our Lord JESUS Christ, that you all say one thing, and that there be no schisms among you: but that you be perfect in one sense, & in one knowledge. {11} For it is signified unto me (my brethren) of you, by them that are of Chloe, that there be contentions among you. {12} And I mean this, for that every one of you saith, I certes am Paul's, & I, Apollo's, but I, Cephas', and I, Christ's. {13} Is Christ divided? Why, was Paul crucified for you? or in the name of Paul were you baptized? {14} I give God thanks, that I baptized none of you, but Crispus and Caius: {15} lest any man say that in my name you were baptized. {16} And I baptized also the house of Stephanas. But I know not if I have baptized any other. {17} For Christ sent me not to baptize, but to evangelize: not in wisdom of speech, that the cross of Christ be not made void. {18} For the word of the cross, to them indeed that perish, is foolishness; but to them that are saved, that is, to us, it is the power of God. {19} For it is written: I will destroy the wisdom of the wise; and the prudence of the prudent I will reject. {20} where is the wise? where is the Scribe? where is the disputer of this world? Hath not God made the wisdom of this world foolish? {21} For because in the wisdom of God the world did not by wisdom know God; it pleased God by the foolishness of the preaching to save them that believe. {22} For both the Jews ask signs, and the Greeks seek wisdom: {23} but we preach Christ crucified, to the Jews certes a scandal, and to the Gentiles, foolishness: {24} but to the called, Jews & Greeks, Christ the power of God and the wisdom of God. {25} For that which is the foolishness of God, is wiser than men; and that which is the infirmity of God, is stronger than men. {26} For see your vocation brethren, that not many wise according to the flesh, not many mighty, not many noble: {27} but the foolish things of the world hath God chosen, that he may confound the wise; and the weak things of the world hath God chosen, that he may confound the strong: {28} and the base things of the world and the contemptible hath God chosen, and those things which are not, that he might destroy those things which are; {29} that no flesh may glory in his sight. {30} And of him you are in Christ JESUS, who is made unto us wisdom from God, & justice, & sanctification, and redemption: {31} that as it is written: He that doth glory, may glory in our Lord.

That his own preaching among them, was in humble manner in the sight of man. 5.: Howbeit it is most profound wisdom (as they should and would perceive, if they were not carnal) which is taught in the Church of Christ.

{1} AND I (brethren) when I came to you, I came not in loftiness of speech or of wisdom, preaching to you the testimony of Christ. {2} For I judged not my self to know any thing among you but JESUS Christ, and him crucified. {3} And I was with you in infirmity, and fear and much trembling: {4} and my speech and my preaching was not in the persuasible words of human wisdom, but in shewing of spirit and power; {5} that your faith might not be in the wisdom of men, but in the power of God. But we speak wisdom among the perfect. {6} But the wisdom not of this world, neither of the princes of this world, that come to naught: {7} but we speak the wisdom of God in a mystery, which is hid, which God did predestinate before the worlds, unto our glory: {8} which none of the princes of this world did know: for if they had known, they would never have crucified the Lord of glory. {9} But as it is written: That which eye hath not seen, nor ear hath heard, neither hath it ascended into the heart of man, what things God hath prepared for them that love him. {10} But to us God hath revealed by his Spirit. For the Spirit searcheth all things, yea the profundities of God. {11} For what man knoweth the things of a man, but the spirit of a man that is in him? so the things also that are of God no man knoweth, but the spirit of God. {12} And we have received not the spirit of this world, but the spirit that is of God: that we may know the things that of God are given to us. {13} Which also we speak not in learned words of human wisdom; but in the doctrine of the Spirit, comparing spiritual things to the spiritual. {14} But the sensual man perceiveth not those things that are of the Spirit of God. For it is foolishness to him, and he can not understand; because he is spiritually examined. {15} But the spiritual man judgeth all things: and himself is judged of no man. {16} For who hath known the sense of our Lord that may instruct him? But we have the sense of Christ.

Chapter 3

If they will not be carnal still, they must boast in God only, and not in their Preachers, which are but his Ministers, 10. and need to look well how they preach: 12. because not all preaching, though it be Catholic, is meritorious: but rather it buildeth matter to be purged by fire, when it is vain and unfruitful (as also any other like works of other Catholics.) Marry if it be heretical, destroying the Temple of God, then it worketh damnation. 18. The remedy is, to humble themselves and refer all to God.

{1} AND I, brethren, could not speak to you as to spiritual, but as to carnal. As it were to little ones in Christ, {2} I gave you milk to drink, not meat: for you could not as yet. But neither can you now verily, for yet you are carnal. {3} For whereas there is among you emulation and contention, are you not carnal, and walk according to man? {4} For when one saith, I certes am Paul's, & another, I, Apollo's; are you not men? What is Apollo then? and what is Paul? {5} The Ministers of him whom you have believed, and to every one as our Lord hath given. {6} I planted, Apollo watered; but God gave the increase. {7} Therefore neither he that planteth is any thing, nor he that watereth; but he that giveth the increase, God. {8} And he that planteth and he that watereth are one. And every one shall receive his own reward according to his own labour. {9} For we are God's coadjutors; you are God's husbandry, you are God's building. {10} According to the grace that is given me, as a wise workmaster have I laid the foundation: and another buildeth thereupon. But let every one look how he buildeth thereon. {11} For other foundation no man can lay, beside that which is laid; which is CHRIST JESUS. {12} And if any man build upon this foundation, gold, silver, precious stones, wood, hay, stubble, {13} the work of every one shall be manifest: for the day of our Lord will declare, because it shall be revealed in fire: and the work of every one of what kind it is, the fire shall try. {14} If any man's work abide, which he built thereupon; he shall receive reward. {15} If any man's work burn, he shall suffer detriment: but himself shall be saved: yet so as by fire. {16} Know you not that you are the temple of God; and the Spirit of God dwelleth in you? {17} But if any violate the temple of God, God will destroy him. For the temple of God is holy: which you are. {18} Let no man seduce himself: if any man seem to be wise among you in this world, let him become a fool that he may be wise. {19} For the wisdom of this world is foolishness with God. For it is written: I will compass the wise in their subtlety. {20} And again, Our Lord knoweth the cogitations of the wise that they be vain. {21} Let no man therefore glory in men. For all things are yours: {22} whether it be Paul, or Apollo, or Cephas, or the world, or life, or death, or things present, or things to come; for all are yours: {23} and you are Christ's, and Christ is God's.

Chapter 4

He requireth to be esteemed for his office, but regardeth not to be praised of man for his virtue: considering that neither his own conscience is a sufficient judge thereof, but only God who seeth all. 8. He toucheth them for contemning in their pride, the Apostles themselves as miserable: 18. threatening to come to those proud False-apostles who were the Authors of all these schisms.

{1} SO let a man esteem us as the ministers of Christ, and the dispensers of the mysteries of God. {2} Here now is required among the dispensers that a man be found faithful. {3} But to me it is a thing of least account, to be judged of you, or of man's day: But I judge not my-self neither. {4} For I am not guilty in conscience of any thing; but I am not justified herein: but he that judgeth me, is our Lord. {5} Therefore judge not before the time; until our Lord do come, who also will lighten the hidden things of darkness, & will manifest the counsels of the hearts: & then the praise shall be to every man of God. {6} But these things, brethren, I have transfigured into my self and Apollo, for you; that in us you may learn, one not to be puffed up against another, above that is written. {7} For who discerneth thee? Or what hast thou that thou hast not received? And if thou hast received, what doest thou glory as though thou hast not received? {8} Now you are filled, now are you become rich: without us you reign; & I would to God you did reign, that we also might reign with you. {9} For I think that God hath shewed us Apostles the last, as it were deputed to death: because we are made a spectacle to the world, and to Angels and men. {10} We are fools for Christ; but you wise in Christ. We weak; but you strong. You noble, but we base. {11} Until this hour we do both hunger, and thirst, and are naked, and are beaten with buffets, and are wanderers, {12} and labour working with our own hands. We are cursed; and do bless. We are persecuted; and sustain it. {13} We are blasphemed; and we beseech. We are made the refuse of this world, the dross of all, even until now. {14} Not to confound you, do I write these things; but as my dearest children I admonish you. {15} For if you have ten thousand Paedagogues in Christ; yet not many fathers. For in Christ JESUS by the Gospel I begat you. {16} I beseech you therefore be followers of me. {17} Therefore have I sent to you Timothee, who is my dearest son and faithful in our Lord; who will put you in mind of my ways that are in Christ JESUS, as everywhere in every Church I teach. {18} As though I would not come to you, so certain are puffed up. {19} But I will come to you quickly, if our Lord will: and will know not the words of them that be puffed up, but the power. {20} For the Kingdom of God is not in words, but in power. {21} What will you? in rod that I come to you; or in charity, and the spirit of mildness?

Chapter 5

Sharply rebuking their Clergy's negligence, 3. him self absent excommunicate that public incestuous person: 6. commanding that hereafter no Christian be so tolerated in any open crime, but excommunicated.

{1} THERE is plainly heard fornication among you, and such fornication, as the like is not among the heathen, so that one hath his father's wife. {2} And you are puffed up; and have not mourned rather, that he might be taken away from among you, that hath done this deed. {3} I indeed absent in body, but present in spirit, have already judged, as present, him that hath so done, {4} in the name of our Lord JESUS Christ, you being gathered together and my spirit, with the virtue of our Lord JESUS; {5} to deliver such an one to Satan for the destruction of the flesh, that the spirit may be saved in the day of our Lord JESUS Christ. {6} Your glorying is not good. Know you not that a little leaven corrupteth the whole paste? {7} Purge the old leaven, that you may be a new paste, as you are azymes. For our Pasche, Christ, is immolated. {8} Therefore let us feast, not in the old leaven, nor in the leaven of malice and wickedness, but in the azymes of sincerity and verity. {9} I wrote to you in an epistle, not to keep company with fornicators. {10} I mean not the fornicators of this world, or the covetous, or the extortioners, or servers of idols: otherwise you should have gone out of this world. {11} But now I wrote to you, not to keep company, if he that is named a brother, be a fornicator, or a covetous person, or a server of idols, or a railer, or a drunkard, or an extortioner: with such an one not so much as to take meat. {12} For what is it to me to judge of them that are without? Do not you judge of them that are within? {13} for them that are without, God will judge. Take away the evil one from among your selves.

Chapter 6

He rebuketh them for going to law before Judges that were not Christians, 9. telling that extortion (as many other offenses likewise) is a mortal sin. 12. And with diverse reasons he inveigheth against fornication, bidding also to flee all occasion thereof.

{1} DARE any of you having a matter against another, to be judged before the unjust, & not before the saints? {2} Or know you not that the saints shall judge of the world? And if the world shall be judged by you: are you unworthy to judge of the least things? {3} Know you not that we shall judge Angels? how much more secular things? {4} If therefore you have secular judgements; the contemptible that are in the Church, set them to judge. {5} I speak to your shame. So is there not among you any wise man, that can judge between his brother? {6} But brother with brother contendeth in judgement: & that before infidels? {7} Now certes there is plainly a fault in you, that you have judgements among you. Why do you not rather take wrong? why do you not rather suffer fraud? {8} But your selves do wrong and defraud: and that to the brethren. {9} Know you not that the unjust shall not possess the Kingdom of God? Do not err: Neither fornicators, nor servers of idols, nor adulterers, nor the effeminate, nor the liars with mankind, {10} nor thieves, nor the covetous, nor drunkards, nor railers, nor extortioners shall possess the Kingdom of God. {11} And these things certes you were, but you are washed, but you are sanctified, but you are justified in the name of our Lord JESUS Christ, and in the Spirit of our God. {12} All things are lawful for me, but all things are not expedient. All things are lawful for me, but I will be brought under the power of none. {13} The meat to the belly, & the belly to the meats: but God will destroy both it and them: and the body not to fornication, but to our Lord, & our Lord to the body. {14} But God both hath raised up our Lord, and will raise up us also by his power. {15} Know you not that your bodies are the members of Christ? Taking therefore the members of Christ, shall I make them the members of an harlot? God forbid. {16} Or know you not, that he which cleaveth to an harlot, is made one body? For they shall be, saith he, two in one flesh. {17} But he that cleaveth to our Lord, is one spirit. {18} Fly fornication. Every sin whatsoever a man doeth is without the body: but he that doeth fornicate, sinneth against his own body. {19} Or know you not that your members are the temple of the holy Ghost which is in you, whom you have of God, and you are not your own? {20} For you are bought with a great price. Glorify and bear God in your body.

Chapter 7

That married folk may ask their debt, and must pay it, though it be better for them to contain, 8. as also for the unmarried and widows to continue single, though they may marry. 10. That the married may not depart from one another (nor in any case marry another, during the life of the former) 12. unless it be from one that is unbaptized, which yet he dissuadeth: 17. counseling also every one to be content with his state wherein he was Christened. 25. Virginity is not commanded, but counseled as the better and more meritorious than Marriage. 39. as also widowhood.

{1} AND concerning the things whereof you wrote to me: It is good for a man not to touch a woman. {2} But because of fornication let every man have his own wife, & let every woman have her own husband. {3} Let the husband render his debt to the wife: and the wife also in like manner to her husband. {4} The woman hath not power of her own body: but her husband. And in like manner the man also hath not power of his own body; but the woman. {5} Defraud not one another, except perhaps by consent for a time, that you may give your self to prayer: and return again together, lest Satan tempt you for your incontinency. {6} But I say this by indulgence, not by commandment. {7} For I would all men to be as my self: but every one hath a proper gift of God; one so, and another so. {8} But I say to the unmarried and to widows: It is good for them if they so abide even as I also. {9} But if they do not contain themselves, let them marry. For it is better to marry than to be burnt. {10} But to them that be joined in matrimony, not I give commandment, but our Lord, that the wife depart not from her husband: {11} and if she depart, to remain unmarried, or to be reconciled to her husband. And let not the husband put away his wife. {12} For to the rest, I say, not our Lord. If any brother have a wife an infidel, and she consent to dwell with him; let him not put her away. {13} And if any woman have a husband an infidel, and he consent to dwell with her; let her not put away her husband. {14} For the man an infidel is sanctified by the faithful woman; and the woman an infidel is sanctified by the faithful husband: otherwise your children should be unclean; but now they are holy. {15} But if the infidel depart, let him depart. For the brother or sister is not subject to servitude in such. But in peace hath God called us. {16} For how knowest thou woman, if thou shalt save thy husband? or how knowest thou man, if thou shalt save the woman? {17} But to every one as our Lord hath divided, as God hath called every one, so let him walk, and as in all Churches I teach. {18} Is any man called being circumcised? Let him not procure prepuce. Is any man called in prepuce? Let him not be circumcised. {19} circumcision is nothing, and prepuce is nothing; but the observation of the commandments of God. {20} Every one in the vocation that he was called, in it let him abide. {21} Wast thou called being a bondman? care not for it: but and if thou canst be made free, use it rather. {22} For he that in our Lord is called, being a bondman, is the franchised of our Lord. Likewise he that is called, being free, is the bondman of Christ. {23} You were bought with price, be not made the bondmen of men. {24} Every brother wherein he was called, in that let him abide before God. {25} And as concerning virgins, a commandment of our Lord I have not: but counsel I give, as having obtained mercy of our Lord to be faithful. {26} I think therefore that this is good for the present necessity, because it is good for a man so to be. {27} Art thou tied to a wife? seek not to be loosed. Art thou loose from a wife? seek not wife. {28} But if thou take a wife, thou hast not sinned. And if a virgin marry, she hath not sinned. Nevertheless tribulation of the flesh shall such have. But I spare you. {29} This therefore I say, brethren; the time is short, it remaineth, that they also which have wives, be as though they had not; {30} and they that weep, as though they wept not; and they that rejoice, as though they rejoiced not; and they that buy, as though they possessed not; {31} and they that use this world, as though they used it not. For the figure of this world passeth away. {32} But I would have you to be without carefulness. He that is without a wife, is careful for the things that pertain to our Lord, how he may please God. {33} But he that is with a wife, is careful for the things that pertain to the world, how he may please his wife: and he is divided. {34} And the woman unmarried & the virgin, thinketh on the things that pertain to our Lord: that she may be holy both in body and in spirit. But she that is married, thinketh on the things that pertain to the world, how she may please her husband. {35} And this I speak to your profit: not to cast a snare upon you, but to that which is honest, & that may give you power without impediment to attend upon our Lord. {36} But if any man think that he seemeth dishonoured upon his virgin, for that she is past age, and if it must so be, let him do that he will. He sinmeth not if she marry. {37} For he that hath determined in his heart being settled, not having necessity, but having power of his own will, and hath judged this in his heart, to keep his virgin, doeth well. {38} Therefore both he that joineth his virgin in matrimony, doeth well: and he that joineth not, doeth better. {39} A woman is bound to the law so long time as her husband liveth: but if her husband sleep, she is at liberty: let her marry to whom she will: only in our Lord. {40} But more blessed shall she be if she so remain, according to my counsel. And I think that I also have the Spirit of God.

Chapter 8

He rebuketh the learned who in pride of their knowledge did eat Idolothya, that is things offered to Idols, using (as they said) their liberty; but not considering that the ignorant took their doing as an example for them to frequent such meats so, as they did before in their Paganism, with opinion that they did sanctify the eaters.

{1} AND concerning those things that are sacrificed to idols, we know that we all have knowledge. Knowledge puffeth up; but charity edifieth. {2} And if any man think that he knoweth something, he hath not yet known, as he ought to know. {3} But if any man love God, the same is known of him. {4} But as for the meats that are immolated to idols, we know that an idol is nothing in the world, and that there is no God, but one. {5} For although there be that are called gods, either in Heaven, or in earth (for there are many gods, and many lords) {6} yet to us there is one God, the Father, of whom all things, and we unto him: and one Lord, JESUS CHRIST, by whom all things, and we by him. {7} But there is not knowledge in all. For some until this present with a conscience of the idol, eat as a thing sacrificed to idols: and their conscience being weak, is polluted. {8} But meat doth not commend us to God. For neither if we eat, shall we abound: nor if we eat not, shall we lack. {9} But take heed lest perhaps this your liberty become an offense to the weak. {10} For if a man see him that hath knowledge, sit at table in the idol's temple; shall not his conscience, being weak, be edified, to eat things sacrificed to idols? {11} And through thy knowledge shall the weak brother perish, for whom Christ hath died? {12} But sinning thus against the brethren, and striking their weak conscience; you sin against Christ. {13} Wherefore if meat scandalize my brother, I will never eat flesh, lest I scandalize my brother.

To them that so vaunted their liberty about Idolothya, he bringeth his own example, to wit, that he also had liberty to live by the Gospel, but yet that he used it not, so to avoid scandal of the infirm, and because it was more meritorious. 24. Declaining against their security, and shewing them by similitudes and examples, 24, both of himself. 1. And of the Israelites, that salvation is not so lightly come by: 14, and so concludeth again against eating of idolothya, because it is also to commit idolatry. 22, and not only to give ill example to the infirm.

{1} AM I not free? Am I not an Apostle? Have I not seen Christ JESUS our Lord? Are not you my work in our Lord? {2} And if to others I be not an Apostle, but yet to you I am. For you are the seal of my Apostleship in our Lord. {3} my defense to them that examine me is this. {4} Have not we power to eat and drink? {5} Have we not power to lead about a woman a sister, as also the rest of the Apostles, and our Lord's brethren, and Cephas? {6} Or I only and Barnabas have not we power to do this? {7} Who ever playeth the soldier at his own charges? who planteth a vine, and eateth not of the fruit thereof? Who feedeth a flock, and eateth not of the milk of the flock? {8} Speak I these things according to man? Or doth not the Law also say these things? {9} For it is written in the Law of Moyses: Thou shalt not muzzle the mouth of the ox that treadeth out the corn. Why, hath God care of oxen? {10} Or for us certes doth he say it? For they are written for us. Because he that eareth, ought to ear in hope: and he that treadeth, in hope to receive fruit. {11} If we have sown unto you spiritual things, is it a great matter if we reap your carnal things? {12} If other be partakers of your power; why not we rather? Howbeit we have not used, this power: but we bear all things, lest we should give any offence to the Gospel of Christ. {13} Know you not that they which work in the holy place, eat the things that are of the holy place: and they that serve the altar, participate with the altar? {14} So also our Lord ordained for them that preach the Gospel, to live of the Gospel. {15} But I have used none of these. Neither have I written these things, that they should be so done in me; for it is good for me to die rather, than that any man should make my glory void. {16} For & if I evangelize, it is no glory to me: for necessity lieth upon me: for woe is to me if I Evangelize not. {17} For if I do this willingly, I have reward: but if against my will, a charge is committed to me. {18} What is my reward then? That preaching the Gospel, I yield the Gospel without cost, that I abuse not my power in the Gospel. {19} For whereas I was free of all, I made my self the servant of all: that I might gain the more. {20} And I became to the Jews as a Jew, that I might gain the Jews. {21} To them that are under the Law, as though I were under the Law (whereas my self was not under the Law) that I might gain them that were under the Law. To them that were without the Law, as though I were without the Law (whereas I was not without the law of God, but was in the law of Christ) that I might gain them that were without the Law. {22} To the weak I became weak, that I might gain the weak. To all men I became all things, that I might save all. {23} And I do all things for the Gospel, that I may be made partaker thereof. {24} Know you not that they that run in the race, all run indeed, but one receiveth the price? So run that you may obtain. {25} And every one the striveth for the mastery, refraineth himself from all things: and they certes, that they may receive a corruptible crown: but we an incorruptible. {26} I therefore so run, not as it were at an uncertain thing: so I fight, not as it were beating the air: {27} But I chastise my body, and bring it into servitude, lest perhaps when I have preached to others, my self become reprobate.

Chapter 10

See the argument of the 9.

Chapter, which comprehendeth the contents of this also.

{1} FOR I will not have you ignorant, brethren, that our fathers were all under the cloud, & all passed through the sea, {2} and all in Moyses were baptized in the cloud and in the sea: {3} and all did eat the same spiritual food, {4} and all drunk the same spiritual drink (and they drunk of the spiritual rock that followed them, and the rock was Christ.) {5} But in the more part of them God was not well pleased. For they were overthrown in the desert. {6} And these things were done in a figure of us, that we be not coveting evil things, as they also coveted. {7} Neither become ye idolaters, as certain of them: as is written: The people sat down to eat and drink, and rose up to play. {8} Neither let us fornicate, as certain of them did fornicate, and there fell in one day three and twenty thousand. {9} Neither let us tempt Christ, as certain of them tempted, and perished by the serpents. {10} Neither do you murmur, as certain of them murmured, and perished by the destroyer. {11} And all these things chanced to them in figure: but they are written to our correction, upon whom the ends of the world are come. {12} Therefore he that thinketh himself to stand, let him take heed lest he fall. {13} Let not temptation apprehend you, but human. And God is faithful, who will not suffer you to be tempted above that which you are able: but will make also with temptation issue, that you may be able to sustain. {14} For the which cause, my dearest, fly from the serving of idols. {15} I speak as to wise men: your selves judge what I say. {16} The chalice of benediction which we do bless, is it not the communication of the blood of Christ? and the bread which we break, is it not the participation of the body of our Lord? {17} For being many, we are one bread, one body, all that participate of one bread. {18} Behold Israel according to the flesh: they that eat the hosts, are they not partakers of the altar? {19} What then? do I say that that which is immolated to idols, is any thing? or that the idol is any thing? {20} But the things that the heathen do immolate, to devils they do immolate, and not to God. And I will not have you become fellows of devils. {21} You can not drink the chalice of our Lord, and the chalice of devils: you can not be partakers of the table of our Lord, and of the table of devils. {22} Or do we emulate our Lord? Why, are we stronger than he? All things are lawful for me, but all things are not expedient. {23} All things are lawful for me, but all things do not edify. {24} Let no man seek his own, but another man's. {25} All that is sold in the shambles, eat: asking no question for conscience. {26} The earth is our Lord's, and the fullness thereof. {27} If any invite you of the infidels, and you will go; eat of all that is set before you, asking no question for conscience. {28} But if any man say, This is immolated to idols; do not eat for his sake that shewed it, and for conscience: {29} conscience I say not thine but the other's. For why is my liberty judged of another man's conscience? {30} If I participate with thanks; why am I blasphemed for that which I give thanks for? {31} Therefore whether you eat, or drink, or do any other thing; do all things unto the glory of God. {32} Be without offense to the Jews

& to the Gentiles, & to the Church of God: {33} as I also in all things do please all men, not seeking that which is profitable to my self, but which is to many; that they may be saved.

Chapter 11

He commendeth them for keeping his traditions generally. 3. And in particular for this that a man praved and prophesied bare-headed, a woman veiled, he bringeth many reasons. 17. About another, he reprehendeth the rich, that at the charitable supper supped uncharitably: 23. telling them that they received therefore unworthily the B. Sacrament, and shewing them what an heinous sin that is, seeing it is our Lord's body and the representation of his death, as he by tradition had taught them.

{1} BE ye followers of me, as I also of Christ. {2} things you be mindful of me: and as I have And I praise you brethren, that in all delivered unto you, you keep my precepts. {3} And I will have you know, that the head of every man, is Christ: and the head of the woman, is the man: and the head of Christ, is God. {4} Every man praying or prophesying with his head covered, dishonoureth his head. {5} But every woman praying or prophesying with her head not covered, dishonoureth her head: for it is all one as if she were made bald. {6} For if a woman be not covered, let her be polled. But if it be a foul thing for a woman to be polled or made bald, let her cover her head. {7} The man truly ought not to cover his head, because he is the image and glory of God; but the woman is the glory of the man. {8} For the man is not of the woman, but the woman of the man. {9} For the man was not created for the woman, but the woman for the man. {10} (Therefore ought the woman to have power upon her head for the Angels.) {11} But yet neither the man without the woman; nor the woman without the man, in our Lord. {12} For as the woman is of the man, so also the man by the woman: but all things of God. {13} Your selves judge: doth it become a woman not covered to pray unto God? {14} Neither doth nature itself teach you, that a man indeed if he nourish his hair, it is an ignominy for him: {15} but if a woman nourish her hair, it is a glory for her, because hair is given her for a veil? {16} But if any man seem to be contentious, we have no such custom, nor the CHURCH of God. {17} And this I command: not praising it, that you come together not to better, but to worse. {18} First indeed when you come together into the Church, I hear that there are schisms among you, and in part I believe it. {19} For there must be heresies also: that they also which are approved, may be made manifest among you. {20} When you come therefore together in one, is it not now to eat our Lord's supper. {21} For every one taketh his own supper before to eat. And one certes is an hungered, and another is drunk. {22} Why, have you not houses to eat and drink in? or contemn ye the Church of God: and confound them that have not? What shall I say to you? praise I you in this? I do not praise you. {23} For I received of our Lord that which also I have delivered unto you, that our Lord JESUS in the night that he was betrayed, took bread: {24} and giving thanks brake, and said: Take ye & eat. THIS IS MY BODY WHICH SHALL BE DELIVERED FOR YOU. This do ye for the commemoration of me. {25} In like manner also the chalice after he had supped, saying: THIS CHALICE IS THE NEW TESTAMENT IN MY BLOOD. This do ye, as often as you shall drink, for the commemoration of me. {26} For as often as you shall eat this bread, and drink the chalice, you shall shew the death of our Lord, until he come. {27} Therefore whosoever shall eat this bread, or drink the chalice of our Lord unworthily, he shall be guilty of the body and of the blood of our Lord. {28} But let a man prove himself: and so, let him eat of that bread, and drink of the chalice. {29} For he that eateth and drinketh unworthily, eateth and drinketh judgement to himself, not discerning the body of our Lord. {30} Therefore are there among you many weak and feeble, and many sleep. {31} But if we did judge our selves, we should not be judged. {32} But whiles we are judged, of our Lord we are chastised; that with this world we be not damned. {33} Therefore, my brethren, when you come together to eat, expect one another.

{34} If any man be an hungered, let him eat at home; that you come not together unto judgement. And the rest I will dispose, when I come.

Chapter 12

They must not make their diversity of Gifts an occasion of Schism, considering that all are of one Holy Ghost, and for the profit of the one body of Christ which is the Church: 12. Which also could not be a body, without such variety of members. 12. Therefore neither they that have the inferiour gifts, must be discontent, seeing it is God's distribution: nor they that have the greater, contemn the other, considering they are no less necessary: 25. but all in all join together, 28. and every one know his own place.

{1} AND concerning spiritual things, I will not have you ignorant, brethren. that when you were heathen, you went to {2} You know dumb idols according as you were led. {3} Therefore I do you to understand that no man speaking in the Spirit of God, saith anathema to JESUS. And no man can say, Our Lord JESUS, but in the Holy Ghost. {4} And there are divisions of graces, but one Spirit. {5} And there are divisions of ministrations; but one Lord. {6} And there are divisions of operations, but one God, which worketh all in all. {7} And the manifestation of the Spirit is given unto every one to profit. {8} To one certes by the Spirit is given the word of wisdom: and to another, the word of knowledge according to the same Spirit: {9} to another, faith in the same Spirit: to another, the grace of doing cures in one Spirit: {10} to another, the working of miracles: to another, prophecy: to another, discerning of spirits: to another, kinds of tongues: to another, interpretation of languages. {11} And all these things worketh one and the same Spirit, dividing to every one according as he will. {12} For as the body is one, and hath many members, and all the members of the body whereas they be many, yet are one body; so also Christ. {13} For in one Spirit were we all baptized into one, whether Jews, or Gentiles, or bondmen, or free: & in one Spirit we were all made to drink. {14} For the body also is not one member, but many. {15} If the foot should say, because I am not the hand, I am not of the body: is it therefore not of the body? {16} And if the ear should say, because I am not the eye, I am not of the body: is he therefore not of the body? {17} If the whole body were the eye: where is the hearing? If the whole were the hearing: where is the smelling? {18} But now God hath set the members, every one of them in the body as he would. {19} And if all were one member, where were the body? {20} But now there are many members indeed, yet one body. {21} And the eye can not say to the hand: I need not thy help; or again the head to the feet: You are not necessary for me. {22} But much more those that seem to be the more weak members of the body, are more necessary: {23} and such as we think to be the baser members of the body, upon them we put more abundant honour: and those that are our un honest parts, have more abundant honesty. {24} And our honest parts need nothing: but God hath tempered the body, giving to it that wanted, the more abundant honour, {25} that there might be no schism in the body, but the members together might be careful one for another. {26} And if one member suffer any thing, all the members suffer with it. Or if one member do glory, all the members rejoice with it. {27} And you are the body of Christ, and members of member. {28} And some verily God hath set in the Church first Apostles, secondly Prophets, thirdly Doctors, next miracles, then the graces of doing cures, helps, governments, kinds of tongues. {29} Are all Apostles? are all Prophets? are all Doctors? {30} are all miracles? have all the grace of doing cures? do all speak with tongues? do all interpret? {31} But pursue the better gifts. And yet I shew you a more excellent way.

Chapter 13

That above all other Gifts they should seek after Charity: as that without which nothing profiteth, 4. and which doth all as is to be done, and remaineth also in Heaven.

{1} IF I speak with the tongues of men, and of Angels, and have not charity, I am become as sounding brass, or a tinkling cymbal. {2} And if I should have prophecy, and knew all mysteries, and all knowledge, & if I should have all faith so that I could remove mountains, and have not charity, I am nothing. {3} And if I should distribute all my goods to be meat for the poor, and if I should deliver my body so that I burn, and have not charity, it doth profit me nothing. {4} Charity is patient, is benign: Charity envieth not, dealeth not perversely: is not puffed up, {5} is not ambitious, seeketh not her own, is not provoked to anger, thinketh not evil, {6} rejoiceth not upon iniquity, but rejoiceth with the truth: {7} suffereth all things, believeth all things, hopeth all things, beareth all things. {8} Charity never falleth away: whether prophecies shall be made void, or tongues shall cease, or knowledge shall be destroyed. {9} For in part we know, & in part we prophesy. {10} But when that shall come that is perfect, that shall be made void that is in part. {11} When I was a little one, I spake as a little one, I understood as a little one, I thought as a little one. But when I was made a man, I did away the things that belonged to a little one. {12} We see now by a glass in a dark sort: but then face to face. Now I know in part: but then I shall know as also I am known. {13} And now there remain, faith, hope, charity, these three: but the greater of these is charity.

Chapter 14

Against their vain childishness, that thought it a goodly matter to be able to speak (by miracle) strange languages in the Church, preferring their languages before prophesying, that is opening of mysteries: he declareth that this gift of languages is inferiour to the gift of prophecy. 26. Giving order also how both gifts are to be used: to wit, the Prophet to submit himself to other Prophets: & the Speaker of languages not to publish his inspiration, unless there be an Interpreter. 34. Provided always, that women speak not at all in the Church.

{1} FOLLOW Charity, earnestly pursue spiritual things: but rather that you may prophesy. {2} For he that speaketh with tongues speaketh not to men, but to God: for no man heareth. But in spirit he speaketh mysteries. {3} For he that prophesieth, speaketh to men unto edification, & exhortation, & consolation. {4} He that speaketh with tongues, edifieth himself; but he that prophesieth, edifieth the Church. {5} And I would have you all to speak with tongues, but rather to prophesy. For greater is he that prophesieth, than he that speaketh with tongues: unless perhaps he interpret, that the Church may take edification. {6} But now, brethren; if I come to you speaking with tongues, what shall I profit you, unless I speak to you either in revelation, or in knowledge, or in prophecy, or in doctrine? {7} Yet the things without life that give a sound, be it pipe or harp, unless they give a distinction of sounds, how shall that be known which is piped, or which is harped? {8} For if the trumpet give an uncertain voice, who shall prepare himself to battle? {9} So you also by a tongue unless you utter manifest speech, how shall that be known that is said? for you shall be speaking into the air. {10} There are (for example) so many kinds of tongues in this world, & none is without voice. {11} If then I know not the virtue of the voice, I shall be to him to whom I speak, barbarous; and he that speaketh barbarous to me. {12} So you also, because you be emulators of spirits: seek to abound unto the edifying of the Church. {13} And therefore he that speaketh with the tongue, let him pray that he may interpret. {14} For if I pray with the tongue, my spirit prayeth, but my understanding is without fruit. {15} What is it then? I will pray in the spirit, I will pray also in the understanding: I will sing in the spirit, I will sing also in the understanding. {16} But if thou bless in the spirit, he that supplieth the place of the vulgar how shall he say, Amen, upon thy blessing? because he knoweth not what thou sayest. {17} For thou indeed givest thanks well, but the other is not edified. {18} I give my God thanks, that I speak with the tongue of you all. {19} But in the Church I will speak five words with my understanding that I may instruct others also; rather than ten thousand words in a tongue. {20} Brethren, be not made children in sense, but in malice be children, and in sense be perfect. {21} In the Law it is written:

That in other tongues and other lips I will speak to this people: and neither so will they hear me, saith our Lord. {22} Therefore languages are for a sign not to the faithful, but to infidels: but prophecies, not to infidels, but to the faithful. {23} If therefore the whole Church come together in one, and all speak with tongues, and there enter in vulgar persons or infidels, will they not say that you be mad? {24} But if all prophesy, and there enter in any infidel or vulgar person, he is convinced of all, he is judged of all. {25} the secrets of his heart are made manifest, and so falling on his face he will adore God, pronouncing that God is in you indeed. {26} What is it then, brethren? when you come together, every one of you hath a psalm, hath a doctrine, hath a revelation, hath a tongue, hath an interpretation: let all things be done to edification. {27} Whether a man speak with tongue, by two, or at the most by three, and in course, and let one interpret. {28} But if there be not an interpreter, let him hold his peace in the Church, and speak to himself and to God. {29} And let Prophets speak two or three, and let the rest judge. {30} But if it be revealed to another sitting, let the first hold his peace. {31} For you may all prophesy one by one: that all may learn, and all may be exhorted: {32} and the spirits of prophets are subject to prophets. {33} For God is not the God of dissension, but of peace: as also in all the Churches of the saints I teach. {34} Let women hold their peace in the Churches: for it is not permitted them to speak, but to be subject, as also the Law saith. {35} But if they list learn any thing, let them ask their own husbands at home. For it is a foul thing for a woman to speak in the Church. {36} Or did the word of God proceed from you? came it unto you only? {37} If any man seem to be a Prophet, or spiritual, let him know the things that I write to you, that they are the commandments of our Lord. {38} But if any man know not, he shall not be known. {39} Therefore, brethren, be earnest to prophesy: and to speak with tongues prohibit not. {40} But let all things be done honestly and according to order among you.

Chapter 15

He prooveth the resurrection of the dead by the resurrection of Christ, and with many other arguments: and 31. awereth also objections made against it. 49. And then exhorteth in respect of it, unto good life.

{1} AND I do you to understand, brethren, the Gospel which I preached to you, which also you received, in the which also you stand, {2} by the which also you are saved, after what manner I preached unto you if you keep it, unless you have believed in vain. {3} For I delivered unto you first of all which I also received: that Christ died for our sins according to the Scriptures: {4} and that he was buried, and that he rose again the third day, according to the Scriptures: {5} and that he was seen of Cephas; and after that of the eleven. {6} Then was he seen of more than five hundred brethren together: of which many remain until this present, and some are a-sleep. {7} Moreover he was seen of James, then of all the Apostles. {8} And last of all, as it were of an abortive he was seen also of me. {9} For I am the least of the Apostles, who am not worthy to be called an Apostle, because I persecuted the Church of God. {10} But by the grace of God I am that which I am; & his grace in me hath not been void, but I have laboured more abundantly than all they: yet not I, but the grace of God with me. {11} For whether I, or they, so we preach, and so you have believed. {12} But if Christ be preached that he is risen again from the dead, how do certain among you say, that there is no resurrection of the dead? {13} And if there be no resurrection of the dead, neither is Christ risen again. {14} And if Christ be not risen again, then vain is our preaching, vain also is your faith. {15} And we are found also false witnesses of God: because we have given testimony against God, that he hath raised up Christ, whom he hath not raised up, if the dead rise not again. {16} For if the dead rise not again, neither is Christ risen again. {17} And if Christ be not risen again, vain is your faith, for yet you are in your sins. {18} Then they also that are a-sleep in Christ, are perished. {19} If in this life only we be hoping in Christ, we are more miserable than all men. {20} But now Christ is risen again from the dead, the first fruits of them that sleep: {21} by a man death; and by a man the resurrection of the dead. {22} And as in Adam all die, so also in Christ all shall be made alive. {23} But every one in his own order: the first fruits Christ, then they that are of Christ, that believed in his coming. {24} Then the end, when he shall have delivered the Kingdom to God and the Father, when he shall have abolished all principality & authority & power. {25} And he must reign, Until he put all his enemies under his feet. {26} And the enemy death shall be destroyed last. For he hath subdued all things under his feet. And whereas he saith, {27} All things are subdued to him; undoubtedly, except him that subdued all things unto him. {28} And when all things shall be subdued to him; then the Son also himself shall be subject to him that subdued all things unto him, that God may be all in all. {29} Otherwise what shall they do that are baptized for the dead, if the dead rise not again at all? {30} Why also are they baptized for them? Why also are we in danger every hour? {31} I die daily by your glory, brethren, which I have in Christ JESUS our Lord. {32} If (according to man) I fought with beasts at Ephesus, what doth it profit me, if the dead rise not again? Let us eat and drink, for to morrow we shall die. {33} Be not seduced, Evil communications corrupt good manners. {34} Awake ye just, and sin not. For some have not the knowledge of God, I speak to your shame. {35} But some man saith: How do the dead rise again? and with what manner of body shall they come? {36} Fool, that which thou sowest is not quickened, unless it die first. {37} And that which thou sowest, not the body that shall be, doest thou sow; but bare grain, to wit, of wheat, or of some of the rest. {38} And God giveth it a body as he will: & to every seed his proper body. {39} Not all flesh, is the same flesh: but one of men, another of beasts, another of birds, another of fishes. {40} And bodies celestial, & bodies terrestrial: but, one glory of the celestial, and another of the terrestrial. {41} One glory of the sun, another glory of the moon, and another glory of the stars. For star differeth from star in glory: {42} so also the resurrection of the dead. It is sown in corruption, it shall rise in incorruption. {43} It is sown in dishonour, it shall rise in glory. It is sown in infirmity, it shall rise in power. {44} It is sown a natural body; it shall rise a spiritual body. If there be a natural body, there is also a spiritual, {45} as it is written: The first man Adam was made into a living soul: the last Adam into a quickening spirit. {46} Yet that is not first which is spiritual, but that which is natural: afterward that which is spiritual. {47} The first man of earth, earthly: the second man from Heaven, heavenly. {48} Such as is the earthly, such also are the earthly: and such as the heavenly, such also are the heavenly. {49} Therefore as we have borne the image of the earthly, let us bear also the image of the heavenly. {50} This I say, brethren, that flesh and blood can not possess the Kingdom of God: neither shall corruption possess incorruption. {51} Behold I tell you a mystery. We shall all indeed rise again: but we shall not all be changed. {52} In a moment, in the twinkling of an eye, at the last trumpet (for the trumpet shall sound) and the dead shall rise again incorruptible: and we shall be changed. {53} For this corruptible must do on incorruption; & this mortal do on immortality. {54} And when this mortal hath done on immortality, then shall come to pass the saying that is written: Death is swallowed up in victory. {55} Death where is thy victory? Death where is thy sting? {56} And the sting of death, is sin: and the power of sin is the Law. {57} But thanks be to God that hath given us the victory by our Lord JESUS Christ. {58} Therefore, my beloved brethren, be stable and unmoveable; abounding in the work of our Lord always, knowing that your labour is not vain in our Lord:{1227}

He prescribeth an order for their contributing to the Christians at Hierusalem, 3. promising to come unto them. 10. Of Timothee, and of Apollo's coming thither. 13. And so with exhortation, and diverse commendations, he endeth.

{1} AND concerning the collections that are made for the Saints, as I have ordained to the Churches of Galatia, so do ye also. {2} In the first of the Sabbath let every one of you put a part with himself, laying up what shall well like him: that not when I come, then collections be made. {3} And when I shall be present; whom you shall approve by letters, them will I send to carry your grace into Jerusalem. {4} And if it be worthy that I also go, they shall go with me. {5} And I will come to you, when I shall have passed through Macedonia. For I will pass through Macedonia. {6} And with you perhaps I will abide, or will winter also: that you may bring me on my way whithersoever I go. {7} For I will not now see you by the way, for I hope that I shall abide with you some little time, if our Lord will permit. {8} But I will tarry at Ephesus until Pentecost. {9} For a great door and evident is opened unto me: and many adversaries. {10} And if Timothee come, see that he be without fear with you, for he worketh the work of our Lord, as also I. {11} Let no man therefore despise him, but conduct ye him in peace: that he may come to me. For I expect him with the brethren. {12} And of brother Apollo I do you to understand, that I much entreated him to come unto you with the brethren: and at all it was not his mind to come now. But he will come when he shall have leisure. {13} Watch ye, stand in the faith, do manfully, & be strengthened. {14} Let all your things be done in charity. {15} And I beseech you, brethren, you know the house of Stephanas, and of Fortunatus, that they are the first fruits of Achaia, & have ordained themselves to the ministry of the saints: {16} that you also be subject to such, and to every one that helpeth & laboureth with us. {17} And I rejoice in the presence of Stephanas and Fortunatus and Achaicus, because that which you wanted, they have supplied. {18} For they have refreshed both my spirit and yours. Know them therefore that are such. {19} The Churches of Asia salute you. Aquila and Priscilla with their domestical Church salute you much in our Lord. {20} All the brethren salute you. Salute one another in a holy kiss. {21} The salutation with mine own hand, Paul's. {22} If any man love not our Lord JESUS Christ, be he anathema. Maran atha. {23} The grace of our Lord JESUS Christ be with you. {24} My charity be with you all in Christ JESUS. Amen.

THE SECOND EPISTLE OF S. PAUL TO THE CORINTHIANS

Chapter 1

By his troubles in Asia he comforteth them: and (against his adversaries the false Apostles of the Jews) allegeth to them the testimony of his own and also of their conscience, 17. answering them that objected lightness against him, for not coming to Corinth according to his promise.

{1} PAUL an Apostle of JESUS Christ by the will of God, and Timothee our brother: to the Church of God that is at Corinth, with all the saints that are in all Achaia. {2} Grace unto you and peace from God our Father, & from our Lord JESUS Christ. {3} Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord JESUS Christ, the Father of mercies and God of all comfort, {4} who comforteth us in all our tribulation; that we also may be able to comfort them that are in all distress, by the exhortation wherewith we also are exhorted of God. {5} For as the passions of Christ abound in us: so also by Christ doth our comfort abound. {6} And whether we be in tribulation, for your exhortation & salvation: whether we be exhorted, for your exhortation & salvation, which worketh the toleration of the same passions which we also do suffer: {7} and our hope is firm for you: knowing that as you are partakers of the passions, so shall you be of the consolation also. {8} For we will not have you ignorant, brethren, concerning our tribulation, which happened in Asia, that we were pressed above measure above our power, so that it was tedious unto us even to live. {9} But we in our selves, had the answer of death, that we be not trusting in our selves, but in God who raiseth up the dead, {10} who hath delivered and doth deliver us out of so great dangers: in whom we hope that he will yet also deliver us, {11} you helping withhold in prayer for us, that by many men's persons, thanks for that gift which is in us, may be given by many in our behalf. {12} For our glory is this, the testimony of our conscience, that in simplicity and sincerity of God, and not in carnal wisdom, but in the grace of God we have conversed in this world: and more abundantly towards you. {13} For we write no other things to you than that you have read and know. And I hope that you shall know unto the end: {14} as also you have known us in part, that we are your glory, as you also ours in the day of our Lord JESUS Christ. {15} And in this confidence I would first have come to you, that you might have a second grace: {16} and by you pass into Macedonia, and again from Macedonia come to you, and of you be brought on my way into Jewry. {17} Whereas then I was thus minded, did I use lightness? Or the things that I mind, do I mind according to the flesh, that there be with me, It is and It is not? {18} But God is faithful, because our preaching which was to you, there is not in it, It is, and, it is not. {19} For the Son of God JESUS Christ, who by us was preached among you, by me and Sylvanus and Timothee, was not, It is, and, It is not, but, It is, was in him. {20} For all the promises of God that are, in him It is: therefore also by him, Amen to God, unto our glory. {21} And he that confirmeth us with you in Christ, and that hath anointed us, God: {22} who also hath sealed us, and given the pledge of the Spirit in our hearts. {23} And I call God to witness upon my soul, that sparing you, I came not any more to Corinth, not because we over-rule your faith: but, we are helpers of your joy. For in the faith you stand.

Chapter 2

Prosecuting the true cause which in the last

Chapter he gave of his not coming, 6. he pardoneth now after some part of penance, him that for incest he excommunicated in the last epistle, requiring them obediently to consent therunto. 12. Then of his going from Troas in to Macedonia; God every where giving him the triumph.

{1} AND I have determined with my-self this same thing, not to come to you again in sorrow. {2} For if I make you sorry; & who is it that can make me glad, but he that is made sorry by me? {3} And this same I wrote to you; that I may not, when I come, have sorrow upon sorrow, of the which I ought to rejoice: trusting in you all, that my joy is the joy of you all. {4} For of much tribulation and anguish of heart I wrote to you by many tears: not that you should be made sorry; but that you may know what charity I have more abundantly toward you. {5} And if any man hath made sorrowful, not me he hath made sorrowful, but in part, that I burden not all you. {6} To him that is such a one, this rebuke sufficeth that is given of many: {7} so that contrarywise you should rather pardon and comfort him, lest perhaps such an one be swallowed up with over great sorrow. {8} For the which cause I beseech you that you confirm charity toward him. {9} For therefore also have I written that I may know the experiment of you, whether in all things you be obedient. {10} And whom you have pardoned any thing, I also. For, my self also that which I pardoned, if I pardoned any thing, for you in the person of Christ, {11} that we be not circumvented of Satan. For we are not ignorant of his cogitations. {12} And when I was come to Troas for the Gospel of Christ, and a door was opened unto me in our Lord, {13} I had no rest in my spirit, for that I found not Titus my brother, but bidding them fare well, I went forth into Macedonia. {14} And thanks be to God, who always triumpheth us in Christ JESUS, and manifesteth the odour of his knowledge by us in every place. {15} For we are the good odour of Christ unto God in them that are saved, & in them that perish. {16} To some indeed the odour of death unto death: but to others the odour of life unto life. And to these things who is so sufficient? {17} For we are not as very many, adulterating the word of God, but of sincerity, and as of God, before God, in Christ we speak.

Chapter 3

Lest the Judaical false Apostles should object again that he praiseth himself, he saith that the Corinthians are his commendation: and they in their hearts being justified by his ministry, he thereof inferreth that the Ministers of the new Testament are far more glorious than they of the old, 12. and our people more lightened than theirs.

{1} BEGIN we again to commend our-selves? or do we need (as certain) epistles of commendation to you, of from you? {2} Our epistle you are, written in our hearts, which is known & read of all men: {3} being manifested that you are the epistle of Christ, ministered by us, & written not with ink, but with the Spirit of the living God: not in tables of stone, but in the tables carnal of the heart. {4} And such confidence we have by Christ to God: {5} not that we be sufficient to think any thing of our-selves, as of our-selves: but our sufficiency is of God. {6} Who also hath made us meet ministers of the new testament: not in the letter, but in the Spirit. For the letter killeth: but the Spirit quickeneth. {7} And if the ministration of death with letters figured in stones, was in glory, so that the children of Israel could not behold the face of Moyses for the glory of his countenance, that is made void; {8} how shall not the ministration of the Spirit be more in glory? {9} For if the ministration of damnation be in glory, much more the ministry of justice abounding in glory. {10} For neither was it glorified, which in this part was glorious, by reason of the excelling glory. {11} For if that which is made void, is by glory: much more that which abideth, is in glory. {12} Having therefore such hope, we use much confidence: {13} and not as Moyses put a veil upon his face, that the children of Israel might not behold his face, which is made void. {14} but their senses were dulled. For until this present day, the self-same veil in the lecture of the old testament remaineth unrevealed (because in Christ it is made void) {15} but until this present day, when Moyses is read, a veil is put upon their heart. {16} But when he shall be converted to our Lord, the veil shall be taken away. {17} And our Lord is a Spirit. And where the Spirit of our Lord is, there is liberty. {18} But we all, beholding the glory of our Lord with face revealed, are transformed into the same image from glory unto glory, as of our Lord's Spirit.

Chapter 4

That according as so glorious a ministry requireth, he liveth and preacheth sincerely, 7. the which glory his Adversaries can not count vain, considering his persecutions: because persecution is to God's glory, and to our humility and hope, and meritorious of increase of grace in this life, and of most glorious bodies and souls afterward.

{1} THEREFORE having this ministration; according as we have obtained mercy, we fail not, {2} but we renounce the secret things of dishonesty, not walking in craftiness, nor adulterating the word of God, but in manifestation of the truth commanding our-selves to every conscience of men before God. {3} And if our Gospel be also hid, in them that perish it is hid, {4} in whom the God of this world hath blinded the minds of the infidels, that the illumination of the Gospel of the glory of Christ, who is the image of God, might not shine to them. {5} For we preach not our-selves, but JESUS Christ our Lord: and us, your servants by JESUS: {6} because God that commanded light to shine of darkness, he hath shined in our hearts to the illumination of the knowledge of the glory of God, in the face of Christ JESUS. {7} But we have this treasure in earthen vessels, that the excellency may be of the power of God, and not of us. {8} In all things we suffer tribulation, but are not in distress: we want, but are not destitute: {9} we suffer persecution, but are not forsaken: we are cast down, but we perish not: {10} always bearing about in our body the mortification of JESUS, that the life also of JESUS may be manifested in our bodies. {11} For we that live, are always delivered unto death for JESUS: that the life also of JESUS may be manifested in our mortal flesh. {12} Death then worketh in us, but life in you. {13} And having the same spirit of faith, as it is written: I believed, for the which cause I have spoken, we also believe, for the which cause we speak also: {14} knowing that he which raised up JESUS, will raise up us also with JESUS and set us with you. {15} For all things are for you: that the grace abounding by many in giving of thanks, may abound unto the glory of God. {16} For which cause we fail not: but although that our man which is without, corrupt: yet that which is within, is renewed from day to day. {17} For that our tribulation which presently is momentary & light, worketh above measure exceedingly an eternal weight of glory in us, {18} we not considering the things that are seen, but that are not seen. For the things that be seen, are temporal: but those that be not seen, are eternal.

That after death of the body the soul may go to heaven: therefore, although naturally we abhor death, by grace he desireth it rather: 9. in consideration of Christ's just judgement, living as in the sight of God, yea and of their consciences: 12. Which he speaketh not to praise himself, but because of his Adversaries who did glory in carnal respects: but he and the other Apostles regard nothing but their reconciliation unto God by Christ, and to reconcile others also, as being his Legates for that purpose.

{1} FOR we know that if our earthly house of this habitation be dissolved, that we have a building of God, a house not made with hand, eternal in Heaven. {2} For in this also do we groan, desirous to be over-clothed with our habitation that is from Heaven: {3} yet so, if we be found clothed, not naked. {4} For we also that are in this tabernacle, groan being burdened: because we would not be spoiled, but over-clothed, that that which is mortal might be swallowed up of life. {5} And he that maketh us of this same, is God, who hath given us the pledge of the Spirit. {6} Being bold therefore always, and knowing that while we are in the body, we are pilgrims from God, {7} (for we walk by faith and not by sight) {8} but we are bold, and have a good will to be pilgrims rather from the body, & to be present with our Lord. {9} And therefore we endeavour, whether absent or present, to please him. {10} For we must all be manifested before the judgement seat of Christ, that every one may receive the proper things of the body, according as he hath done, either good or evil. {11} Knowing therefore the fear of our Lord we use persuasion to men: but to God we are manifest. And I hope also that in your consciences we are manifest. {12} We command not our selves again to you, but give you occasion to glory for us: that you may have against them that glory in face, and not in heart. {13} For whether we exceed in mind, to God: or whether we be sober, to you. {14} For the charity of Christ urgeth us; judging this, that if one died for all, then all were dead. {15} And Christ died for all: that they also which live, may not now live to themselves, but to him that died for them and rose again. {16} Therefore we from hence-forth know no man according to the flesh. And if we have known Christ according to the flesh: but now we know him no more. {17} If then any be in Christ a new creature: the old are passed, behold all things are made new. {18} But all of God, who hath reconciled us to himself by Christ: and hath given us the ministry of reconciliation. {19} For God indeed was in Christ reconciling the world to himself, not imputing to them their sins, and hath put in us the word of reconciliation. {20} For Christ therefore we are legates, God as it were exhorting by us. For Christ we beseech you, be reconciled to God. {21} Him that knew no sin, for us he made sin: that we might be made the justice of God in him.

Chapter 6

That he helpeth with his exhortations, and in all things behaveth himself as becometh a Minister of God. {11} Which he speaketh so openly, because his heart is open unto them: exhorting them to be likewise open-hearted towards him, 14. and to avoid those infidels.

{1} AND we helping do exhort, that you receive not the grace of God in vain. saith: In time accepted have I heard thee; {2} (For he and in the day of salvation have I holpen thee. Behold, now is the time acceptable: behold now the day of salvation.) {3} to no man giving any offence, that our ministry be not blamed: {4} but in all things let us exhibit our selves as the ministers of God, in much patience, in tribulations, in necessities, in distresses, {5} in stripes, in prisons, in seditions, in labours, in watchings, in fastings, {6} in chastity, in knowledge, in longanimity, in sweetness, in the Holy Ghost, in charity not feigned, {7} in the word of truth, in the virtue of God; by the armour of justice on the right hand, and on the left, {8} by honour and dishonour, by infamy and good fame: as seducers, and true: as they that are unknown, and known: {9} as dying, and behold we live: as chastened, & not killed: {10} as sorrowful, but always rejoicing: as needy, but enriching many: as having nothing, and possessing all things. {11} Our mouth is open to you, o Corinthians, our heart is dilated. {12} You are not straitened in us: but in your own bowels you are straitened. {13} But having the same reward (I speak as to my children) be you also dilated. {14} Bear not the yoke with infidels. For what participation hath justice with iniquity? or what society is there between light and darkness? {15} And what agreement with Christ and Belial? or what part hath the faithful with the infidel? {16} And what agreement hath the temple of God with idols? For you are the temple of the living God: as God saith, That I will dwell, and walk in them, and will be their God; and they shall be my people. {17} For the which cause, Go out of the midst of them, and separate your selves, saith our Lord, and touch not the unclean: and I will receive you. {18} and I will be a father to you: and you shall be my sons & daughters, saith our Lord omnipotent.

Chapter 7

He proceedeth to exhort them to purity, and to receive him into their charity. 3. Which lest they should think he speaketh to accuse them, he commendeth them highly, both for their behaviour toward Titus, and for their penance which they had done upon his other epistle.

{1} HAVING therefore these promises, my dearest, let us cleanse our selves from all inquisition of the flesh and spirit, perfiting sanctification in the fear of God. {2} Receive us. We have hurt no man, we have corrupted no man, we have circumvented no man. {3} I speak not to your condemnation. For I said before that you are in our hearts to die together and to live together. {4} Much is my confidence with you, much is my glorying for you. I am replenished with consolation; I do exceedingly abound in joy in all our tribulation. {5} For also when we were come into Macedonia, our flesh had no rest, but we suffered all tribulation: without, combats; within, fears. {6} But God that comforteth the humble, did comfort us, in the coming of Titus. {7} And not only in his coming, but also in the consolation, wherewith he was comforted among you, reporting to us your desire, your weeping, your emulation for me, so that I rejoiced the more. {8} For although I made you sorry in an epistle, it repented me not: albeit it repented me, seeing that the same epistle (although but for a time) did make you sorry. {9} Now I am glad: not because you were made sorry, but because you were made sorry to penance. For you were made sorry according to God, that in nothing you should suffer detriment by us. {10} For the sorrow that is according to God, worketh penance unto salvation that is stable: but the sorrow of the world worketh death. {11} For behold this very thing, that you were made sorry according to God, how great carefulness it worketh in you: yea defense, yea indignation, yea fear, yea desire, yea emulation, yea revenge, in all things you have shewed your selves to be undefiled in the matter. {12} Therefore although I wrote to you, not for him that did the injury, nor for him that suffered: but to manifest our carefulness that we have for you before God, {13} therefore we are comforted. But in our consolation, we did the more abundantly rejoice upon the joy of Titus, because his spirit was refreshed of all you. {14} And if to him I gloried any thing of you, I am not confounded: but as we spake all things to you in truth, so also our glorying that was to Titus, is made a truth. {15} And his bowels are more abundantly toward you: remembering the obedience of you all, how with fear and trembling you received him. {16} I rejoice that in all things I have confidence in you.

By the example of the poor Macedonians he exhorted them to contribute largely unto the Church of Hierusalem, 7., & by praising of them, 9. and by the example of Christ, 14. and by their own spiritual profit in being partakers of that Church's merits, 16. and by commanding the Collectors that he sendeth.

{1} AND we do you to understand, brethren, the grace of God, that is given in the Churches of Macedonia, {2} that in much experience of tribulation they had abundance of joy, & their very deep poverty abounded unto the riches of their simplicity, {3} for according to their power (I give them testimony) and above their power they were willing, {4} with much exhortation requesting us the grace and communication of the ministry that is done toward the saints. {5} And not as we hoped, but their own selves they gave, first to our Lord, then to us by the will of God: {6} in so much that we desired Titus, that as he began, so also he would perfite in you this grace also. {7} But as in all things you abound in faith, and word, & knowledge, & all carefulness, moreover also in your charity toward us, that in this grace also you may abound. {8} I speak not as commanding: but by the carefulness of others, approving also the good disposition of your charity. {9} For you know the grace of our Lord JESUS Christ, that for you he was made poor, whereas he was rich; that by his poverty you might be rich. {10} And in this point I give counsel: for this is profitable for you, which have begun not only to do, but also to be willing, from the year past: {11} But now perform ye it also in deed: that as your mind is prompt to be willing, so it may be also to perform, of that which you have. {12} For if the will be prompt, it is accepted according to that which it hath, not according to that which it hath not. {13} For not that other should have ease, and you tribulation: but by an equality. {14} Let in this present time your abundance supply their want: that their abundance also may supply your want, that there be an equality {15} as it is written: He that had much, abounded not: and he that had little, wanted not. {16} And thanks be to God, that hath given the self-same carefulness for you in the heart of Titus, {17} for that he admitted indeed exhortation: but being more careful, of his own will he went unto you. {18} We have sent also with him the brother, whose praise is in the Gospel through all the churches: {19} & not only that, but also he was ordained of the churches fellow, of our peregrination, for this grace which is ministered of us to the glory of our Lord, and our determined will: {20} avoiding this, lest any man might reprehend us in this fullness that is ministered of us. {21} For we provide good things not only before God, but also before men. {22} And we have sent with them our brother also, whom we have proved in many things often to be careful: but now much more careful, for the great confidence in you, {23} either for Titus which is my fellow and coadjutor toward you, or our brethren Apostles of the Churches, the glory of Christ. {24} The declaration therefore which is of your charity and our glorying for you, declare ye toward them in the face of the churches.

Chapter 9

He proceedeth exhorting them to the foresaid contribution, 3. to verify his commanding of them. 6. and to do it liberally, that so they may merit the more, and God be the more praised.

{1} FOR concerning the ministry that is done toward the saints, it is superfluous for me to write unto you. {2} For I know your prompt mind: for the which I glory of you to the Macedonians: That Achaia also is ready from the year past, and your emulation hath provoked very many. {3} But I have sent the brethren, that the thing which we glory of you, be not made void in this behalf, that (as I have said) you may be ready: {4} lest when the Macedonians shall come with me, and find you unready, we (that we say not, ye) may be ashamed in this substance. {5} Therefore I thought it necessary to desire the brethren that they would come to you, and prepare this blessing before promised, to be ready so, as a blessing, not as avarice. {6} And this I say, he that soweth sparingly, sparingly also shall reap; and he that soweth in blessings, of blessings also shall reap. {7} Every one as he hath determined in his heart, not of sadness or of necessity. For God loveth a cheerful giver. {8} And God is able to make all grace abound in you: that in all things always having all sufficiency, you may abound unto all good works, {9} as it is written: He distributed, he gave to the poor: his justice remaineth for ever. {10} And he that ministereth seed to the sower, will give bread also for to eat: and will multiply your seed and will augment the increases of the fruits of your justice: {11} that being enriched in all things, you may abound unto all simplicity, which worketh by us thanks-giving to God. {12} Because the ministry of this office doth not only supply those things that the Saints want, but abounding also by many thanks-givings in our Lord, {13} by the proof of this ministry, glorifying God in the obedience of your confession unto the Gospel of Christ, and in the simplicity of communicating unto them, and unto all, {14} and in their praying for you, being desirous of you because of the excellent grace of God in you. {15} Thanks be to God for his unspeakable gift.

Against the false Apostles granting the infirmity of his person, he doth notwithstanding set out the power of his Apostleship. 12. reprehending them also for challenging to themselves the praise of other men's labours.

{1} AND I mildness and modesty of Christ, who in presence indeed am humble among you, , Paul my self beseech you by the but absent am bold on you. {2} But I beseech you, that being present I need not be bold by that confidence wherewith I am thought to be bold against some: which think us as though we walk according to the flesh. {3} For walking in the flesh, we war not according to the flesh. {4} For the weapons of our warfare are not carnal: but mighty to God unto the destruction of munitions, destroying counsels, {5} and all loftiness extolling itself against the knowledge of God, and bringing into captivity all understanding unto the obedience of Christ, {6} and having in a readiness to revenge all disobedience, when your obedience shall be fulfilled. {7} See the things that are according to appearance. If any man have affiance in himself, that he is Christ's: let him think this again with himself, that as he is Christ's, so we also. {8} For and if I should glory some-what more of our power, which our Lord hath given us unto edification and not to your destruction; I shall not be ashamed. {9} But that I may not be thought as it were to terrify you by epistles {10} (for his epistles indeed, say they, are sore and vehement; but his bodily presence weak, & his speech contemptible) {11} let him this think that is such a one, that such as we are in word by epistles, absent: such also we are in deed, present. {12} For we dare not match or compare our selves with certain, that command themselves: but we measure our selves in our selves, & compare our selves to our selves. {13} But we will not glory above our measure: but according to the measure of the rule; which God hath measured to us, a measure to reach even unto you. {14} For not, as though we reached not unto you, do we extend ourselves beyond. For we are come as far as to you in the Gospel of Christ. {15} not glorying above measure in other men's labours: but having hope of your faith increasing, to be magnified in you according to our rule abundantly, {16} yea unto those places that are beyond you, to evangelize, not in an other man's rule, to glory in those things that are prepared before. {17} But he that glorieth, let him glory in our Lord. {18} For not he that commendeth himself, the same is approved; but whom God commendeth.

Chapter 11

He reasoneth the matter with the Corinthians, why they should preserve the false Apostles before him. And because they give them leave to brag and command themselves and to abuse them so miserably, he trusteth they will also give him the hearing: 21. and so he beginneth, and first shewing himself in all Judaical respects (wherein only stood all their boasting) to be as they are, he addeth afterward such a long roll of his suffering for Christ, as is incomparable.

{1} WOULD God you could bear some little of my folly: but do ye also support me: {2} for I emulate you with the emulation of God. For I have despoused you to one man, to present you a chaste virgin unto Christ. {3} But I fear lest, as the serpent seduced Eve by his subtlety, so your senses may be corrupted, & fall from the simplicity that is in Christ. {4} For if he that cometh,{1235} preach another Christ whom we have not preached, or you receive another spirit whom you have not received; or another Gospel which you have not received: you might well suffer it. {5} For I suppose that I have done nothing less than the great Apostles. {6} For although rude in speech, yet not in knowledge. But in all things we are made manifest to you. {7} Or did I commit a sin, humbling my self, that you might be exalted? because I evangelized unto you the Gospel of God gratis? {8} Other churches I spoiled, taking a stipend, for your ministry. {9} And when I was with you, and had need, I was burdensome to none: for that which I wanted, the brethren supplied that came from Macedonia: and in all things I have kept my self without burden to you, and will keep. {10} The truth of Christ is in me, that this glorying shall not be infringed toward me in the countries of Achaia. {11} Wherefore? because I love you not? God doth know. {12} But that which I do, I will also do, that I may cut away the occasion of them that desire occasion: that, in that which they glory, they may be found even like us. {13} For such false apostles are crafty workers, transfiguring themselves into Apostles of Christ. {14} And no marvel: for Satan himself transfigureth himself into an Angel of light. {15} It is no great matter therefore if his ministers be transfigured as the ministers of justice: whose end shall be according to their works. {16} Again I say, (let no man think me to be foolish: otherwise take me as foolish, that I also may glory a little,) {17} that which I speak, I speak not according to God, but as it were in foolishness, in this substance of glorying. {18} Because many glory according to the flesh, I also will glory. {19} For you do gladly suffer the foolish: whereas your selves are wise. {20} For you suffer if a man bring you into servitude, if a man devour, if a man take, if a man be extolled, if a man strike you on the face. {21} I speak according to dishonour, as though we had been weak in this part. Wherein any man dare (I speak foolishly) I dare also. {22} They are Hebrews: and I. They are Israelites: and I. They are the seed of Abraham; and I. {23} They are the ministers of Christ; and I. (I speak as one scarce wise) more I: in many more labours, in prisons more abundantly, in stripes above measure, in deaths often. {24} Of the Jews five times, did I receive forty, saving one. {25} Thrice was I beaten with rods, once I was stoned, thrice I suffered shipwreck; night and day have I been in the depth of the sea, {26} in journeying often, perils of waters, perils of thieves, perils of my Nation, perils of Gentiles, perils in the city, perils in the wilderness, perils in the sea, perils among false brethren, {27} in labour and misery, in much watchings, in hunger and thirst, in fastings often, in cold and nakedness, {28} beside those things which are outwardly: my daily instance, the carefulness of all churches. {29} Who is weak, and I am not weak? Who is scandalized, and I am not burnt? {30} If I must glory: I will glory of the things that concern my infirmity. {31} The God and Father of our Lord JESUS Christ, who is blessed for ever, knoweth that I lie not. {32} At Damascus the Governor of the nation under Aretas the king, kept the city of the Damascenes for to apprehend me: {33} and through a window in a basket was I let down by the wall, and so escaped his hands.

Chapter 12

He telleth of his incomparable visions, 5. but for humility liketh better to talk of his infirmities: 11. putting the fault in the Corinthians for that he is feign thus to rehearse his own commendations. 13. Where again he reasoneth the matter with them like a father, why they should prefer those false Apostles before him. 20. And feareth lest at his coming he shall be compelled to excommunicate many of them.

{1} IF I must glory (it is not expedient indeed) but I will come to the visions & revelations of our Lord. {2} I know a man in Christ above fourteen years ago (whether in the body, I know not, or out of the body, I know not: God doth know) such a one rapt even to the third Heaven. {3} And I know such a man (whether in the body, or out of the body, I know not; God doth know) {4} that he was rapt into Paradise; & heard secret words, which it is not lawful for a man to speak. {5} For such an one I will glory: but for my self I will glory nothing, saving in my infirmities. {6} For and if I will glory, I shall not be foolish: for I shall say truth. But I spare, lest any man should esteem me above that which he seeth in me, or heareth any thing of me. {7} And lest the greatness of the revelations might extol me, there was given me a prick of my flesh, an angel of Satan, to buffet me. {8} For the which thing thrice I besought our Lord, that it might depart from me. {9} And he said to me: My grace sufficeth thee, for power is perfited in infirmity. Gladly therefore will I glory in mine infirmity, that the power of Christ may dwell in me. {10} For the which cause I please my self in infirmities, in contumelies, in necessities, in persecutions, in distresses for Christ. For when I am weak, then am I mighty. {11} I am become foolish: you have compelled me. For I ought to have been commended of you: for I have been nothing less than they that are above measure Apostles: although I am nothing. {12} Yet the signs of my Apostleship have been done upon you in all patience, in signs & wonders & mighty deeds. {13} For what is there that you have had less than the other churches; but that I myself have not burdened you? Pardon me this injury. {14} Behold, now the third time I am ready to come to you; & I will not be burdensome unto you. For I seek not the things that are yours, but you. For neither ought the children lay up treasures for the parents, but the parents for the children. {15} But I most gladly will bestow, & will my self moreover be bestowed for your souls: although loving you more, I am loved less. {16} But be it so: I have not burdened you: but being crafty, I took you by guile. {17} Have I circumvented you by any of them whom I sent to you? {18} I requested Titus, and I sent with him a brother. Did Titus circumvent you? walked we not with one spirit? not in the self-same steps? {19} Of old think you that we excuse our selves to you? Before God, in Christ we speak: but all things (my dearest) for your edifying. {20} For I fear lest perhaps when I come, I find you not such as I would: and I be found of you, such an one as you would not. Lest perhaps contentions, emulations, stomachings, dissensions, detractions, whisperings, swellings, seditions be among you. {21} Lest again when I come, God humble me among you: & I mourn many of them that sinned before, & have not done penance for the uncleanness & fornication and incontinency that they have committed.

Chapter 13

He driveth into them the fear of excommunication: to the end that they doing penance beforehand, he may not be compelled to use his authority when he cometh, and as he hath threatened. 11. And so with a general exhortation he endeth.

{1} LO this the third time I come unto you: In the mouth of two or three witnesses shall every word stand. {2} I foretold and do foretell as present, and now absent, to them that sinned before, and all the rest, that if I come again, I will not spare. {3} Seek you an experiment of him that speaketh in me, Christ; who in you is not weak, but is mighty in you? {4} For although he was crucified of infirmity; yet he liveth by the power of God. For we also are weak in him: but we shall live with him by the power of God on you. {5} Try your own selves if you be in the faith, prove ye your selves. Know you not your selves that Christ JESUS is in you, unless perhaps you be reprobates. {6} But I hope you know that we are not reprobates. {7} And we pray God, that you do no evil, not that we may appear approved, but that you may do that which is good, and we be as reprobates. {8} For we can not any thing against the truth; but for the truth. {9} For we rejoice, for that we are weak, and you are mighty. This also we pray for, your consummation. {10} Therefore these things I write absent: that being present I may not deal hardly according to the power which our Lord hath given me unto edification and not unto destruction. {11} For the rest, brethren, rejoice, be perfect, take exhortation, be of one mind, have peace; and the God of peace & love shall be with you. {12} Salute one another in a holy kiss. All the saints salute you. {13} The grace of our Lord JESUS Christ, and the charity of God, and the communication of the Holy Ghost be with you all. Amen.

THE EPISTLE OF S. PAUL TO THE GALATIANS

Chapter 1

After the foundation laid in the salutation, {6} he exclaimeth against the Galatians, and their false apostles. {11} considering that the Gospel which he preached to them, he had it immediately of Christ him self. {13} which to shew he beginneth to tell the story of his conversion and preaching since then, that as he learned nothing of the other Apostles, so yet he had their approbation.

{1} PAUL an Apostle not of men, neither by man, but by JESUS Christ, and God the Father that raised him from the dead, {2} and all the brethren that are with me; to the churches of Galatia. {3} Grace to you and peace from God the Father and our Lord JESUS Christ, {4} who gave himself for our sins, that he might deliver us from this present wicked world, according to the will of our God and Father: {5} to whom is glory for ever and ever. Amen. {6} I marvel that thus so soon you are transferred from him that called you into the grace of Christ, unto another Gospel: {7} which is not another, unless there be some that trouble you, and will invert the Gospel of Christ. {8} But although we, or an Angel from Heaven, evangelize to you beside that which we have evangelized to you, be he anathema. {9} As we have said before, so now I say again: If any evangelize to you, beside that which you have received, be he anathema. {10} For do I now use persuasion to men, or to God? Or do I seek to please men? If I yet did please men, I should not be the servant of Christ. {11} For I do you to understand, brethren, the Gospel that was evangelized of me, that it is not according to man. {12} For neither did I receive it of man, nor learn it; but by the revelation of JESUS Christ. {13} For you have heard my conversation sometime in Judaism, that above measure I persecuted the Church of God, and expugned it, {14} and profited in Judaism above many of mine equals in my nation, being more abundantly in emulator of the traditions of my fathers. {15} But when it pleased him that separated me from my mother's womb, and called me by his grace, to reveal his Son in me, {16} that I should evangelize him among the Gentiles, incontinent I condescended not to flesh and blood, {17} neither came I to Jerusalem to the Apostles my antecessors: but I went into Arabia, and again I returned to Damascus. {18} Then, after three years I came to Jerusalem to see Peter: and tarried with him fifteen days. {19} But other of the Apostles saw I none; saving James the brother of our Lord. {20} And the things that I write to you; behold before God, that I lie not. {21} After that, I came into the parts of Syria and Cilicia. {22} And I was unknown by sight to the churches of Jewry, that were in Christ: {23} but they had heard only, That he which persecuted us sometime, doth now evangelize the faith which sometime he expugned: {24} and in me they glorified God.

Chapter 2

He telleth forth the story begone in the last

Chapter, and how he reprehended Peter, [15] and then specially urgeth the ensample of the Christian Jews, who sought unto Christ for justification, and that by warrant also of their Law it self, as also because otherwise Christ's death had been needless.

{1} THEN after fourteen years I went up again to Jerusalem with Barnabas, taking Titus also with me. {2} And I went up according to revelation: and conferred with them the Gospel which I preach among the Gentiles, but apart with them that seemed to be something, lest perhaps in vain I should run or had run. {3} But neither Titus which was with me, whereas he was a Gentile, was compelled to be circumcised: {4} but because of the false brethren craftily brought in, which craftily came in to espy our liberty that we have in Christ JESUS, that they might bring us into servitude. {5} To whom we yielded not subjection no not for an hour, that the truth of the Gospel may remain with you. {6} But of them that seemed to be something, (what they were some-time, it is nothing to me. God accepteth not the person of man) for to me, they that seemed to be something, added nothing. {7} But contrariwise when they had seen, that to me was committed the Gospel of the prepuce, as to Peter of the circumcision {8} (for he that wrought in Peter to the Apostleship of the circumcision, wrought in me also among the Gentiles) {9} and when they had known the grace that was given me, James and Cephas and John, which seemed to be pillars, gave to me and Barnabas the right hands of society: that we unto the Gentiles, & they unto the circumcision: {10} only that we should be mindful of the poor: the which same thing also I was careful to do. {11} And when Cephas was come to Antioch, I resisted him in face, because he was reprehensible. {12} For before that certain came from James, he did eat with the Gentiles: but when they were come, he withdrew and separated himself, fearing them that were of the circumcision. {13} And to his simulation consented the rest of the Jews, so that Barnabas also was led of them into that simulation. {14} But when I saw that they walked not rightly to the verity of the Gospel, I said to Cephas before them all: If thou being a Jew, livest Gentile-like and not Judaically, how doest thou compel the Gentiles to Judaize? {15} We are by nature Jews, and not of the Gentiles, sinners. {16} But knowing that man is not justified by the works of the Law, but by the faith of JESUS Christ; we also believe in Christ JESUS, that we may be justified by the faith of Christ, and not by the works of the Law: for the which cause, by the works of the Law no flesh shall be justified. {17} But if seeking to be justified in Christ, our selves also be found sinners; is Christ then a minister of sin? God forbid. {18} For if I build the same things again which I have destroyed, I make my self a prevaricator. {19} For I by the Law, am dead to the Law, that I may live to God: with Christ I am nailed to the cross. {20} And I live, now not I; but Christ liveth in me. And that that I live now in the flesh, I live in the faith of the Son of God, who loved me, and delivered himself for me. {21} I cast not away the grace of God. For if justice be by the Law, then Christ died in vain.

Chapter 3

By their own conversion at the first, [6] and by the example of Abraham, and promise made to him, he sheweth that the way to obtain the benediction, is to seek unto God by faith in Christ. [10] Seeing also that the Law curseth every one that hath not evermore kept the Law. [15] And, that the Law was not given to alter God's testament, [19] but to convince the Jews of sin, [23] and so to be their paedagogue or leader unto Christ, [25] and then to cease.

{1} O senseless Galatians, who hath bewitched you, not to obey the truth, before whose eyes JESUS Christ was proscribed, being crucified among you? {2} This only I would learn of you: By the works of the Law, did you receive the Spirit, or by the hearing of the faith? {3} Are you so foolish, that whereas you began with the spirit, now you will be consummate with the flesh? {4} Have you suffered so great things without cause? if yet without cause. {5} He therefore that giveth you the Spirit, and worketh miracles among you; by the works of the Law, or by the hearing of the faith doeth he it? {6} As, Abraham believed God, {1240} and it was reputed to him unto justice. {7} Know ye therefore that they that are of faith, the same are the children of Abraham. {8} And the Scripture foreseeing that God justifieth the Gentiles by faith, shewed unto Abraham before, That in thee shall all nations be blessed. {9} Therefore they that are of faith, shall be blessed with the faithful Abraham. {10} For whosoever are of the works of the Law, are under curse. For it is written: Cursed be every one that abideth not in all things that be written in the book of the Law, to do them. {11} But that in the Law no man is justified with God, it is manifest, because the just liveth by faith. {12} But the Law is not by faith: but, He that doeth those things, shall live in them. {13} Christ hath redeemed us from the curse of the Law, being made a curse for us (because it is written: Cursed is every one that hangeth on a tree) {14} that on the Gentiles the blessing of Abraham might be made in Christ JESUS: that we may receive the promise of the Spirit by faith. {15} Brethren (I speak according to man) yet a man's testament being confirmed no man despiseth, or further disposeth. {16} To Abraham were the promises said, and to his seed. He saith not, And to seeds, as in many: but as in one, And to thy seed, which is Christ. {17} And this I say, the testament being confirmed of God, the Law which was made after four hundred and thirty years, maketh not void to frustrate the promise. {18} For if the inheritance be of the Law, now not of promise. But God gave it to Abraham by promise. {19} Why was the Law then? It was put for transgressions, until the seed came to whom he had promised: ordained by Angels in the hand of a mediator. {20} And a mediator is not of one: but God is one. {21} Was the Law then against the promises of God? God forbid. For if there had been a Law given that could justify, undoubtedly justice should be of the Law. {22} But the Scripture hath concluded all things under sin: that the promise by the faith of JESUS Christ might be given to them that believe. {23} But before the faith came, under the Law we were kept shut up, unto that faith which was to be revealed. {24} Therefore the Law was our Pedagogue in Christ: that we may be justified by faith. {25} But when the faith came, now we are not under a pedagogue. {26} For you are all the children of God by faith in Christ JESUS. {27} For as many of you as are baptized in Christ, have put on Christ. {28} There is not Jew nor Greek, there is not bond nor free, there is not male nor female. For all you are one in Christ JESUS. {29} And if you be Christ's, then are you the seed of Abraham, heirs according to promise.

Chapter 4

That the Law was fit for the time of nonage: but being now come to full age, to desire such servitude is absurd, specially for Gentiles. [12] And that he writeth this not of any displeasure, but to tell them the truth, remembering how passionately they honoured him when he was present, and exhorting them therefore not to harken to the false Apostles in his absence. [21] By the allegory also of Abraham's two sons, shewing, that the children of the Jew's Synagogue shall not inherit, but we who are the children of the free woman: that is, of the Cath. Church of Christ.

{1} AND I say, as long as the heir is a little one, he differeth nothing from a servant, although he be lord of all, {2} But is under tutours and governors until the time limited of the father: {3} so we also, when we were little ones, were serving under the elements of the world. {4} But when the fullness of time came, God sent his Son made of a woman, made under the Law: {5} that he might redeem them that were under the Law; that we might receive the adoption of sons. {6} And because you are sons, God hath sent the Spirit of his son into your hearts crying: Abba, Father. {7} Therefore now he is not a servant, but a son. And if a son, an heir also by God. {8} But then indeed not knowing God, you served them that by nature are not Gods. {9} But now when you have known God, or rather are known of God, how turn you again to the weak & poor elements, which you will serve again? {10} You observe days, and months, and times, and years. {11} I fear you, lest perhaps I have laboured in vain among you. {12} Be ye as I, because I also am as you: Brethren, I beseech you, you have hurt me nothing. {13} And you know that by infirmity of the flesh I evangelized to you heretofore: {14} and your temptation in my flesh you despised not, neither rejected, but as an Angel of God you received me, as Christ JESUS. {15} Where is then your blessedness? for I give you testimony that if it could be done, you would have plucked out your eyes and have given them to me. {16} Am I then become your enemy, telling you the truth? {17} They emulate you not well: but they would exclude you, that you might emulate them. {18} But do you emulate the good in good always: and not only when I am present with you. {19} My little children, whom I travail withal again, until Christ be formed in you. {20} And I would be with you now and change my voice: because I am confounded in you. {21} Tell me, you that will be under the law, have you not read the Law? {22} For it is written that Abraham had two sons: one of the bond-woman, and one of the free-woman. {23} But he that of the bond-woman, was born according to the flesh: and he that of the free-woman, by the promise. {24} Which things are said by an allegory. For these are the two testaments. The one from mount Sina, gendering unto bondage; which is Agar, {25} (for Sina is a mountain in Arabia, which hath affinity to that which now is Jerusalem) and serveth with her children. {26} But that Jerusalem which is above, is free; which is our mother. {27} For it is written: Rejoice thou barren, that bearest not: break forth and cry, that travailest not: because many are the children of the desolate, more than of her that hath a husband. {28} But we brethren, according to Isaac, are the children of promise. {29} But as then he that was born according to the flesh, persecuted him that was after the spirit; so now also. {30} But what saith the Scripture? Cast out the bond-woman and her son. For the son of the bond-woman shall not be heir with the son of the free-woman. {31} Therefore, brethren, we are not the children of the bond-woman, but of the free: by the freedom wherewith Christ hath made us free.

Chapter 5

Against the lie of the false Apostles, he protesteth his mind of Circumcision. {13} and testifieth, that they are called to liberty. But yet lest any misconstrue Christian liberty, he telleth them that they shall not inherit the kingdom, unless they abstain from the works of the flesh, which are all mortal sins: and do the fruitful works of the Spirit, fulfilling all the commandments of the Law by Charity.

{1} STAND, and be not holden in again with the yoke of servitude. that if you be circumcised, Christ shall {2} Behold I, Paul tell you profit you nothing. {3} And I testify again to every man circumcidic himself, that he is a debtor to do the whole Law. {4} You are evacuated from Christ, that are justified in the Law: you are fallen from grace. {5} For we in spirit, by faith, expect the hope of justice. {6} For in Christ JESUS neither circumcision availleth ought, nor prepuce: but faith that worketh by charity. {7} You ran well, who hath hindered you not to obey the truth? {8} The persuasion is not of him that calleth you. {9} A little leaven corrupted the whole paste. {10} I have confidence in you in our Lord, that you will be of no other mind: but he that troubleth you, shall bear the judgement, whosoever he be. {11} And as for me, brethren, if as yet I preach circumcision, why do I yet suffer persecution? Then is the scandal of the cross evacuated. {12} I would they were also cut off that trouble you. {13} For you, brethren, are called into liberty: only make not this liberty an occasion to the flesh, but by charity serve one another. {14} For all the Law is fulfilled in one word: Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thy self. {15} But if you bite and eat one another, take heed you be not consumed one of another. {16} And I say, walk in the spirit, and the lusts of the flesh you shall not accomplish. {17} For the flesh lusteth against the spirit, and the spirit against the flesh: for these are adversaries one to another: that not what things soever you will, these you do. {18} But if you be led by the spirit, you are not under the Law. {19} And the works of the flesh be manifest, which are fornication, uncleanness, impudicity, lechery, {20} serving of idols, witch-crafts, enmities, contentions, emulations, angers, brawls, dissensions, sects, {21} envies, murders, ebrietie, commessations, and such like. Which I foretell you, as I have foretold you, that they which do such things, shall not obtain the Kingdom of God. {22} But the fruit of the Spirit is, Charity, joy, peace, patience, benignity, goodness, longanimity, {23} mildness, faith, modesty, continency, chastity. Against such there is no law. {24} And they that be Christ's, have crucified their flesh with the vices and concupiscences. {25} If we live in the spirit, in the spirit also let us walk. {26} Let us not be made desirous of vain glory, provoking one another, envying one another.

Chapter 6

If any do sin, the rest that do the works of the Holy Ghost, must not therefore take pride in them selves, but rather make humility of it, partly by fearing their own fall, partly by looking straitly to their own works. {6} He exhorteth earnestly to good works, assuring them that they shall reap none other than here they sow. {11} With his own hand he writeth, telling them, the true cause why those false Apostles preach circumcision, to be only to please the Jews: {17} and a plain argument that he preacheth it not, to be this, that he is persecuted of the Jews.

{1} BRETHREN, and if a man be preoccupied in any fault, you that are spiritual, instruct such an one in the spirit of lenity, considering thine own self, lest thou also be tempted. {2} Bear ye one another's burdens: and so you shall fulfill the law of Christ. {3} For if any man esteem himself to be something, whereas he is nothing, he seduceth himself. {4} But let every one prove his own work, and so in himself only shall he have the glory and not in another. {5} For every one shall bear his own burden. {6} And let him that is catechized in the word, communicate to him that catechizeth him, in all his goods. {7} Be not deceived, God is not mocked. {8} For what things a man shall sow, those also shall he reap. For he that soweth in his flesh, of the flesh also shall reap corruption. But he that soweth in the spirit, of the spirit shall reap life everlasting. {9} And doing good, let us not fail. For in due time we shall reap not failing. {10} Therefore whilsts we have time, let us work good to all, but especially to the domesticals of the faith. {11} See with what manner of letters I have written to you with mine own hand. {12} Whosoever will please in the flesh, they force you to be circumcised, only that they may not suffer the persecution of the cross of Christ. {13} For neither they that are circumcised, do keep the Law: but they will have you to be circumcised, that they may glory in your flesh. {14} But God forbid that I should glory, saving in the cross of our Lord JESUS Christ; by whom the world is crucified to me, and I to the world. {15} For in Christ JESUS neither circumcision availeth ought, nor prepuce, but a new creature. {16} And whosoever shall follow this rule, peace upon them, and mercy, and upon the Israel of God. {17} From henceforth let no man be troublesome to me. For I bear the marks of our Lord JESUS in my body. {18} The grace of our Lord JESUS Christ be with your spirit, brethren. Amen.

THE EPISTLE OF S. PAUL TO THE EPHESIANS

Chapter 1

He magnifieth the grace of God's eternal predestination and temporal vocation, {11} both of the Jews, {13} and also of the Ephesians being Gentiles. {13} for whose excellent faith and charity he rejoiceth, and continually prayeth for their increase, that they may see more clearly the greatness both of the inheritance in heaven, and also of God's might which helpeth them thereto: {20} an example of which might they may behold in the supereminent exalting of Christ.

{1} PAUL an Apostle of JESUS Christ by the will of God: to all the saints that are at Ephesus; & to the faithful in Christ JESUS. {2} Grace to you and peace from God our Father, and our Lord JESUS Christ. {3} Blessed be God and the Father of our Lord JESUS Christ, which hath blessed us in all spiritual blessing, in celestials, in Christ: {4} as he chose us in him before the constitution of the world, that we should be holy and immaculate in his sight in charity. {5} Who hath predestinated us unto the adoption of sons, by JESUS Christ, unto himself; according to the purpose of his will: {6} unto the praise of the glory of his grace, wherein he hath gratified us in his beloved Son. {7} In whom we have redemption by his blood (the remission of sins) according to the riches of his grace. {8} Which hath superabounded in us in all wisdom and prudence, {9} that he might make known unto us the sacrament of his will, according to his good pleasure, which he purposed in himself, {10} in the dispensation of the fullness of times, to perfit all things in Christ, that are in heaven and in earth, in him. {11} In whom we also are called by lot: predestinate according to the purpose of him that worketh all things, according to the counsel of his will: {12} that we may be unto the praise of his glory, which before have hoped in Christ: {13} in whom you also, when you had heard the word of truth (the Gospel of your salvation) in which also believing you were signed with the holy Spirit of promise, {14} which is the pledge of our inheritance, to the redemption of acquisition, unto the praise of his glory. {15} Therefore I also hearing your faith that is in our Lord JESUS, and love toward all the saints, {16} cease not to give thanks for you, making a memory of you in my prayers, {17} that God of our Lord JESUS Christ, the Father of glory, give you the spirit of wisdom and of revelation, in the knowledge of him, {18} the eyes of your heart illuminated, that you may know what the hope is of his vocation, and what are the riches of the glory of his inheritance in the saints, {19} and what is the passing greatness of his power toward us that believe: according to the operation of the might of his power, {20} which he wrought in Christ, raising him up from the dead, and setting him on his right hand in celestials {21} above all Principality & Potestate & Power, and Domination, & every name that is named not only in this world, but also in that to come. {22} And he hath subdued all things under his feet: and hath made him Head over all the CHURCH, {23} which is his body, the fullness of him, which is filled all in all.

Chapter 2

He putteth them in mind of their unworthiness before they were Christians: that all the praise may be given to the grace of God: {11} and of the enmity that was then between the Jew and the Gentile {13} until now that Christ by his Cross hath made both one, taking away the ceremonies of the Law, and making one body, and building one holy Temple of all, in his Catholic Church.*

{1} AND you when you were dead by your offenses and sins, you walked according to the course of this {2} wherein sometime world, according to the prince of the power of this air, of the spirit that now worketh on the children of diffidence, {3} in whom also we all conversed sometime in the desires of our flesh, doing the will of the flesh and of thoughts, and were by nature the children of wrath as also the rest: {4} but God (which is rich in mercy) for his exceeding charity wherewith he loved us, {5} even when we were dead by sins, quickened us together in Christ, (by whose grace you are saved,) {6} and raised us up with him, and hath made us sit with him in the celestials in Christ JESUS, {7} that he might shew in the worlds succeeding, the abundant riches of his grace, in bounty upon us in Christ JESUS. {8} For by grace you are saved through faith (and that not of your selves, for it is the gift of God) {9} not of works, that no man glory. {10} For we are his work, created in Christ JESUS in good works, which God hath prepared that we should walk in them. {11} For the which cause be mindful that sometime you were Gentiles in the flesh, who were called prepucie, of that which is called circumcision in the flesh, made with hand: {12} who were at that time without Christ, alienated from the conversation of Israel, and strangers of the testaments, having no hope of the promise, and without God in this world. {13} But now in Christ JESUS, you that sometime were far off, are made nigh in the blood of Christ. {14} For he is our peace, who hath made both one, and dissolving the middle wall of the partition, the enmities in his flesh: {15} evacuating the law of commandments in decrees: that he may create the two in himself into one new man, making peace, {16} and may reconcile both in one body to God by the cross, killing the enmities in himself. {17} And coming he evangelized peace to you that were far off, and peace to them that were nigh. {18} For by him we have access both in one Spirit to the Father. {19} Now then you are not strangers and foreigners: but you are citizens of the saints, and the domesticals of God, {20} built upon the foundation of the Apostles and Prophets, JESUS Christ himself being the highest corner-stone: {21} in whom all building framed together, growtheth into an holy temple in our Lord, {22} in whom you also are built together into an habitation of God in the holy Ghost.

For witnessing the vocation of the Gentiles, as being the Apostle of the Gentiles, he is in prison: {13} Wherein the Gentiles therefore have cause to rejoice, rather than to shrink. So he saith, {14} and also prayeth to God (who is almighty) to confirm their inward man, though the outward be infirmed by persecutions.

{1} FOR this cause, I Christ, for you Gentiles: heard the dispensation of the grace of , Paul the prisoner of JESUS {2} if yet you have God, which is given me toward you. {3} because according to revelation the sacrament was made known to me, as I have written before in brief: {4} according as you reading, may understand my wisdom in the mystery of Christ, {5} which unto other generations was not known to the sons of men, as now it is revealed to his holy Apostles, and Prophets in the Spirit. {6} The Gentiles to be coheirs and concorporate and comparticipant of his promise in Christ JESUS by the Gospel: {7} whereof I am made a minister according to the gift of the grace of God, which is given me according to the operation of his power. {8} To me the least of all the saints is given this grace, among the Gentiles to evangelize the unsearchable riches of Christ, {9} & to illuminate all men what is the dispensation of the sacrament hidden from worlds in God, who created all things: {10} that the manifold wisdom of God, may be notified to the Princes & Potestates in the celestials by the Church, {11} according to the predefinition of worlds, which he made in Christ JESUS our Lord. {12} In whom we have affiance and access in confidence by the faith of him. {13} For the which cause I desire that you faint not in my tribulations for you, which is your glory. {14} For this cause I bow my knees to the Father of our Lord JESUS Christ, {15} of whom all paternity in the Heavens and in earth is named, {16} that he give you according to the riches of his glory, power to be fortified by his Spirit in the inner man. {17} Christ to dwell by faith in your hearts, rooted and founded in charity, {18} that you may be able to comprehend with all the saints, what is the breadth, and length, and height and depth, {19} to know also the charity of Christ, surpassing knowledge, that you may be filled unto all the fullness of God. {20} And to him that is able to do all things more abundantly than we desire or understand, according to the power that worketh in us: {21} to him be glory in the CHURCH, and in Christ JESUS, unto all generations world without end. Amen.

Chapter 4

He exhorteth them to keep the unity of the Church most carefully with all humility, bringing them many motives thereunto: {7} and answering that even the diversity it self of offices is not for division, as being the gift of Christ him self, but to build up the Church, and to hold all in the unity thereof against the subtle circumventions of Heretics: that under Christ the head, in the Church being the body, every member may prosper. {17} Neither (as touching life) must we live like the Heathen, but as it becometh Christians, laying off all our old corrupt manners, and increasing daily in all goodness.

{1} I therefore prisoner in our Lord, beseech you, that you walk worthy of the vocation in which you are called, {2} with all humility and mildness, with patience, supporting one another in charity. {3} careful to keep the unity of the spirit in the bond of peace. {4} One body & one spirit: as you are called in one hope of your vocation. {5} One Lord, one faith, one baptism. {6} One God and Father of all, which is over all, and by all, & in all us. {7} But to every one of us is given grace according to the measure of the donation of Christ. {8} For the which he saith: Ascending on high he led captivity captive: he gave gifts to men. {9} (And that he ascended, what is it, but because he descended also first into the inferior parts of the earth? {10} He that descended, the same is also he that is ascended above all the Heavens, that he might fill all things.) {11} And he gave, some Apostles, & some Prophets, & other some Evangelists, & other-some Pastors & Doctors, {12} to the consummation of the saints, unto the work of the ministry, unto the edifying of the body of Christ: {13} until we meet all into the unity of faith and knowledge of the Son of God into a perfect man, into the measure of the age of the fullness of Christ: {14} that now we be not children wavering, and carried about with every wind of doctrine in the wickedness of men, in craftiness to the circumvention of error. {15} But doing the truth in charity, let us in all things grow in him, which is the Head, Christ: {16} of whom the whole body being compact and knit together by all juncture of subministration, according to the operation in the measure of every member, maketh the increase of the body unto the edifying of itself in charity. {17} This therefore I say and testify in our Lord: that now you walk not as also the Gentiles walk in the vanity of their sense, {18} having their understanding obscured with darkness, alienated from the life of God by the ignorance that is in them, because of the blindness of their heart, {19} who despairing, have given up themselves to impudicity, unto the operation of all uncleanness, unto avarice. {20} But you have not so learned Christ: {21} if yet you have heard him, & have been taught in him, (as the truth is in JESUS.) {22} Lay you away, according to the old conversation the old man, which is corrupted according to the desires of error. {23} And be renewed in the spirit of your mind: {24} and put on the new man which according to God is created in justice, and holiness of the truth. {25} For the which cause laying away lying, speak ye truth every one with is neighbour, because we are members one of another. {26} Be angry and sin not. Let not the sun go down upon your anger. {27} Give not place to the devil. {28} He that stole, let him now not steal: but rather let him labour in working with his hands that which is good, that he may have whence to give unto him that suffereth necessity. {29} All naughty speech let it not proceed out of your mouth: but if there be any good to the edifying of the faith, that it may give grace to the hearers. {30} And contristate not the holy Spirit of God: in which you are signed unto the day of redemption. {31} Let all bitterness, and anger, and indignation, and clamour, and blasphemy be taken away from you with all malice. {32} And be gentle one to another, merciful, pardoning one another, as also God in Christ hath pardoned you.

Chapter 5

He continueth his exhortation to good life, [5] assuring them against all deceivers, that no committer of mortal sin shall be saved: considering that for such sins it is that the heathen shall be damned: [8] & that Christians must rather be the light of all others. [22] Then he cometh in particular and exhorteth husbands and wives to do their duty one towards the other, by the example of Christ and his obedient and beloved spouse the Church.

{1} BE ye therefore followers of God, as most dear children: Christ also loved us, and delivered himself {2} and walk in love, as for us an oblation and host to God in an odour of sweetness. {3} But fornication and all uncleanness, or avarice let it not so much as be named among you as it becometh Saints: {4} or filthiness, or foolish talk, or scurrility, being to no purpose: but rather giving of thanks. {5} For understanding, know you this, that no fornicator, or unclean, or covetous person (which is the service of idols) hath inheritance in the Kingdom of Christ and of God. {6} Let no man seduce you with vain words. For, for these things cometh the anger of God upon the children of diffidence. {7} Become not therefore partakers with them. {8} For you were sometime darkness, but now light in our Lord. Walk as children of the light, {9} (for the fruit of the light is in all goodness, and justice, and verity) {10} proving what is well pleasing to God: {11} and communicate not with the unfruitful works of darkness, but rather reprove them. {12} For the things that are done of them in secret, it is shame even to speak. {13} But all things that are reproved, are manifested by the light. For all that is manifested, is light. {14} For the which cause he saith: Rise thou that sleepest, and arise from the dead: and Christ will illuminate thee. {15} See therefore, brethren, how you walk warily. Not as unwise, but as wise: {16} redeeming the time, because the days are evil. {17} Therefore become not unwise, but understanding what is the will of God. {18} And be not drunk with wine wherein is riotousness, but be filled with the Spirit, {19} speaking to your selves in Psalms & hymns, and spiritual canticles, chanting and singing in your hearts to our Lord: {20} giving thanks always for all things, in the name of our Lord JESUS Christ to God and the Father. {21} Subject one to another in the fear of Christ. {22} Let women be subject to their husbands, as to our Lord: {23} because the man is the head of the woman: as Christ is the head of the CHURCH. Himself, the Saviour of his body. {24} But as the CHURCH is subject to Christ, so also the women to their husbands in all things. {25} Husbands, love your wives, as Christ also loved the CHURCH, and delivered himself for it: {26} that he might sanctify it, cleansing it by the laver of water in the word, {27} that he might present to himself a glorious CHURCH, not having spot, or wrinkle, or any such thing, but that it may be holy and unspotted. {28} So also men ought to love their wives as their own bodies. He that loveth his wife, loveth himself. {29} For no man ever hated his own flesh: but he nourisheth and cherisheth it, {1247} as also Christ the CHURCH: {30} because we be the members of his body, of his flesh, and of his bones. {31} For this cause shall man leave his father and mother: and shall cleave to his wife, and they shall be two in one flesh. {32} This is a great Sacrament. But I speak in Christ & in the CHURCH. {33} Nevertheless you also every one, let each love his wife as himself: and let the wife fear her husband.

Chapter 6

Likewise children and parents he exhorteth, 3. item servants and masters. 10. Then, that all take courage in the might of God, but so, that withal they arm themselves (considering what mighty enemies they have) with all pieces of spiritual armour [18] praying always fervently, and for him also.

{1} CHILDREN, obey your parents in our Lord. For this is just. mother (which is the first commandment {2} Honour thy father & thy in the promise) {3} that it may be well with thee, & thou mayest be long lived upon the earth. {4} And you fathers, provoke not your children to anger: but bring them up in the discipline & correction of our Lord. {5} Servants, be obedient to your lords according to the flesh, with fear and trembling, in the simplicity of your heart, as to Christ: {6} not serving to the eye, as it were pleasing men, but as the servants of Christ, doing the will of God from the heart. {7} with a good will serving, as to our Lord and not to men. {8} Knowing that every one what good soever he shall do, that shall he receive of our Lord, whether he be bond, or free. {9} And you masters, do the same things to them, remitting threatenings: knowing that both their Lord and yours, is in Heaven: and acceptance of persons is not with him. {10} Hence-forth, brethren, be strengthened in our Lord, and in the might of his power. {11} Put you on the armour of God, that you may stand against the deceits of the devil. {12} For our wrestling is not against flesh and blood: but against Princes and Potestates, against the rectors of the world of this darkness, against the spirituals of wickedness in the celestials. {13} Therefore take the armour of God, that you may resist in the evil day, and stand in all things perfect. {14} Stand therefore having your loins girded in truth, and clothed with the breast-plate of justice, {15} & having your feet shod to the preparation of the Gospel of peace: {16} in all things taking the shield of faith, wherewith you may extinguish all the fiery darts of the most wicked one. {17} And take unto you the helmet of salvation: and the sword of the spirit (which is the word of God) {18} in all prayer and supplication praying at all time in spirit: and in the same watching in all instance and supplication for all the saints: {19} and for me, that speech may be given me in the opening of my mouth with confidence, to make known the mystery of the Gospel, {20} for the which I am a legate in this chain, so that in it I may be bold according as I ought, to speak. {21} And that you also may know the things about me, what I do, Tychicus my dearest brother and faithful minister in our Lord, will make you understand all things: {22} whom I have sent to you for this same purpose, that you may know the things about us, and he may comfort your hearts. {23} Peace to the brethren and charity with faith from God the Father, and our Lord JESUS Christ. {24} Grace with all that love our Lord JESUS Christ in incorruption. Amen.

THE EPISTLE OF S. PAUL TO THE PHILIPPIANS

Chapter 1

Having signified that he useth to thank God for their virtue, {9} and also to pray for their increase: {12} he certifieth them (for their confirmation & comfort) what good was come through his trouble at Rome, {24} & that he doubteth not (though he rather desire martyrdom) but to come again unto them, {27} exhorting them to live as they ought to do, {28} and namely not to shrink for persecution.

{1} PAUL and Timothee the servants of JESUS Christ; to all the saints in Christ JESUS that are at Philippi, with the Bishops and Deacons. {2} Grace to you and peace from God our Father, and our Lord JESUS Christ. {3} I give thanks to my God in all memory of you {4} (always in all my prayers for all you, with joy making petition) {5} for your communicating in the Gospel of Christ from the first day until now. {6} trusting this same thing, that he which hath begun in you a good work, will perfite it unto the day of Christ JESUS. {7} As it is reason for me, this to think for all you, for that I have you in heart, & in my bands, and in the defense, and the confirmation of the Gospel, all you to be partakers of my joy. {8} For God is my witness, how I covet you all in the bowels of JESUS Christ. {9} And this I pray, that your charity may more and more abound in knowledge and in all understanding: {10} that you may approve the better things, that you may be sincere and without offence unto the day of Christ, {11} replenished with the fruit of justice by JESUS Christ, unto the glory and praise of God. {12} And I will have you know, brethren, that the things about me are come to the more furtherance of the Gospel: {13} so that my bands were made manifest in Christ in all the court, and in all the rest, {14} that many of our brethren in our Lord, having confidence in my bands, were bold more abundantly without fear to speak the word of God. {15} Some indeed even for envy and contention: but some also for good will preach Christ. {16} Some of charity: knowing that I am set unto the defence of the Gospel. {17} And some of contention preach Christ not sincerely: supposing that they raise affliction to my bands. {18} But what? So that by all means, whether by occasion, or by truth, Christ be preached: in this also I rejoice, yea & will rejoice. {19} For I know that this shall fall out to me unto salvation by your prayer and the subministration of the Spirit of JESUS Christ, {20} according to my expectation & hope; because in nothing shall I be confounded, but in all confidence as always, now also shall Christ be magnified in my body, whether it be by life, or by death. {21} For unto me, to live is Christ: and to die is gain. {22} And if to live in the flesh, this unto me be the fruit of the work, and what I shall choose I know not. {23} And I am straitened of the two: having desire to be dissolved & to be with Christ, a thing much more better. {24} But to abide in the flesh, necessary for you. {25} And trusting this, I know that I shall abide and continue with you all, unto your furtherance and joy of the faith: {26} that your gratulation may abound in Christ JESUS in me, by my coming again to you. {27} Only converse ye worthy of the Gospel of Christ: that whether when I come and see you, or else be absent, I may hear of you that you stand in one Spirit, of one mind labouring together to the faith of the Gospel. {28} And in nothing be ye terrified of the adversaries, which to them is cause of perdition: but to you of salvation, & this of God: {29} for to you it is given for Christ, not only that you believe in him, but also that you suffer for him, {30} having the same combat like as you have seen in me, and now have heard of me.

Chapter 2

He exhorteth them most instantly to keep the unity of the Church, and to humble them selves for that purpose one to another, 5. by the example of the marvellous humility of Christ, {9} specially seeing how marvellously he is now exalted for it. 12. Item to obedience, fear, and perseverance. {17} Instilling (lest it should afterwards trouble them) that he may be martyred at this time. {19} Timothee he hopeth to send, whom he highly commendeth: {25} as also Epaphroditus, whom he presently sendeth.

{1} IF therefore there be any consolation in Christ, if any solace of charity, if any society of spirit, if any bowels of commiseration; {2} fulfill my joy, that you be of one meaning, having the same charity, of one mind, agreeing in one. {3} Nothing by contention, neither by vain glory: but in humility, each counting other better than themselves: {4} every one not considering the things that are their own, but those that are other men's. {5} For this, think in yourselves, which also in Christ JESUS; {6} who when he was in the form of God, thought it no robbery, himself to be equal to God: {7} but he exinanited himself, taking the form of a servant, made into the similitude of men, and in shape found as a man. {8} He humbled himself, made obedient unto death: even the death of the cross. {9} For the which thing God also hath exalted him, and hath given him a name which is above all names: {10} that in the name of JESUS every knee bow of the celestials, terrestrials, and infernals: {11} and every tongue confess that our Lord JESUS Christ is in the glory of God the Father. {12} Therefore, my Dearest, (as you have always obeyed) not as in the presence of me only, but much more now in my absence, with fear and trembling work your salvation. {13} For it is God that worketh in you both to will and to accomplish, according to his good will. {14} And do ye all things without murmurings and staggerings: {15} that you may be without blame, and the simple children of God, without reprehension in the midst of a crooked and perverse Generation. Among whom you shine as lights in the world: {16} containing the word of life to my glory in the day of Christ, because I have not run in vain, nor in vain laboured. {17} But and if I be immolated, upon the Sacrifice and service of your faith, I rejoice and congratulate with you all. {18} And the self-same thing do you also rejoice, and congratulate with me. {19} And I hope in our Lord JESUS, to send Timothee unto you quickly, that I also may be of good comfort, when I know the things pertaining to you. {20} For I have no man so of one mind that with sincere affection is careful for you. {21} For all seek the things that are their own; not the things that are JESUS Christ's. {22} And know ye an experiment of him, that as a son the Father, so hath he served with me in the Gospel. {23} This man therefore I hope to send unto you, immediately as I shall see the things that concern me. {24} And I trust in our Lord that my self also shall come to you quickly. {25} But I have thought it necessary to send to you Epaphroditus my brother and coadjutor and fellow-soldier, but your Apostle, and minister of my necessity. {26} Because indeed he had a desire toward you all: and was pensive, for that you had heard that he was sick. {27} For indeed he was sick even to death: but God had mercy on him: and not only on him, but on me also, lest I should have sorrow upon sorrow. {28} Therefore I sent him the more speedily: that seeing him, you may rejoice again, and I may be without sorrow. {29} Receive him therefore with all joy in our Lord: and such entreat with honour. {30} because for the work of Christ, he came to the point of death: yielding his life, that he might fulfill that which on your part wanted toward my service.

Chapter 3

He warneth them of the False-apostles, {4} shewing that him self had much more to brag of in Judaism than they; but that he maketh price of nothing but only of Christ, and of Christian justice, and of suffering with him {12} wherein yet he acknowledgeth his imperfection {17} exhorting them to bear Christ's Cross with him, and not to imitate those bellygods.

{1} FROM hence-forth, my brethren, rejoice in our Lord. To write the same things unto you, to me surely it is not tedious, and to you it is necessary. {2} See the dogs, see the evil workers, see the concision. {3} For we are the circumcision, which in spirit serve God: and we glory in Christ JESUS, and not having confidence in the flesh, {4} albeit I also have confidence in the flesh. If any other man seem to have confidence in the flesh, I more, {5} circumcised the eighth day, of the stock of Israel, of the tribe of Benjamin, an Hebrew of Hebrews: according to the Law, a Pharisee: {6} according to emulation, persecuting the Church of God: according to the justice that is in the Law, conversing without blame. {7} But the things that were gains to me, those have I esteemed for Christ, detriments. {8} Yea but I esteem all things to be detriment for the passing knowledge of JESUS Christ my Lord: for whom I have made all things as detriment, and do esteem them as dung, that I may gain Christ: {9} and may be found in him not having my justice which is of the Law, but that which is of the faith of Christ, which is of God, justice in faith: {10} to know him, and the virtue of his resurrection, and the society of his passions, configured to his death, {11} if by any means I may come to the resurrection which is from the dead. {12} Not that now I have received, or now am perfect: but I pursue, if I may comprehend, wherein I am also comprehended of Christ JESUS. {13} Brethren, I do not account that I have comprehended. Yet one thing: forgetting the things that are behind, but stretching forth my self to those that are before, {14} I pursue to the mark, to the prize of the supernal vocation of God in Christ JESUS. {15} Let us therefore as many as are perfect, be thus minded: and if you be any otherwise minded, this also God hath revealed to you. {16} Nevertheless whereunto we are come, that we be of the same mind, let us continue in the same rule. {17} Be followers of me, brethren, & observe them that walk so as you have our form. {18} For many walk whom often I told you of (and now weeping also I tell you) the enemies of the cross of Christ: {19} Whose end is destruction: whose God, is the belly: and their glory in their confusion, which mind worldly things. {20} But our conversation is in Heaven: whence also we expect the Saviour, our Lord JESUS Christ, {21} who will reform the body of our humility, configured to the body of his glory, according to the operation whereby also he is able to subdue all things to himself.

Chapter 4

He exhorteth them to perseverance, {2} and certain by name to unity, {5} to modesty, {6} to peace without solicitude or careful anxiety, {8} to all that good is, {9} to such things as they see in him self. {10} that he rejoiced in their contribution, not for his own need, but for their merit.

{1} THEREFORE, my dearest brethren and most desired, my joy and my crown: so stand in our Lord, my dearest. {2} Euchodia I desire and Syntyche I beseech to be of one mind in our Lord. {3} Yea and I beseech thee my sincere companion, help those women that have laboured with me in the Gospel with Clement, and the rest my coadjutors, whose names are in the book of life. {4} Rejoice in our Lord always; again I say rejoice. {5} Let your modesty be known to all men. Our Lord is nigh. {6} Be nothing careful: but in every thing by prayer & supplication with thanksgiving let your petitions be known with God. {7} And the peace of God which passeth all understanding, keep your hearts and intelligences in Christ JESUS. {8} For the rest, brethren, what things soever be true, whatsoever honest, whatsoever just, whatsoever holy, whatsoever amiable, whatsoever of good fame, if there be any virtue, if any praise of discipline, these things think upon. {9} Which you have both learned, and received, and heard, & seen in me; these things do ye, and the God of peace shall be with you. {10} And I rejoiced in our Lord exceedingly, that once at the length you have reflourished to care for me, as you did also care: but you were occupied. {11} I speak not as it were for penury. For I have learned, to be content with the things that I have. {12} I know both to be brought low, I know also to abound: (every-where, and in all things I am instructed) both to be full, & to be hungry, both to abound, and to suffer penury. {13} I can all things in him that strengtheneth me. {14} Nevertheless you have done well, communicating to my tribulation. {15} And you also know, o Philippians, that in the beginning of the Gospel, when I departed from Macedonia, no Church communicated unto me in the account of gift and receipt, but you only: {16} For unto Thessalonica also, once and twice you sent to my use. {17} Not that I seek the gift, but I seek the fruit abounding in your account. {18} But I have all things, and abound: I was filled after I received of Epaphroditus the things that you sent, an odour of sweetness, an acceptable host, pleasing God. {19} And my God supply all your lack according to his riches in glory, in Christ JESUS. {20} And to God & our Father be glory world without end. Amen. {21} Salute ye every saint in Christ JESUS. {22} The brethren that are with me, salute you. All the saints salute you: but especially they that are of Caeser's house. {23} The grace of our Lord JESUS Christ be with your spirit. Amen.

THE EPISTLE OF S. PAUL TO THE COLOSSIANS

Chapter 1

Saying, that he thanketh God for their excellent faith and charity, and continually prayeth for their increase, he doeth wifh give witness to the preaching of their Apostle Epaphras, and extolleth the grace of God in bringing them to Christ, who is chief above all, and peacemaker by his blood. This is the Gospel not of Epaphras alone, but of the universal Church, and of Paul him self who also sufferereth for it.

{1} PAUL an Apostle of JESUS Christ by the will of God, and brother Timothee: that are at Colossa saints and faithful {2} to them brethren in Christ JESUS. {3} Grace to you and peace from God our Father and our Lord JESUS Christ. We give thanks to God and the Father of our Lord JESUS Christ always for you, praying: {4} hearing your faith in Christ JESUS, and the love which you have toward all the saints, {5} for the hope that is laid up for you in Heaven, which you have heard in the word of the truth of the Gospel, {6} that is come to you, as also in the whole world it is, and fructifieth, and groweth, even as in you, since that day that you heard and knew the grace of God in truth, {7} as you learned of Epaphras our dearest fellow-servant, who is a faithful minister of JESUS Christ for you, {8} who also hath manifested to us your love in spirit. {9} Therefore we also from the day that we heard it, cease not praying for you and desiring, that you may be filled with the knowledge of his will, in all wisdom, and spiritual understanding: {10} that you may walk worthy of God, in all things pleasing: fructifying in all good work, & increasing in the knowledge of God: {11} in all power strengthened according to the might of his glory, in all patience and longanimity with joy {12} giving thanks to God and the Father, who hath made us worthy unto the part of the lot of the saints in the light: {13} Who hath delivered us from the power of darkness, and hath translated us into the Kingdom of the Son of his love, {14} in whom we have redemption, the remission of sins: {15} who is the image of the invisible God, the first-born of all creature: {16} because in him were created all things in Heaven, and in earth, visible, and invisible, whether Thrones, or Dominations, or Principalities, or Potestates: all by him, & in him were created: {17} and he is before all, and all consist in him. {18} And he is the Head of the body, the CHURCH, who is the beginning, first-born of the dead: that he may be in all things holding the primacy: {19} because in him it hath well pleased, all fullness to inhabit: {20} and by him to reconcile all things unto himself, pacifying by the blood of his cross, whether the things in earth, or the things that are in Heaven. {21} And you, whereas you were sometime alienated and enemies in sense, in evil works: {22} yet now he hath reconciled in the body of his flesh by death, to present you holy & immaculate, and blameless before him: {23} if yet ye continue in the faith, grounded and stable, and unmoveable from the hope of the Gospel which you have heard, which is preached among all creatures that are under Heaven, whereof I, Paul am made a minister. {24} Who now rejoice in suffering for you, and do accomplish those things that want of the passions of Christ, in my flesh for his body, which is the CHURCH: {25} whereof I am made a minister according to the dispensation of God, which is given me toward you, that I may fulfill the word of God, {1253} {26} the mystery that hath been hidden from worlds and generations, but now is manifested to his saints, {27} to whom God would make known the riches of the glory of his sacrament in the Gentiles, which is Christ, in you the hope of glory, {28} whom we preach, admonishing every man, and teaching every man in all wisdom, that we may present every man perfect in Christ JESUS. {29} Wherein also I labour striving according to his operation which he worketh in me in power.

He is careful for them, though he were never with them: that they rest in the wonderful wisdom which is in Christian religion, and be not carried away either with Philosophy, to leave Christ and to sacrifice to Angels: or with Judaism, to receive any ceremonies of Moyses law.

{1} FOR I will have you know, brethren, what manner of care I have for you and for them that are at Laodicia, and whosoever have not seen my face in the flesh: {2} that their hearts may be comforted, instructed in charity, and unto all the riches of the fullness of understanding, unto the knowledge of the mystery of God the Father of Christ JESUS, {3} in whom be all the treasures of wisdom and knowledge hid. {4} But this I say that no man deceive you in loftiness of words. {5} For although I be absent in body, yet in spirit I am with you; rejoicing, and seeing your order, and the constancy of that your faith which is in Christ. {6} Therefore as you have received JESUS Christ our Lord, walk in him, {7} rooted and built in him, and confirmed in the faith, as also you have learned, abounding in him in thanks-giving. {8} Beware lest any man deceive you by philosophy, & vain fallacy; according to the tradition of men, according to the elements of the world, and not according to Christ. {9} For in him dwelleth all the fullness of the Godhead corporally: {10} and you are in him replenished, who is the Head in all principality and power: {11} in whom all you are circumcised with circumcision not made by hand in spoiling of the body of the flesh, in the circumcision of Christ, {12} buried with him in Baptism: in whom also you are risen again by the faith of the operation of God, who raised him up from the dead. {13} And you when you were dead in the offenses and the prepuce of your flesh, did he quicken together with him; pardoning you all offenses, {14} wiping out the hand-writing of decree that was against us, which was contrary to us. And the same he hath taken out of the way, fastening it to the cross: {15} and spoiling the principalities & Potestates, hath led them confidently in open shew, triumphing them in himself. {16} Let no man therefore judge you in meat or in drink, or in part of a festival day, or of the New-moon, or of Sabbaths: {17} which are a shadow of things to come, but the body Christ's. {18} Let no man seduce you, willing in the humility and religion of Angels, walking in the things which he hath not seen, in vain puffed up by the sense of his flesh, {19} and not holding the Head, whereof the whole body by joints and bands being served and compacted, groweth to the increase of God. {20} If then you be dead with Christ, from the elements of this world; why do you yet decree as living in the world? {21} Touch not, taste not, handle not: {22} which things are all unto destruction by the very use, according to the precepts and doctrines of men. {23} Which are indeed having a shew of wisdom in superstition and humility, and not to spare the body, not in any honour to the filling of the flesh.

Chapter 3

He exhorteth to mortify and put off all corrupt manners of the old man, and to put on such virtues as are for the new man. {18} In particular also, wives and husbands, children and parents, servants and masters, each sort to do their duty.

{1} THEREFORE if you be risen with Christ, seek the things that are above; where Christ is sitting on the right hand of God. {2} Mind the things that are above, not the things that are upon the earth. {3} For you are dead; and your life is hid with Christ in God. {4} When Christ shall appear, your life; then you also shall appear with him in glory. {5} Mortify therefore your members that are upon the earth, fornication, uncleanness, lust, evil concupiscence, and avarice, which is the service of idols. {6} For which things the wrath of God cometh upon the children of incredulity. {7} In which you also walked sometime, when you lived in them. {8} But now lay you also all away anger, indignation, malice, blasphemy, filthy talk out of your mouth. {9} Lie not one to another: spoiling your selves of the old man with his acts, {10} and doing on the new, him that is renewed unto knowledge, according to the image of him that created him. {11} Where there is not, Gentile & Jew, circumcision and prepuce, Barbarous and Scythian, bond and free: but all, and in all Christ. {12} Put ye on therefore as the elect of God, holy, and beloved, the bowels of mercy, benignity, humility, modesty, patience, {13} supporting one another, & pardoning one another, if any have a quarrel against any man. As also our Lord hath pardoned us: so you also. {14} But above all these things have charity, which is the band of perfection: {15} and let the peace of Christ exult in your hearts, wherein also you are called in one body: and be thankful. {16} Let the word of Christ dwell in you abundantly, in all wisdom: teaching and admonishing your own selves, with psalms, hymns, and spiritual canticles, in grace singing in your hearts to God. {17} All whatsoever you do in word or in work, all things in the name of our Lord JESUS Christ, giving thanks to God and the Father by him. {18} Women be subject to your husbands, as it behoveth in our Lord. {19} Men, love your wives: and be not bitter toward them. {20} Children obey your parents in all things: for that is well pleasing to our Lord. {21} Fathers, provoke not your children to indignation; that they become not discouraged. {22} Servants, obey in all things, your masters according to the flesh, not serving to the eye, as pleasing men, but in simplicity of heart, fearing God. {23} Whatsoever you do, work it from the heart as to our Lord, and not to men: {24} knowing that you shall receive of our Lord the retribution of inheritance. Serve our Lord Christ. {25} For he that doeth injury, shall receive that which he hath done unjustly: and there is not acceptance of persons with God.

Chapter 4

He exhorteth to instance in prayer, {5} and to wisdom in behaviour. {7} He sendeth Tychicus. {10} He doeth commendations. {15} and enjoineth to be done.

{1} YOU Masters, that which is just and equal, do to your servants: knowing that you also have a Master in heaven. {2} Be instant in prayer; watching in it in thanks-giving, {3} praying withal for us also, that God may open unto us the door of speech to speak the mystery of Christ (for the which also I am bound) {4} that I may manifest it, so as I ought to speak. {5} Walk with wisdom toward them that be without; redeeming the time. {6} Your talk always, in grace let it be seasoned with salt: that you may know how you ought to answer every man. {7} The things that are about me, Tychicus, our dearest brother, and faithful minister, & fellow-servant in our Lord, will make you understand all, {8} whom I have sent to you for this same purpose, that he may know the things that concern you, and may comfort your hearts, {9} with Onesimus, the most dear and faithful brother who is of you. All things that are done here, shall they do you to understand. {10} Aristarchus my fellow-prisoner saluteth you, & Mark the cousin-german of Barnabas (concerning whom you have received commandments, If he come to you, receive him) {11} and Jesus that is called Justus: who are of the Circumcision. These only are my coadjutors in the Kingdom of God: which have been a comfort to me. {12} Epaphras saluteth you who is of you, the servant of Christ JESUS, always careful for you in prayers, that you may stand perfect and full in all the will of God. {13} For I give him testimony that he hath much labour for you, & for them that be at Laodicia, and that are at Hierapolis. {14} Luke, the most dear physician, saluteth you; and Demas. {15} Salute the brethren that are at Laodicia; and Nympha, and the Church that is in his house. {16} And when the epistle shall be read with you, make that it be read also in the Church of the Laodicians: and that you read that which is of the Laodicians. {17} And say to Archippus: See the ministry which thou hast received of our Lord, that thou fulfill it. {18} The salutation: with mine own hand, Paul's. Be mindful of my bands. Grace be with you. Amen.

THE FIRST EPISTLE OF S. PAUL TO THE THESSALONIANS

Chapter 1

He thanketh God for them, {4} and gathereth that they are elect, because his preaching at their first conversion was with divine power, and they on the other side received it with all joy, notwithstanding the great persecution that was raised against them.

{1} PAUL and Sylvanus and Timothee to the Church of the Thessalonians in God the Father, and our Lord JESUS Christ. Grace to you and peace. {2} We give thanks to God always for all you; making a memory of you in prayers without intermission, {3} mindful of the work of your faith and labour, and of the charity, & of the enduring of the hope of our Lord JESUS Christ, before God and our Father: {4} knowing, brethren beloved of God, your election: {5} that our Gospel hath not been to you in word only, but in power & the holy Ghost, & in much fullness, as you know what manner of men we have been among you for your sakes. {6} And you became followers of us, & of our Lord; receiving the word in much tribulation, with joy of the Holy Ghost: {7} so that you were made a pattern to all that believe in Macedonia & in Achaia. {8} For from you was bruited the word of our Lord: not only in Macedonia and in Achaia, but also in every place, your faith which is to God-ward, is proceeded, so that it is not necessary for us to speak any thing. {9} For they themselves report of us what manner of entering we had to you; and how you are turned to God from idols, to serve the living and true God, {10} and to expect his Son from Heaven (whom he raised up from the dead) JESUS, who hath delivered us from the wrath to come.

Chapter 2

He calleth even them selves to witness, that his preaching unto them was as he said, in most commendable manner. {13} And again on the other side he thanketh God for their manner of receiving it: that is, with all joy, notwithstanding the persecution of their own citizens.

{1} FOR your selves know, brethren, our entrance unto you, that it was not vain: {2} but having suffered before and been abused with contumelies (as you know) at Philippi, we had confidence in our God, to speak unto you the Gospel of God in much carefulness. {3} For our exhortation was not of error, nor of uncleanness, nor in deceit: {4} but as we were approved of God that the Gospel should be committed to us, so we speak: not as pleasing men, but God, who prooveth our hearts. {5} For neither have we been, at any time in the word of adulteration, as you know; nor in occasion of avarice, God is witness: {6} nor seeking glory of men, neither of you, nor of others. {7} Whereas we might have been a burden to you, as the Apostles of Christ; but we became children in the midst of you, as if a nurse should cherish her children: {8} so having a desire to you, we would gladly deliver unto you not only the Gospel of God, but also our own souls because you are become most dear unto us. {9} For you are mindful, brethren, of our labour and toil. Day and night working, lest we should charge any of you, we preached among you the Gospel of God. {10} You are witnesses and God, how holily, and justly & without blame, we have been to you that did believe. {11} As you know in what manner we desiring and comforting you, have adjured every one of you (as a father his children) {12} that you would walk worthy of God, who hath called you into his Kingdom and glory. {13} Therefore we also give thanks to God without intermission: because that when you had received of us the word of the hearing of God, you received it not as the word of men, but (as it is indeed) the word of God, who worketh in you that have believed. {14} For you, brethren, are become followers of the Churches of God that be in Jewry, in Christ JESUS: for you also have suffered the same things of your own lineage, as they also of the Jews, {15} who both killed our Lord JESUS, and the Prophets, and have persecuted us, and please not God, and are adversaries to all men, {16} prohibiting us to speak to the Gentiles that they may be saved, to make up their sins always. For the wrath of God is come upon them even to the end. {17} But we, brethren, deprived of you for a short time, in sight, not in heart; have hastened the more abundantly to see your face with much desire. {18} For we would have come to you, I, Paul certes, once and again: but Satan hath hindered us. {19} For what is our hope, or joy, or crown of glory? Are not you, before our Lord JESUS Christ in his coming? {20} For you are our glory and joy.

Chapter 3

Because he could not come himself, as he desired, he sent Timothee. {6} At whose return now understanding that they stand still steadfast, notwithstanding all those persecutions, he rejoiceth exceedingly: {10} praying that he may see them again. {12} and for their increase in charity.

{1} FOR the which cause forbearing no longer, it pleased us to remain at Athens, alone. {2} And we sent Timothee our brother, & the minister of God in the Gospel of Christ, to confirm you and exhort you for your faith, {3} that no man be moved in these tribulations: for your selves know, that we are appointed to this. {4} For even when we were with you, we fore-told you that we should suffer tribulations, as also it is come to pass, and you know. {5} Therefore I also forbearing no longer, sent to know your faith: lest perhaps he that tempteth, hath tempted you, and our labour be made vain. {6} But now Timothee coming unto us from you, and reporting to us your faith and charity, and that you have a good remembrance of us always, desiring to see us, as we also, you: {7} therefore we are comforted, brethren, in you, in all our necessity, & tribulation, by your faith, {8} because now we live, if you stand in our Lord. {9} For what thanks-giving can we render to God for you, in all joy wherewith we rejoice for you before our God, {10} night and day more abundantly praying that we may see your face, and may accomplish those things that want of your faith? {11} And God himself and our Father, & our Lord JESUS Christ direct our way to you. {12} And our Lord multiply you, & make your charity abound one to another, and toward all men: as we also in you, {13} to confirm your hearts without blame, in holiness, before God and our Father, in the coming of our Lord JESUS Christ with all his Saints. Amen.

Chapter 4

He exhorteth them to live as he taught them: and namely to abstain from all fornication, {9} to love one an other, {11} to meddle only with their own matters, {12} to behave them selves well toward the Infidels. {13} Touching their friends departed, he comforteth them, shewing that they shall meet again at the Resurrection, and be with Christ for ever.

{1} FOR the rest therefore, brethren, we desire and beseech you in our Lord JESUS, that as you have received of us how you ought to walk, and to please God, as also you do walk, that you abound more. {2} For you know what precepts I have given to you by our Lord JESUS. {3} For this is the will of God, your sanctification: that you abstain from fornication, {4} that every one may know to possess his vessel in sanctification and honour: {1258} {5} not in the passion of lust, as also the Gentiles that know not God, {6} and that no man over-go, nor circumvent his brother in business: because our Lord is revenger of all these things, as we have foretold you, and have testified. {7} For God hath not called us into uncleanness, but into sanctification. {8} Therefore he that despiseth these things, despiseth not man but God, who also hath given his holy Spirit in us. {9} But concerning the charity of the Fraternity, we have no need to write to you: For your selves have learned of God to love one another. {10} Yea and you do it toward all the brethren in all Macedonia. But we desire you, brethren, that you abound more: {11} and that you employ your endeavour to be quiet, and that you do your own business, and work with your own hands, as we have commanded you: {12} and that you walk honestly toward them that are without; and need nothing of any man's. {13} And we will not have you ignorant, brethren, concerning them that sleep, that you be not sorrowful, as also others that have no hope. {14} For if we believe that JESUS died and rose again, so also God, them that have slept, by JESUS, will bring with him. {15} For this we say to you in the word of our Lord, that we which live, which are remaining in the advent of our Lord, shall not prevent them that have slept. {16} For our Lord himself in commandment, and in the voice of an Archangel, & in the trumpet of God will descend from heaven: and the dead that are in Christ, shall rise again first. {17} Then we that live, that are left, whith shall be taken up with them in the clouds to meet Christ, into the air, and so always we shall be with our Lord. {18} Therefore comfort ye one another in these words.

To talk of the time of the Resurrection is not necessary, but to prepare our selves against that time so sudden and so terrible to the unprepared. {12} He beseecheth the laity to be obedient, {14} and the Clergy to be vigilant, with many short precepts more.

{1} AND of the times and moments, brethren, you need not that we write to you. {2} For your selves know perfectly that the day of our Lord shall so come, as a thief in the night. {3} For when they shall say, peace & security; then shall sudden destruction come upon them, as the pains to her that is with child, and they shall not escape. {4} But you brethren are not in darkness; that the same day may as a thief over-take you. {5} For all you are the children of light, and children of the day: we are not of the night nor of darkness. {6} Therefore let us not sleep as also others: but let us watch & be sober. {7} For they that sleep, sleep in the night; & they that be drunk, be drunk in the night. {8} But we that are of the day, are sober, having on, the breast-plate of faith and charity, and a helmet, the hope of salvation. {9} For God hath not appointed us unto wrath, but unto the purchasing of salvation by our Lord JESUS Christ, {10} who died for us: that whether we watch, or sleep, we may live together with him. {11} For the which cause comfort one another: and edify one another, as also you do. {12} And we beseech you, brethren, that you will know them that labour among you, and that govern you in our Lord and admonish you: {13} that you have them more abundantly in charity for their work. Have peace with them. {14} And we beseech you, brethren, admonish the unquiet, comfort the weak-minded, bear up the weak, be patient to all. {15} See that none render evil for evil to any man: but always that which is good pursue towards each other, & towards all. {16} Always rejoice. {17} Pray without intermission. {18} In all things give thanks. For this is the will of God in Christ JESUS in all you. {19} The Spirit, extinguish not. {20} Prophecies, despise not. {21} But prove all things: hold that which is good. {22} From all appearance of evil refrain your selves. {23} And the God of peace himself sanctify you in all things: that your whole spirit, and soul and body without blame may be preserved in the coming of our Lord JESUS Christ. {24} He is faithful, that hath called you, who also will do it. {25} Brethren pray for us. {26} Salute all the brethren in a holy kiss. {27} I adjure you by our Lord that this epistle be read to all the holy brethren. {28} The grace of our Lord JESUS Christ be with you. Amen.

THE SECOND EPISTLE OF S. PAUL TO THE THESSALONIANS

Chapter 1

He thanketh God for their increase in faith and charity, and constancy in persecution (assuring them that they merit thereby the kingdom of God, as their persecutors do damnation:) {11} and also prayeth for their accomplishment.

{1} PAUL and Sylvanus and Timothee, to the church of the Thessalonians in God our Father and our Lord JESUS Christ. {2} Grace to you and peace from God our Father and our Lord JESUS Christ. {3} We ought to give thanks always to God for you, brethren, so as meet is, because your faith increaseth exceedingly, and the charity of everyone of you aboundeth towards each other: {4} so that we our selves also glory in you in the churches of God, for your patience, and faith in all your persecutions and tribulations, which you sustain {5} for an example of the just judgement of God, that you may be counted worthy of the Kingdom of God, for the which also you suffer. {6} If yet it be just with God to repay tribulation, to them that vex you: {7} and to you that are vexed, rest with us in the revelation of our Lord JESUS from Heaven with the Angels of his power, {8} in flame of fire, giving revenge to them that know not God, and that obey not the Gospel of our Lord JESUS Christ. {9} Who shall suffer eternal pains in destruction, from the face of our Lord and from the glory of his power: {10} when he shall come to be glorified in his saints, and to be made marvelous in all them that have believed, because our testimony concerning you was credited in that day. {11} Wherein also we pray always for you, that our God make you worthy of his vocation, and accomplish all the good pleasure of his goodness & the work of faith in power, {12} that the name of our Lord JESUS Christ may be glorified in you, and you in him, according to the grace of our God, and of our Lord JESUS Christ.

Chapter 2

He requireth them, in no case to think that Domesday is at hand, {3} repeating onto them, that there must before come first a revolt, secondly the revelation also of Antichrist him self in person, and that Antichrist shall not permit any God to be worshipped but only him self: that also with his lying wonders he shall win to him the incredulous Jews. But Christ shall come then immediately in majesty, and destroy him and his. {13} Therefore he thanketh God for the faith of the Thessalonians, {15} and biddeth them stick to his Traditions both written and unwritten, & prayeth God to confirm them.

{1} AND we desire you, brethren, by the coming of our Lord JESUS Christ, & of our congregation into him; {2} that you be not easily moved from your sense, nor be terrified, neither by spirit, nor by word, nor by epistle as sent by us, as though the day of our Lord were at hand. {3} Let no man seduce you by any means, for unless there come a revolt first, and the man of sin be revealed, the son of perdition, {4} which is an adversary & is extolled above all that is called God, or that is worshipped, so that he sitteth in the temple of God, shewing himself as though he were God. {5} Remember you not, that when I was yet with you, I told you these things? {6} And now what letteth, you know: that he may be revealed in his time. {7} (For now the mystery of iniquity worketh: only that he which now holdeth, do hold, until he be taken out of the way.) {8} And then that wicked one shall be revealed whom our Lord JESUS shall kill with the spirit of his mouth; and shall destroy with the manifestation of his advent, him, {9} whose coming is according to the operation of Satan, in all power, and lying signs and wonders; {10} and in all seducing of iniquity to them that perish; for that they have not received the charity of the truth that they might be saved. {11} Therefore God will send them the operation of error, to believe lying: {12} that all may be judged which have not believed the truth, but have consented to iniquity. {13} But we ought to give thanks to God always for you, brethren beloved of God, that he hath chosen you first-fruits unto salvation, in sanctification of spirit and faith of the truth: {14} into the which also he hath called you by our Gospel, unto the purchasing of the glory of our Lord JESUS Christ. {15} Therefore, brethren, stand; and hold the traditions which you have learned, whether it be by word, or by our epistle. {16} And our Lord JESUS Christ himself, and God and our Father which hath loved us, and hath given eternal consolation, and good hope in grace, {17} exhort your hearts and confirm you in every good work and word.

Chapter 3

He desireth their prayers, {4} and inculcates his precepts and traditions, namely of working quietly for their own living, commanding to excommunicate the disobedient.

{1} FOR the rest, brethren, pray for us, that the word of God may have course and be glorified, as also with you: {2} and that we may be delivered from importunate and naughty men. For all men have not faith. {3} But our Lord is faithful, who will confirm and keep you from evil. {4} And we have confidence of you in our Lord, that the things which we command, both you do, and will do. {5} And our Lord direct your hearts in the charity of God, and patience of Christ. {6} And we denounce unto you, brethren, in the name of our Lord JESUS Christ, that you withdraw your selves from every brother walking inordinately, and not according to the tradition which they have received of us. {7} For your selves know how you ought to imitate us: for we have not been unquiet among you: {8} neither have we eaten bread of any man gratis, but in labour & in toil night and day working, lest we should burden any of you. {9} Not as though we had not authority: but that we might give our selves a pattern unto you for to imitate us. {10} For also when we were with you, this we denounced to you, that if any will not work, neither let him eat. {11} For we have heard of certain among you that walk unquietly, working nothing, but curiously meddling. {12} And to them that be such we denounce, & beseech them in our Lord JESUS Christ, that working with silence, they eat their own bread. {13} But you, brethren faint not well-doing. {14} And if any obey not our word, note him by an epistle: {15} and do not company with him, that he may be confounded: and do not esteem him as an enemy, but admonish him as a brother. {16} And the Lord of peace himself give you everlasting peace in every place. Our Lord be with you all. {17} The salutation, with mine own hand, Paul's: which is a sign in every epistle. So I write. {18} The grace of our Lord JESUS Christ be with you all. Amen.

THE FIRST EPISTLE OF S. PAUL TO TIMOTHY

Chapter 1

He recommendeth unto him, to inhibit certain Jews who jangled of the Law as though it were contrary to his preaching. {11} Against whom he avoucheth his ministry, though he acknowledge his unworthiness.

{1} PAUL an Apostle of JESUS Christ according to the commandment of God our Saviour, and of Christ JESUS our hope: {2} To Timothee his beloved son in the faith. Grace, mercy, and peace from God the Father, and from Christ JESUS our Lord. {3} As I desired thee to remain at Ephesus when I went into Macedonia, that thou shouldest denounce to certain not to teach otherwise, {4} nor to attend to fables and genealogies having no end: which minister questions rather than the edifying of God which is in faith. {5} But the end of the precept is charity from a pure heart, and a good conscience, and a faith not feigned. {6} From the which things certain straying, are turned into vain-talk, {7} desirous to be doctors of the Law, not understanding neither what things they speak, nor of what they affirm. {8} But we know that the Law is good, if a man use it lawfully: {9} knowing this, that the Law is not made to the just man, but to the unjust, & disobedient, to the impious & sinners, to the wicked & contaminate, to killers of fathers & killers of mothers, to murderers, {10} to fornicators, to liars with mankind, to man-stealers, to liars, to perjured persons, and what other thing soever is contrary to sound doctrine, {11} which is according to the Gospel of the glory of the blessed God, which is committed to me. {12} I give him thanks which hath strengthened me, Christ JESUS our Lord, because he hath esteemed me faithful, putting me in the ministry. {13} Who before was blasphemous and a persecutor and contumelious. But I obtained the mercy of God, because I did it being ignorant in incredulity. {14} And the grace of our Lord over-abounded with faith and love, which is in Christ JESUS. {15} A faithful saying, and worthy of all acceptance, that Christ JESUS came into this world to save sinners, of whom I am the chief. {16} But therefore have I obtained mercy: that in me first of all, Christ JESUS might shew all patience, to the information of them that shall believe on him unto life everlasting. {17} And to the King of the worlds, immortal, invisible, only God, honour & glory for ever and ever. Amen. {18} This precept I commend to thee, o Timothee: according to the prophecies going before on thee, that thou war in them a good warfare, {19} having faith and a good conscience, which certain repelling have made shipwreck about the faith. {20} Of whom is Hymenaeus & Alexander: whom I have delivered to Satan, that they may learn not to blaspheme.

By his Apostolic authority he appointeth public prayers to be made for all men without exception. {8} also men to pray in all places: {9}, and women also in seemly attire, {11} to learn of men, and not to be teachers in any wise, but to seek salvation by that which to them belongeth.

{1} I desire therefore first of all things that obsecrations, prayers, postulations, thanks-givings be made for all men, {2} for kings and all that are in preeminence: that we may lead a quiet and a peaceable life in all piety and chastity. {3} For this is good and acceptable before our Saviour God, {4} who will all men to be saved, and to come to the knowledge of the truth. {5} For there is one God, one also mediator of God and men, man Christ JESUS: {6} who gave himself a redemption for all, whose testimony in due times is confirmed. {7} Wherein I am appointed a preacher and an Apostle (I say the truth, I lie not) doctor of the Gentiles in faith and truth. {8} I will, therefore that men pray in every place: lifting up pure hands, without anger and altercation. {9} In like manner women also in comely attire: with demureness and sobriety adorning themselves, not in plaited hair, or gold, or precious stones, or gorgeous apparel, {10} but that which becometh women professing piety by good works. {11} Let a woman learn in silence, with all subjection. {12} But to teach I permit not unto a woman, nor to have dominion over the man: but to be in silence. {13} For Adam was formed first; then Eve. {14} And Adam was not seduced: but the woman being seduced, was in prevarication. {15} Yet she shall be saved by generation of children: if they continue in faith and love and sanctification with sobriety.

Chapter 3

Of what quality they must be, whom he ordaineth Bishops, {8} and Deacons, {14} and the cause of his writing to be, the excellency of the Catholic Church, and of Christ, who is the object of our religion.

{1} A faithful saying. If a man desire a Bishop's office, he desireth a good work. behoveth therefore a Bishop to be {2} It irreprehensible, the husband of one wife, sober, wise, comely, chaste, a man of hospitality, a teacher, {3} not given to wine, no fighter, but modest, no quarreler, not covetous, {4} well ruling his own house, having his children subject with all chastity. {5} But if a man know not to rule his own house, how shall he have care of the Church of God? {6} Not a neophyte: lest puffed into pride, he fall into the judgement of the devil. {7} And he must have also good testimony of them that are without: that he fall not into reproach and the snare of the devil. {8} Deacons in like manner chaste, not double-tongued, not given to much wine, not followers of filthy lucre: {9} having the mystery of faith in a pure conscience. {10} And let these also be proved first: & so let them minister, having no crime. {11} The women in like manner chaste, not detracting, sober, faithful in all things. {12} Let deacons be the husbands of one wife: which rule well their children, and their houses. {13} For they that have ministered well, shall purchase to themselves a good degree, and much confidence in the faith which is in Christ JESUS. {14} These things I write to thee, hoping that I shall come to thee quickly. {15} But if I tarry long, that thou mayest know how thou oughtest to converse in the house of God, which is the CHURCH of the living God, the pillar and ground of truth. {16} And manifestly it is a great sacrament of piety, which was manifested in flesh, was justified in spirit, appeared to Angels, hath been preached to Gentiles, is believed in the world, is assumed in glory.

Chapter 4

He prophesieth that certain should depart from the Catholic faith, willing Timothee therefore to inculcate to the people those articles of the said faith. {7} Item to exercise him self in spiritual exercise, {12} to get authority by example of good life, {13} to study, to teach, to increase in the grace given him by holy orders.

{1} AND the Spirit manifestly saith that in the last times certain shall depart from the faith attending to spirits of error, and doctrines of devils, {2} speaking lies in hypocrisy, and having their conscience seared, {3} forbidding to marry, to abstain from meats which God created to receive with thanks-giving for the faithful, and them that have known the truth. {4} For every creature of God is good, and nothing to be rejected that is received with thanks-giving. {5} For it is sanctified by the word of God and prayer. {6} These things proposing to the brethren, thou shalt be a good minister of Christ JESUS, nourished in the words of the faith and the good doctrine which thou hast attained unto. {7} But foolish and old wives' fables avoid: and exercise thy self to piety. {8} For corporal exercise is profitable to little: but piety is profitable to all things: having promise of the life that now is, and of that to come. {9} A faithful saying and worthy of all acceptation: {10} For to this purpose we labour and are reviled, because we hope in the living God which is the Saviour of all men, especially of the faithful. {11} Command these things and teach. {12} Let no man contemn thy youth: but be an example of the faithful, in word, in conversation, in charity, in faith, in chastity. {13} Till I come, attend unto reading, exhortation, doctrine. {14} Neglect not the grace that is in thee: which is given thee by prophecy, with imposition of the hands of priesthood. {15} These things do thou mediate, be in these things: that thy profiting may be manifest to all. {16} Attend to thyself, and to doctrine: be earnest in them. For, this doing, thou shalt save both thyself and them that hear thee.

Chapter 5

How to behave him self towards young and old. {3} to bestow the Church's oblations upon the needy widows. {9} and not to admit the said Church's widows under threescore years old. {17} In distribution to respect well the Priests that are painful. {19} and how in his Consistory to hear accusations against Priests. {22} to be strait in examining before he give Orders. to be chaste, and to remit somewhat of his drinking water.

{1} A Senior rebuke not: but beseech as a father: young men, as brethren: women, as mothers: young women, as {2} old sisters, in all chastity. {3} Honour widows, which are widows indeed. {4} But if any widow have children or nephews; let her learn first to rule her own house, & to render mutual duty to her parents. For this is acceptable before God. {5} But she that is a widow indeed and desolate, let her hope in God, and continue in obsecrations & prayers night and day. {6} For she that is in deliciousness, living is dead. {7} And this command that they be blameless. {8} But if any man have not care of his own, and especially of his domesticals, he hath denied the faith, and is worse than an infidel. {9} Let a widow be chosen of no less than three-score years, which hath been the wife of one husband, {10} having testimony in good works, if she have brought up her children, if she have received to harbour, if she have washed the saints' feet, if she have ministered to them that suffer tribulation, if she have followed every good work. {11} But the younger widows avoid. For when they shall be wanton in Christ, they will marry: {12} having damnation, because they have made void their first faith. {13} And withal also they learn to go about from house to house: not only idle, but also full of words & curious, speaking things which they ought not. {14} I will, therefore the younger to marry, to bring forth children, to be housewives: to give no occasion to the adversary for to speak evil. {15} For now certain are turned back after Satan. {16} If any faithful man have widows, let him minister to them, and let not the Church be burdened: that there may be sufficient for them that are widows indeed. {17} The priests that rule well, let them be esteemed worthy of double honour: especially they that labour in the word and doctrine. {18} For the Scripture saith: Thou shalt not muzzle the mouth to the ox that treadeth out the corn; and, The work-man is worthy of his hire. {19} Against a priest receive not accusation, but under two or three witnesses. {20} Them that sin, reprove before all: that the rest also may have fear. {21} I testify before God and Christ JESUS, and the elect Angels, that thou keep these things without prejudice, doing nothing by declining to the one part. {22} Impose hands on no man lightly, neither do thou communicate with other men's sins. Keep thy self chaste. {23} Drink not yet water; but use a little wine for thy stomach, and thy often infirmities. {24} Certain men's sins be manifest, going before to judgement: and certain men they follow. {25} In like manner also good deeds be manifest, and they that are otherwise, can not be hid.

Chapter 6

What to teach servants. {3} If any teach against the doctrine of the Church obstinately, he doth it of pride and for lucre. {11} But the Catholic Bishop must follow virtue, having his eye always to life everlasting and to the coming of Christ. {17} What to command the rich. {20} Finally, to keep most carefully the Catholic Church's doctrine, without mutation.

{1} WHOSOEVER are servants under yoke, let them count their masters worthy of all honour; lest the name of our Lord and his doctrine be blasphemed. {2} But they that have faithful masters, let them not contemn them because they are brethren, but serve the rather, because they be faithful and beloved, which are partakers of the benefit. These things teach and exhort. {3} If any man teach otherwise, and consent not to the sound words of our Lord JESUS Christ, and to that doctrine which is according to piety, {4} he is proud, knowing nothing, but languishing about questions and strife of words: of which rise envies, contentions, blasphemies, evil suspicions. {5} conflicts of men corrupted in their mind, and that are deprived of the truth, that esteem gain to be piety. {6} But piety with sufficiency is great gain. {7} For we brought nothing into this world, doubtless, neither can we take away any thing. {8} But having food, and wherewith to be covered, with these we are content. {9} For they that will be made rich, fall into temptation and the snare of the devil, and many desires unprofitable and hurtful, which drown men into destruction and perdition. {10} For the root of all evils is covetousness; which certain desiring have erred from the faith, and have entangled themselves in many sorrows. {11} But thou, o man of God, fly these things; and pursue justice, piety, faith, charity, patience, mildness. {12} Fight the good fight of faith: apprehend eternal life, wherein thou art called and hast confessed a good confession before many witnesses. {13} I command thee before God who quickeneth all things, and Christ JESUS who gave testimony under Pontius Pilate a good confession, {14} that thou keep the commandment without spot, blameless unto the coming of our Lord JESUS Christ. {15} Which in due times the Blessed and only Mighty will shew, the King of kings and Lord of lords, {16} who only hath immortality, and inhabiteth light not accessible, whom no man hath seen, yea neither can see, to whom be honour and empire everlasting. Amen. {17} Command the rich of this world not to be high minded, nor to trust in the uncertainty of riches, but in the living God (who giveth us all things abundantly to enjoy) {18} to do well, to become rich in good works, to give easily, to communicate, {19} to heap unto themselves a good foundation for the time to come, that they may apprehend the true life. {20} O Timothee, keep the depositum, avoiding the profane novelties of voices, and oppositions of falsely called knowledge. {21} Which certain promising, have erred about the faith. Grace be with thee. Amen.

THE SECOND EPISTLE OF S. PAUL TO TIMOTHY

Chapter 1

With his praises he covertly exhorteth him not to be dismayed for his trouble, {6} (having grace given in Orders to help him, {8} and knowing for what cause he is persecuted) and namely with the example of Onesiphorus.

{1} PAUL an Apostle of JESUS Christ by the will of God, according to the promise of the life which is in Christ JESUS: {2} to Timothee my dearest son, grace, mercy, peace from God the Father, and Christ JESUS our Lord. {3} I give thanks to God, whom I serve from my progenitors in a pure conscience, that without intermission I have a memory of thee in my prayers, night and day. {4} desiring to see thee, mindful of thy tears, that I may be filled with joy, {5} calling to mind that faith which is in thee not feigned, which also dwelt first in thy grand-mother Lois, and thy mother Eunice, and I am sure that in thee also. {6} For the which cause I admonish thee that thou resuscitate the grace of God, which is in thee by the imposition of my hands. {7} For God hath not given us the spirit of fear: but of power, and love, and sobriety. {8} Be not therefore ashamed of the testimony of our Lord, nor of me his prisoner: but travail with the Gospel according to the power of God, {9} who hath delivered and called us by his holy calling, not according to our works, but according to his purpose and grace, which was given to us in Christ JESUS before the secular times. {10} But it is manifested now by the illumination of our Saviour JESUS Christ, who hath destroyed death, and illuminated life and incorruption by the Gospel: {11} wherein I am appointed a preacher and Apostle and Master of the Gentiles. {12} For the which cause also I suffer these things: but I am not confounded. For I know whom I have believed, and I am sure that he is able to keep my depositum unto that day. {13} Have thou a form of sound words, which thou hast heard of me in faith and in the love of Christ JESUS. {14} Keep the good depositum by the Holy Ghost, which dwelleth in us. {15} Thou knowest this, that all which are in Asia, be averted from me: of whom is Phigelus and Hermogenes. {16} Our Lord give mercy to the house of Onesiphorus: because he hath often refreshed me, and hath not been ashamed of my chain: {17} but when he was come to Rome, he sought me carefully, and found me. {18} Our Lord grant him to find mercy of our Lord in that day. And how many things he ministered to me at Ephesus, thou knowest better.

Chapter 2

He exhorteth him to labour diligently in his office, considering the reward in Christ, and his denial of them that deny him. {14} Not to content, but to shun heretics: neither to be moved to see some subverted, considering that the elect continue Catholics, and that in the Church be of all sorts. {24} Yet with all sweetness to reclaim the deceived.

{1} THOU therefore my son, be strong in the grace which is in Christ JESUS: things which thou hast heard of me by {2} and the many witnesses, these commend to faithful men, which shall be fit to teach others also. {3} Labour thou as a good soldier of Christ JESUS. {4} No man being a soldier to God, entangleth himself with secular businesses; that he may please him to whom he hath approved himself. {5} For he also that striveth for the mastery, is not crowned unless he strive lawfully. {6} The husband-man that laboureth, must first take of the fruits. {7} Understand what I say: for our Lord will give thee in all things understanding. {8} Be mindful that our Lord JESUS Christ is risen again from the dead, of the seed of David, according to my Gospel, {9} wherein I labour even unto bands, as a malefactor: but the word of God is not tied. {10} Therefore I sustain all things for the elect, that they also may obtain the salvation, which is in Christ JESUS, with heavenly glory. {11} A faithful saying. For if we be dead with him, we shall live also together. {12} If we shall sustain, we shall also reign together. If we shall deny, he also will deny us. {13} If we believe not; he continueth faithful, he can not deny himself. {14} These things admonish: testifying before our Lord. Contend not in words, for it is profitable for nothing, but for the subversion of them that hear. {15} Carefully provide to present thy self approved to God, a work-man not to be confounded, rightly handling the word of truth. {16} But profane and vain speeches avoid: for they do much grow to impiety: {17} and their speech spreadeth as a canker: of whom is Hymenaeus and Philetus: {18} who have erred from the truth, saying that the resurrection is done already, and have subverted the faith of some. {19} But the sure foundation of God standeth, having this seal, Our Lord knoweth, who be his, and let every one depart from iniquity that nameth the name of our Lord. {20} But in a great house there are not only vessels of gold and of silver, but also of wood and of earth: and certain indeed unto honour, but certain unto contumely. {21} If any man therefore shall cleanse himself from these, he shall be a vessel unto honour, sanctified & profitable to our Lord, prepared to every good work. {22} But youthful desires, fly, and pursue justice, faith, charity, and peace with them that invocate our Lord from a pure heart. {23} And foolish and unlearned questions avoid, knowing that they engender brawls. {24} But the servant of our Lord must not wrangle: but be mild toward all men, apt to teach, patient, {25} with modesty admonishing them that resist the truth: lest sometime God give them repentance to know the truth: {26} and they recover themselves from the snares of the devil, of whom they are held captive at his will.

Chapter 3

He prophesieth of Heretics to come. {6} and noteth certain then also for such, bidding him to avoid them, {10} and (what so ever persecution befall for it) to continue constant in the Catholic doctrine, both because of his Master (S. Paul him self) {15} and also because of his own knowledge in the Scriptures.

{1} AND this know thou, that in the last days shall approach perilous times. shall be lovers of themselves, covetous, {2} And men haughty, proud, blasphemous, not obedient to their parents, unkind, wicked, {3} without affection, without peace, accusers, incontinent, unmerciful, without benignity, {4} traitors, stubborn, puffed up, and lovers of voluptuousness more than of God: {5} having an appearance indeed of piety, but denying the virtue thereof. And these avoid. {6} For of these be they that craftily enter into houses; & lead captive seely women laden with sins, which are led with diverse desires: {7} always learning, and never attaining to the knowledge of the truth. {8} But as Jannes and Mambres resisted Moyses, so these also resist the truth, men corrupted in mind, reprobate concerning the faith. {9} But they shall prosper no further: for their folly shall be manifest to all, as theirs also was. {10} But thou hast attained to my doctrine, institution, purpose, faith, longanimity, love, patience, {11} persecutions, passions: what manner of things were done to me at Antioch, at Iconium, at Lystra: what manner of persecutions I sustained. And out of all, our Lord delivered me. {12} And all that will live godly in Christ JESUS, shall suffer persecution. {13} But evil men & seducers shall prosper to the worse: erring, and driving into error. {14} But thou, continue in those things which thou hast learned, & are committed to thee: knowing of whom thou hast learned; {15} & because from thine infancy thou hast known the holy Scriptures, which can instruct thee to salvation, by the faith that is in Christ JESUS. {16} All Scripture inspired of God, is profitable to teach, to argue, to correct, to instruct in justice: {17} that the man of God may be perfect, instructed to every good work.

Chapter 4

He requireth him to be earnest while he may, because the time will come when they will not abide Catholic preaching, {5} and to fulfil his course, as him self now hath done. {9} and to come unto him with speed, because the rest of his train are dispersed, and he draweth now to heaven.

{1} I Testify before God and JESUS Christ who shall judge the living and the dead, and by his advent, and his Kingdom: {2} Preach the word. Urge in season, out of season, reprove, beseech, rebuke, in all patience and doctrine. {3} For there shall be a time when they will not bear sound doctrine: but according to their own desires they will heap to themselves masters, having itching ears, {4} and from the truth certes they will avert their hearing, and to fables they will be converted. {5} But be thou vigilant, labour in all things, do the work of an Evangelist, fulfill thy ministry. Be sober. {6} For I am even now to be sacrificed: and the time of my resolution is at hand. {7} I have fought a good fight, I have consummate my course, I have kept the faith. {8} Concerning the rest, there is laid up for me a crown of justice, which our Lord will render to me in that day, a just judge: and not only to me, but to them also that love his coming. {9} Make haste to come to me quickly. {10} For Demas hath left me, loving this world, and is gone to Thessalonica: Crescens into Galatia, Titus into Dalmatia. {11} Luke only is with me. Take Mark, and bring him with thee: for he is profitable to me for the ministry. {12} But Tychicus I have sent to Ephesus. {13} The cloak that I left at Troas with Carpus, coming bring with thee, and the books, especially the parchment. {14} Alexander the Coppersmith hath shewed me much evil: our Lord will reward him according to his works: {15} whom do thou also avoid, for he hath greatly resisted our words. {16} In my first answer no man was with me, but all did forsake me: be it not imputed to them. {17} But our Lord stood to me, and strengthened me, that by me the preaching may be accomplished, and all Gentiles may hear: and I was delivered from the mouth of the lion. {18} Our Lord hath delivered me from all evil work: and will save me unto his heavenly Kingdom. To whom be glory for ever and ever. Amen. {19} Salute Prisca and Aquila, and the house of Onesiphorus. {20} Erastus remained at Corinth. And Trophimus I left sick at Miletum. {21} Make haste to come before winter.

Eubulus and Pudens and Linus and Claudia, and all the brethren, salute thee. {22} Our Lord JESUS Christ be with thy spirit. Grace be with you. Amen.

THE FIRST EPISTLE OF S. PAUL TO TITUS

Chapter 1

Of what quality the Priests and Bishops must be: {9} namely learned, considering the Judaical seducers of that time. {12} That the Cretensians must be roughly used, to have them continue sound in faith.

{1} PAUL the servant of God, and an Apostle of JESUS Christ according to the faith of the elect of God and knowledge of the truth: which is according to piety, {2} into the hope of life everlasting, which he promised that lieth not, God, before the secular times: {3} but hath manifested in due times his word in preaching, which is committed to me according to the precept of our Saviour God: {4} to Titus my beloved son according to the common faith, grace and peace from God the Father, and Christ JESUS our Saviour. {5} For this cause left I thee in Crete, that thou shouldest reform the things that are wanting, and shouldest ordain priests by cities, as I also appointed thee: {6} if any be without crime, the husband of one wife, having faithful children, not in the accusation of riot, or not obedient. {7} For a Bishop must be without crime, as the steward of God: not proud, not angry, not given to wine, no striker, not covetous of filthy lucre: {8} but given to hospitality, gentle, sober, just, holy, continent: {9} embracing that faithful word which is according to doctrine, that he may be able to exhort in sound doctrine, and to reprove them that gainsay it. {10} For there be many disobedient, vain-speakers, and seducers, especially they that are of the Circumcision. {11} Who must be controlled. Who subvert whole houses, teaching the things they ought not, for filthy lucre. {12} One of them said, their own proper prophet, The Cretensians always liars, naughty beasts, slothful bellies. {13} This testimony is true. For the which cause rebuke them sharply, that they may be sound in the faith, {14} not attending to Jewish fables, and commandments of men, averting themselves from the truth. {15} All things are clean to the clean: but to the polluted and to infidels nothing is clean: but polluted are both their mind and conscience. {16} They confess that they know God: but in their works they deny, whereas they be abominable and incredulous and to every good work reprobate.

Chapter 2

What to preach both to old and young (not only with word but with example also) and to servants. {11} For there are of all sorts in the Church, and they must be instructed accordingly.

{1} BUT do thou speak the things that become sound doctrine. sober, chaste, wise, sound in the faith, in {2} Old men that they be love, in patience. {3} Old women in like manner, in holy attire, not ill speakers, not given to much wine: teaching well, {4} that they may teach the young women wisdom, to love their husbands, to love their children, {5} wise, chaste, sober, having a care of the house, gentle, subject to their husbands, that the word of God be not blasphemed. {6} Yong men in like manner exhort that they be sober. {7} In all things shew thyself an example of good works, in doctrine, in integrity, in gravity, {8} the word sound, irreprehensible: that he which is on the contrary part, may be afraid, having no evil to say of us. {9} Servants to be subject to their masters, in all things pleasing, not gainsaying: {10} not defrauding, {1270} but in all things shewing good faith, that they may adorn the doctrine of our Saviour God in all things. {11} For the grace of God our Saviour hath appeared to all men: {12} instructing us that denying impiety and worldly desires, we live soberly, and justly, and godly in this world, {13} expecting the blessed hope and advent of the glory of the great God and our Saviour JESUS Christ, {14} who gave himself for us, that he might redeem us from all iniquity, and might cleanse to himself a people acceptable, a pursuer of good works. {15} These things speak, and exhort and rebuke with all authority. Let no man contemn thee.

Chapter 3

To teach them obedience unto Princes, and meekness towards all men, considering that we also were as they, till God of his goodness brought us to Baptism. {8} To teach good works, {9} and to avoid vain questions, {10} and obstinate Heretics.

{1} ADMONISH them to be subject to Princes and Potestates, to obey at a word, to be ready to every good work, {2} to blaspheme no man, not to be litigious, but modest: shewing all mildness toward all men. {3} For we also were sometime unwise, incredulous, erring, serving diverse desires and voluptuousnesses, living in malice and envy, odible, hating one another. {4} But when the benignity and kindness toward man of our Saviour God appeared: {5} not by the works of Justice which we did, but according to his mercy he hath saved us by the laver of regeneration and renovation of the Holy Ghost, {6} whom he hath poured upon us abundantly by JESUS Christ our Saviour: {7} that being justified by his grace, we may be heirs according to hope of life everlasting. {8} It is a faithful saying, and of these things I will have thee avouch earnestly: that they which believe in God, be careful to excel in good works. These things be good and profitable for men. {9} But foolish questions, and genealogies, and contentions, and controversies of the Law avoid. For they are unprofitable and vain. {10} A man that is an heretic after the first and second admonition avoid: {11} knowing that he that is such an one, is subverted, and sinneth, being condemned by his own judgement. {12} When I shall send to thee Artemas or Tychicus, hasten to come unto me to Nicopolis. For there I have determined to winter. {13} Set forward Zenas the lawyer and Apollos carefully, that nothing be wanting to them. {14} And let our men also learn to excel in good works to necessary uses: that they be not unfruitful. {15} All that are with me, salute thee: salute them that love us in the faith. The grace of God be with you all. Amen.

THE EPISTLE OF S. PAUL TO PHILEMON

Chapter 1

Hearing of Philemon's virtue, who was a Colossian, he writeth a familiar letter from Rome (being prisoner there) about his fugitive servant Onesimus: not doubting but that he might command him, yet rather requesting that he will forgive him, yea and receive him as he would Paul him self, who also hopeth to come unto him.

{1} PAUL the prisoner of Christ JESUS, and brother Timothee: to Philemon the beloved and our coadjutor, {2} and to Appia our dearest sister, and to Archippus our fellow-soldier and to the church which is in thy house. {3} Grace to you and peace from God our Father, and our Lord JESUS Christ. {4} I give thanks to my God, always making a memory of thee in my prayers, {5} hearing thy charity & faith which thou hast in our Lord JESUS, and toward all the saints: {6} that the communication of thy faith may be made evident in the agnition of all good that is in you in Christ JESUS. {7} For I have had great joy and consolation in thy charity, because the bowels of the saints have rested by thee brother. {8} For the which thing having great confidence in Christ JESUS to command thee that, which pertaineth to the purpose: {9} for charity rather I beseech, whereas thou art such an one, as Paul being old and now prisoner also of JESUS Christ. {10} I beseech thee for my son whom I have begotten in bands, Onesimus, {11} who hath been sometime unprofitable to thee, but now profitable both to me and thee, {12} whom I have sent back to thee. And do thou receive him as mine own bowels. {13} Whom I would have retained with me, that for thee he might minister to me in the bands of the Gospel: {14} but without thy counsel I would do nothing: that thy good might be not as it were of necessity, but voluntary. {15} For perhaps therefore he departed for a season from thee, that thou mightest take him again for ever. {16} Now not as a servant, but for a servant, a most dear brother, especially to me, but how much more to thee both in the flesh and in our Lord? {17} If therefore thou take me for thy fellow; receive him as my self. {18} And if he hath hurt thee any thing or is in thy debt, that, impute to me. {19} I, Paul have written with mine own hand: I will repay it: not to say to thee, that thou owest me thine own self also. {20} Yea brother. God grant I may enjoy thee in our Lord. Refresh my bowels in our Lord. {21} Trusting in thy obedience I have written to thee, knowing that thou wilt do above that also which I do say. {22} And withal provide me also a lodging. For I hope by your prayers that I shall be given to you. {23} There salute thee Epaphras my fellow-prisoner in Christ JESUS, {24} Mark, Aristarchus, Demas and Luke my coadjutors. {25} The grace of our Lord JESUS Christ be with your spirit. Amen.

THE EPISTLE OF S. PAUL TO THE HEBREWS

Chapter 1

God spake to their fathers by the Prophets: but to them selves by his own Son, 14. who incomparably passeth all the Angels.

{1} DIVERSELY and many ways in times past God speaking to the fathers in the prophets, {2} last of all in these days hath spoken to us in his Son, whom he hath appointed heir of all, by whom he made also the worlds. {3} Who being the brightness of his glory, and the figure of his substance, and carrying all things by the word of his power, making purgation of sins, sitteth on the right hand of the Majesty in the high places: {4} being made so much better than Angels, as he hath inherited a more excellent name above them. {5} For to which of the Angels hath he said at any time, Thou are my Son, to day have I begotten thee? and again, I will be to him a Father, and he shall be to me a Son. {6} And when again he bringeth in the first-begotten into the world, he saith, And let all the Angels of God adore him. {7} And to the Angels truly he saith, He that maketh his Angels, spirits: and his ministers, a flame of fire. {8} But to the Son: Thy throne o God for ever and ever: a rod of equity, the rod of thy kingdom. {9} Thou hast loved justice, and hated iniquity: therefore thee, God, thy God hath anointed with the oil of exultation above thy fellows. {10} And, Thou in the beginning o Lord didst found the earth: and the works of thy hands are the heavens. {11} They shall perish, but thou shalt continue: and they shall all wax old as a garment. {12} And as a vesture shalt thou change them, and they shall be changed: but thou art the self-same, and thy years shall not fail. {13} But to which of the Angels said he at any time: Sit on my right hand, until I make thine enemies the foot-stool of thy feet? {14} Are they not all, ministering spirits: sent to minister for them which shall receive the inheritance of salvation?

Chapter 2

He inferreth of the foresaid, that it shall be incomparably more damnable for them to neglect the new Testament than the old, 3. considering the irrefragable authority of the Apostles also. 5. Then he prosecuteth the excellency of Christ above the Angels, 9. who nevertheless, was made lesser than Angels, to suffer and die for men, to destroy the dominion of the Devil, 15. to deliver men from fear of death, 17. and to be a fit Priest for men.

{1} THEREFORE more abundantly ought we to observe those things which we have heard: lest perhaps we run out. {2} For if the word that was spoken by Angels, became sure, and all prevarication and disobedience hath received a just retribution of reward: {3} how shall we escape if we neglect so great salvation?

which when it was begun to be declared by our Lord, of them that heard, was confirmed on us, {4} God withal testifying by signs, and wonders, and diverse miracles, and distributions of the Holy Ghost according to his will. {5} For not to Angels hath God made subject the world to come, whereof we speak. {6} But one hath testified in a certain place, saying: What is man, that thou art mindful of him: or the son of man, that thou visitest him? {7} Thou didst diminish him little less than Angels: with glory and honour thou hast crowned him, and constituted him over the works of thy hands. {8} All things hast thou made subject under his feet. For in that he subjected all things to him, he left nothing not subject to him. But now we see not as yet all things subjected to him. {9} But him that was a little lessened under the Angels, we see JESUS, because of the passion of death, crowned with glory and honour: that through the grace of God he might taste death for all. {10} For it became him for whom all things, and by whom all things, that had brought many children into glory, to consummate the author of their salvation, by his passion. {11} For he that sanctifieth, and they that be sanctified; all of one. For the which cause he is not ashamed to call them brethren, {12} saying, I will declare thy name to my brethren: in the midst of the Church will I praise thee. {13} And again, I will have affiance in him. And again, Behold here am I & my children: whom God hath given me. {14} Therefore because the children have communicated with flesh and blood, himself also in like manner hath been partaker of the same: that by death he might destroy him that had the empire of death, that is to say, the devil: {15} and might deliver them that by the fear of death through all their life were subject to servitude. {16} For no where doth he take Angels: but the seed of Abraham he taketh. {17} Whereupon he ought in all things to be like unto his brethren: that he might become a merciful and faithful high Priest before God, that he might repropitiate the sins of the people. {18} For in that wherein himself suffered and was tempted: he is able to help them also that are tempted.

By example of Christ (who is incomparably more excellent than Moyses also) he exhorteth them to be faithful unto God. 7. Their reward shall be, to enter into everlasting rest, if they persevere, as contrariwise to be excluded (as was shadowed in their forefathers in the wilderness) if they sin and become incredulous.

{1} WHEREFORE, holy brethren, partakers of the heavenly vocation, consider the Apostle, and high Priest of our confession JESUS: {2} who is faithful to him that made him, as also Moyses in all his house. {3} For, this man is esteemed worthy of more ample glory above Moyses, by so much as more ample glory than the house, hath he that framed it. {4} For every house is framed of some man. But he that created all things, is God. {5} And Moyses indeed was faithful in all his house as a servant, for a testimony of those things which were to be said: {6} but Christ as the Son in his own house: which house are we, if we keep firm the confidence and glory of hope unto the end. {7} Wherefore, as the Holy Ghost saith, To day if you shall hear his voice, {8} harden not your hearts as in the exacerbation according to the day of temptation in the desert, {9} where your fathers tempted me: proved and saw my works {10} forty years. For the which cause I was offended with this Generation, and said, They do always err in heart. And they have not known my ways. {11} to whom I swear in my wrath, If they shall enter into my rest. {12} Beware brethren, lest perhaps there be in some of you an evil heart of incredulity, to depart from the living God. {13} But exhort your selves every day, whiles to day is named, that none of you be obdurate with the fallacy of sin. {14} For we be made partakers of Christ: yet so if we keep the beginning of his substance firm unto the end. {15} While it is said, To day if you shall hear his voice, do not obdurate your hearts as in that exacerbation. {16} For some hearing did exasperate: but not all they that went out of Ægypt by Moyses. {17} And with whom was he offended forty years? was it not with them that sinned, whose carcasses were overthrown in the desert? {18} And to whom did he swear that they should not enter into his rest: but to them that were incredulous? {19} And we see that they could not enter in, because of incredulity.

Chapter 4

That they must fear to be excluded out of the foresaid rest (which he progetteth out of the psalm) 12. considering that Christ seeth their most inward secrets. 14. And that he (as their Priest who also him self suffered) is able and ready to strengthen them in confession of their faith.

{1} LET us fear therefore lest perhaps forsaking the promise of entering into his rest, some of you be thought to be wanting. {2} For to us also it hath been denounced, as also to them. But the word of hearing did not profit them, not mixt with faith of those things which they heard. {3} For we that have believed, shall enter into the rest: as he said, As I swear in my wrath, if they shall enter into my rest: & truly the works from the foundation of the world being perfited. {4} For he said in a certain place of the seventh day, thus: And God rested the seventh day from all his works. {5} And again in this, If they shall enter into my rest. {6} Because then it remaineth that certain enter into it, and they to whom first it was preached, did not enter because of incredulity: {7} again he limiteth a certain day: Today, in David saying, after so long time, as is above said, To day if you shall hear his voice: do not obdurate your hearts. {8} For if Jesus had given them rest: he would never speak of another day afterward. {9} Therefore there is left a sabbatism for the people of God. {10} For he that is entered into his rest, the same also hath rested from his works, as God from his. {11} Let us hasten therefore to enter into that rest: that no man fall into the same example of incredulity. {12} For the word of God is lively and forcible, and more piercing than any two-edged sword: & reaching unto the division of the soul and the spirit, of the joints also and the marrow, and a discerner of the cogitations and intents of the heart. {13} And there is no creature invisible in his sight. But all things are naked and open to his eyes, to whom our speech is. {14} Having therefore a great high Priest that hath entered the heavens, JESUS the Son of God, let us hold the confession. {15} For we have not a high priest that can not have compassion on our infirmities: but tempted in all things by similitude, except sin. {16} Let us go therefore with confidence to the throne of grace: that we may obtain mercy, and find grace in seasonable aid.

Chapter 5

That Christ being a man and infirm, was therein but as all Priests: and that he also was called of God to this office: offering as the others: 8. and suffered obediently for our example. 11. Of whose Priesthood he hath much to say, but that the Hebrews have need rather to hear their Catechism again.

{1} FOR every high Priest taken from among men, is appointed for men in those things that pertain to God: that he may offer gifts and sacrifices for sins: {2} that can have compassion on them that be ignorant and do err: because himself also is compassed with infirmity: {3} & therefore he ought, as for the people, so also for himself to offer for sins. {4} Neither doth any man take the honour to himself, but he that is called of God, as Aaron. {5} So Christ also did not glorify himself that he might be made a high priest; but he that spake to him, My Son art thou, I this day have begotten thee. {6} As also in another place he saith, Thou art a priest for ever, according to the order of Melchisedech. {7} Who in the days of his flesh, with a strong cry and tears, offering prayers and supplications to him that could save him from death, was heard for his reverence. {8} And truly whereas he was the Son, he learned by those things which he suffered, obedience: {9} and being consummate, was made to all that obey him, cause of eternal salvation, {10} called of God a high priest according to the order of Melchisedech. {11} Of whom we have great speech and inexplicable to utter: because you are become weak to hear. {12} For whereas you ought to be masters for your time, you need to be taught again your selves what be the elements of the beginning of the words of God: & you are become such as have need of milk, and not of strong meat. {13} For every one that is partaker of milk, is unskilful of the word of justice: for he is a child. {14} But strong meat is for the perfect, them that by custom have their senses exercised to the discerning of good and evil.

Chapter 6

He exhorteth them to be perfect scholars, and not to need to be Catechumens again. 4. considering they can not be baptized again: 9. and remembering their former good works, for the which God will not fail to perform them his promise, if they fail not to imitate Abraham by perseverance in the faith with patience. 20. And so endeth his digression, and returneth to the matter of Christ's Priesthood.

{1} WHEREFORE intermitting the word of the beginning of Christ, let us proceed to perfection, not again laying the foundation of penance from dead works, & of faith toward God, {2} of the doctrine of baptisms, & of imposition of hands, & of the resurrection of the dead, & of eternal judgement. {3} And this shall we do, if God will permit. {4} For it is impossible for them that were once illuminated, have tasted also the heavenly gift, & were made partakers of the holy Ghost, {5} have more-over tasted the good word of God, & the powers of the world to come, {6} and are fallen, to be renewed again to penance, crucifying again to themselves the Son of God, and making him a mockery. {7} For the earth drinking the rain often coming upon it, & bringing forth grass commodious for them by whom it is tilled, receiveth blessing of God. {8} But bringing forth thorns and briers, it is reprobate, and very near a curse, whose end is, to be burnt. {9} But we confidently trust of you, my best beloved, better things and nearer to salvation; although we speak thus. {10} For God is not unjust, that he should forget your work & love which you have shewed in his name, which have ministered to the saints and do minister. {11} And our desire is that every one of you shew forth the same carefulness to the accomplishing of hope unto the end: {12} that you become not slothful, but imitators of them which by faith and patience shall inherit the promises. {13} For God promising to Abraham, because he had none greater by whom he might swear, he sware by himself, {14} saying, Unless blessing I shall bless thee, and multiplying shall multiply thee. {15} And so patiently enduring he obtained the promise. {16} For men swear by a greater than themselves: and the end of all their controversy, for the confirmation, is an oath. {17} Wherein God meaning more abundantly to shew to the heirs of the promise the stability of his counsel, he interposed an oath: {18} that by two things unmoveable, whereby it is impossible for God to lie, we may have a most strong comfort. Who have fled to hold fast the hope proposed, {19} which we have as an anchor of the soul, sure and firm, and going in into the inner parts of the veil, {20} where JESUS the precursor for us is entered, made a high Priest for ever according to the order of Melchisedech.

Chapter 7

To prove the Priesthood of Christ incomparably to excel the priesthood of Aaron (and therefore, that Levitical priesthood now to cease, and that law also with it) he scanneth every word of the verse alleged out of the Psalm, Our Lord hath sworn: thou art a Priest for ever, according to the order of Melchisedech.

{1} FOR this Melchisedech, the king of Salem, Priest of the God most high, who met Abraham returning from the slaughter of the kings, and blessed him: {2} to whom also Abraham divided tithes of all: first indeed by interpretation, the king of justice: & then also king of Salem, which is to say, king of peace, {3} without father, without mother, without genealogy, having neither beginning of days nor end of life, but likened to the Son of God, continueth a Priest for ever. {4} And behold how great this man is, to whom also Abraham the Patriarch gave tithes of the principal things. {5} And certes they of the sons of Levi that take the priesthood have commandment to take tithes of the people according to the Law, that is to say, of their brethren: albeit themselves also issued out of the loins of Abraham. {6} But he whose generation is not numbered among them, took tithes of Abraham, and blessed him that had the promises. {7} But without all contradiction, that which is less, is blessed of the better. {8} And here indeed, men that die, receive tithes: but there he hath witness, that he liveth. {9} And (that it may so be said) by Abraham Levi also, which received tithes, was tithed. {10} For as yet he was in his father's loins, when Melchisedech met him. {11} If then consummation was by the Levitical priesthood (for under it the people received the Law) what necessity was there yet another priest to rise according to the order of Melchisedech, and not to be called according to the order of Aaron? {12} For the priesthood being translated, it is necessary that a translation of the Law also be made. {13} For he on whom these things be said, is of another tribe, of the which, none attended on the altar. {14} For it is manifest that our Lord sprung of Juda: in the which tribe Moyses spake nothing of priests. {15} And yet it is much more evident: if according to the similitude of Melchisedech there arise another priest, {16} which was not made according to the Law of the carnal commandment, but according to the power of life indissoluble. {17} For he witnesseth, That thou art a priest for ever, according to the order of Melchisedech. {18} Reprobation certes is made of the former commandment, because of the weakness and unprofitableness thereof. {19} For the Law brought nothing to perfection, but an introduction of a better hope, by the which we approach to God. {20} And in as much as it is not without an oath, (the other truly without an oath were made priests: {21} but this with an oath, by him that said unto him: Our Lord hath sworn, & it shall not repent him: thou art a Priest for ever) {22} by so much, is JESUS made a surety of a better testament. {23} And the other indeed were made Priests, being many, because that by death they were prohibited to continue: {24} but this, for that he continueth for ever, hath an everlasting priesthood. {25} whereby he is able to save also for ever going by himself to God: always living to make intercession for us. {26} For it was seemly that we should have such a high Priest, holy, innocent, impolluted, separated from sinners, and made higher than the Heavens. {27} which hath not necessity daily (as the Priests) first for his own sins to offer hosts, then for the peoples. For this he did once, in offering himself. {28} For the Law appointeth Priests men that have infirmity: but the word of the oath which is after the Law, the Son for ever perfected.

Out of the same Psalm [109] he urgeth this also, Sit thou on my right hand, shewing that the Levitical tabernacle on earth, was but a shadow of his true Tabernacle in heaven: without which he should not be a Priest at all: 6. Whereas he is of a better Priesthood than they, as also he prooveth by the excellency of the new Testament above the old.

{1} BUT the sum concerning those things which be said, is: We have such an high Priest, who is set on the right hand of the seat of majesty in the heavens. {2} A Minister of the Holies, and of the true tabernacle, which our Lord pight and not man. {3} For every high priest is appointed to offer gifts and hosts, wherefore it is necessary that he also have some thing that he may offer: {4} if then he were upon the earth, neither were he a priest: whereas there were that did offer gifts according to the Law, {5} that serve the exemplar and shadow of heavenly things. As it was answered Moyses, when he finished the tabernacle, See (quoth he) that thou make all things according to the exemplar which was shewed thee in the mount. {6} But now he hath obtained a better ministry, by so much as he is Mediator of a better testament, {1277} which is established in better promises. {7} For if that former had been void of fault, there should not certes a place of a second been sought. {8} For blaming them, he saith: Behold the days shall come, saith our Lord: and I will consummate upon the house of Israel, and upon the house of Juda a new Testament: {9} not according to the testament which I made to their fathers in the day that I took their hand to bring them out of the land of Egypt: because they did not continue in my testament: and I neglected them, saith our Lord. {10} For this is the Testament which I will dispose to the house of Israel after those days, saith our Lord: Giving my laws into their mind, and in their heart will I superscribe them: and I will be their God, and they shall be my people: {11} and every one shall not teach his neighbour, and every one his brother, saying, Know our Lord: because all shall know me from the lesser to the greater of them: {12} because I will be merciful to their iniquities, & their sins I will not now remember. {13} And in saying a new, the former he hath made old. And that which groweth ancient and waxed old, is nigh to utter decay.

In the old Testament, that secular sanctuary had two parts: the one signifying that time, with the ceremonies thereof for the emundation of the flesh: the one signifying heaven, which then was shut, until our High priest Christ entered into it, and that with his own blood, shed for the emundation of our consciences. Whereupon he concludeth the excellency of his tabernacle and host above the old. 25. Noting also the difference, that he entered but once (so effectual was that one bloody offering of him self, for ever) whereas the Levitical High priest entered every year once.

{1} THE former also indeed had justifications of service, and a secular sanctuary. tabernacle was made, the first, wherein {2} For the were the candlesticks, and the table, and the proposition of loaves, which is called Holy. {3} But after the second veil, the tabernacle, which is called Sancta Sanctorum: {4} having a golden censer, and the ark of the testament covered about on every part with gold, in the which was a golden pot having Manna, and the rod of Aaron that had blossomed, and the tables of the testament, {5} and over it were the Cherubins of glory over-shadowing the propitiatory, of which things it is not needful to speak now particularly. {6} But these things being so ordered, in the first tabernacle indeed the Priests always entered, accomplishing offices of the sacrifices. {7} But in the second, once a year the high priest only: not without blood which he offereth for his own and the people's ignorance: {8} the Holy Ghost signifying this, that the way of the Holies was not yet manifested, the former tabernacle as yet standing. {9} Which is a parable of the time present: according to which are offered gifts and hosts, which can not concerning the conscience, make perfect him that serveth, {10} only in meats and in drinks, and diverse baptisms, and justices of the flesh laid on them until the time of correction. {11} But Christ assisting an high Priest of the good things to come, by a more ample and more perfect tabernacle not made with hand, that is, not of this creation: {12} neither by the blood of goats or of calves, but by his own blood entered in once into the Holies, eternal redemption being found. {13} For if the blood of goats and of oxen and the ashes of an heifer being sprinkled, sanctifieth the polluted to the cleansing of the flesh, {14} how much more hath the blood of Christ who by the Holy Ghost offered himself unspotted unto God, cleansed our conscience from dead works, to serve the living God? {15} And therefore he is the Mediator of the new Testament: that death being a mean, unto the redemption of these prevarications which were under the former testament, they that are called may receive the promise of eternal inheritance. {16} For where there is a testament: the death of the testator must of necessity come between. {17} For a testament is confirmed in the dead: otherwise it is yet of no value, whiles the testator liveth. {18} Whereupon neither was the first certes dedicated without blood. {19} For all the commandment of the Law being read of Moyses to all the people: he taking the blood of calves and goats with water and scarlet wool and hyssop, sprinkled the very book also it self and all the people. {20} saying, This is the blood of the Testament, which God hath commanded unto you. {21} The tabernacle also & all the vessel of the ministry he in like manner sprinkled with blood. {22} And all things almost according to the law are cleansed with blood: and without shedding of blood there is not remission. {23} It is necessary therefore that the exemplars of the celestials be cleansed with these: but the celestials themselves with better hosts than these. {24} For JESUS is not entered into Holies made with hand, exemplars of the true: but into Heaven it-self, that he may appear now to the countenance of God for us. {25} Nor that he should offer himself often, as the high priest entereth into the Holies, every year in the blood of others: {26} otherwise he ought to have suffered often from the beginning of the world: but now once in the consummation of the worlds, to the destruction of sin, he hath appeared by his own host. {27} And as it is appointed to men to die once, and after this, the judgement: {28} so also Christ was offered once to exhaust the sins of many. The second time he shall appear without sin to them that expect him, unto salvation.

Chapter 10

Because in the yearly feast of Expiation was only a commemoration of sins, therefore in place of all those old sacrifices the Psalm telleth us of the oblation of Christ's body. 10. which he offered bloody but once (the Levitical Priests offering so every day) because that once was sufficient for ever, 15. in that it purchased (as the prophet also witnesseth) remission of sins. 19. After all this he prosecuteth and exhorteth them unto perseverance, partly with the opening of Heaven by our high-priest, 26. partly with the terror of damnation if they fall again: 32. bidding them remember how much they had suffered already, and not lose their reward.

{1} FOR the law having a shadow of good things to come, not the very image of the things: every year with the self-same hosts which they offer incessantly, can never make the comers thereto perfect: {2} otherwise they should have ceased to be offered, because the worshippers once cleansed should have no conscience of sin any longer. {3} But in them there is made a commemoration of sin every year. {4} For it is impossible that with the blood of oxen and goats sins should be taken away. {5} Therefore coming into the world he saith: Host and oblation thou wouldest not: but a body thou hast fitted to me: {6} Holocausts and for sin did not please thee. {7} Then said I, Behold I come: in the head of the book it is written of me: That I may do thy will, o God. {8} Saying before, Because hosts and oblations & holocausts, & for sin thou wouldest not, neither did they please thee, which are offered according to the law, {9} then said I, Behold I come that I may do thy will, o God: he taketh away the first, that he may establish that that followeth. {10} In the which will, we are sanctified by the oblation of the body of JESUS Christ once. {11} And every Priest indeed is ready daily ministering, and often offering the same hosts, which can never take away sins: {12} but this man offering one host for sins, for ever sitteth on the right hand of God, {13} henceforth expecting, until his enemies be put the foot-stool of his feet. {14} For by one oblation hath he consummated for ever them that are sanctified. {15} And the Holy Ghost also doth testify to us. For after that, he said: {16} And this is the Testament which I will make to them after those days, saith our Lord, giving my laws in their hearts, and in their minds will I superscribe them: {17} and their sins and iniquities I will now remember no more. {18} But where there is remission of these, now there is not an oblation for sins. {19} Having therefore, brethren, confidence in the entering of the Holies in the blood of Christ: {20} which he hath dedicated to us a new & living way by the veil, that is, his flesh, {21} and a high Priest over the house of God, {22} let us approach with a true heart in fullness of faith, having our hearts sprinkled from evil conscience, and our body washed with clean water. {23} Let us hold the confession of our hope undeclining (for he is faithful that hath promised) {24} and let us consider one another unto the provocation of charity and of good works: {25} not forsaking our assembly as some are accustomed, but comforting, and so much the more as you see the day approaching. {26} For if we sin willingly after the knowledge of the truth received, now there is not left an host for sins, {27} but a certain terrible expectation of judgement & rage of fire, which shall consume the adversaries. {28} A man making the Law of Moyses frustrate, without any mercy dieth under two or three witnesses. {29} How much more think you, doth he deserve worse punishments which hath trodden the Son of God under-foot, and esteemed the blood of the testament polluted, wherein he is sanctified, and hath done contumely to the spirit of grace? {30} For we know him that said, Revenge to me, I will repay. And again, That our Lord will judge his people. {31} It is horrible to fall into the hands of the living God. {32} But call to mind the old days: wherein being illuminated, you sustained a great fight of passions. {33} And on the one part certes by reproaches and tribulations made a spectacle; & on the other part made companions of them that conversed in such sort. {34} For, you both had compassion on them that were in bonds: and the spoil of your own goods you took with joy, knowing that you have a better and a permanent substance. {35} Do not therefore leese your confidence, which hath a great remuneration. {36} For patience is necessary for you: that doing the will of God, you may receive the promise. {37} For yet a little and a very little while, he that is to come, will come, and will not slack. {38} And my just liveth of faith: but if he withdraw himself, he shall not please my soul. {39} But we are not the children of withdrawing unto perdition: but of faith to the winning of the soul.

He exhorteth them by the definition of faith, to stick unto God, though they see not yet his reward: shewing that all the Saints aforetime did the like, being all constant in faith, though not one of them received the promise, that is, the inheritance in heaven: but they and we now after the coming of Christ receive it together.

{1} AND faith is, the substance of things to be hoped for, the argument of things not appearing. {2} For in this the old men obtained testimony. {3} By faith, we understand that the worlds were framed by the word of God: that of invisible things visible things might be made. {4} By faith, Abel offered a greater host to God than Cain: by which he obtained testimony that he was just, God giving testimony to his gifts, and by it, he being dead, yet speaketh. {5} By faith Henoch was translated, that he should not see death, and he was not found: because God translated him. For before his translation he had testimony that he had pleased God. {6} But without faith it is impossible to please God. For he that cometh to God, must believe that he is, and is a rewarder to them that seek him. {7} By faith, Noe having received an answer concerning those things which as yet were not seen, fearing, framed the ark for the saving of his house, by the which he condemned the world: and was instituted heir of the justice which is by faith. {8} By faith, he that is called, Abraham, obeyed to go forth into the place which he was to receive for inheritance: and he went forth, not knowing whither he went. {9} By faith, he abode in the land of promise, as in a strange land, dwelling in cottages with Isaac & Jacob the coheirs of the same promise. {10} For he expected the city that hath foundations: whose artificer and maker is God. {11} By faith, Sara also her self being barren, received virtue in conceiving of seed, yea past the time of age: because she believed that he was faithful which had promised. {12} For the which cause even of one (and him quite dead) there rose as the stars of heaven in multitude, and as the sand that is by the sea shore innumerable. {13} According to faith died all these, not having received the promises, but beholding them a far off, and saluting them, and confessing that they are pilgrims & strangers upon the earth. {14} For they that say these things, do signify that they seek a country. {15} And indeed if they had been mindful of the same from whence they came forth, they had time verily to return. {16} But now they desire a better, that is to say, a heavenly. Therefore God is not confounded to be called their God. For he hath prepared them a city. {17} By faith, Abraham offered Isaac, when he was tempted: and his only-begotten did he offer who had received the promises: {18} (to whom it was said, That in Isaac shall seed be called to thee.) {19} accounting that God is able to raise up even from the dead. Whereupon he received him also for a parable. {20} By faith, also of things to come, Isaac blessed Jacob and Esau. {21} By faith, Jacob dying, blessed every one of the sons of Joseph: and adored the top of his rod. {22} By faith, Joseph dying, made mention of the going forth of the children of Israel: and gave commandment concerning his bones. {23} By faith, Moyses being born, was hid three months by his parents: because they saw him a proper infant, and they feared not the king's edict. {24} By faith, Moyses being made great, denied himself to be the son of Pharaoh's daughter: {25} rather choosing to be afflicted with the people of God, than to have the pleasure of temporal sin, {26} esteeming the reproach of Christ, greater riches than the treasure of the Ægyptians. For he looked unto the remuneration. {27} By faith, he left Ægypt: not fearing the fierceness of the king. For him that is invisible he sustained as if he had seen him. {28} By faith, he celebrated the Pasche, & the shedding of the blood: that he which destroyed the first-born, might not touch them. {29} By faith they passed the red sea as it were by the dry land: which the Ægyptians assaying, were devoured. {30} By faith the walls of Jericho fell down, by the circuiting of seven days. {31} By faith, Rahab the harlot perished not with the incredulous, receiving the spies with peace. {32} And what shall I yet say? For the time will fail me telling of Gedeon, Barac, Sampson, Jepheth, David, Samuel, & the prophets: {33} who by faith overcame kingdoms, wrought justice, obtained promises, stopped the mouths of lions, {34} extinguished the force of fire, repelled the edge of the sword, recovered of their infirmity, were made strong in battle, turned away the camp of foreigners: {35} women received of resurrection their dead, and others were racked, not accepting redemption, that they might find a better resurrection. {36} And others had trial of mockeries and stripes, moreover also of bands and prisons: {37} they were stoned, they were hewed, they were tempted, they died in the slaughter of the sword, they went about in sheep-skins, in goats' skins, needy, in distress, afflicted: {38} of whom the world was not worthy; wandering in deserts, in mountains & dens, and in caves of the earth. {39} And all these being approved by the testimony of faith, received not the promise, {40} God for us providing some better thing, that they without us should not be consummate.

By the foresaid examples he exhorteth them to patience, 2. and by example of Christ him self crucified, 5. and because this discipline is an argument that they be God's children, 9. with whose rod they should be much more content than with that of their carnal fathers: and because it bringeth justification. 12. Exhorting them therefore to pluck up their hearts, and to take faster footing: 18. considering that all being now so sweet, and not terrible as in the old Testament, their damnation, if they refuse to hear, will be so much the greater.

{1} AND therefore we also having so great a cloud of witnesses put upon us: laying away all weight and sin that compasseth us, by patience let us run to the fight proposed unto us, {2} looking on the author of faith, and the consummator JESUS, who, joy being proposed unto him, sustained the Cross, contemning confusion, and sitteth on the right hand of the seat of God. {3} For, think diligently upon him which sustained of sinners such contradiction against himself: that you be not wearied, fainting in your minds. {4} For you have not yet resisted unto blood, repugning against sin: {5} and you have forgotten the consolation, which speaketh to you, as it were to children, saying, My son, neglect not the discipline of our Lord: neither be thou wearied whiles thou art rebuked of him. {6} For whom our Lord loveth, he chasteneth; & he scourgeth every child that he receiveth. {7} Persevere ye in discipline. As unto children doth God offer himself to you. For what son is there, whom the father doth not correct? {8} But if you be without discipline, whereof all be made partakers; then are you bastards, and not children. {9} Moreover the fathers indeed of our flesh we had for instructors, and we did reverence them: shall we not much more obey the Father of spirits, and live? {10} And they indeed for a time of few days, according to their will instructed us: but he, to that which is profitable in receiving of his sanctification. {11} And all discipline for the present certes seemeth not to be of joy, but of sorrow: but afterward it will render to them that are exercised by it, most peaceable fruit of justice. {12} For the which cause stretch up the slackened hands & the loose knees {13} and make straight steps to your feet: that no man halting err, but rather be healed. {14} Follow peace with all men, and holiness: without which no man shall see God: {15} looking diligently lest any man be wanting to the grace of God: lest any root of bitterness springing up do hinder, and by it many be polluted. {16} Lest there be any fornicator or profane person as Esau: who for one dish of meat sold his first-birth-rights. {17} For know ye that afterward also desiring to inherit the benediction, he was reprobated: for he found not place of repentance, although with tears he had sought it. {18} For you are not come to a palpable mount, and an accessible fire, and whirl-wind, and darkness, and storm, {19} and the sound of trumpet, and voice of words, which they that heard, excused themselves, that the word might not be spoken to them, {20} (for they did not bear that which was said: And if a beast shall touch the mount, it shall be stoned. {21} And so terrible was it which was seen, Moyses said: I am frighted and tremble.) {22} But your are come to mount Sion, and the city of the living God, heavenly Jerusalem, and the assembly of many thousand Angels, {23} & the Church of the first-born, which are written in the Heavens, and the judge of all, God: and the spirits of the just made perfect, {24} and the mediator of the new Testament JESUS, and the sprinkling of blood speaking better than Abel. {25} See that you refuse him not, speaking. For if they escaped not, refusing him that spake upon the earth, much more we, that turn away from him speaking to us from Heaven. {26} Whose voice moved the earth then: but now he promiseth, saying, Yet once; and I will move not only the earth, but heaven also. {27} And in that he sayeth, Yet once, he declareth the translation of moveable things as being made, that those things may remain which are unmoveable. {28} Therefore receiving an unmoveable kingdom, we have grace: but the which let us serve pleasing God, with fear & reverence. {29} For our God is a consuming fire.

Chapter 13

He commendeth unto them mutual love, 2. hospitality, 3. compassion, 4. chastity, 5. contention, 7. imitation of the faith of their Catholic Prelates and Martyrs (not harkening to the doctrines of Heretics, nor fearing the casting out of the Jews' synagogue) 17. and obedience to their present pastors. 18. And so with requesting their prayers, and praying for them, he endeth the Epistle.

{1} LET the charity of the fraternity abide in you. by this, certain being not aware, have {2} And hospitality do not forget, for received Angels to harbour. {3} Remember them in bands, as if you were bound with them; & them that labour, as your selves also remaining in body. {4} Marriage honourable in all, & the bed undefiled. For, fornicators and adulterers God will judge. {5} Let your manners be without avarice: contented with things present. For he said, I will not leave thee, neither will I forsake thee. {6} So that we do confidently say: Our Lord is my helper: I will not fear what man shall do to me. {7} Remember your Prelates, which have spoken the word of God to you: the end of whose conversation beholding, imitate their faith. {8} JESUS Christ yesterday, and to day: the same also for ever. {9} With various & strange doctrines be not led away. For it is best that the heart be established with grace, not with meats: which have not profited those that walk in them. {10} We have an altar: whereof they have not power to eat which serve the tabernacle. {11} For the bodies of those beasts, whose blood for sin is carried into the holies by the high Priest, are burned without the camp. {12} For the which thing JESUS also, that he might sanctify the people by his own blood, suffered without the gate. {13} Let us go forth therefore to him without the camp; carrying his reproach. {14} For we have not here a permanent city: but we seek that which is to come. {15} By him therefore let us offer the host of praise always to God, that is to say, the fruit of lips confessing to his name. {16} And beneficence and communication do not forget, for with such hosts God is promerited. {17} Obey your Prelates, and be subject to them. For they watch as being to render account for your souls: that they may do this with joy, and not mourning. For this is not expedient for you. {18} Pray for us. For we have confidence that we have a good conscience, willing to converse well in all. {19} And I beseech you the more to do this, that I may the more speedily be restored to you. {20} And the God of peace which brought out from the dead the great Pastor of the sheep, in the blood of the eternal testament, our Lord JESUS Christ, {21} fit you in all goodness, that you may do his will, doing in you that which may please before him by JESUS Christ: to whom is glory for ever and ever. Amen. {22} And I desire you, brethren, that you suffer the word of consolation. For in very few words have I written to you. {23} Know you our brother Timothee to be dismissed: with whom (if he come the sooner) I will see you. {24} Salute all your prelates, and all the saints. The brethren of Italy salute you. {25} Grace be with you all. Amen.

THE CATHOLIC EPISTLE OF S. JAMES

Chapter 1

We have to rejoice in persecution (but if we be patient, and withhold abstain from all mortal sin) 9. considering how we shall be exalted and crowned for it, when the persecutor (who enricheth him self with our spoils) shall fade away. 13. But if any be tempted to fall, or to any other evil, let him not say, God is the author of it, who is the author of all good only. 19. Such points of the Cath. faith we must be content to learn without contradiction and anger, and to do accordingly. 26. Because otherwise we may talk of Religion, but in deed it is no Religion.

{1} JAMES the servant of God and of our Lord JESUS Christ, to the twelve tribes that are in dispersion, greeting. {2} Esteem it, my brethren, all joy, when you shall fall into diverse temptations: {3} knowing that the probation of your faith worketh patience. {4} And let patience have a perfect work: that you may be perfect & entire, failing in nothing. {5} But if any of you lack wisdom, let him ask of God who giveth to all men abundantly, and upbraideth not: and it shall be given him. {6} But let him ask in faith, nothing doubting. For he that doubteth, is like to a wave of the sea, which is moved & carried about by the wind. {7} Therefore let not that man think that he shall receive any thing of our Lord. {8} A man double of mind is inconstant in all his ways. {9} But let the humble brother glory, in his exaltation: {10} and the rich, in his humility, because as the flower of grass shall he pass: {11} for the sun rose with heat, & parched the grass, and the flower of it fell away, and the beauty of the shape thereof perished: so the rich man also shall wither in his ways. {12} Blessed is the man that suffereth temptation: for when he hath been proved, he shall receive the crown of life, which God hath promised to them that love him. {13} Let no man when he is tempted, say that he is tempted of God. For God is not a tempter of evils, and he tempteth no man. {14} But every one is tempted of his own concupiscence abstracted and allureth. {15} Afterward concupiscence when it hath conceived, bringeth forth sin. But sin when it is consummate, engendereth death. {16} Do not err therefore, my dearest brethren. {17} Every best gift, and every perfect gift, is from above, descending from the Father of lights, with whom is no transmutation, nor shadowing of alteration. {18} Voluntarily hath he begotten us by the word of truth, that we may be some beginning of his creature. {19} You know, my dearest brethren. And let every man be swift to hear, but slow to speak, and slow to anger. {20} For the anger of man worketh not the justice of God. {21} For the which thing casting away all uncleanness and abundance of malice, in meekness receive the engraffed word, which is able to save your souls. {22} But be doers of the word, and not hearers only, deceiving your selves. {23} For if a man be a hearer of the word, and not a doer: he shall be compared to a man beholding the countenance of his nativity in a glass. {24} For he considered himself, and went his way, and by and by forgot what an one he was. {25} But he that hath looked in the law of perfect liberty, and hath remained in it, not made a forgetful hearer, but a doer of the work; this man shall be blessed in his deed. {26} And if any man think himself to be religious, not bridling his tongue, but seducing his heart, this man's religion is vain. {27} Religion clean and unspotted with God and the Father, is this, to visit pupils and widows in their tribulation: and to keep himself unspotted from this world.

Against acceptance of persons. 10. From all and every sin we must abstain, having in all our words and deeds, the judgement before our eyes: wherein works of mercy shall be required of us. 14. and only faith shall not avail us. 18. And that the Catholike by his works sheweth that he hath faith: whereas; the Heretic hath no more faith than the Devil, talk he of faith never so much, and of justification thereby only, by the example of Abraham Re. 4. For Abraham in deeds was justified by works also, {25} and likewise Rebah.

{1} MY brethren, Have not the faith of our Lord JESUS Christ of glory in acceptance of persons. {2} For if there shall enter into your assembly a man having a golden ring in goodly apparel, and there shall enter in a poor man in homely attire, {3} and you have respect to him that is clothed with the goodly apparel, and shall say to him, Sit thou here well: but say to the poor man, Stand thou there, or sit under my foot-stool: {4} do you not judge with your selves, and are become judges of unjust cogitations? {5} Hear, my dearest brethren: hath not God chosen the poor in this world, rich in faith, and heirs of the Kingdom which God hath promised to them that love him? {6} But you have dishonoured the poor man. Do not the rich oppress you by might: and themselves draw you to judgements? {7} Do not they blaspheme the good name that is invocated upon you? {8} If notwithstanding you fulfill the royal law according to the Scriptures, Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thy self, you do well: {9} but if you accept persons, you work sin, reproved of the Law as transgressors. {10} And whosoever shall keep the whole Law, but offendeth in one, is made guilty of all. {11} For he that said, Thou shalt not commit adultery, said also, Thou shalt not kill. And if thou do not commit adultery, but shall kill; thou art made a transgressor of the Law. {12} So speak ye, and so do, as beginning to be judged by the law of liberty. {13} For judgement without mercy to him that hath not done mercy. And mercy exalteth it-self above judgement. {14} What shall it profit, my brethren, if a man say he hath faith, but hath not works? Shall faith be able to save him? {15} And if a brother or sister be naked, and lack daily food, {16} and one of you say to them, Go in peace, be warmed and filled; but you give them not the things that are necessary for the body; what shall it profit? {17} So faith also, if it have not works, is dead in it-self. {18} But some man saith, Thou hast faith, and I have works: shew me thy faith without works; and I will shew thee by works my faith. {19} Thou believest that there is one God. Thou doest well: the devils also believe and tremble. {20} But wilt thou know, o vain man, that faith without works is idle? {21} Abraham our father, was he not justified by works, offering Isaac his son upon the altar? {22} Seest thou that faith did work with his works: and by the works the faith was consummate? {23} And the Scripture was fulfilled, saying, Abraham believed God, and it was reputed him to justice, and he was called the friend of God. {24} Do you see that by works a man is justified; & not by faith only? {25} And in like manner also Rahab the harlot, was not she justified by works, receiving the messengers, and putting them forth another way? {26} For even as the body without the spirit is dead: so also faith without works is dead.

Chapter 3

Against proud Masters and authors of Sects. 5. Of the manifold sins of the unbridled tongue. 13. The difference betwixt proud, contentious, and worldly wisdom, and that wisdom which is heavenly, peaceable, modest, and so forth.

{1} BE yee not many masters, my brethren, knowing that you receive the greater judgement. {2} For in many things we offend

all. If any man offend not in word; this is a perfect man. He is able also with bridle to turn about the whole body. {3} And if we put bits into the mouths of horses that they may obey us, we turn about all their body also. {4} And behold, the ships, whereas they be great, and are driven of strong winds: yet are they turned about with a little stern whither the violence of the director will. {5} So the tongue also is certes a little member, and vaunteth great things. Behold how much fire what a great wood it kindleth? {6} And the tongue, is fire, a whole world of iniquity. The tongue is set among our members, which defileth the whole body, and inflameth the wheel of our nativity, inflamed of hell. {7} For all nature of beasts & fowls & serpents & of the rest is tamed & hath been tamed by the nature of man: {8} But the tongue no man can tame, an unquiet evil, full of deadly poison. {9} By it we bless God and the Father, & by it we curse men which are made after the similitude of God. {10} Out of the self-same mouth proceedeth blessing & cursing. These things must not be so done, my brethren. {11} Doth the fountain give forth out of one hole sweet and sour water? {12} Can, my brethren, the fig-tree yield grapes, or the vine, figs? So neither can the salt water yield sweet. {13} Who is wise and hath knowledge among you? Let him shew by good conversation his working in mildness of wisdom. {14} But if you have bitter zeal, and there be contentions in your hearts; glory not and be not liars against the truth. {15} For this is not wisdom descending from above: but earthly, sensual, devilish. {16} For where zeal and contention is, there is inconstancy, and every perverse work. {17} But the wisdom that is from above, first certes is chaste; then peaceable, modest, suasible, consenting to the good, full of mercy and good fruits, not judging, without simulation. {18} And the fruit of justice, in peace is sowed, to them that make peace.

By concupiscence and love of this world, we are made enemies to God: but we should rather humble us to him, punishing our selves for our sins. {11} Against detraction, and rash judging. {13} To remember always the uncertainty of our life.

{1} FROM whence are wars and contentions among you? Are they not hereof: of your concupiscences which war in your members? {2} You covet, & have not. You kill, and envy; and can not obtain. You contend and war: and you have not, because you ask not. {3} You ask, and receive not: because you ask amiss: that you may consume it on your concupiscences. {4} Adulterers, know you not that the friendship of this world, is the enemy of God? Whosoever therefore will be a friend of this world, is made an enemy of God. {5} Or do you think that the Scripture saith in vain: To envy doth the spirit covet which dwelleth in you? {6} And giveth greater grace. For the which cause it saith, God resisteth the proud, and giveth grace to the humble. {7} Be subject therefore to God, but resist the devil, and he will fly from you. {8} Approach to God, & he will approach to you. Cleanse your hands, ye sinners: and purify your hearts, ye double of mind. {9} Be miserable, and mourn, & weep: let your laughter be turned into mourning; and joy, into sorrow. {10} Be humbled in the sight of our Lord, and he will exalt you. {11} Detract not one from another, my brethren. He that detracteth from his brother, or he that judgeth his brother, detracteth from the Law, and judgeth the Law. But if thou judge the Law, thou art not a doer of the Law, but a Judge. {12} For there is one Lawmaker, and Judge that can destroy and deliver. {13} But thou, what art thou that judgest thy neighbour? Behold now you that say, To day or to morrow we will go into that city, and there certes will spend a year, and will traffic, and make our gain {14} (who are ignorant what shall be on the morrow. For what is your life? It is a vapour appearing for a little while, and afterward it shall vanish away) {15} for that you should say, If our Lord will: and, if we shall live, we will do this or that. {16} But now you rejoice in your arrogancies. All such rejoicing is wicked. {17} To one therefore knowing to do good, and not doing it: to him it is sin.

Chapter 5

By the damnation to come upon the unmerciful rich, he exhorteth the persecuted to patience and by their own reward, and by examples. {12} Not to swear at all in common talks. {13} in affliction, to pray: in prosperity, to sing: in sickness, to call for the Priests, and that they pray over them and anoint them with oil: and that the sick persons confess their sins. {19} Finally, how meritorious it is, to convert the erring unto the Catholike faith, or the sinner to amendment of life.

{1} GO to now ye rich men, weep, howling in your miseries which shall come to you. {2} Your riches are corrupt; and your garments are eaten of moths. {3} Your gold and silver is rusted; and their rust shall be for a testimony to you, and shall eat your flesh as fire. You have stored to your selves wrath in the last days. {4} Behold the hire of the work-men that have reaped your fields, which is defrauded of you, crieth: and their cry hath entered into the ears of the Lord of Sabbath. {5} You have made merry upon the earth: and in riotousness you have nourished your hearts in the day of slaughter. {6} You have presented, and slain the just one: and he resisted you not. {7} Be patient therefore, brethren, until the coming of our Lord. Behold, the husband-man expecteth the precious fruit of the earth: patiently bearing till he receive the timely and the lateward. {8} Be you also patient, and confirm your hearts: because the coming of our Lord will approach. {9} Grudge not, brethren, one against another: that you be not judged. Behold, the judge standeth before the gate. {10} Take an example, brethren, of labour and patience, the Prophets, which spake in the name of our Lord. {11} Behold we account them blessed that have suffered. The sufferance of Job you have heard, and the end of our Lord you have seen, because our Lord is merciful and pitiful. {12} But before all things, my brethren, swear not, neither by heaven, nor by earth; nor other oath whatsoever. But let your talk be, yea, yea: no, no: that you fall not under judgement. {13} Is any of you in heaviness? let him pray. Is he of a cheerful heart? let him sing. {14} Is any man sick among you? let him bring in the priests of the Church, and let them pray over him, anointing him with oil in the name of our Lord. {15} And the prayer of faith shall save the sick: and our Lord shall lift him up: and if he be in sins, they shall be remitted him. {16} Confess therefore your sins one to another: and pray one for another, that you may be saved. For the continual prayer of a just man availeth much. {17} Elias was a man like unto us, passible; and with prayer he prayed that it might not rain upon the earth, and it rained not for three years and six months. {18} And he prayed again: and the heaven gave rain, and the earth yielded her fruit. {19} My brethren, if any of you shall err from the truth, and a man convert him: {20} he must know that he which maketh a sinner to be converted from the error of his way, shall save his soul from death, and covereth a multitude of sins.

THE FIRST CATHOLIC EPISTLE OF S. PETER

Chapter 1

He comforteth them in their persecutions (being now by Baptism made the children of God) with the hope of their heavenly inheritance: {6} shewing how meritorious it is for them to be so constant in faith; {10} and confirming them therein with the authority of the Prophets and of the Holy Ghost. {15} Exhorting them to live also accordingly in all holiness, {15} considering the holiness of God, the uprightness of his judgement, the price of their redemption by Christ, {22} and the virtue of the seed in them, (which is grace regenerative in Baptism) foretold by the Prophet also.

{1} PETER an Apostle of JESUS Christ, to the elect strangers of the dispersion of Pontus, Galatia, Cappadocia, Asia, and Bithynia, {2} according to the prescience of God the Father, into sanctification of the Spirit, unto the obedience and sprinkling of the blood of JESUS Christ: Grace to you and peace be multiplied. {3} Blessed be God and the Father of our Lord JESUS Christ, who according to his great mercy hath regenerated us unto a lively hope, by the resurrection of JESUS Christ from the dead, {4} unto an inheritance incorruptible, and incontaminate, and that can not fade, conserved in the heavens in you, {5} (who in the virtue of God are kept by faith unto salvation) ready to be revealed in the last time. {6} Wherein you shall rejoice, a little now if you must be made heavy in diverse temptations: {7} that the probation of your faith much more precious than gold (which is proved by the fire) may be found unto praise and glory and honour in the revelation of JESUS Christ: {8} whom having not seen, you love: in whom now also not seeing you believe: and believing you rejoice with joy unspeakable and glorified, {9} receiving the end of your faith, the salvation of your souls. {10} Of the which salvation the Prophets inquired & searched, which prophesied of the grace to come in you, {11} searching unto which or what manner of time the Spirit of Christ in them did signify: fore-telling those passions that are in Christ, and the glories following: {12} to whom it was revealed, that not to themselves, but to you they ministered those things which now are told you by them that have evangelized to you, the Holy Ghost being sent from Heaven, on whom the Angels desire to look. {13} For the which cause having the loins of your mind girded, sober, trust perfectly in that grace which is offered you, in the revelation of JESUS Christ, {14} as children of obedience, not configurated to the former desires of your ignorance: {15} but according to him that hath called you, the Holy one, be you also in all conversation holy: {16} because it is written: You shall be holy, because I am holy. {17} And if you invoke the Father, him which without acceptance of persons judgeth according to every one's work; in fear converse ye the time of your sojourning. {18} Knowing that not with corruptible things, gold or silver, you are redeemed from your vain conversation of your father's tradition: {19} but with the precious blood as it were of an immaculate and unspotted Lamb, Christ, {20} fore-known indeed before the constitution of the world, but manifested in the last times for you, {21} which by him are faithful in God who raised him from the dead, & hath given him glory, that your faith and hope might be in God. {22} Making your souls chaste in obedience of charity, in the sincere love of the fraternity, from the heart love ye one another earnestly: {23} born again not of corruptible seed, but incorruptible by the word of God who liveth & remaineth for ever. {24} For all flesh is as grass: & all the glory thereof as the flower of grass. The grass is withered, and the flower thereof is fallen away. {25} But the word of our Lord remaineth for ever, and this is the word that is evangelized among you.

Chapter 2

Now after their Baptism, what must be their meat: {4} and being come to Christ, how happy they be above their incredulous brethren, according to the Scriptures also. {11} Whereupon he beseecheth them to shine in good life among the Heathen, so to procure their conversion: {13} to be obedient subjects to higher Powers (how soever some misconstrue Christian liberty) {14} and servants to obey their Masters. {19} And so, doing well, though they suffer for it, it is very meritorious. {21} whereas Christ also not only gave them example, {24} but also by his death hath made them able to live justly.

{1} LAYING away therefore all malice, and all guile, and simulations, and envies, and all detractions, {2} as infants even now born, reasonable, milk without guile desire ye, that in it you may grow unto salvation. {3} If yet you have tasted that our Lord is sweet. {4} Unto whom approaching, a living stone, of men indeed reprobated, but of God elect and made honourable: {5} be ye also your selves super-edified as it were living stones, spiritual houses, a holy priesthood, to offer spiritual hosts, acceptable to God by JESUS Christ. {6} For the which cause the Scripture containeth, Behold I put in Sion a principal corner-stone elect, precious. And he that shall believe in him, shall not be confounded. {7} To you therefore that believe, honour: but to them that believe not, the stone which the builders rejected, the same is made into the head of the corner: {8} and a stone of offense, & a rock of scandal, to them that stumble at the word, neither do believe wherein also they are put. {9} But you are an elect generation, a kingly priesthood, a holy nation, a people of purchase: that you may declare his virtues, which from darkness hath called you into his marvelous light. {10} Which sometime not a people: but now the people of God. Which not having obtained mercy: but now having obtained mercy. {11} My dearest I beseech you as strangers & pilgrims, to refrain your selves from carnal desires which war against the soul, {12} having your conversation good among the Gentiles: that in that wherein they misreport of you as of malefactors, by the good works considering you, they may glorify God in the day of visitation. {13} Be subject therefore to every human creature for God: whether it be to king, as excelling: {14} or to rulers as sent by him to the revenge of malefactors, but to the praise of the good: {15} for so is the will of God, that doing well you may make the ignorance of unwise men to be dumb. {16} as free, and not as having the freedom for a cloak of malice, but as the servants of God. {17} Honour all men. Love the fraternity. Fear God. Honour the king. {18} Servants be subject in all fear to your masters, not only to the good & modest, but also to the wayward. {19} For this is thank, if for conscience of God a man sustain sorrows, suffering unjustly. {20} For what glory is it, if sinning, and buffeted you suffer? But if doing well you sustain patiently, this is thank before God. {21} For unto this are you called: because Christ also suffered for us, leaving you an example that you may follow his steps. {22} Who did no sin, neither was guile found in his mouth. {23} Who when he was reviled, did not revile: when he suffered, he threatened not: but delivered himself to him that judged him unjustly. {24} Who himself bare our sins in his body upon the tree: that dead to sins, we may live to justice. By whose stripes you are healed. {25} For you were as sheep straying: but you were converted now to the Pastor & Bishop of your souls.

Chapter 3

The duty of wives and husbands to each other. {9} None to do or speak evil by their persecutors, {15} but to answer them always with modesty, and specially with innocency, after the example of Christ most innocent: whose body though they killed, yet his soul lived and preached afterward to the souls in Hell (namely to those in the time of Noe's flood being a figure of our Baptism) rose again, and ascended.

{1} IN like manner also let the women be subject to their husbands: that if any believe not the word, by the conversation of the women without the word they may be won, {2} considering your chaste conversation in fear. {3} Whose trimming let it not be outwardly the plaiting of hair, or laying on gold round about, or of putting on vestures: {4} but the man of the heart that is hidden, in the incorruptibility of a quiet and a modest spirit, which is rich in the sight of God. {5} For so sometime the holy women also that trusted in God, adorned themselves, subject to their own husbands. {6} As Sara obeyed Abraham, calling him lord: whose daughters you are, doing well, and not fearing any perturbation. {7} Husbands likewise, dwelling with them according to knowledge, as unto the weaker feminine vessel imparting honour, as it were to the coheirs also of the grace of life: that your prayers be not hindered. {8} And in fine all of one mind, having compassion, lovers of the fraternity, merciful, modest, humble. {9} not rendering evil for evil, nor curse for curse: but contrarywise, blessing: for unto this are you called, that you may by inheritance possess a benediction. {10} For he that will love life, and see good days, let him refrain his tongue from evil, & his lips that they speak not guile. {11} Let him decline from evil, and do good: let him enquire peace, & follow it: {12} because the eyes of our Lord are upon the just, and his ears unto their prayers: but the countenance of our Lord upon them that do evil things. {13} And who is he that can hurt you, if you be emulators of good? {14} But & if you suffer ought for justice, blessed are ye. And the fear of them fear ye not, & be not troubled. {15} But sanctify our Lord Christ in your hearts, ready always to satisfy every one that asketh you a reason of that hope which is in you: {16} but with modesty and fear, having a good conscience: that in that which they speak ill of you, they may be confounded which calumniate your good conversation in Christ. {17} For it is better to suffer as doing well (if the will of God will have it so) than doing ill. {18} Because Christ also died once for our sins, the just for the unjust: that he might offer us to God, mortified certes in flesh, but quickened in spirit. {19} In the which spirit coming he preached to them also that were in prison: {20} which had been incredulous sometime, when they expected the patience of God in the days of Noe, when the ark was a building: in the which, few, that is, eight souls were saved by water. {21} Whereunto Baptism being of the like form now saveth you also: not the laying away of the filth of the flesh, but the examination of a good conscience toward God by the resurrection of JESUS Christ. {22} Who is on the right hand of God, swallowing death, that we might be made heirs of life everlasting: being gone into Heaven, Angels and Potentates and Powers subjected to him.

Chapter 4

That they arm them selves to sin no more after Baptism, against the temptations of the Heathen, considering that the general end now approacheth. {8} specially toward their even-Christians to shew their charity, hospitality, and grace, doing all to the glory of God. {12} And as for being persecuted because they are Christians, to rejoice, considering the reward that they shall have with Christ, and damnation that they avoid thereby.

{1} CHRIST therefore having suffered in the flesh, be you also armed with the same cogitation. Because he that hath suffered in the flesh, hath ceased from sins: {2} that now not after the desires of men, but according to the will of God he live the rest of his time in the flesh. {3} For the time past sufficeth (to accomplish the will of the Gentiles) them that have walked in riotousness, desires, excess of wine, banqueting, potations, and unlawful services of idols. {4} Wherein they marvel blaspheming, you not concurring into the same confusion of riotousness. {5} Who shall render account to him, which is ready to judge the living and the dead. {6} For, for this cause also was it evangelized to the dead: that they may be judged indeed according to men, in the flesh: but may live according to God in the Spirit. {7} And the end of all shall approach. Be wise therefore, and watch in prayers. {8} But before all things, having mutual charity continual among your selves: because charity covereth the multitude of sins. {9} Using hospitality one toward another without murmuring. {10} Every one as he hath received grace, ministering the same one toward another: as good dispensers of the manifold grace of God. {11} If any man speak, as the words of God. If any man minister, as of the power, which God administereth. That in all things God may be honoured by JESUS Christ: to whom is glory & empire for ever and ever. Amen. {12} My dearest, think it not strange in the fervour which is to you for a temptation, as though some new thing happened to you: {13} But communicating with the passions of Christ, be glad, that in the revelation also of his glory you may be glad rejoicing. {14} If you be reviled in the name of Christ, you shall be blessed: because that which is of the honour, glory, and virtue of God, and the Spirit which is his, shall rest upon you. {15} But let none of you suffer as a murderer, or a thief, or a railer, or a coveter of other men's things. {16} But if as a Christian, let him not be ashamed, but let him glorify God in this name. {17} For the time is that judgement begin of the house of God. And if first of us, what shall be the end of them that believe not the Gospel of God? {18} And if the just man shall scarce be saved, where shall the impious & sinner appear? {19} Therefore they also that suffer according to the will of God, let them commend their souls to the faithful Creator, in good deeds.

Chapter 5

He exhorteth Priests to fed their flocks, only for God's sake and reward of heaven, without all lordliness. {5} the laie to obey: all to be humble one towards an other. {8} to be constant in the Catho. faith, considering it is not man, but that lion the Devil that persecuteth them, {9} as he doth the whole Church also, & that God will after a while make them secure in heaven.

{1} THE seniors therefore that are among you, I beseech, myself a fellow senior with them & a witness of the Passions of Christ, who am also partaker of the glory which is to be revealed in time to come: {2} feed the flock of God which is among you, providing not by constraint, but willingly according to God: neither for filthy lucre sake, but voluntarily: {3} neither as over-ruling the Clergy, but made examples of the flock from the heart. {4} And when the Prince of pastors shall appear, you shall receive the incorruptible crown of glory. {5} In like manner ye young men be subject to the seniors. And do ye all insinuate humility one to another, because God resisteth the proud, and to the humble he giveth grace. {6} Be ye humbled therefore under the mighty hand of God, that he may exalt you in the time of visitation: {7} casting all your carefulness upon him, because he hath care of you. {8} Be sober and watch: because your adversary the devil as a roaring lion goeth about, seeking whom he may devour. {9} Whom resist ye, strong in faith: knowing that the self-same affliction is made to that your fraternity which is in the world. {10} But the God of all grace, which hath called us unto his eternal glory in Christ JESUS, he will perfite you having suffered a little, and confirm, and stablish you. {11} To him be glory and empire for ever and ever. Amen. {12} By Sylvanus, a faithful brother to you, as I think, I have briefly written: beseeching & testifying that this is the true grace of God, wherein you stand. {13} The Church saluteth you, that is in Babylon, co-elect: and Mark my son. {14} Salute one another in a holy kiss. Grace be to all you which are in Christ JESUS. Amen.

THE SECOND CATHOLIC EPISTLE OF S. PETER

Chapter 1

How much God done for them making them Christians: {5} and that they again must do their part, not having only faith, but all other virtues also and good works, that so they may have the more assurance to enter into the kingdom of heaven. {13} And that he is so careful to admonish them, knowing that his death is at hand, knowing also most certainly the coming of Christ by the witness of the Father him self, as also by the Prophets. Concerning whom warneth them that they follow not private spirits, but the holy Ghost (speaking now in the Church.)

{1} SIMON PETER, servant and Apostle of JESUS Christ, to them that have obtained equal faith with us in the justice of our God and Saviour JESUS Christ. {2} Grace to you & peace be accomplished in the knowledge of God & Christ JESUS our Lord: {3} As all things of his divine power which pertain to life & godliness, are given us by the knowledge of him which hath called us by his own proper glory and virtue, {4} by whom he hath given us most great and precious promises: that by these you may be made partakers of the divine nature, flying the corruption of that concupiscence which is in the world. {5} And you employing all care, minister ye in your faith, virtue: and in virtue, knowledge: {6} and in knowledge, abstinence: and in abstinence, patience: and in patience, piety: {7} and in piety, love of the fraternity: and in the love of the fraternity, charity. {8} For if these things be present with you, and abound, they shall make you not vacant, nor without fruit in the knowledge of our Lord JESUS Christ. {9} For, he that hath not these things ready, is blind, and groping with his hand, having forgotten the purging of his old sins. {10} Wherefore, brethren, labour the more that by good works you may make sure your vocation and election. For, doing these things, you shall not sin at any time. {11} For so there shall be ministered to you abundantly an entrance into the everlasting Kingdom of our Lord and Saviour JESUS Christ. {12} For the which cause I will begin to admonish you always of these things: and you indeed knowing and being confirmed in the present truth. {13} But I think it meet as long as I am in this tabernacle, to stir you up by admonition: {14} being certain that the laying away of my tabernacle is at hand, according as our Lord JESUS Christ also signified to me. {15} And I will do my diligence, you to have often after my decease also, that you may keep a memory of these things. {16} For, not having followed unlearned fables, have we made the power and presence of our Lord JESUS Christ known to you: but made beholders of his greatness. {17} For, he receiving from God his Father honour and glory, this manner of voice coming down to him from the magnificil glory, This is my beloved Son in whom I have pleased my self, hear him. {18} And this voice we heard brought from heaven, when we were with him in the holy mount. {19} And we have the Prophetical word more sure: which you do well attending unto, as to a candle shining in a dark place, until the day dawn, & the day-star arise in your hearts: {20} understanding this first, that no prophecy of Scripture is made by private interpretation. {21} For, not by man's will was prophecy brought at any time: but the holy men of God spake, inspired with the Holy Ghost.

Chapter 2

As not only Prophets, but also false-prophets were in the old Testament, so now likewise there shall be Masters of Heresy, to the damnation of them selves, and of their followers. {5} And of their damnation he pronounceth by examples (as he comforteth the virtuous Catholics or true believers with the example of Lot) because of their railing at their Superiors and Prelates, their blaspheming of Catholic doctrine, their voluptuous living, their lechery, their covetousness, their manner of seducing, and the persons seduced, {20} for whom it had been less damnable, if they had never been Christians.

{1} BUT there were also false-prophets in the people, as also in you there shall be lying masters which shall bring in sects of perdition, and deny him that hath bought them, the Lord: bringing upon themselves speedy perdition. {2} And many shall follow their riotousnesses, by whom the way of truth shall be blasphemed. {3} And in avarice shall they with feigned words make merchandise of you. Unto whom the judgement now long since ceaseth not: and their perdition slumbereth not. {4} For if God spared not Angels sinning: but with the ropes of Hell being drawn down into Hell delivered them to be tormented, that they should be reserved unto judgement: {5} and he spared not the original world, but kept the eight, Noe, the preacher of justice, bringing in the deluge upon the world of the impious. {6} And bringing the cities of the Sodomites & of the Gomorrheites into ashes, he damned them with subversion, putting an example of them that shall do impiously: {7} and delivered just Lot oppressed by the injury and luxurious conversation of the abominable men. {8} For in sight and hearing he was just: dwelling with them who from day to day vexed the just soul with unjust works. {9} Our Lord knoweth to deliver the godly from temptation, but to reserve the unjust unto the day of judgement to be tormented: {10} and especially them which walk after the flesh in concupiscence of uncleanness, and contemn dominion, bold, self-pleasers: they fear not to bring in sects, blaspheming. {11} Whereas Angels being greater in strength and power, bear not the execrable judgement against them. {12} But these men as unreasonable beasts, naturally tending to the snare and into destruction, in those things which they know not, blaspheming, shall perish in their corruption, {13} receiving the reward of injustice, esteeming for a pleasure the delights of a day: coquinacions and spots, flowing in delicacies, in their feastings rioting with you, {14} having eyes full of adultery and incessant sin: alluring unstable souls, having their heart exercised with avarice, the children of malediction: {15} leaving the right way they have erred, having followed the way of Balaam of Bosor, which loved the reward of iniquity, {16} but had a check of his madness, the dumb beast under the yoke, speaking with man's voice, prohibited the foolishness of the prophet. {17} These are fountains without water, and clouds, tossed with whirl-winds, to whom the mist of darkness is reserved. {18} For, speaking the proud things of vanity, they allure in the desires of fleshly riotousness, those that escape a little, which converse in error, {19} promising them liberty, whereas themselves are the slaves of corruption. For wherewith a man is overcome, of that he is the slave also. {20} For if flying from the coquinacions of the world in the knowledge of our Lord and Saviour JESUS Christ, they again entangled with the same be overcome: the later things are become unto them worse than the former. {21} For it was better for them not to know the way of justice, than after the knowledge, to turn back from that holy commandment which was delivered to them. {22} For, that of the true proverb is chanced to them, The dog returned to his vomit: and, The sow washed, into her wallowing in the mire.

Chapter 3

These two Epistles he writeth to confirm them in the Apostle's doctrine, and warmeth them of scorners that shall come, and deny Domes-day. 5. Whose vain argument he answereth, and giveth the reason of God's so long patience, {10} exhorting all holiness of life in respect of that terrible day. {16} Finally giving warning of such as misinterpret S. Paul's Epistles & the other Scriptures, and that we must not for any thing fall from the true faith.

{1} THIS lo the second epistle I write to you, my dearest, in which I stir up by admonition your sincere mind: {2} that you may be mindful of those words which I told you before from the holy Prophets, and of your Apostles, of the precepts of our Lord and Saviour. {3} Knowing this first, that in the last days shall come mockers in deceit, walking according to their own concupiscences, {4} saying, Where is his promise or his coming? For since the time that the fathers slept, all things do so persevere from the beginning of creature. {5} For they are wilfully ignorant of this, that the Heavens were before, and the earth, out of water, and through water, consisting by the word of God: {6} by the which, that world then, being overflowed with water perished. {7} But the Heavens which now are, and the earth, are by the same word kept in store, reserved to fire unto the day of judgement and of the perdition of the impious men. {8} But this one thing be not ignorant of, my dearest, that one day with our Lord is as a thousand years, & a thousand years as one day. {9} Our Lord slacketh not his promise, as some do esteem it: but he doth patiently for you, not willing that any perish, but that all return to penance. {10} And the day of our Lord shall come as a thief, in the which the Heavens shall pass with great violence, but the elements shall be resolved with heat, and the earth and the works which are in it, shall be burnt. {11} Therefore whereas all these things are to be dissolved, what manner of men ought you to be in holy conversations and godlinesses, {12} expecting and hastening unto the coming of the day of our Lord, by which the Heavens burning shall be resolved, and the elements shall melt with the heat of fire? {13} But we expect new Heavens and a new earth according to his promises, in which justice inhabiteth. {14} For the which cause, my dearest, expecting these things, labour earnestly to be found immaculate and unspotted to him in peace: {15} and the longanimity of our Lord, do ye account salvation, as also our most dear brother Paul according to the wisdom given him hath written to you: {16} as also in all epistles speaking in them of these things; in the which are certain things hard to be understood, which the unlearned and unstable deprave, as also the rest of the Scriptures, to their own perdition. {17} You therefore, brethren, fore-knowing, take heed lest led aside by the error of the unwise you fall away from your own steadfastness. {18} But grow in grace and in knowledge of our Lord and Saviour JESUS Christ. To him be glory both now and unto the day of eternity. Amen.

THE FIRST CATHOLIC EPISTLE OF S. JOHN

Chapter 1

Good cause there is to believe the Apostle's preaching. {5} And this is one point of their preaching, that to have participation with God, we must not only believe, but also abstain from all mortal sin. {8} though we all sin venially.

{1} THAT which was from the beginning, which we have heard, which we have seen with our eyes, which we have looked upon, and our hands have handled, of the word of life: {2} (and the life was manifested: and we have seen, and do testify, and declare unto you the life eternal which was with the Father, and hath appeared to us) {3} that, which we have seen and have heard, we declare unto you, that you also may have society with us, and our society may be with the Father and with his Son JESUS Christ. {4} And these things we write to you, that you may rejoice, and your joy may be full. {5} And this is the annunciation which we have heard of him, and declare unto you, That God is light, and in him there is no darkness: {6} If we shall say that we have society with him, and walk in darkness, we lie, and do not the truth. {7} But if we walk in the light, as he also is in the light: we have society one toward another, and the blood of JESUS Christ his Son cleanseth us from all sin. {8} If we shall say that we have no sin, we seduce ourselves, and the truth is not in us. {9} If we confess our sins, he is faithful & just, for to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all iniquity. {10} If we shall say that we have not sinned, we make him a liar, and his word is not in us.

Chapter 2

If any sin mortally, he must not despair. {3} To know God rightly, is not to believe only, but to keep his commandments: {7} and that this is no new doctrine, but the very primitive, though a new life it is. {9} Therefore he that believeth must also love his brethren: {12} and that man must not love the world, but do that which God willeth. {18} Many are gone out of the Church and become Seducers, all the ministers of Antichrist: but true Christians must continue in their old faith, considering the reward, and that they need not go to school to any Heretic, the Holy Ghost himself being the schoolmaster of the Church. {29} he doth earnestly inculcate justice and good works.

{1} MY little children, these things I write to you, that you sin not. But and if any man shall sin, we have an Advocate with the Father, JESUS Christ the just: {2} and he is the propitiation for our sins: and not for ours only, but also for the whole world's. {3} And in this we know that we have known him, if we observe his commandments. {4} He that saith he knoweth him, and keepeth not his commandments, is a liar, and the truth is not in him: {5} But he that keepeth his word, in him in very deed the charity of God is perfited: in this we know that we be in him. {6} He that saith he abideth in him, ought even as he walked, himself also to walk. {7} My dearest, I write not a new commandment to you, but an old commandment which you had from the beginning. The old commandment is the word which you have heard. {8} Again a new commandment write I to you, which thing is true both in him and in you: because the darkness is passed, and the true light now shineth. {9} He that saith he is in the light, and hateth his brother, is in the darkness even until now. {10} He that loveth his brother, abideth in the light, and scandal is not in him. {11} But he that hateth his brother, is in the darkness, and walketh in the darkness, and knoweth not whether he goeth, because the darkness hath blinded his eyes. {12} I write unto you little children, because your sins are forgiven you for his name. {13} I write unto you fathers, because you have known him which is from the beginning. I write unto you young men, because you have overcome the wicked one. {14} I write to you infants, because you have known the Father. I write unto you young men, because you are strong, and the word of God abideth in you, and you have overcome the wicked one. {15} Love not the world, nor those things which are in the world. If any man love the world, the charity of the Father is not in him. {16} because all that is in the world, is the concupiscence of the flesh, and the concupiscence of the eyes, and the pride of life, which is not of the Father, but is of the world. {17} And the world passeth and the concupiscence thereof. But he that doeth the will of God, abideth for ever. {18} Little children, it is the last hour, & as you have heard, that Antichrist cometh: now there are become many Antichrists, whereby we know, that it is the last hour. {19} They went out from us; but they were not of us. For if they had been of us, they would surely have remained with us: but that they may be manifest that they are not all of us. {20} But you have the unction from the Holy one, and know all things. {21} I have not written to you as to them that know not the truth, but as to them that know it: and that no lie is of the truth. {22} Who is a liar, but he which denieth that JESUS is Christ? This is Antichrist which denieth the Father and the Son. {23} Every one that denieth the Son, neither hath he the Father. He that confesseth the Son, hath the Father also. {24} You, that which you have heard from the beginning, let it abide in you. If that abide in you which you have heard from the beginning, you also shall abide in the Son & the Father. {25} And this is the promise which he promised us, life everlasting. {26} These things have I written to you concerning them that seduce you. {27} And you, the unction which you have received from him, let it abide in you. And you have no need that any man teach you: but as his unction teacheth you of all things, and it is true, and it is no lie. And as it hath taught you, abide in him. {28} And now little children abide in him: that when he shall appear, we may have confidence, and not be confounded of him in his coming. {29} If you know that he is just, know ye that every one also which doeth justice, is born of him.

It is not for the sons of God, to sin mortally, but for the sons of the Devil, whereby they are known one from another, & not by only faith. {11} True faith is, that we also love our brethren, giving both our life and substance for them. {19} Such unfeigned love may have great confidence before God. {23} because the keeping of his commandments doth much please him, which consist in faith and charity.

{1} SEE what manner of charity the Father hath given us, that we should be named and be the sons of God. For this cause the world doth not know us, because it hath not known him. {2} My dearest, now we are the sons of God; & it hath not yet appeared what we shall be. We know that when he shall appear, we shall be like to him: because we shall see him as he is. {3} And every one that hath this hope in him, sanctifieth himself, as he also is holy. {4} Every one that committeth sin, committeth also iniquity: and sin is iniquity. {5} And you know that he appeared to take away our sins: and sin in him there is none. {6} Every one that abideth in him, sinneth not: and every one that sinneth, hath not seen him, nor known him. {7} Little children, let no man seduce you. He that doeth justice, is just: even as he also is just. {8} He that committeth sin, is of the devil: because the devil sinneth from the beginning. For this, appeared the Son of God, that he might dissolve the works of the devil. {9} Every one that is born of God, committeth not sin: because his seed abideth in him, and he can not sin because he is born of God. {10} In this are the children of God manifest, and the children of the devil. Every one that is not just, is not of God, and he that loveth not his brother. {11} Because this is the annunciation, which you have heard from the beginning, That you love one another. {12} Not as Cain, who was of the wicked, and killed his brother. And for what cause killed he him? Because his works were wicked: but his brother's, just. {13} Marvel not, brethren, if the world hate you. {14} We know that we are translated from death to life, because we love the brethren. He that loveth not, abideth in death. {15} Whosoever hateth his brother, is a murderer. And you know that no murderer hath life everlasting abiding in himself. {16} In this we have known the charity of God, because he hath yielded his life for us: and we ought to yield our lives for the brethren. {17} He that shall have the substance of the world, and shall see his brother have need, and shall shut his bowels from him: how doth the charity of God abide in him? {18} My little children, let us not love in word, nor in tongue, but in deed and truth. {19} In this we know that we are of the truth: and in his sight we shall persuade our hearts. {20} For if our heart do repreнд us, God is greater than our heart, and knoweth all things. {21} My dearest, if our heart do not repreнд us, we have confidence toward God. {22} And whatsoever we shall ask, we shall receive of him: because we keep his commandments, and do those things which are pleasing before him. {23} And this is his commandment, that we believe in the name of his Son JESUS Christ: and love one another, as he hath given commandment unto us. {24} And he that keepeth his commandments, abideth in him, and he in him. And in this we know that he abideth in us, by the Spirit which he hath given us.

Chapter 4

We may not believe all that boast of the spirit, but try them, whether they teach Catholic articles of the faith (namely the incarnation of Christ:) whether their doctrine be not worldly, and them selves disobedient hearers of the Apostles. {7} We must love one an other, considering the exceeding love of God in sending his son to save us. {17} An argument of perfect charity is, if we have nothing in our conscience to fear in the day of judgement. {19} And an argument that we love God is, if we love our brethren.

{1} MY dearest, believe not every spirit, but prove the spirits if they be of God: because, many false prophets are gone out into the world. {2} In this is the spirit of God known. Every spirit that confesseth JESUS Christ to have come in flesh, is of God: {3} and every spirit that dissolveth JESUS, is not of God: and this is Antichrist, of whom you have heard that he cometh, and now he is in the world. {4} You are of God, little children, and have overcome him. Because greater is he that is in you, than he that is in the world. {5} They are of the world: therefore of the world they speak, and the world heareth them. {6} We are of God. He that knoweth God, heareth us. He that is not of God, heareth us not. In this we know the spirit of truth, and the spirit of error. {7} My dearest, let us love one another: because charity is of God. And every one that loveth, is born of God, & knoweth God. {8} He that loveth not, knoweth not God: because God is charity. {9} In this hath the charity of God appeared in us, because God hath sent his only-begotten Son into the world, that we may live by him. {10} In this is charity: not as though we have loved him, but because he hath loved us, and sent his Son a propitiation for our sins. {11} My dearest, if God hath so loved us, we also ought to love one another. {12} God no man hath seen at any time. If we love one another, God abideth in us, and his charity in us is perfited. {13} In this we know that we abide in him, and he in us: because he of his Spirit hath given to us. {14} And we have seen, and do testify, that the Father hath sent his Son the Saviour of the world. {15} Whosoever shall confess that JESUS is the Son of God, God abideth in him, and he in God. {16} And we have known and have believed the charity, which God hath in us. God is charity: and he that abideth in charity, abideth in God, and God in him. {17} In this is charity perfited with us, that we may have confidence in the day of judgement: because as he is, we also are in the world. {18} Fear is not in charity: but perfect charity casteth out fear, because fear hath painfulness. And he that feareth, is not perfect in charity. {19} Let us therefore love God, because God first hath loved us. {20} If any man shall say, that I love God; and hateth his brother, he is a liar. For he that loveth not his brother whom he seeth, God whom he seeth not, how can he love? {21} And this commandment we have from God: that he which loveth God, love also his brother.

Chapter 5

They that love God, must love his natural son JESUS, and his sons by adoption, and keep his commandments, which to the regenerate are light. {4} But not, unless they continue in the Catholic faith, namely of this article, that JESUS is the son of God, and therefore able to give us life everlasting. {14} and all our petitions, {16} and our prayers for all our brethren that sin not unto death, dying in their mortal sins by impenitence. Last of all, he warneth them not to communicate with idols.

{1} WHOSOEVER believeth that JESUS is Christ, is born of God. And every one that loveth him which begat, loveth him also which was born of him. {2} In this we know that we love the children of God: when as we love God, and keep his commandments. {3} For this is the charity of God, that we keep his commandments: and his commandments are not heavy. {4} Because all that is born of God, overcometh the world: And this is the victory which overcometh the world, our faith. {5} Who is he that overcometh the world, but he that believeth that JESUS is the Son of God? {6} This is he that came by water & blood JESUS Christ: not in water only, but in water and blood. And it is the Spirit which testifieth, that Christ is the truth. {7} For there be three which give testimony in heaven, the Father, the Word, and the Holy Ghost. And these three be one. {8} And there be three which give testimony in earth: the spirit, water, and blood: and these three be one. {9} If we receive the testimony of men, the testimony of God is greater. Because this is the testimony of God which is greater, that he hath testified of his Son. {10} He that believeth in the Son of God, hath the testimony of God in himself. He that believeth not the Son, maketh him a liar: because he believeth not in the testimony which God hath testified of his Son. {11} And this is the testimony, that God hath given us life everlasting. And this life is in his Son. {12} He that hath the Son, hath life. He that hath not the Son of God, hath not life. {13} These things I write to you, that you may know that you have eternal life which believe in the name of the Son of God. {14} And this is the confidence which we have toward him: that, whatsoever we shall ask according to his will, he heareth us. {15} And we know that he heareth us whatsoever we shall ask: we know that we have the petitions which we request of him. {16} He that knoweth his brother to sin a sin not to death, let him ask, and life shall be given him, sinning not to death. There is a sin to death: for that I say not that any man ask. {17} All iniquity, is sin. And there is a sin to death. {18} We know that every one which is born of God, sinneth not: but the generation of God preserveth him, and the wicked one toucheth him not. {19} We know that we are of God, and the whole world is set in wickedness. {20} And we know that the Son of God cometh: and he hath given us understanding, that we may know the true God, & may be in his true Son, This is the true God, & life everlasting. {21} My little children, keep yourselves from idols. Amen.

THE SECOND CATHOLIC EPISTLE OF S. JOHN

Chapter 1

He commendeth the lady and her sons for continuing in the old faith, bidding them so to do hereafter also, lest they lose the reward of their works in the day of judgement: and to love the true believers, but with Heretics to have no society: expressing also the points then in controversy.

{1} THE Senior to the Lady Elect and her children, whom I love in truth, and not I only, but also all that have known the truth, {2} for the truth which abideth in us, and shall be with us for ever. {3} Grace be with you, mercy, peace from God the Father, and from Christ JESUS the Son of the Father in truth, and charity. {4} I was exceeding glad, because I have found of thy children walking in truth, as we have received commandment of the Father. {5} And now I beseech thee Lady, not as writing a new commandment to thee, but that which we have had from the beginning, that we love one another. {6} And this is charity, that we walk according to his commandments. For this is the commandment, that as you have heard from the beginning, you walk in the same: {7} because many seducers are gone out into the world, which do not confess JESUS Christ to have come into flesh: this is a seducer and an Antichrist. {8} Look to your selves, that you lose not the things which you have wrought: but that you may receive a full reward. {9} Every one that revolveth, and persisteth not in the doctrine of Christ, hath not God. He that persisteth in the doctrine, the same hath both the Father, and the Son. {10} If any man come to you, and bring not this doctrine, receive him not into the house, nor say, God save you, unto him. {11} For he that saith unto him, God save you, communicateth with his wicked works. {12} Having more things to write unto you: I would not by paper and ink: for I hope that I shall be with you, and speak mouth to mouth: that your joy may be full. {13} The children of thy sister Elect salute thee.

THE THIRD CATHOLIC EPISTLE OF S. JOHN

Chapter 1

He commendeth Gaius, for continuing in the truth, and for suffering or succoring true preachers, (9) noting Diotreps for the contrary, and praising Demetrius.

{1} THE Senior to Gaius the dearest, whom I love in truth. things I make my prayer that thou proceed {2} My dearest, concerning all prosperously, and fare well, as thy soul doth prosperously. {3} I was exceeding glad when the brethren came, and gave testimony to thy truth, even as thou walkest in truth. {4} Greater thank have I not of them, than that I may hear my children do walk in truth. {5} My dearest, thou doest faithfully whatsoever thou workest on the brethren, & that upon strangers. {6} They have rendered testimony to thy charity in the sight of the Church: whom, thou shalt do well, bringing on their way in manner worthy of God. {7} For, for his name did they depart, taking nothing of the Gentiles. {8} We therefore ought to receive such: that we may be coadjutors of the truth. {9} I had written perhaps to the Church: but he that loveth to bear primacy among them, Diotreps, doth not receive us. {10} For this cause, if I come, I will advertise his works which he doeth: with malicious words chatting against us. And as though these things suffice him not, neither himself doth receive the brethren, and them that do receive, he prohibiteth, and casteth out of the Church. {11} My dearest, do not imitate evil, but that which is good. He that doeth well, is of God: he that doeth ill, hath not seen God. {12} To Demetrius testimony is given of all, and of the truth it-self, yea and we give testimony: and thou knowest that our testimony is true. {13} I had many things to write unto thee: but I would not by ink and pen write to thee. {14} But I hope forth-with to see thee, and we will speak mouth to mouth. Peace be to thee. The friends salute thee. Salute the friends by name.

THE CATHOLIC EPISTLE OF S. JUDE

Chapter 1

He exhorteth them to stand to their old faith, shewing them by examples, that it is damnable not to continue and be constant: (8) inveighing against the lechery, blasphemy, apostasy, banqueting of the heretics, (14) and that their damnation was long foretold: (17) Catholics therefore to be unmovable, to reprove the obstinate, to recover all not desperate, to confirm the weak, and to live them selves virtuously and without mortal sin, which by God's grace they may do.

{1} JUDE the servant of JESUS Christ, and brother of James: to them that are in God the Father beloved, and in JESUS Christ preserved, and called. {2} Mercy to you, and peace and charity be accomplished. {3} My dearest, taking all care to write unto you of your common salvation, I thought it necessary to write unto you: beseeching you to contend for the faith once delivered to the saints. {4} For there are certain men secretly entered in (which were long ago prescribed unto this judgement) impious, transferring the grace of our God into riotousness, and denying the only Dominatour, & our Lord JESUS Christ. {5} But I will admonish you, that once know all things, that JESUS, saving the people out of the land of Ægypt, secondly destroyed them which believed not. {6} But the Angels which kept not their principality, but forsook their own habitation, he hath reserved under darkness in eternal bonds unto the judgement of the great day. {7} As Sodom and Gomorrhe, and the cities adjoining in like manner having fornicated, and going after other flesh, were made an example, sustaining the pain of eternal fire. {8} In like manner these also defile the flesh, and despise dominion, & blaspheme majesty. {9} When Michael the Archangel, disputing with the devil, made altercation for the body of Moyses, he durst not infer judgement of blasphemy, but said,

Our Lord command thee. {10} But these, what things soever certes they are ignorant of, they blaspheme: and what things soever naturally, as dumb beasts, they know, in those they are corrupted. {11} Woe unto them, which have gone in the way of Cain: and with the error of Balaam, have for reward poured out themselves, and have perished in the contradiction of Core. {12} These are in their banquets, spots, feasting together without fear, feeding themselves, clouds without water which are carried about of winds, trees of autumn, unfruitful, twice dead, plucked up by the roots, {13} raging waves of the sea, foaming out their own confusions, wandering stars: to whom the storm of darkness is reserved for ever. {14} And of these prophesied Enoch, the seventh from Adam, saying: Behold our Lord is come in his holy thousands, {15} to do judgement against all, and to reprove all the impious, of all the works of their impiety whereby they have done impiously, and of all the hard things which impious sinners have spoken against him. {16} These are murmurers, full of complaints, walking according to their own desires, and their mouth speaketh pride, admiring persons for gain sake. {17} But you, my dearest, be mindful of the words which have been spoken before by the Apostles of our Lord JESUS Christ, {18} who told you, that in the last time shall come mockers, according to their own desires walking in impieties. {19} These are they which segregate themselves, sensual, having not the Spirit. {20} But you, my dearest, building your selves upon our most holy faith, in the Holy Ghost, praying, {21} keep your selves in the love of God, expecting the mercy of our Lord JESUS Christ unto life everlasting. {22} And these certes reprove being judged: {23} but them save, pulling out of the fire. And on other, have mercy in fear: hating also that which is carnal, the spotted coat. {24} And to him that is able to preserve you without sin, and to set you immaculate before the sight of his glory in exultation in the coming of our Lord JESUS Christ, {25} to the only God our Saviour by JESUS Christ our Lord be glory and magnificence, empire and power before all worlds, and now and for all worlds evermore. Amen.

THE APOCALYPSE OF S. JOHN

Chapter 1

9. S. John being banished in the isle Patmos, is commanded to write to the seven Churches of Asia (signified by the seven candlesticks) that he saw upon a Sunday, round about the Son of man: {13} whose manner of apparition is described.

{1} THE Apocalypse of JESUS Christ which God gave him, to make manifest to his servants the things which must be done quickly: and signified, sending by his Angel to his servant John, {2} who hath given testimony to the word of God, and the testimony of JESUS Christ, what things soever he hath seen. {3} Blessed is he that readeth and heareth the words of this prophecy: and keepeth those things which be written in it. For the time is nigh. {4} John to the seven churches which are in Asia. Grace to you and peace from him that is, and that was, and that shall come, and from the seven spirits which are in the sight of his throne, {5} and from JESUS Christ who is the faithful witness, the First-born of the dead, and the Prince of the kings of the earth, who hath loved us, and washed us from our sins in his blood, {6} and hath made us a Kingdom and Priests to God and his Father, to him be glory and empire for ever and ever. Amen. {7} Behold he cometh with the clouds, and every eye shall see him, and they that pricked him. And all the tribes of the earth shall bewail themselves upon him. Yea, Amen. {8} I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and end, saith our Lord God, which is, and which was, and which shall come, the Omnipotent. {9} I, John your brother and partaker in tribulation, and the Kingdom, and patience in Christ JESUS, was in the Island, which is called Patmos, for the word of God and the testimony of JESUS. {10} I was in spirit on the Dominical day, and heard behind me a great voice as it were of a trumpet {11} saying: That which thou seest, write in a book: and send to the seven churches which are in Asia, to Ephesus, and Smyrna, and Pergamus, and Thiatira, and Sardis, and Philadelphia, and Laodicia. {12} And I turned, to see the voice that spake with me. And being turned I saw seven candlesticks of gold: {13} and in the midst of the seven candlesticks of gold, one like to the Son of man, vested in a priestly garment to the foot, & girded about near to the paps with a girdle of gold. {14} And his head & hairs were white, as white wool, and as snow, and his eyes as the flame of fire. {15} And his feet like to latten, as in a burning furnace. And his voice as the voice of many waters: {16} and he had in his right hand seven stars. And from his mouth proceeded a sharp two-edged sword: and his face, as the sun shineth in his virtue. {17} And when I had seen him, I fell at his feet as dead. And he put his right hand upon me, saying: Fear not. I am the First and the Last, {18} and alive, and was dead, and behold I am living for ever and ever, and have the keys of death and of hell. {19} Write therefore the things which thou hast seen, and that are, and that must be done after these: {20} The Sacrament of the seven stars, which thou hast seen in my right hand, and the seven candlesticks of Gold. The seven stars, are the Angels of the seven churches. And the seven candlesticks, are the seven churches.

Chapter 2

] He is commanded to write diverse things to the churches of Ephesus, Smyrna, Pergamus, and Thyatira: praising them that had not admitted the doctrine of the Heretics called Nicolaitae, [22] and calling others by threats unto penance: [26] and promising reward to him that manfully overcometh.

{1} AND to the Angel of the Church of Ephesus write, Thus saith he which holdeth the seven stars in his right hand, which walketh in the midst of the seven candlesticks of gold: {2} I know thy works and labour, and thy patience: & that thou canst not bear evil men, & hast tried them which say themselves to be Apostles, and are not, and hast found them liars: {3} and thou hast patience, and hast borne for my name, and hast not fainted. {4} But I have against thee a few things, because thou hast left thy first charity. {5} Be mindful therefore from whence thou art fallen: and do penance, and do the first works. But if not: I come to thee, & will move thy candlestick out of his place, unless thou do penance. {6} But this thou hast, because thou hatest the facts of the Nicolaites, which I also hate. {7} He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith to the Churches: To him that overcometh, I will give to eat of the tree of life, which is in the Paradise of my God. {8} And to the Angel of the Church of Smyrna write: Thus saith the First and the Last, who was dead, and liveth: {9} I know thy tribulation and thy poverty, but thou art rich: and thou art blasphemed of them that say themselves to be Jews and are not, but are the synagogue of Satan. {10} Fear none of these things which thou shalt suffer. Behold the devil will send some of you into prison that you may be tried: and you shall have tribulation ten days. Be thou faithful until death: and I will give thee the crown of life. {11} He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith to the Churches: He that shall overcome, shall not be hurt of the second death. {12} And to the Angel of the Church of Pergamus write: Thus saith he that hath the sharp two-edged sword: {13} I know where thou dwellest, where the seat of Satan is: and thou holdest my name, and hast not denied my faith. And in those days Antipas my faithful witness, who was slain among you, where Satan dwelleth. {14} But I have against thee a few things: because thou hast there, them that hold the doctrine of Balaam, who taught Balac to cast a scandal before the children of Israel, to eat and commit fornication: {15} so hast thou also them that hold the doctrine of the Nicolaites. {16} In like manner do penance. If not: I will come to thee quickly, and will fight against them with the sword of my mouth. {17} He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith to the Churches: To him that over cometh I will give the hidden manna, and will give him a white counter, and in the counter, a new name written, which no man knoweth, but he that receiveth it. {18} And to the Angel of the Church of Thyatira write: Thus saith the Son of God, which hath eyes as a flame of fire, and his feet like to latten. {19} I know thy works, and faith, and thy charity, and ministry, and thy patience and thy last works more than the former. {20} But I have against thee a few things: because thou permittest the woman Jezabel, who calleth her self a prophetess, to teach, and to seduce my servants, to fornicate, and to eat of things sacrificed to idols. {21} And I gave her a time that she might do penance: & she will not repent from her fornication. {22} Behold I will cast her into a bed: and they that commit adultery with her, shall be in very great tribulation, unless they do penance from their works: {23} and her children I will kill with death, & all the Churches shall know that I am he that searcheth the reins & hearts, & I will give to every one of you according to his works. {24} But I say to you and the rest which are at Thyatira, whosoever have not this doctrine, which have not known the depth of Satan, as they say, I will not cast upon you another weight. {25} Yet that which you have, hold till I come. {26} And he that shall overcome and keep my works unto the end, I will give him power over the nations, {27} and he shall rule them with a rod of iron, and as the vessel of a potter shall they be broken, {28} as I also have received of my Father: {1305} and I will give him the morning star. {29} He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith to the Churches.

Chapter 3

He is commanded to write to the Churches of Sardis, Philadelphia, and Laodicia: recalling them that err to penance by threatening, but praising the rest, and promising reward to him that overcometh: {15} detesting also the cold indifferent Christians. {20} He saith that God knocketh at the door of men's hearts by offering his grace, for to enter in to him that will open unto him by consent of free will.

{1} AND to the Angel of the Church of Sardis, write: Thus saith he that hath the seven Spirits of God, and the seven stars: I know thy works, that thou hast the name that thou livest, and thou art dead. {2} Be vigilant, and confirm the rest of the things which were to die. For I find not thy works full before my God. {3} Have in mind therefore in what manner thou hast received and heard: and keep, and do penance. If therefore thou watch not, I will come to thee as a thief, and thou shalt not know what hour I will come to thee. {4} But thou hast a few names in Sardis, which have not defiled their garments: and they shall walk with me in whites, because they are worthy. {5} He that shall overcome, shall thus be vested in white garments, and I will not put his name out of the book of life, and I will confess his name before my Father, and before his Angels. {6} He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith to the Churches. {7} And to the Angel of the Church of Philadelphia write: Thus saith the Holy one and the True one, he that hath the key of David; he that openeth, and no man shutteth, shutteth, and no man openeth: {8} I know thy works. Behold I have given before thee a door opened which no man can shut: because thou hast a little power, and hast kept my word, and hast not denied my name. {9} Behold I will give of the synagogue of Satan, which say they be Jews, and are not, but do lie. Behold I will make them come and adore before thy feet. And they shall know that I have loved thee. {10} Because thou hast kept the word of my patience, and I will keep thee from the hour of temptation, which shall come upon the whole world to tempt the inhabitants on the earth. {11} Behold I come quickly: hold that which thou hast, that no man take thy crown. {12} He that shall overcome, I will make him a pillar in the temple of my God: and he shall go out no more: and I will write upon him the name of my God, and the name of the city of my God, new Jerusalem, which descendeth out of Heaven from my God, and my new name. {13} He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith to the Churches. {14} And to the Angel of the Church of Laodicia write: Thus saith Amen, the faithful and true witness, which is the beginning of the creature of God: {15} I know thy works, that thou art neither cold, nor hot. I would thou were cold, or hot. {16} But because thou art lukewarm, and neither cold nor hot, I will begin to vomit thee out of my mouth. {17} Because thou sayest, That I am rich, and enriched, and lack nothing; and knowest not that thou art a miser, and miserable, and poor, and blind, and naked. {18} I counsel thee to buy of me gold fire-tried, that thou mayest be made rich: and mayest be clothed in white garments, that the confusion of thy nakedness appear not: and with eye-salve anoint thine eyes, that thou mayest see. {19} I, whom I love, do rebuke and chastise. Be zealous therefore and do penance. {20} Behold I stand at the door and knock. If any man shall hear my voice, and open to me the gate, I will enter in to him, and will sup with him, and he with me. {21} He that shall overcome, I will give unto him to sit with me in my throne: as I also have overcome, and have sitten with my Father in his throne. {22} He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith to the Churches.

J 1. A door being open in heaven, he saw one sitting in a throne, {4} and round about him four and twenty seniors sitting, {6} and the four beasts here described, {9} which with the {24} seniors continually glorified him that sat in the throne.

{1} AFTER these things I looked, & behold a door open in heaven, and the first voice which I heard, was as it were of a trumpet speaking with me, saying: Come up hither, and I will shew thee the things which must be done quickly after these. {2} And immediately I was in spirit: and behold there was a seat set in heaven, and upon the seat one sitting. {3} And he that sat, was like in sight, to the Jasper stone, and the Sardine: and there was a rainbow round about the seat, like to the sight of an Emerald. {4} And round about the seat, four and twenty seats: and upon the thrones, four and twenty Seniors sitting, clothed about in white garments, and on their heads crowns of gold. {5} And from the throne proceeded lightnings, and voices, and thunders: and seven lamps burning before the throne, which are the seven Spirits of God. {6} And in the sight of the seat, as it were a sea of glass like to chrystral: and in the midst of the seat and round about the seat four beasts full of eyes before and behind. {7} And the first beast, like to a lion: and the second beast, like to a calf, and the third beast, having the face as it were of a man: and the fourth beast, like to an eagle flying. {8} And the four beasts, every one of them had six wings round about: and within they are full of eyes. And they had no rest day and night, saying, Holy, Holy, Holy, Lord God omnipotent, which was, and which is, and which shall come. {9} And when those beasts gave glory and honour and benediction to him that sitteth upon the throne, that liveth for ever and ever: {10} the four and twenty Seniors fell down before him that sitteth in the throne, & adored him that liveth for ever and ever, and cast their crowns before the throne, saying: {11} Thou art worthy O Lord our God to receive glory and honour and power: because thou hast created all things, and for thy will they were and have been created.

Chapter 5

J 4. S. John weeping, because no man could open the book sealed with seven seals: {6} the Lamb that was slain, opened it: which being done, the four beasts and four and twenty seniors, with an innumerable multitude of Angels & all creatures, did glorify him exceedingly.

{1} AND I saw in the right hand of him that sat upon the throne, a book written within and without, sealed with seven seals. {2} And I saw a strong Angel, preaching with a loud voice: Who is worthy to open the book, & to loose the seals thereof? {3} And no man was able neither in heaven nor in earth, nor under the earth, to open the book, nor look on it. {4} And I wept much because no man was found worthy to open the book, nor to see it. {5} And one of the Seniors said to me: Weep not; behold the Lion of the Tribe of Juda, the root of David, hath won, to open the book, and to loose the seven seals thereof. {6} And I saw, and behold in the midst of the throne and of the four beasts and in the midst of the Seniors, a Lamb standing as it were slain, having seven horns & seven eyes: which are the seven Spirits of God, sent into all the earth. {7} And he came, and received the book out of the right hand of him that sat in the throne. {8} And when he had opened the book, the four beasts and the four and twenty Seniors fell before the Lamb, having every one harps, and golden vials full of odours, which are the prayers of saints: {9} And they sang a new canticle, saying: Thou art worthy o Lord to take the book, and to open the seals thereof: because thou wast slain, and hast redeemed us to God in thy blood out of every tribe and tongue and people and nation, {10} and hast made us to our God a Kingdom and Priests, and we shall reign upon the earth. {11} And I looked, and heard the voice of many Angels round about the throne, and of the beasts & of the Seniors: and the number of them was thousands of thousands, {12} saying with a loud voice: The Lamb that was slain, is worthy to receive power, and divinity, and wisdom, and strength, and honour, and glory, and benediction. {13} And every creature that is in heaven, and upon the earth, and under the earth, and that are in the sea, and that are therein: all did I hear saying: To him that sitteth in the throne, and to the Lamb, benediction and honour and glory and power for ever and ever. {14} And the four beasts said, Amen. And the four and twenty Seniors fell on their faces: and adored him that liveth for ever and ever.

Chapter 6

{8} Four seals of the seven being opened, there follow diverse effects against the earth. {9} when the fifth seal was opened, the souls of martyrs desire that the judgement may be hastened: {12} and at the opening of the sixth, there are signs shewed of the judgement to come.

{1} AND I saw that the Lamb had opened one of the seven seals, and I heard one of the four beasts, saying, as it were the voice of thunder: Come, and see. {2} And I saw: And behold a white horse, and he that sat upon him had a bow, and there was a crown given him, and he went forth conquering that he might conquer. {3} And when he had opened the second seal, I heard the second beast, saying: Come, & see. {4} And there went forth an other horse, red: and he that sat thereon, to him it was given that he should take peace from the earth, and that they should kill one another, and a great sword was given to him. {5} And when he had opened the third seal, I heard the third beast, saying: Come, and see. And behold a black horse, and he that sat upon him, had a balance in his hand. {6} And I heard as it were a voice in the midst of the four beasts saying: Two pounds of wheat for a penny, and thrice two pounds of barley for a penny, and wine and oil hurt thou not. {7} And when he had opened the fourth seal, I heard a voice of the fourth beast, saying: Come, & see. {8} And behold a pale horse: and he that sat upon him, his name was death, and hell followed him. And power was given to him over the four parts of the earth, to kill with sword, with famine, and with death, and with beasts of the earth. {9} And when he had opened the fifth seal: I saw under the altar the souls of them that were slain for the word of God, and for the testimony which they had. {10} And they cried with a loud voice, saying: How long Lord (holy and true), judgest thou not and revengest thou not our blood of them that dwell on the earth? {11} And white stoles were given, to every one of them one; and it was said to them, that they should rest yet a little time, till their fellow-servants be complete, and their brethren, that are to be slain even as they. {12} And I saw, when he had opened the sixth seal, and behold there was made a great earthquake, and the sun became black as it were sack-cloth of hair: and the whole moon became as blood: {13} and the stars from heaven fell upon the earth, as the fig-tree casteth her green figs when it is shaken of a great wind: {14} and heaven departed as a book folded together: and every hill, and Islands were moved out of their places. {15} And the kings of the earth, and princes, and tribunes, and the rich, and the strong, and every bond-man, and free-man hid themselves in the dens and the rocks of mountains. {16} And they say to the mountains and the rocks: Fall upon us, and hide us from the face of him that sitteth upon the throne, and from the wrath of the Lamb: {17} because the great day of their wrath is come, and who shall be able to stand?

Chapter 7

The earth being to be punished, {3} they are commanded to save them that are signed in their foreheads: {4} which are described and numbered both of the Jews and Gentiles, blessing God. {13} Of them that were clothed in white stoles or long robes.

{1} AFTER these things I saw four Angels standing upon the four corners of the earth, holding the four winds of the earth,{1308} that they should not blow upon the land, nor upon the sea, nor on any tree. {2} And I saw another Angel ascending from the rising of the sun, having the sign of the living God; & he cried with a loud voice to the four Angels, to whom it was given to hurt the earth and the sea, {3} saying: Hurt not the earth and the sea, nor the trees, till we sign the servants of our God in their foreheads. {4} And I heard the number of them that were signed, an hundred forty four thousand were signed, of every tribe of the children of Israel. {5} Of the tribe of Juda, twelve thousand signed. Of the tribe of Ruben, twelve thousand signed. Of the tribe of Gad, twelve thousand signed. {6} Of the tribe of Aser, twelve thousand signed. Of the tribe of Nephthali, twelve thousand signed. Of the tribe of Manasses, twelve thousand signed. {7} Of the tribe of Simeon, twelve thousand signed. Of the tribe of Levi, twelve thousand signed. Of the tribe of Issachar, twelve thousand signed. {8} Of the tribe of Zabulon, twelve thousand signed. Of the tribe of Joseph, twelve thousand signed. Of the tribe of Benjamin, twelve thousand signed. {9} After these things I saw a great multitude which no man could number, of all nations, and tribes, and peoples, & tongues: standing before the throne, and in the sight of the Lamb, clothed in white robes, and palms in their hands: {10} And they cried with a loud voice, saying: Salvation to our God which sitteth upon the throne, and to the Lamb. {11} And all the Angels stood in the circuit of the throne, and of the Seniors, and of the four beasts: and they fell in the sight of the throne upon their faces, and adored God, {12} saying, Amen. Benediction, and glory, and wisdom, and thanks-giving, honour and power and strength to our God for ever and ever. Amen. {13} And one of the Seniors answered, and said to me: These that are clothed in the white robes, who be they? and whence came they? {14} And I said to him: My Lord thou knowest. And he said to me: These are they which are come out of great tribulation, and have washed their robes, and made them white in the blood of the Lamb. {15} Therefore they are before the throne of God, and they serve him day and night in his temple: and he that sitteth in the throne, shall dwell over them. {16} They shall no more hunger nor thirst, neither shall the sun fall upon them, nor any heat. {17} Because the Lamb which is in the midst of the throne, shall rule them, and shall conduct them to the living fountains of waters, and God will wipe away all tears from their eyes.

{3} The seventh seal being opened, there appear Angels with trumpets: {5} and when an other Angel poured out fire taken from the altar, upon the earth, there follow diver tempests. {7} in like manner, whiles four Angels of the seven sound their trumpets, there fell sundry plagues.

{1} AND when he had opened the seventh seal, there was made silence in heaven, as it were half an hour. {2} And I saw seven Angels standing in the sight of God: and there were given to them seven trumpets. {3} And another Angel came, and stood before the altar, having a golden censer: and there were given to him many incenses that he should give of the prayers of all saints upon the altar of gold, which is before the throne of God. {4} And the smoke of the incenses of the prayers of the saints ascended from the hand of the Angel before God. {5} And the Angel took the censer, & filled it of the fire of the altar, and cast it on the earth, and there were made thunders & voices and lightnings, and a great earth-quake. {6} And the seven Angels which had the seven trumpets, prepared themselves to sound with the trumpet. {7} And the first Angel sounded with the trumpet, and there was made hail and fire, mingled in blood, and it was cast on the earth, and the third part of the earth was burnt, & the third part of trees was burnt, and all green grass was burnt. {8} And the second Angel sounded with the trumpet: and as it were a great mountain burning with fire, was cast into the sea, & the third part of the sea was made blood: {9} and the third part of those creatures died, which had lives in the sea, and the third part of the ships perished. {10} And the third Angel sounded with the trumpet, and a great star fell from heaven, burning as it were a torch, and it fell on the third part of the floods, and on the fountains of waters: {11} and the name of the star is called worm-wood. And the third part of the waters was made into worm-wood: and many men died of the waters, because they were made bitter. {12} And the fourth Angel sounded with the trumpet, and the third part of the sun was smitten, and the third part of the moon, and the third part of the stars, so that the third part of them was darkened, and of the day there shined not the third part, and of the night in like manner, {13} And I looked, and heard the voice of one eagle flying through the midst of heaven, saying with a loud voice: Woe, woe, woe to the inhabitants on the earth: because of the rest of the voices of the three Angels which were to sound with the trumpet.

Chapter 9

The fifth Angel sounding the trumpet, a star falleth. {3} The issuing forth of locusts from the smoke of the deep pit to vex men. {7} and the description of them. {13} The sixth Angel sounding, four Angels are let loose, {18} which with a great troop of horsemen do murder the third part of men.

{1} AND the fifth Angel sounded with the trumpet, & I saw a star to have fallen from heaven upon the earth, and there was given to him the key of the pit of bottomless depth. {2} And he opened the pit of the bottomless depth: and the smoke of the pit ascended, as the smoke of a great furnace: and the sun was darkened and the air with the smoke of the pit. {3} And from the smoke of the pit there issued forth locusts into the earth. And power was given to them, as the scorpions of the earth have power: {4} and it was commanded them that they should not hurt the grass of the earth nor any green thing, nor any tree: but only men which have not the sign of God in their foreheads. {5} And it was given unto them that they should not kill them: but that they should be tormented five months: and their torments as the torments of a scorpion when he striketh a man. {6} And in those days men shall seek for death, and shall not find it: and they shall desire to die, & death shall fly from them. {7} And the similitudes of the locusts, like to horses prepared into battle: and upon their heads as it were crowns like to gold: and their faces as the faces of men. {8} And they had hair as the hair of women; & their teeth were as of lion's. {9} And they had habergeons as habergeons of iron, and the voice of their wings as the voice of the chariots of many horses running into battle. {10} And they had tails like to scorpions, and stings were in their tails: and their power was to hurt men five months. {11} And they had over them a king, the Angel of the bottomless depth, whose name in Hebrew is Abaddon, and in Greek Apollyon: in Latin having the name Exterminans. {12} One woe is gone, & behold two woes come yet after these. {13} And the sixth Angel sounded with the trumpet: and I heard one voice from the four horns of the golden altar, which is before the eyes of God, {14} saying to the sixth Angel which had the trumpet: Loose the four Angels which are bound in the great river Euphrates. {15} And the four Angels were loosed, who were prepared for an hour, & a day, and a month, and a year: that they might kill the third part of men. {16} And the number of the army of horse-men was twenty thousand times ten thousand. And I heard the number of them. {17} And so I saw the horses in the vision: and they that sat upon them, had habergeons of fire and of hyacinth and brimstone, and the heads of the horses were as it were the heads of lions: and from their mouth proceedeth fire, and smoke, and brimstone. {18} And by these three plagues was slain the third part of men, of the fire and of the smoke and of the brimstone, which proceeded from their mouth. {19} For the power of the horses is in their mouth, and in their tails. For, their tails be like to serpents, having heads: and in these they hurt. {20} And the rest of men which were not slain with these plagues, neither have done penance from the works of their hands, not to adore devils and idols of gold and silver and brass and stone and wood, which neither can see, nor hear, nor walk, {21} and have not done penance from their murders, nor from their sorceries, nor from their fornication, nor from their thefts.

Chapter 10

An other strong Angel crying out, {3} seven thunders do speak. {6} The Angel sweareth that there shall be time no more, but at the voice of the seventh Angel the mystery shall be fully accomplished. {9} He giveth John a book to devour.

{1} AND I saw another Angel, strong, descending from heaven, clothed with a cloud, and a rain-bow on his head, and his face was as the sun, and his feet as a pillar of fire. {2} And he had in his hand a little book opened: and he put his right foot upon the sea, and his left upon the land. {3} And he cried with a loud voice, as when a lion roareth. And when he had cried, the seven thunders spake their voices. {4} And when the seven thunders had spoken their voices, I was about to write: and I heard a voice from heaven saying to me: Sign the things which the seven thunders have spoken; and write them not. {5} And the Angel which I saw standing upon the sea and upon the land, lifted up his hand to heaven, {6} and he sware by him that liveth for ever and ever, that created heaven and those things which are in it: and the earth, and those things which are in it: and the sea, and those things which are in it: That there shall be time no more: {7} but in the days of the voice of the seventh Angel, when the trumpet shall begin to sound, the mystery of God shall be consummate, as he hath evangelized by his servants the Prophets. {8} And I heard a voice from heaven again speaking with me, and saying: Go, and take the book that is opened, of the hand of the Angel standing upon the sea and upon the land. {9} And I went to the Angel, saying unto him, that he should give me the book. And he said to me: Take the book, and devour it: and it shall make thy belly to be bitter, but in thy mouth it shall be sweet as it were honey. {10} And I took the book of the hand of the Angel, and devoured it: and it was in my mouth as it were honey, sweet. And when I had devoured it, my belly was made bitter, {11} and he said to me: Thou must again prophesy to Nations, and peoples, and tongues, and many kings.

Chapter 11

S. John measuring the Temple, {3} heareth of two witnesses that shall preach: {7} whom the beast coming up from the sea shall kill. {11} but they rising again ascend into heaven, {13} and seven thousand persons are slain with an earthquake: {15} and at the sound of the seventh Angel, the four and twenty seniors give praise and thanks to God.

{1} AND there was given me a reed like unto a rod: and it was said to me: Arise, and measure the Temple of God, and the altar, and them that adore in it. {2} But the court which is without the Temple, cast forth, & measure not that: because it is given to the Gentiles, and they shall tread under-foot the holy city two & forty months: {3} and I will give to my two witnesses, and they shall prophesy a thousand two hundred sixty days, clothed with sack-cloths. {4} These are the two olive trees & the two Candlesticks that stand in the sight of the Lord of the earth. {5} And if any man will hurt them, fire shall come forth out of their mouths, and shall devour their enemies. And if any man will hurt them, so must he be slain. {6} These have power to shut heaven, that it rain not in the days of their prophecy: and they have power over the waters to turn them into blood, and to strike the earth with all plague as often as they will. {7} And when they shall have finished their testimony, the beast which ascended from the depth, shall make war against them, and shall overcome them, and kill them. {8} And their bodies shall lie in the streets of the great city, which is called spiritually Sodom and Ægypt, where their Lord also was crucified. {9} And there shall of tribes, and peoples, and tongues, and Gentiles, see their bodies for three days, and a half: and they shall not suffer their bodies to be laid in monuments. {10} And the inhabitants of the earth shall be glad upon them, and make merry: and shall send gifts one to another, because these two Prophets tormented them that dwelt upon the earth. {11} And after three days and a half, the spirit of life from God entered into them. And they stood upon their feet, and great fear fell upon them that saw them. {12} And they heard a loud voice from heaven saying to them: Come up hither. And they went up into heaven in a cloud: and their enemies saw them. {13} And in that hour there was made a great earth-quake: and the tenth part of the city fell: and there were slain in the earth-quake names of men seven thousand: and the rest were cast into a fear, and gave glory to the God of heaven. {14} The second woe is gone: and behold the third woe will come quickly. {15} And the seventh Angel sounded with a trumpet: and there were made loud voices in heaven saying, The kingdom of this world is made our Lord's & his Christ's, and he shall reign for ever and ever. Amen. {16} And the four and twenty Seniors which sit on their seats in the sight of God, fell on their faces, and adored God, {17} saying: We thank thee Lord God omnipotent, which art, and which wast, and which shalt come: because thou hast received thy great power, and hast reigned. {18} And the Gentiles were angry, and thy wrath is come, and the time of the dead, to be judged, and to render reward to thy Servants the Prophets and Saints, and to them that fear thy name, little and great, and to destroy them that have corrupted the earth. {19} And the temple of God was opened in heaven: and the ark of his testament was seen in his temple, and there were made lightnings, and voices, and an earth-quake and great hail.

Chapter 12

4. The great dragon (the Devil) watching the woman that brought forth a man child, to devour it. God took away the child to him self, and fed the woman in the desert. 7. Michael fighting with the dragon overcometh him, 13. who being thrown down to the earth, persecuteth the woman & her seed.

{1} AND a great sign appeared in heaven; a woman clothed with the sun, and the moon under her feet, & on her head a crown of twelve stars: {2} and being with child, she cried also travailing, and is in anguish to be delivered. {3} And there was seen another sign in heaven, and behold a great red dragon having seven heads, & ten horns: and on his heads seven diadems, {4} and his tail drew the third part of the stars of heaven, and cast them to the earth: and the dragon stood before the woman which was ready to be delivered; that when she should be delivered, he might devour her son. {5} And she brought forth a man child, who was to govern all nations in an iron rod; & her son was taken up to God and to his throne, {6} & the woman fled into the wilderness where she had a place prepared of God, that there, they might feed her a thousand two hundred sixty days. {7} And there was made a great battle in heaven, Michael and his Angels fought with the dragon, and the dragon fought and his Angels: {8} and they prevailed not, neither was their place found any more in heaven. {9} And that great dragon was cast forth, the old serpent, which is called the devil and Satan, which seduceth the whole world: and he was cast into the earth, & his Angels were thrown down with him. {10} And I heard a great voice in heaven saying: Now is there made salvation and force, and the Kingdom of our God, and the power of his Christ: because the accuser of our brethren is cast forth, who accused them before the sight of our God day and night. {11} And they overcame him by the blood of the Lamb, and by the word of their testimony, and they loved not their lives even unto death. {12}

Therefore rejoice, o heavens, and you that dwell therein. Woe to the earth & to the sea, because the devil is descended to you, having great wrath, knowing that he hath a little time. {13} And after the dragon saw that he was thrown into the earth, he persecuted the woman which brought forth the man-child: {14} and there were given to the woman two wings of a great eagle, that she might fly into the desert unto her place, where she is nourished for a time & times, & half a time, from the face of the serpent. {15} And the serpent cast out of his mouth after the woman, water as it were a flood: that he might make her to be carried away with the flood. {16} And the earth holp the woman, and the earth opened her mouth, and swallowed up the flood which the dragon cast out of his mouth. {17} And the dragon was angry against the woman: and went to make battle with the rest of her seed, which keep the commandments of God, and have the testimony of JESUS Christ. {18} And he stood upon the sand of the sea.

Chapter 13

1. A beast rising up out of the sea, having seven heads and ten horns & ten diadems. 5. blasphemeth God, 7. and warreth against the Saints & destroyeth them. 11. And an other beast rising out of the earth with two horns, was altogether for the foresaid beast, constraining men to make and adore the image thereof, and to have the character of his name.

{1} AND I saw a beast coming up from the sea, having seven heads, and ten horns, & upon his horns ten diadems, and upon his heads names of blasphemy. {2} And the beast which I saw, was like to a libard, and his feet as of a bear, and his mouth, as the mouth of a lion. And the dragon gave him his own force and great power. {3} And I saw one of his heads as it were slain to death: and the wound of his death was cured. And all the earth was in admiration after the beast. {4} And they adored the dragon which gave power to the beast: and they adored the beast, saying: Who is like to the beast? and who shall be able to fight with it? {5} And there was given to it a mouth speaking great things and blasphemies: and power was given to it to work two and forty months. {6} And he opened his mouth unto blasphemies toward God, to blaspheme his name, & his tabernacle, & those that dwell in heaven. {7} And it was given unto him to make battail with the saints, & to overcome them. And power was given him upon every tribe and people, and tongue, and nation, {8} and all that inhabit the earth, adored it, whose names be not written in the book of life of the Lamb, which was slain from the beginning of the world. {9} If any man have an ear, let him hear. {10} He that shall lead into captivity, goeth into captivity: he that shall kill in the sword, he must be killed with the sword. Here is the patience and the faith of saints. {11} And I saw another beast coming up from the earth: and he had two horns, like to a lamb, & he spake as a dragon. {12} And all the power of the former beast he did in his sight: and he made the earth and the inhabitants therein, to adore the first beast, whose wound of death was cured. {13} And he did many signs, so that he made also fire to come down from heaven unto the earth in the sight of men. {14} And he seduceth the inhabitants on the earth through the signs which were given him to do in the sight of the beast, saying to them that dwell on the earth, that they should make the image of the beast which hath the stroke of the sword, and lived. {15} And it was given him to give spirit to the image of the beast, and that the image of the beast should speak: and should make, that whosoever shall not adore the image of the beast, be slain. {16} And he shall make all, little & great, and rich, and poor, and free-men, and bond-men, to have a character in their right hand, or in their foreheads. {17} And that no man may buy or sell, but he that hath the character, or the name of the beast, or the number of his name. {18} Here is wisdom. He that hath understanding, let him count the number of the beast. For it is the number of a man; and the number of him is six hundred sixty six.

Chapter 14

{1} Virgins follow the Lamb whithersoever, singing a new canticle. {6} One Angel Evangelizeth the Gospel: 8. an other Angel telleth the fall of Babylon: 9. the third declareth their torments that have adored the beast. Moreover two having sicles, 15. one of them is commanded to reap down the corn, 18. the other to gather the grapes as in vintage, which are trodden in the lake of God's wrath.

{1} AND I looked, & behold a Lamb stood upon mount Sion, & with him an hundred forty four thousand having his name, and the name of his Father written in their foreheads. {2} And I heard a voice from heaven, as the voice of many waters, and as the voice of great thunder: and the voice which I heard, as of harpers harping on their harps. {3} And they sang as it were a new song before the seat and before the four beasts, and the Seniors, & no man could say the song, but those hundred forty four thousand, that were bought from the earth. {4} These are they which were not defiled with women. For they are virgins. These follow the Lamb whithersoever he shall go. These were bought from among men, the first fruits to God and the Lamb: {5} and in their mouth there was found no lie. For they are without spot before the throne of God. {6} And I saw another Angel flying through the midst of heaven, having the eternal Gospel, to evangelize unto them that sit upon the earth, and upon every nation, and tribe, and tongue, and people; {7} saying with a loud voice: Fear our Lord, and give him honour, because the hour of his judgement is come: and adore ye him that made heaven and earth, the sea and all things that are in them, and the fountains of waters. {8} And another Angel followed, saying: Fallen fallen is that great Babylon, which of the wine of the wrath of her fornication made all nations to drink. {9} And the third Angel followed them, saying with a loud voice: If any man adore the beast and his image, and receive the character in his forehead, or in his hand; {10} he also shall drink of the wine of the wrath of God, which is mingled with pure wine in the cup of his wrath, and shall be tormented with fire & brimstone in the sight of the holy Angels and before the sight of the Lamb. {11} And the smoke of their torments shall ascend for ever and ever: neither have they rest day and night, which have adored the beast, and his image, and if any man take the character of his name. {12} Here is the patience of saints, which keep the commandments of God and the faith of JESUS. {13} And I heard a voice from heaven, saying to me: Write, Blessed are the dead which die in our Lord. From hence-forth now, saith the Spirit, that they rest from their labours. For their works follow them. {14} And I saw, and behold a white cloud: and upon the cloud one sitting like to the Son of man, having on his head a crown of gold, and in his hand a sharp sickle. {15} And another Angel came forth from the temple, crying with a loud voice to him that sat upon the cloud: Thrust in thy sickle, and reap, because the hour is come to reap, for the harvest of the earth is dry. {16} And he that sat upon the cloud, thrust his sickle into the earth, and the earth was reaped. {17} And another Angel came forth from the temple which is in heaven, himself also having a sharp sickle. {18} And another Angel came forth from the altar, which had power over the fire: and he cried with a loud voice to him that had the sharp sickle, saying: Thrust in thy sharp sickle, and gather the clusters of the vineyard of the earth: because the grapes thereof be ripe. {19} And the Angel thrust his sharp sickle into the earth, and gathered the vineyard of the earth, & cast it into the great press of the wrath of God: {20} and the press was trodden without the city, and blood came forth out of the press, up to the horse bridles, for a thousand six hundred furlongs.

Chapter 15

2. They that had now overcome the beast and his image and the number of his name, do glorify God. 6. To seven Angels having the seven last plagues, are given cups full of the wrath of God.

{1} AND I saw another sign in heaven great & marvelous: seven Angels having the seven last plagues. Because in them the wrath of God is consummate. {2} And I saw as it were a sea of glass mingled with fire, & them that overcame the beast and his image and the number of his name, standing upon the sea of glass, having the harps of God: {3} and singing the song of Moyses the servant of God, and the song of the Lamb, saying: Great and marvelous are thy works Lord God omnipotent: just and true are thy ways King of the worlds. {4} Who shall not fear thee, o Lord, and magnify thy name? Because thou only art holy, because all nations shall come, and adore in thy sight, because thy judgements be manifest. {5} And after these things I looked, and behold the temple of the tabernacle of testimony was opened in heaven: {6} and there issued forth the seven Angels, having the seven plagues, from the temple: revested with clean and white stone, and girded about the breasts with girdles of gold. {7} And one of the four beasts, gave to the seven Angels seven vials of gold full of the wrath of the God that liveth for ever and ever. {8} And the temple was filled with smoke at the majesty of God, and at his power: and no man could enter into the temple, till the seven plagues of the seven Angels were consummate.

Chapter 16

Upon the pouring out of the seven cups of God's wrath, on the land, the sea, the fountains, the seat of the beast, Euphrates and the air: there arise sundry plagues in the world.

{1} AND I heard a great voice out of the temple, saying to the seven Angels: Go, and pour out the seven vials of the wrath of God upon the earth. {2} And the first went, and poured out his vial upon the earth, & there was made a cruel & very sore wound upon men that had the character of the beast: and upon them that adored the image thereof. {3} And the second Angel poured out his vial upon the sea, and there was made blood as it were of one dead: and every living soul died in the sea. {4} And the third poured out his vial upon the rivers and the fountains of waters: and there was made blood. {5} And I heard the Angel of the waters, saying: Thou art just, o Lord, which art, and which wast, the holy one, because thou hast judged these things: {6} because they have shed the blood of the Saints and Prophets, & thou hast given them blood to drink. For they are worthy. {7} And I heard another, saying: Yea Lord God omnipotent, true and just are thy judgements. {8} And the fourth Angel poured out his vial upon the sun, and it was given unto him to afflict men with heat and fire: {9} and men boiled with great heat, and blasphemed the name of God having power over these plagues, neither did they penance to give him glory. {10} And the fifth Angel poured out his vial upon the seat of the beast: and his kingdom was made dark, and they together did eat their tongues for pain: {11} and they blasphemed the God of heaven because of their pains and wounds, and did not penance from their works. {12} And the sixth Angel poured out his vial upon that great river Euphrates: and dried up the water thereof that a way might be prepared to the kings from the rising of the sun. {13} And I saw from the mouth of the dragon, and from the mouth of the beast, and from the mouth of the false-prophet three unclean spirits in manner of frogs. {14} For they are the spirits of devils working signs, and they go forth to the kings of the whole earth to gather them into battle at the great day of the omnipotent God. {15} Behold I come as a thief: Blessed is he that watcheth, & keepeth his garments, that he walk not naked, and they see his turpitude. {16} And he shall gather them into a place which in Hebrew is called Armagedon. {17} And the seventh Angel poured out his vial upon the air, and there came forth a loud voice out of the temple from the throne, saying: It is done. {18} And there were made lightnings, and voices, and thunders, and a great earth-quake was made, such an one as never hath been since men were upon the earth, such an earth-quake, so great. {19} And the great city was made into three parts: and the cities of the Gentiles fell. And Babylon the great came into memory before God, to give her the cup of wine of the indignation of his wrath. {20} And every Island fled, and mountains were not found. {21} And great hail like a talent came down from heaven upon men: and men blasphemed God for the plague of the hail: because it was made exceeding great.

Chapter 17

The harlot Babylon clothed with diverse ornaments, {6} and drunken of the blood of Martyrs, sitteth upon a beast that hath seven heads and ten horns: {7} all which things the Angel expoundeth.

{1} AND there came one of the seven Angels which had the seven vials, & spake with me, saying: Come, I will shew thee the damnation of the great harlot, which sitteth upon many waters. {2} with whom the kings of the earth have fornicated, & they which inhabit the earth have been drunk of the wine of her whoredom. {3} And he took me away in spirit into the desert. And I saw a woman sitting upon a scarlet coloured beast, full of names of blasphemy, having seven heads, and ten horns. {4} And the woman was clothed round about with purple and scarlet, and gilded with gold, and precious stone, and pearls, having a golden cup in her hand, full of the abomination & filthiness of her fornication. {5} And in her forehead a name written, Mystery: Babylon the great, mother of the fornications and the abominations of the earth. {6} And I saw the woman drunken of the blood of Saints, and of the blood of the Martyrs of JESUS. And I marveled when I had seen her, with great admiration. {7} And the Angel said to me: Why doest thou marvel? I will tell thee the mystery of the woman, and of the beast that carrieth her, which hath the seven heads, and the ten horns. {8} The beast which thou sawest, was, and is not, and shall come up out of the bottomless depth, and go into destruction: and the inhabitants on the earth (whose names are not written in the book of life from the making of the world) shall marvel, seeing the beast that was, and is not. {9} And here is understanding, that hath wisdom. The seven heads, are seven hills, upon which the woman sitteth, and they are seven kings. {10} Five are fallen, one is, and another is not yet come: and when he shall come, he must tarry a short time. {11} And the beast which was, and is not: the same also is the eight, and is of the seven, & goeth into destruction. {12} And the ten horns which thou sawest, are ten kings, which have not yet received kingdom, but shall receive power as kings one hour after the beast. {13} These have one counsel and force: and their power they shall deliver to the beast. {14} These shall fight with the Lamb, and the Lamb shall overcome them, because he is Lord of lords, and King of kings, and they that are with him, called, and elect, and faithful. {15} And he said to me: The waters which thou sawest where the harlot sitteth, are peoples, and nations, and tongues. {16} And the ten horns which thou sawest in the beast: these shall hate the harlot, and shall make her desolate and naked, and shall eat her flesh, and her they shall burn with fire. {17} For God hath given into their hearts, to do that which pleaseth him: that they give their kingdom to the beast, till the words of God be consummate. {18} And the woman which thou sawest: is the great city, which hath kingdom over the kings of the earth.

Chapter 18

The fall of Babylon, her judgement, plagues and revenges: for the which, {9} the kings, {16} and merchants of the earth that sometime did cleave unto her, shall mourn bitterly: {20} but heaven, and the Apostles and Prophets shall rejoice.

{1} AND after these things I saw another Angel coming down from heaven, having great power: and the earth was illuminated of his glory. {2} And he cried out in force, saying: Fallen fallen is Babylon the great: and it is become the habitation of devils, and the custody of every unclean spirit, & the custody of every unclean & hateful bird: {3} because all nations have drunk of the wine of the wrath of her fornication: and the kings of the earth have fornicated with her: and the merchants of the earth were made rich by the virtue of her delicacies. {4} And I heard another voice from heaven, saying: Go out from her my people: that you be not partakers of her sins, and receive not of her plagues. {5} Because her sins are come even to heaven, and God hath remembered her iniquities. {6} Render to her as she also hath rendered to you: and double ye double according to her works: In the cup wherein she hath mingled, mingle ye double unto her. {7} As much as she hath glorified her self, & hath been in delicacies, so much give her torment and mourning: because she saith in her heart, I sit a queen, and widow I am not, and mourning I shall not see. {8} Therefore in one day shall her plagues come, death, and mourning, and famine, & with fire she shall be burnt: because God is strong that shall judge her. {9} And the kings of the earth, which have fornicated with her, & have lived in delicacies, shall weep, and bewail themselves upon her, when they shall see the smoke of her burning: {10} standing far off for the fear of her torments, saying: Woe, woe, that great city Babylon, that strong city: because in one hour is thy judgement come. {11} And the merchants of the earth shall weep, & mourn upon her: because no man shall buy their merchandise any more, {12} merchandise of gold and silver and precious stone: and of pearl, and fine linen, and purple, and silk, & scarlet and all Thyine wood, and all vessels of ivory, and all vessels of precious stone and of brass and iron and marble, {13} and cinnamon, and of odours, and ointment, and frankincense, and wine, and oil, and flour, & wheat, and beasts, and sheep, and horses, and chariots, & slaves, and souls of men. {14} And the apples of the desire of thy soul are departed from thee, and all fat and goodly things are perished from thee, and they shall no more find them. {15} The merchants of these things which are made rich, shall stand far from her for fear of her torments, weeping and mourning, {16} & saying: Woe, woe, that great city, which was clothed with silk, and purple, and scarlet, and was gilded with gold, and precious stone, and pearls: {17} because in one hour are so great riches made desolate: and every governor, & every one that saileth into the lake, and the ship-men, and they that work in the sea, stood a far off, {18} and cried seeing the place of her burning, saying: What other is like to this great city? {19} And they threw dust upon their heads, and cried weeping and mourning, saying: Woe, woe, that great city, in the which all were made rich that had ships in the sea, of her prices: because in one hour she is desolate. {20} Rejoice over her, heaven, and ye holy Apostles and Prophets: because God hath judged your judgement of her. {21} And one strong Angel took up as it were a great millstone, and threw it into the sea, saying: With this violence shall Babylon that great city be thrown, and shall now be found no more. {22} And the voice of harpers, and of Musicians, and of them that sing on shalm and trumpet, shall no more be heard in thee, & every artificer of every art shall be found no more in thee, and the noise of the mill shall no more be heard in thee, {23} and the light of the lamp shall no more shine in thee, & the voice of the bridegroom and the bride shall no more be heard in thee: because thy merchants were the princes of the earth, because all nations have erred in thine enchantments. {24} And in her is found the blood of the Prophets and Saints, and of all that were slain in the earth.

Chapter 19

{2} The Saints glorifying God for the judgement pronounced upon the harlot, {7} the marriage of the Lamb is prepared. {10} The Angel refuseth to be adored of S. John. {11} There appeareth one (who is the word of God, and the King of Kings and Lord of lords) sitting on a horse, with a great army, and fighting against the beast and the kings of the earth and their armies: {17} the birds of the air being in the mean time called to devour their flesh.

{1} AFTER these things I heard as it were the voice of many multitudes in heaven saying, Allelu-ia. Praise, and glory and power is to our God: {2} because true & just are his judgements which hath judged of the great harlot, that hath corrupted the earth in her whoredom, and hath revenged the blood of his servants, of her hands. {3} And again they said, Allelu-ia. And her smoke ascendeth for ever and ever. {4} And the four and twenty Seniors fell down, and the four beasts, & adored God sitting upon the throne, saying: Amen, Allelu-ia. {5} And a voice came out from the throne, saying: Say praise to our God all ye his servants: and you that fear him, little and great. {6} And I heard as it were the voice of a great multitude, and as the voice of many waters, & as the voice of great thunders, saying, Allelu-ia: because our Lord God the omnipotent hath reigned. {7} Let us be glad and rejoice, and give glory to him: because the marriage of the Lamb is come, & his wife hath prepared herself. {8} And it was given to her that she clothe her self with silk glittering and white. For the silk are the justifications of Saints. {9} And he said to me: Write, Blessed be they that are called to the supper of the marriage of the Lamb. And he said to me: These words of God, be true. {10} And I fell before his feet, to adore him. And he saith to me: See thou do not; I am thy fellow-servant, and of thy brethren that have the testimony of JESUS. Adore God. For the testimony of JESUS, is the spirit of prophecy. {11} And I saw heaven opened, and behold a white horse: and he that sat upon him, was called Faithful and True, and with justice he judgeth & fighteth. {12} And his eyes as a flame of fire, and on his head many diadems, having a name written, which no man knoweth but himself. {13} And he was clothed with a garment sprinkled with blood: and his name is called, THE WORD OF GOD. {14} And the hosts that are in heaven followed him on white horses clothed in white and pure silk. {15} And out of his mouth proceedeth a sharp sword: that in it he may strike the Gentiles. And he shall rule them in a rod of iron: and he treadeth the wine press of the fury of the wrath of God omnipotent. {16} And he hath in his garment and in his thigh written, KING OF KINGS AND LORD OF LORDS. {17} And I saw one Angel standing in the sun, & he cried with a loud voice saying to all the birds that did fly by the midst of heaven: Come and assemble together to the great supper of God: {18} that you may eat the flesh of kings, and the flesh of tribunes, and the flesh of valiants, and the flesh of horses and of them that sit on them, & the flesh of all free-men and bond-men, and of little and great. {19} And I saw the beast and the kings of the earth, & their armies gathered to make war with him that sat upon the horse and with his army. {20} And the beast was apprehended, and with him the false-prophet: which wrought signs before him, wherewith he seduced them that took the character of the beast, and that adored his image. These two were cast alive into the pool of fire burning also with brimstone. {21} And the rest were slain by the sword of him that sitteth upon the horse, which proceedeth out of his mouth: and all the birds were filled with their flesh.

Chapter 20

An Angel casteth the dragon (or devil) bound, into the depth for a thousand years, in which the souls of martyrs in the first resurrection shall reign with Christ. {7} After which years, Satan being let loose, shall raise Gog and Magog, an innumerable army, against the beloved city. {9} but a fire from heaven shall destroy them. {12} Then books are opened, and he that sitteth upon the throne, judgeth all the dead according to their works.

{1} AND I saw an Angel descending from heaven, having the key of the bottomless depth, and a great chain in his hand. {2} And he apprehended the dragon the old serpent, which is the devil and Satan, and bound him for a thousand years. {3} And he threw him into the depth, and shut him up, and sealed over him, that he seduce no more the nations, till the thousand years be consummate. And after these things he must be loosed a little time. {4} And I saw seats: and they sat upon them, and judgement was given them, and the souls of the beheaded for the testimony of JESUS, and for the word of God, and that adored not the beast, nor his image, nor received his character in their foreheads or in their hands, and have lived, & reigned with Christ a thousand years. {5} The rest of the dead lived not, till the thousand years be consummate. This is the first resurrection. {6} Blessed and holy is he that hath part in the first resurrection. In these the second death hath not power: but they shall be Priests of God and of Christ: and shall reign with him a thousand years. {7} And when the thousand years shall be consummate, Satan shall be loosed out of his prison, and shall go forth and seduce the nations that are upon the four corners of the earth, Gog, and Magog, and shall gather them into battle, the number of whom is as the sand of the sea. {8} And they ascended upon the breadth of the earth, and compassed the camp of the Saints, and the beloved city. {9} And there came down fire from God out of heaven, and devoured them: {10} and the devil which seduced them, was cast into the pool of fire and brimstone, where both the beast & the false-prophet shall be tormented day and night for ever and ever. {11} And I saw a great white throne, and one sitting upon it, from whose sight earth and heaven fled, and there was no place found for them. {12} And I saw the dead, great and little, standing in the sight of the throne, and books were opened: and another book was opened, which is of life: and the dead were judged of those things which were written in the books according to their works. {13} And the sea gave the dead that were in it, and death and hell gave their dead that were in them, and it was judged of every one according to their works. {14} And hell and death were cast into the pool of fire. This is the second death. {15} And he that was not found written in the book of life, was cast into the pool of fire.

Chapter 21

Heaven and earth being made now, S. John seeth the new city Hierusalem prepared and adorned for the spouse of the Lamb. {6} The just are glorified, {7} and the wicked thrust into the pool of fire. {12} The wall and gates and foundations of the city are described and measured: {18} all which are gold and crystal, precious stones and pearls.

{1} AND I saw a new heaven and a new earth. For the first heaven, and the first earth was gone, & the sea now is not. {2} And I, John saw the holy city Jerusalem new descending from heaven, prepared of God, as a bride adorned for her husband. {3} And I heard a loud voice from the throne saying: Behold the tabernacle of God with men, and he will dwell with them. And they shall be his people: and he God with them shall be their God. {4} And God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes: and death shall be no more, nor mourning, nor crying, neither shall there be sorrow any more, which first things, are gone. {5} And he that sat in the throne, said: Behold I make all things new. And he said to me: Write, because these words be most faithful and true. {6} And he said to me: It is done, I am Alpha and Omega: the beginning and the end. To him that thirsteth I will give of the fountain of the water of life, gratis. {7} He that shall overcome, shall possess these things, and I will be his God: and he shall be my son. {8} But to the fearful, and incredulous, and execrable, and murderers, and fornicators, and sorcerers, and idolaters, and all liars, their part shall be in the pool burning with fire and brimstone, which is the second death. {9} And there came one of the seven Angels that had the vials full of the seven last plagues, and spake with me, saying: Come, and I will shew thee the bride, the wife of the Lamb. {10} And he took me up in spirit unto a mountain great and high: and he shewed me the holy city Jerusalem descending out of heaven from God, {11} having the glory of God, and the light thereof like to a precious stone, as it were to the jasper stone, even as crystal. {12} And it had a wall great and high, having twelve gates, and in the gates twelve Angels, & names written thereon, which are the names of the twelve tribes of the children of Israel. {13} On the East, three gates: and on the North, three gates: and on the South, three gates: and on the West, three gates. {14} And the wall of the city having twelve foundations: and in them, twelve names, of the twelve Apostles of the Lamb. {15} And he that spake with me, had a measure of a reed, of gold, to measure the city and the gates thereof, and the wall. {16} And the city is situated quadrangle-wise, and the length thereof is as great as also the breadth: and he measured the city with the reed for twelve thousand furlongs, & the length and height and breadth thereof be equal. {17} And he measured the wall thereof of an hundred forty four cubits, the measure of a man which is of an Angel. {18} And the building of the wall thereof was of jasper stone: but the city it-self pure gold, like to pure glass. {19} And the foundations of the wall of the city, were adorned with all precious stone. The first foundation, the jasper: the second, the sapphire: the third, the calcedonius: the fourth, the emerald: {20} the fifth, the sardonix: the sixth, the sardius: the seventh, the chrysolithus: the eight, the beryllus: the ninth, the topazius: the tenth, the chrysoprasus: the eleventh, the hyacinth: the twelfth, the amethyst. {21} And the twelve gates: there are twelve pearls, one to every one: & every gate was of one several pearl. And the street of the city pure gold, as it were transparent glass. {22} And temple I saw not therein. For our Lord the God omnipotent is the temple thereof, and the Lamb. {23} And the city needeth not sun nor moon, to shine in it. For the glory of God hath illuminated it, and the Lamb is the lamp thereof. {24} And the Gentiles shall walk in the light of it: and the kings of the earth shall bring their glory and honour into it. {25} And the gates thereof shall not be shut by day: for there shall be no night there. {26} And they shall bring the glory and honour of nations into it. {27} There shall not enter into it any polluted thing, nor that doeth abomination and maketh lie, but they that are written in the book of life of the Lamb.

Chapter 22

The tree of life being watered with living water, yieldeth fruits every month. {3} There is neither curse nor night in the city. {6} The Angel that shewed John all these things, refuseth to be adored of him {14} He telleth him that the just shall enter into the city, but the rest shall be cast forth. {18} Lastly, he protesteth and threateneth against them that shall presume to add to this prophecy, or take away from the same.

{1} AND he shewed me a river of living water, clear as crystal, proceeding from the seat of God and of the Lamb. {2} In the midst of the street thereof, & on both sides of the river, the tree of life, yielding twelve fruits, rendering his fruit every month, & the leaves of the tree for the curing of the Gentiles. {3} And no curse shall be any more: & the seat of God & of the Lamb shall be in it, & his servants shall serve him. {4} And they shall see his face: and his name in their foreheads. {5} And night shall be no more: and they shall not need the light of lamp, nor the light of the sun, because our Lord God doth illuminate them, and they shall reign for ever and ever. {6} And he said to me: These words are most faithful & true. And our Lord the God of the spirits of the Prophets, sent his Angel to shew his servants those things which must be done quickly. {7} And behold I come quickly. Blessed is he that keepeth the words of the prophecy of this book. {8} And I, John which have heard, and seen these things. And after I had heard and seen, I fell down to adore before the feet of the Angel which shewed me these things; {9} and he said to me: See thou do not, for I am thy fellow-servant, and of thy brethren the Prophets, and of them that keep the words of this book. Adore God. {10} And he saith to me: Seal not the words of the prophecy of this book. For the time is near. {11} He that hurteth, let him hurt yet: and he that is in filth, let him be filthy yet: and he that is just, let him be justified yet: and let the holy be sanctified yet. {12} Behold I come quickly. And my reward is with me, to render to every man according to his works. {13} I am Alpha and Omega, the first and the last, the beginning and the end. {14} Blessed are they that wash their stoles: that their power may be in the tree of life, and they may enter by the gates into the city. {15} Without are dogs and sorcerers, and the unchaste, and murderers, and servers of idols, & every one that loveth and maketh a lie. {16} I, JESUS have sent mine Angel, to testify to you these things in the Churches. I am the root and stock of David, the bright and morning star. {17} And the Spirit & the bride say, Come. And he that heareth, let him say, Come. And he that thirsteth, let him come: and he that will, let him take the water of life gratis. {18} For I testify to every one hearing the words of the prophecy of this book,

If any man shall add to these things, God shall add upon him the plagues written in this book. {19} And if any man shall diminish of the words of the book of this prophecy: God shall take away his part out of the book of life, and out of the holy city, and of these things that be written in this book, {20} saith he that giveth testimony of these things. Yea I come quickly: Amen. Come Lord JESUS. {21} The grace of our Lord JESUS Christ be with you all. Amen.

AN AFTERWORD FROM THE PUBLISHER. At last (through God's goodness) you have finished the reading of this Edition of Sacred Scripture faithfully translated into English, provided to you by the efforts of members of the faithful like you. Before the efforts of 'O Letter Printer', the person who labored much to provide a plaintext of this Bible, this work heretofore was only in its original format which took above 2,000 sheets of paper to print, contained by no less than three separate volumes, as it included the extended commentary ever-cherished by Catholics worldwide. A separate commentary, identical to the original, will soon be published, if (God prospering our intention) we have the time.

Many Catholics, perhaps including you, dearest reader, might demand why, in a time such as now, when the original fountain texts in Hebrew and Greek are now extant and have been viewed as authentic by the Church, do we still hold fast to both the original edition of the Douay and Rheims Bible and the one revised by the venerable Bishop R. Challoner? And why do we do so when there are better editions of the Catholic Bible? We answer that we do not dispute the legitimacy nor diminish the value of other editions of the Bible, such as the New American Bible and the Jerusalem Bible, however, we appreciate the value, both literary and apologetic, as well as the passions and sufferings of the writers who we pray are in God's divine Majesty: and as this work is in the public domain, that is, not protected under copyright laws, it is the perfect edition, alongside the revision by Bp. Challoner; to be distributed for the use of faithful Catholics worldwide.

I (the publisher) wish that this historic edition of Holy Writ will be appreciated alongside other orthodox and Catholic translations. Manila, 2022.
